May flowers are blooming according to Mark and Emily Bush, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, coal merchant of this city, who picked a large bouquet of the flowers in the woods of their father's farm in Tyendinaga Township. The young people reported the flowers were not plentiful but there were signs that many could be obtainable by the end of the week. The flowers are slightly earlier this year than last probably due to the continued warm weather of the past week.

FOTO-NITE OFFERS GO UNCLAIMED

A disappointed young married man living near Portboro is lamenting the fact he did not "come to town" on Wednesday night. A specially prepare basket in name of Edward Evans, R. R. No. 2, Belleville, called for the Foto-Nite $750 offer at the Capitol Theatre last night, but without response. Later it was established that Mr. Evans was a benefict of but a few months. The second name called for the $20 Foto Nite offer was that of Mr. John T. Hatfield, of Belleville, who also failed to answer to his name. Manager Jim Woodcock of the Capitol Theatre, presented four acts of amateur vaudeville in connection with the performance.

GOOD CROWD ATTENDS KINSMEN CLUB BINGO

The annual Kinsmen Club Bingo opened in the old Eaton groceteria building Wednesday evening with a goodly patronage. The bingo will continue on Thursday and Saturday nights with all proceeds going towards the Belleville Kinsmen Club's share in local charity efforts. The local Kinsmen Club conduct a free Rye Clinic for under privileged school children, as well as war charities functions, that include a mobile dental unit and the club's share towards the construction of "Hostes Huts" for the Canadian soldiers in Canada.

DEPARTMENT ANSWERS 100TH CALL THIS YEAR

The local fire department answered their one hundredth fire alarm of the 1941 season on Wednesday and the number for the year is rapidly mounting as the result of an epidemic of grass fires occurring during the past week. This number, however, is a considerable less than the same alarms received at a comparative date last year as it was near the end of the month before one hundred alarms had been answered in 1940. At a comparative date last year only 42 alarms had been answered, with 250 being answered during the year.

Since Sunday morning there have been no less than 20 calls for the fire reels, with five alarms for grass fires being answered on Wednesday.

BUILDING BOOM SEEN IN CITY

Indicative that the City of Belleville may be in the initial stages of a building boom is the fact that during the past week no less than five building permits involving either new construction or major alterations to existing buildings have been issued at the offices of the city engineer. Total value of construction contemplated amounts to $15,500.

The major item on the proposed building list is of course the contemplated marine terminal of the Cities Service Oil Company to be constructed on South Front St., at an estimated cost of $8,000. Other items include the construction of two new residences, one by David Wardle at 41 Chatham Street at a cost of $1,500 and the other at 185 Bleecker Ave. by Mrs. J. C. Geiger at a cost of $3,000. The other two permits issued were for alterations to residences, amounting to $1,000 each.

Possibly one of the busiest places in the bay of Quinte district during the spring season is the seed cleaning plant of the Belleville Seed Company, 244 Front Street. Daily since early winter the plant has been operating steadily, getting grain in shape for showing at Seed Fairs and cleaning for seed.

During the past few weeks, however, the plant has been going at top speed and approximately three hundred bushels of seed grain pass through the cleaning mill each day. Grain is shipped to the local plant for cleaning from every county represented in the Bay of Quinte Seed Fair district, it being one of three plants operating in the entire district.

HANDSOME SHEPHERD DOG AWAITS OWNER

A handsome well-trained German Shepherd dog, black in color and flecked with tan, was found wandering at large in city streets last night. It was picked up by City Councilor Poundkeeper Thomas Thorne, and is now awaiting its owner at the city pound. The dog will be kept three days.

According to Poundkeeper Thorne the dog which is a six-months-old male, is a valuable one and shows signs of intensive training. He is of the opinion it is the property of an "out-of-town owner.

COMMITTEE INSPECTS COUNTY HOME BLDGS.

Formal inspection of the property and buildings east of the city was made following the first quarterly meeting of the Hastings County House of Refuge Committee yesterday afternoon. The committee discussed the several recommendations embodied in the report of the Government Inspector, but no immediate action was taken. Quarterly payment of bills and other routine business was done during the remainder of the meeting.

DOGS ANNOY OWNERS OF FLOWER BEDS

Following several complaints that dogs running at large in the city have been responsible for damage done to flower beds, police today warned owners that dogs must be tied up. The animals have been digging in the soft earth, especially in flower beds, and lawns on the East Hill, besides causing other damage.

OFFICE HOURS AT POST OFFICE

Tomorrow, April 11th, being Good Friday and also a statutory holiday, the following hours will be observed at the Belleville Post Office: The lobby will be open from 6:30 a.m. until 8:00 p.m. and all wickets will be open from 8:00 a.m. until 10:00 a.m. Letter carriers will observe the holiday and there will be no letter carrier delivery, although there will be one evening collection from the street letter boxes.

On Easter Monday the lobby will open from 6:00 a.m. until 8:00 p.m. and all wickets will be open from 8:00 a.m. until 12:00 noon. There will be one morning delivery by letter carrier and also parcel post service. Street letter box collections will be made with complete service being given.

On both holidays, mails will be despatched and received as usual with all mail special delivery service as usual.

CATERPILLAR GRADER BOUGHT BY COUNTY

Hastings County officials have announced the purchase of a new caterpillar diesel grader to be used for maintenance and construction work during the coming summer.

Purchased from the General supply Company, Toronto, whose tender was accepted, the grader is powered by a motor of approximately 83 horsepower and weighs 18,000 pounds. It is rubber tired and of tandem-drive construction and will be equipped with bulldozer and other road building accessories. The new grader will be delivered to the county in the near future.

WILLIAM RODGERS 96 YEARS OLD
Former Warden of County of Hastings in Fairly Good Health — Living With Daughter

William Rodgers, former Warden of the County of Hastings, quietly celebrated at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clayton Hagerman, Bellevile, his 96th birthday this Thursday, enjoying fairly good health and taking a marked interest in the progress of the war.

Mr. Rodgers was born on the Ridge Road in Rawdon Township and for many years carried on farming operations in that community, retiring from active life some years ago. While a resident in the township he took an active interest in municipal affairs being a member of the Township Council for many years, serving as Reeve and finally as Warden of the County in 1909. He is well known and highly respected and many messages of congratulations have been received by him on his day.

The family, of which six survive and which includes Mrs. Clayton Hagerman, Belleville; Mrs. George Rose, Holloway; Mrs. Joseph Hollinger, Foxboro; Jacob Rodgers, Belleville; William at Chatterton and Thomas at Rawdon, were present for the celebration as well as many friends and a large birthday cake with 96 candles was the centre of attraction.

Obituary

MRS. ANNIE TAYLOR

Mrs. Annie Taylor, wife of Mr. Ernest R. Taylor, 313 Foster Ave, died in Nicholls Hospital, Belleville, on Wednesday, April 9th, after a short illness. She was a graduate nurse from the Nicholls' Hospital and entered that institution a short time before she took treatment.

The late Mrs. Taylor prior to her marriage was Miss Annie Long and was born in England, but has resided many years ago. At an early age she came to Canada and made her home with Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Chamberlain, Belleville, and on graduation from Nicholls' Hospital she engaged in private nursing for some time and later received the appointment of Public Health Nurse for Thurlow. During her short death will bring sincere feelings of regret. She possessed many fine traits of character and when health permitted took an active part in the work of various organizations in connection with the Tabernacle United Church. For a time she was the efficient teacher of the Primary Class in the Sunday School and a valued member of the Woman's Auxiliary. Previously she was a member of Quintena Rebekah Lodge, No. 124.

Surviving to mourn her loss are her husband, two sons, Robert and Billie, one daughter Shirley, all at home; one brother, Mr. Edward Long, Gonabee Township, near Peterboro and a brother and sister in England.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Income Tax Payers Urged To Complete Returns By April 30

With Wednesday, April 30th., set as the deadline for those taxpayers who pay their income taxes in full, Major S. J. Gilmore, Income Tax Inspector for this district, today urged that payments be made as soon as possible to alleviate the inevitable last-minute rush.

The number of new taxpayers this year, due to increased time regulations, has increased the work of income tax offices, Inspector pointed out, and this additional work will tax already hard-working staffs to capacity.

"We are ready to give any assistance whatever to those new taxpayers," Major Gilmore said, "but if they come in early we will be able to devote more time to their individual tax return requirements."

In spite of the fact that a large number of new and old taxpayers took advantage of the government's instalment plan last year, a number of payers who have made it a habit to make their payments in full, will hold off until the last day or so, and it is to these people that Major Gilmore issues his appeal.

POLICE COURT

Traffic cases only were heard before Magistrate A. J. Butler K.C., in today's pre-Easter session of County Police Court, held at the Court House.

Cyril Berkely, Belleville, contributed five dollars and paid the costs of the court after pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving. The count was preferred by Motorcycle Patrolman C. E. Siple.

Pieten Woman Pays $18

Grace Cornelius, Picton, was fined $10.00 and costs as the result of being convicted of driving a motor car without first having obtained an Ontario operator's permit. Traffic Officer J. H. Hatch was the complainant in this case.

William Anderson, Roslin, was arraigned into court on a charge of careless driving and intimated through his counsel, Mr. Charles A. Payne K.C., that a plea of not guilty would be entered.

Requested Remand

Mr. Payne requested the case be laid over until following a civil action, which had arisen out of the accident that brought on the H.T.A. charge. "My client has a civil case against the Smith Transport Company arising out of this accident and we would like to dispose of the civil matter first," urged Mr. Payne, as he explained the cases arose without a motor accident on March 20th last, when a motor car driven by Mr. Anderson was in collision with a Smith Transport truck. Belleville, Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan K.C., stated he had no objection to the postponement as suggested by Mr. Payne.

"However, I am not establishing a precedent in this matter, remember," warned the Crown Attorney.

Famous Empire Stories

By Lilian Leveridge

The Story of Jamaica

If the whole story of this beautiful island could be told it would be quite too painful to be read or listened to with any real enjoyment—that is, large parts of the story. Nature seems to have designed it as a sort of Paradise, but "man's inhumanity to man" for many bitter years made it anything but that.

The island was discovered by Christopher Columbus in 1494, just two years after his discovery of America. On this second voyage he had re-visited Hayti and was sailing along the coast of Cuba, expecting at any time to reach Cathay—for he still believed that this New World he had found was the eastern part of Asia. But the Indians told him of a rich island to the south where there was much gold.

"It sounds interesting," thought Columbus as he listened to the Indians' story; "I've a mind to find out just what truth there is in it." So he changed the course of his three ships.

He didn't have long to wait. In just a few hours they sighted in the far distance the blue tops of some lofty mountains.

"There it is!" cried the Indian fisherman who had accompanied him, "that is Xamaca."

The Indian name for the Spanish island, which is "a land of springs," but with a slight change in the spelling been retained ever since.

The sailing vessels made slow progress through the quiet summer seas, and they did not reach the island until two days later. Fingerly Columbus scanned the shore as they drew near, flew very lovely it was! There were high hills and mountains, valleys and plains, all clothed with luxuriant forests, rich grasses and beautiful flowers, and threaded with silvery streams leaping and flashing in the sunlight on their tortuous way from the mountains to the sea. It was the first week in May, and the great navigator thought that spring had never come to a pleasanter land.

Picturesque little villages were seen here and there, and many Indians crowded to the shore as the ships drew near. The Indians of Hayti and Cuba had been quite peaceable, but these were armed and seemed determined to resist the landing of the strangers. Adorned with gaudy feathers, they came out in seventy canoes to meet him, but Columbus made it plain that he had not come to fight, and soon the crew landed with little difficulty at a spot just that has since been called Santa Gloria.

The harbour, however, was not sufficiently sheltered, and next day they sailed on to a better one which Columbus called Sta. Gloria Bees. Here they met with resistance from the natives. Somewhat reasonably, but thinking it necessary to make a display of his power, Columbus loosed a bloodhound among them. This terrified them so that they were very willing to give in.

They were, after all, very mild, peaceable people, and finding that their visitors intended them no ill, they soon became very friendly. They were eager to exchange their fruits and other produce for the trifles and trinkets Columbus had brought. On landing he took possession of the island in the name of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain.

During the few days that the explorers remained, cruising along the coast, the Indians continued friendly. Columbus then sailed to Cuba, but in a few weeks returned to Jamaica, where for a month he continued to learn more and more of its beauty and fruitfulness, but no gold of any account was discovered. After he left, the island remained unvisited for eight years.

The last visit of Columbus to Jamaica was disastrous and unhappy. Spain, in spite of his great services, treated him with shameful neglect and ingratitude, so that his last days were passed in poverty and misery.

After an unfortunate voyage he arrived with two shipwrecked vessels at Don chris-ogers Cove, where he landed. Lashing the two ships together, he built a thatched roof over them and for a whole year this was the only home he knew. During this time he suffered from disease and fever, and many of his men mutinied. The Spaniards ill-treated the Indians, making them unwilling, as they had formerly been, to bring supplies.

Columbus, who knew that an eclipse of the moon was to occur at a certain hour, used this circumstance to lighten the hardships of his lot. He told the Indians that God was angry with them for not supplying his needs,and would darken the moon to punish them. This, of course, happened at the set time. The Indians in dismay begged Columbus to pray for them. He did so, the darkness passed and supplies were afterwards more freely brought.

But the perils and hardships of his position increased. The Spanish governor at Hayti knew of his plight, but delayed to send aid, until Diego Mendes, a faithful friend of Columbus, succeeded through peril and hardship in reaching Hayti in a canoe. There he secured two vessels which were sent to his relief.

On June 28, 1504, Columbus, overjoyed at his deliverance, left the island that he loved better before he had visited with such delight and hopefulness. He had made discoveries and explorations of great value to Spain and the whole world, but the knowledge was to cost him very dear.

For nearly one hundred years the Spaniards had their own way in Jamaica, and in fact, in the greater part of the West Indies also. Long before the end of that period they had completely shut out the mild, gentle tribe of Indians who had lived so happily on their fair and fruitful island.

In last Cromwell, in 1655, determined to restrict the tyranny and barbarous cruelty the Spaniards had long practised on and from which British seamen and soldiers had suffered in the Caribbean. An expedition was sent out under seal-general Penn and Admiral Venables, which sailed chiefly for their folly and cowardice, and most of the men under them were left behind. They sailed first to Barbadoes, where there was a British colony, and then to Hispaniola, but Hayti, where they went on to Hayti. They had a strong enough force to capture this island, and certainly might have done so, but disdained, instead, through ill-conducted battle, hunger and disease they lost about one-third of their men.

Next month they reached Jamaica. Here there was nothing to prevent an easy victory, but Venables, fever-stricken, was back in bed. At last the island surrendered, but through the grossest neglect and mis-management before and after, thousands of men perished.

Cromwell sent out better men to hold and manage the new colony, and also a number of colonists to occupy it. Jamaica has ever since remained a British island. The Spaniards tried a few years later to recapture it, but the mother of Spain formally ceded the island to Britain in 1670.

The climate near the coast was very trying to Europeans, and because officers in command were often negligent and heartless, and the men so lacking in energy, sickness were quartered in unhealthy positions. The same faults resulted in lack of food, and many thousands died that ought to have lived and made the island happy and prosperous.

Of course there was a brighter side to this unhappy story. Nature had provided Jamaica with many sorts of luxury, and as the years went on the resources of the island were utilized more and more. Some very good and able men, as well as some very bad and incapable ones, were from time to time sent out as governors. Kingston, the capital, situated on a splendid harbour, Port Royal and Spanish Town are the chief towns, and were the centres of many exciting events on the island. Education has made its way, with slow but steady progress; by degrees churches and schools were built and helped in the gradual uplift to better times.

The growing and manufacture of sugar and rum formed the chief industry. In connection with this African slaves were employed. The almost unbearable cruelties and poor negroes suffered at the hands of their inhuman masters seems to cast a shadow upon British history. There was a long, painful struggle for betterment before the slaves were set free in 1834. Since then, although there was a serious rising of blacks some years later, the conditions not only of the freed slaves but of the white people and whites generally on the island has prospered. Black and coloured people now make up by far the greater part of the population of about 850,000.

There are now fewer large sugar plantations, but a greater variety of other products, such as cocoa, oranges, bananas, pineapples, grapefruit, limes, ginger, tropical and logwood extracts, honey, cocoanuts and other good things—every one of carefully grown and exported.

Jamaica has at times come into its own as a land of happy homes. Earthquakes, floods, fires and tornadoes have been responsible for tragic chapters in the past, and may be again, but on the whole since brotherly kindness at last prevails, Jamaica may face the future without fear and without reproach.

O. C. Thanks St. Julien Chapter On War Work

Mrs. R. A. Backus, secretary of the St. Julien Chapter, of the I. O. D. E., has received from the officer commanding an Eastern Ontario unit acknowledgment of the receipt of a shipment of comforts shipped several months ago.

He says: "I have asked my padre to see to the distribution in accordance with your request.

"The boys are in remarkably good health and spirits. Fortunately the past winter was much milder than the January and February of 1940 and we had very little sickness in the unit.

"Christmas was very happy considering everything, plenty of turkey and plum pudding.

"The Y.M.C.A. have done a tremendous amount of work for us with their tea cars, entertainments, supplying sports equipment, and at Christmas time a nice tree for every company and a box for every man, small but very nice.

"I personally appreciate very much the work your ladies are doing for the local boys in the unit and have impressed upon them again that a note from them would be appreciated by you.

"Please convey my thanks and best wishes to the members of St. Julien Chapter."

I SUFFERED TORTURE ON WASHDAY.. until...

ALL THAT HARD SCRUBBING MADE ME FEEL SO TIRED & I THOUGHT I WAS GOING TO PIECES!

A true-life tabloid letter from a well-known resident of Mrs. James I. Annapolis.

THAT'S WHY I CAME TO YOU KNOW YOUR WONDERFUL NEW SOAP THAT ENDURES ONLY AND WITHOUT SCRUBBING. YOU CAN TRUST ANYTHING ADVERTISED HERE!

HIGH-TEST OXYDOL! WHY THAT IS THAT NEW SOAP WITH THE MARVELLOUS NEW INGREDIENT IN IT I'VE BEEN HEARING ABOUT OVER THE RADIO...

THAT'S RIGHT, MRS. LEWIS, AND IT'S THE SAME WONDERFUL OXYDOL UP TO 3 TIMES THE SUDS OF OLD-STYLE SOAPS AND EVEN IN OUR HARD WATER.

HA, HA! THAT SHOW LOOKING FOR THAT? THEY CERTAINLY OUGHT TO GET CLOTHES REALLY SNOWY!

"SNOWY"IS NO WORD FOR IT! MINE LOOKED WHITER THAN EVER BEFORE AS MUCH AS 3 TO 5 SHADES WHITER!

RADIOED SOAPS HAVE NEVER DONE THAT BEFORE.

10 MINUTES LATER!

IT'S TRUE, TOO! I ONLY 10 MINUTES AND THERE THEY WERE SANDY'S SNOWY WHITES!

AND DON'T WORRY ABOUT WASHABLE COLORS! THOSE EITHER! I ALWAYS SAY OXYDOL IS A REGULAR "BEAUTY PRESERVER" FOR THE COLORFUL THINGS TOO! THEY NEVER LOOK SO BRIGHT AFTER OXYDOL!

NEXT WASHDAY EVENING

AHEM! YOU LOOK HAPPY! I'LL BET YOU'VE HEARD ABOUT THE WONDERFUL NEW SOAP, TOO! NOW COME?

I FINISHED THAT WHOLE BIG WASH BY 4 O'CLOCK BECAUSE OF OXYDOL! YOU'RE NO KNOW-HOW ABOUT HARD WATER AND OXYDOL IT SAVES!

NOW I TAKE IT EASY! WHILE OTHER WOMEN TOIL, I'M FREE AS A BIRD WITH HIGH-TEST OXYDOL!

"I used to get so fagged out from washing clothes, but now a friend told me about High-Test Oxydol and I find it's the best wonderful! It is to use a 10 minutes' soak and all the white clothes so white I could scarcely believe it."

Mrs. James I. Annan.

"WASHED CLOTHES SO WHITE
I could scarcely believe it... and it's grand to get rid of all that hard scrubbing!"

THE soluse you switch to new High-Test OXYDOL you'll join the thousands of women who, with Mrs. Annan, have said good-bye for ever to washday tears.

For OXYDOL'S amazing new ingredient in Oxydol.... and here's what this little word means to you:

(1) It simply melts away dirt in ten minutes, without scrubbing or boiling. Even grimy collar bands and cuffs clean with a few quick rubs, a good deal of them even a rinse. (2) It washes white clothes so much as 9 to 11 shades whiter than ever before. (3) And one cup, it gives up to 3 times the suds of the finest soap as much as 2 to 3 times longer! This is no idle talk.... it is all been proved in our scientific laboratory tests against the leading soaps.

Now before you say, "what about colors?" just listen to this—any cotton print, given the equal of a whole year's washing in our laboratory, proved looking as brightly new! That's how SAFE Oxydol is. With all these advantages, High-Test Oxydol is a money-saver, too. Penny for penny, it goes up to 25% farther than less economical soaps. Get a package of OXYDOL today.

PRIME MINISTER DELAYS U. S. TRIP

Will Likely Leave Toward Weekend to Visit Roosevelt in Georgia

Ottawa, April 10 (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King's projected visit to the United States will be delayed "to talk over everything under the sun" has been postponed a few days because of the gravity of war news from the Balkans.

It is anticipated Mr. King will leave toward the end of the week to visit President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga.

The prime minister announced postponement of his departure yesterday at a press conference when he explained functioning of Canada's present cabinet war committee of ten ministers and chiefs of staff. Colonel Ralston, Nanaimo, B.C. of Toronto has been raised from rank of acting to permanent Canadian Minister at Washington.

The prime minister first had planned to leave yesterday but said he "would not be happy away from Ottawa at this particular moment."

"We are at a time of great crisis," he said. "The war map moves rapidly, not only in the Balkans but in other parts of the world. I think that the people of Canada will continue, as they have been, to perform their tasks calmly. That is the best way to carry on at this time. . . ."

Mr. King added: "I am hoping very much" that Mr. Roosevelt soon will visit Ottawa. "I have been with him every time I see him," he said. "Deep understanding."

Unaccompanied by any of his ministers, Mr. King will leave for the United States after receiving definite word from Washington regarding the date the President will leave for Warm Springs on his usual Easter holiday. If Mr. Roosevelt for any reason does not go to Warm Springs, Mr. King said he will visit him either at Washington or Hyde Park, N.Y.

"We will take about everything under the sun," he said.

Postponement of his departure resulted from war news he had read in yesterday's newspapers, and not from any "inside information".

The prime minister referred to agitation in some quarters for an "inner war cabinet" and said that he failed to see how any other arrangement could function more satisfactorily" than the present war committee of himself, Mr. Orrar, Justice Minister Lapointe, Defence Minister Ralston, Air Minister Power, Navy Minister Macdonald, Munitions Minister Howe, Finance Minister Ilsley, War Savings Minister Gardiner and Hon. Raoul Dandurand, government leader in the Senate.

"Personally, I believe in the collective rather than the single mind in times of crisis as in other times," he said. "It may not think from one man into the limelight, but it certainly saves a lot of mistakes."

Mr. King said the situation was different in Britain where there was a form of National Government with Prime Minister Churchill "completely filled" by long experience to be the chief directing genius of the war effort.

Rome Communique

Rome, April 10 (AP)—The Italian high command acknowledged today the loss to Britain of Massaua, chief Italian Red Sea port, but claimed the Italians had put the finishing touches to their evacuation from Skopje.

The Italians also claimed that three of the submarines had torpedoed a British cruiser of the Liverpool class in the Mediterranean-Red Sea area.

(No confirmation is available from British sources. The Liverpool is listed in Jane's fighting ships as one of the Southampton class of eight 9,100-ton cruisers.)

MR. CHURCHILL SPEAKS

Words of Prime Minister Churchill have comprehensiveness and balance which are of the utmost importance. He is able to provide sanity of view and sense of the true situation, which are an invaluable factor in the prosecution of the war.

On Wednesday he revealed his powers at their best in his statement to the British Commons in which he depicted the North and East African campaigns and surveyed the situation in the Balkan war. He pointed out how the forlorn position in the Middle East had improved from the time of the French collapse, how at one time the British stake in the Nile Valley were outnumbered four or five to one by the Italian forces and yet the British sequence of victories followed wherein more Italians were taken prisoner than there were men in the British forces and how Britain practically alone but for the aid of the Free French and Belgian forces who were few but had truly borne their part, had fought and conquered.

His speech included explanation of the situation in North Africa, the announcement that the conquest of Italian East Africa is well complete, a warning to Soviet Russia that there are signs that point to a Nazi attempt to secure the granaries of the Ukraine and the oilfields of the Caucasus, and a reference to American aid which led to say that "once we have gained the Battle of the Atlantic and are certain of the constant flow of American supplies which are being prepared for us, then, wherever Hitler may go or whatever millions and millions and millions he may lay in misery, then, it is sure that armed with the sword of retributive justice we shall be on his track."

He brought up the Eire situation and expressed the hope that Eire may realize that it is in Eire's interest as well as Britain's that her ports and airfields should be available for naval and air forces. He said he voiced confidence in Britain's ability to cope with the air attacks on shipping with American aid in the ship-building program.

He "scouted the Nazi tactics in the Balkans, the bitter venom of the members of the Nazi gang, Hitler, Goering, Ribbentrop and others against Yugoslavia when she refused to join the Axis, and said that Premier Tsvetkovitch committed suicide rather than join in such a deed of shame as attack Yugoslavia. He pointed out that Britain had sent Eden and Dill to see if a united defensive front could be formed in the Balkans. Athens, Belgrade and Ankara but Prince Paul's regency government refused to allow them to go to Belgrade. Such a front might have deterred Germany or at least have delayed her for a long time. He spoke in graphic language of Greece's determination to stand alone, and of Britain's determination to aid her, and pointed to the sudden realization by Yugoslavia of her peril and of Hitler's and the Nazi gang's vowing of a frightful vengeance upon these Southern Slavs. Mr. Churchill said the defeat of the U-boat and surface raiders has been proven entirely "a matter of adequate escorts for our convoys."

'DEBACLE'

To what a low ebb Fascist Italy has sunk when Italy will trail the barbarous Nazi Germans! Canon Frederick George Scott of Quebec contrasts in four lines of verse the enduring fame of ancient Rome with the degradation of the Fascist state of Mussolini.

"DEBACLE".

"Imperial Rome, now veil thy face for shame
At little men who prostitute thy name;
Thank God, thy glory and thy fame will last
When Mussolini and his dupes have passed."

4,500 ships have sailed from Canada to Britain during the war. These ships have a total tonnage of 27,000,000, said Navy Minister Angus L. Macdonald. This is evidence of the British power on the sea. It is also proof of the necessity of keeping the sea lanes protected.

OURSELVES AND OTHERS...

Black Bill, champion nutcracker of the West Side Maples, flicks a bushy tail over one eye. He squints at Gus, the East side Elm Terror, who eyes him quizzically. Both wear the red tail, insignia of the Brother Fox Fox Fifth Column Treetapo, whose depredations among the nut stores of the park have resulted in an acute food shortage, while their wholesale kidnapping of the younger squirrel dames, is responsible for the sharp rise in price of the cheaper fur coats.

"How's business?" chirps Bill, balancing a fat hickory nut in one paw and, giving the squirrel version of the Bronx cheer to an inquisitive pup, who has just finished taking the dimensions of the butt of the tree.

"Not interested," retorts Gus. "I'm on vacation just now and not interested in nutty stories."

"Well, sumpin's on your mind," comes back Bill." Whaddaya lookin' at that couple of humans with so much interest for?"

"Yuh know, Bill, all the nuts in this world don't grow on trees. A lot of them wear pants, and not a few of them skirts and dresses. They come out here and sit on the park benches and some of the conversations and antics would make your grandfather come out of the mothballs."

Bill describes a few arcs with his rusted rear appendage, deftly favlied it out in his paw before cracking it between strong teeth. "Yuh know, Gus, some of these dames that come down here to rest up, recuperate and reminisce between themselves, make a screen. If some of these boyfriends knew how they were verbally hung, drawn and quartered after a hectic session at partying, dancing and pre-session workouts in cheesterfield rugby, they would feel so low they would need a ten foot ladder to put a saddle on a dew worm. Then again, some of the conversations are funny."

"I remember two gals," he continued, "who apparently had hogtied, padlocked, and all but wedlocked a couple of air force chaps. One of them, who was so intelligent she thinks a Flock Trouser was a bird fancier, was telling her friend of her experiences with her idea of a future air-marshal."

"Gee, Mamey," she giggled between her gum calisthenics, "Jack is a scream. Last night when he took me home I ast him if I could take him in. He said, 'Listen Baby, you've taken me in plenty already.' Wasn't that funny, Mamey, we have been in the house at all. He said he had been out with the boys the night before and he musta been drinkin' because he said he was late gettin' in and had to sleep in the hangover."

"And Jack says they don't fool around with these tramps at the airport where he is. At least that is what I s'pose he means, because he says every once in a while he takes a big plane up and drops a lot of bums in Consecon Lake. Poor guys, I thought hobos was such harmless fellas."

"But the other dame wasn't so dumb," Bill remarked, drily." I had a fellow before I met Harry,' she said, 'who was just one of those smart alec guys who spoke only air force language. He says to me one night, 'Listen Babe, I know a cute little hangar in the next town; let's take off, fuel up and I'll show you some stunting you never saw before.'"

"Yeah," comes back her friend, unknowingly wisecracking. "That was pretty plain talk. What did you say?"

"Huh," sniffs her pal, "I showed him I could talk air force too. I let go with my right undercarriage, contacted the rear part of his fuselage and he made a pretty a forced landing as you ever saw."

"Strange things, these humans," soliloquized Gus, "At times I feel I would do anything for you, bring you nuts to eat, and try to coax you to come near so they can touch you, and five minutes later their song will come out with a .22 rifle and bring you off."

"Well, so long," chirped the Grey Terror as he leaped to the branches of a neighboring tree. "Happy hickories this fall." "Thanks, Pal," comes back Bill. "Nuts to you, too."

THE GOLFING PARSON EXULTS

"Now," said the golfing parson,
Have reasons many to be glad.
Mine is the blue of the sky
The green of all the earth, my lad!

The cardinal, from the ancient tree,
Is singing out his song for me.

"A breeze just blowing from the west
Is of the fortune which I count.
I own those robins, red of breast.
Behold how high my riches mount!

I've but to look on things divine
And for the moment they are mine.

All's mine, the sky, the earth, the sun!"
"Yes, yes," I said, "you own them all,
But till this round of golf is done
Just keep your eye upon the ball.
Though bird and bloom belong to you,
Please bear in mind — follow through."

Stewart Says

Selective Service Means Exercising Careful Judgment

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Canadian Correspondent
Washington.—Selective Service's administration is encountering criticism for defraying a considerable larger proportion of military headquarters and draft boards did in time of Uncle Sam's entrance into the last titanic struggle.

"H u m p h," snorted Senator Joseph F. Burkley (D., Pa.) when Stewart answer to this fault-finding. "Selective Service means intelligent selection. That means also the selection of those best fitted to conduct the various forces by continued performances of necessary civilian duties."

Major Bailey's a specialist on that sort of thing. Appointed adjutant at Selective Service headquarters, as well as chief of the administrative war economy office's Selective Service section. He's addicted to expressions like a commander-in-chief. "Humph!" he's blunt almost to brusqueness. He doesn't like it, however, without revealing an inside kindliness that only those who understanding beneath his air of professional austerity. He's also a practi t patriotism has behind it a background of approximately 25 years' service with the army, navy ce and more than eight years of study and practice in connection with the Selective Service system.

"The fatalities and inevitably stiffent requirement for national defense," remarked the major, "is a speedier production of military material and supplies. At this stage drives and cut the supply of skilled workers is depleted, it can only be met by utilizing the time now employed handle a monkey wrench — the boys on the job, and the boys in small towns.

Good Judgment Needed

"For this reason and because the United States is determined to keep the breadbasket as well as the arsenal of embattled democracy, labor must be conserved. Selection will be extremely careful not to make military service unfair. The highest skill or aptitude will soon be scrutinized for necessity to the job at hand. While this isn't to say that all mechanics and all farm workers be deferred it is to say that good judgment's called for, with industry's critipels the country's industrially and agriculturally defensive capacity, in trying to meet the needs of land forces. Soldiers have to have food and clothing as well as training.

"Selective service has been done in that direction in connection with aircraft production. Certain plants have been set up in the central states, to which parts are being shipped from plants in the northeastern and western industrial areas.

"Having set these smaller plants a-going, we've got to keep them going to man 'em."

Reports to complaint that today's local boards are freer with deferment than the last war's boards were, to the latter quote Provost Marshal General Crowder, who conducted that draft, as saying: "The fact that there was an alarming tendency to defer men engaged in certain fields in the spring of 1918, paralyzed those fields to a point prior in interpreting the term 'necessary enterprise' and that it would have been much better have been left at home to attend to.

Avoiding Mistakes

"Why, during the first world war," added Bailey, "it was found necessary to furlough certain men in the war service. Why, one quote Provost Marshal General Crowder, who conducted that draft, as saying: "The fact that there was an alarming tendency to defer men engaged in certain fields in the spring of 1918, paralyzed those fields to a point prior to man 'em."

Postal Clerk Upset A Nazi Plot

From the Winnipeg Free Press is a romantic true tale that mighty rulers can have their minutes taken upset and defeated by little men, little things. An incident of the kind is one of the 1,000 stories in the long drawn-out drama of the war. The smallest but richest colonial empire, the British, has always been taken over by the German Government. Its officials have not had to become suspicious of a cable received in code from Berlin.

The German Legation to take over the Dutch East Indies nearly a year was prevented not by a human triviality, a quirk of the mind and principle of the behavior of a plain person. Cabled orders from Berlin were to put the colonies under the German post office operation, but these cabled orders were delivered to the Netherlands postal clerk held them, denying their entry.

He held on to the cable and kept his arrival secret in the absence of the postmaster, and the latter he looked at the cable, and the cable was in code. It was, of course, more urgently its arrival appeared to be awaited, the more suspicious the absence of its content.

The postal clerk told the military authorities about the cable. Once they de-coded it, the entire plan, worked three-fold and a second mill may be erected.

Saturated by Nazism, watching the world. Bi, wooden sticks have been invented to facilitate foot fighting by forcing thrust into the ground beside them at the time of the thrust, the Vitamin.

Germans And Italians In Neutral Eire

By J. ILLINGWORTH

In the Leeds Yorkshire Post

I was in Cork the day they buried five German airmen who crashed on the shores of Dunmanus Bay. The next day I read in the Irish newspapers that the German Legation, had been present at the funeral and had delivered a graveside oration.

Speaking in German, he said:

You died for the greatness of your country. Your blood has not be a stone monument but the playing of children in meadows and men ploughing the land. They will be your monument, and the blossom on your grave will be the young healthy youth of Germany. I bring you the last greetings of your country. Sleep well in foreign earth.

The presence of the Germans is an aspect of neutral Eire which the English visitor never quite accustoms himself. He reads this sort of thing with a sense of shock.

If you take a Dun Laoghaire tram out of Merrion Square, Dublin, and keep a look-out for a slightly bored looking German standing on the pavement edge, you will find the German Legation. It is in Northumberland Road, one of a block of substantial Georgian houses. There is a plaque on the wall showing an Anglo-Irish author once lived there.

The influential quarters in Northern Ireland there is a vague uneasiness—they do not put it any higher than that—over the presence of a German Legation so close to the border, a border crossed at countless remote places by unguarded roads.

There are 366 Germans in Eire, but 170 of the name refugees.

The German Legation has a staff of seven, and the German Minister is there. Herr Hempel occasionally a member of the Legation staff drifts round the Dublin paper offices, bringing the official German announcements. Censorship is usually none over the agency tapes anyhow. Sometimes, I was told, he may bring suggestions for foreign newspapers, but any stuff in these regarded as a matter of only finds its way to the wastepaper basket, as the censorship insists on neither side being hurt.

The ordinary public attitude is little of Herr Hempel, but, all the same, since he came here about a year ago, he has not been without in his attendances at peculiarly by national events, such as Irish cultural gatherings.

When the Department of Education organized an evening during which Irish dances were danced, he turned up with his wife, who graciously took the floor. You will usually find him at any Irish function or football match of national significance, and at the big parades. He attended the consecration of the Archbishop of Dublin.

From the voluble conversation that was going on just behind me while I was having supper the other night I knew that I had wandered into an Italian cafe. I turned round, and there was the proprietor, a swarthy, full-faced elderly man with flowing white hair, shining in his cash register.

I had not heard Italian spoken since, nearly a year ago, I called at the headquarters of the small Italian colony in Leeds, who were depressed and angry because Mussolini was threatening to come into the war.

I went down to Queenstown, which the Irish now call Cobh, "Roosmount" (Cove), once a regular naval station of ours. It was quiet, a man in a blue jersey who was lounging over the harbor wall pointed to a great stretch of empty water.

"You'd sometimes see five or six battleships come out there," he said.

Not far away was a naval trawler flying the flag of Eire, and there were one or two odd craft alongside taking on the harbor. The separation of the Irish Free State from the United Kingdom, and the war, have hit Cobh hard.

"Do you like to see Britain back in the port?" I asked the man in the blue jersey.

"Sure, I'm not the (John) Bull here," he said.

I went up the bars along the water front the landlady said: "In the last war, before I was born, getting 5 to 10 pounds a week. Now, nothing at all, nothing at all."

Then she added: "Never mind, if we haven't got money we've got food."

Cobh has been named as one of the points the Germans may attempt to grab in any invasion of Eire, and there is a constant drift to a group of men down by the jetty they were fishing. Each time I passed there was something between "Dev", as they called him, and Churchill. Each time I passed they nodded solemnly over it. And, perhaps, they were all of them out every night on patrol.

You'd Be Surprised!

EVERY MAN A LAWYER

"A man who acts as his own lawyer has a fool for a client," is an old saying. This was probably invented by a lawyer.

Since the adoption of the Federal Constitution in 1789, Congress has passed only the President has approved more than 25,000 separate laws.

It is estimated that during 1,200 years of government in ancient Greece about 1,000 laws were placed on the statute books.

"Law" and "lay" are from the same Anglo-Saxon root and literally a law is something that is laid down.

In 1704 a Scottish political writer named Andrew Fletcher of Saltoun wrote that he once knew a very wise man who believed that if a man could but make all the ballads, he need not care who made the laws of a nation.

The term "attorney" was so often associated in the days of Queen Elizabeth with pettifoggers and shyster lawyers that in 1873 it was abolished as the title of members of the British bar.

There is nothing in the popular notion that it is illegal in the United States to write a check for less than a dollar. The belief apparently arose from a statute which prohibited individual banks to issue bank notes in denominations of less than a dollar.

"Corpus delicti" literally means the body of the crime. Many people erroneously think that it refers to the physical body of the victim of a murder. Actually it refers to the substantial fact or combination of fact or facts necessary to a crime, such as unlawful death in murder, in burglary, arson and other crimes as well as in homicide. A body can be convicted of murder even if the body of the victim cannot be found or identified, provided it can be proved that the crime was committed.

Some six hundred years before Christ a Greek lawmaker named Draco drafted a code of laws for Athens providing such severe penalties for every offense that the laws were said to be written in blood."

The letters "L.S." on legal documents are the abbreviation of Latin "locus sigilli," meaning the place of the seal. In the early survival of the Roman custom of impressing seals on documents with a signet or seal ring.

A. B. BAIRD HEADS BEACHES' ASSOC. IN COMING YEAR

Immediate Completion of Filter Beds Unanimously Endorsed

BUILD NEW CANTEEN

A. B. Baird, of the Dominion Entomological Laboratories here, and vice-president last year, was the unanimous choice of the Belleville Beaches Association as its 1941 president at the election of officers held at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Mr. Baird succeeds Reg. Moncrieff, uniting head of the organization for some years, who has removed to Ottawa.

Program Committee—R. Hill, chairman, Ray Grant, Clare Morgan, Laurie Lewis, Joe Imlah.

Horticultural Committee—The chairman, a representative of the Belleville Horticultural Society (to be named; R. Hill, G. Freeman, J. Watson, D. Farrell, J. Symons, and representatives of the Queen Alexandra Home and School, Dorset, and the Catholic Women's League to be appointed.

Artificial Landscape Committee—Dr. Van Blaklzle, chairman; Joe Shortt, Morley Stork, K. Hill and J. Watson.

Works Committee—Harry Rollins, chairman, M. Stork, Jack Allin, Dr. Blaklzle, W. L. Langlois.

Inlaid Committee—M. Stork, M. Smith.

Endorse Motion

The association endorsed a motion to the effect that President Baird proceed at once in conjunction with the city to arrange for the immediate completion of the filter beds in the project, and that such funds as are immediately, or soon will be available be devoted solely to that purpose.

The body also endorsed a motion that the association executive proceed with Mr. R. P. Burrows to formulate tentative proposals regarding the operation of a refreshment booth on the beaches" and that these be presented to the association for ratification.

President Baird upon assuming office urged the importance of the immediate levelling of garbage deposits used as fill in certain sections of the beaches, and their covering with sand sweepings from city streets. "This is the most important item we have to deal with at present," he said, "and one that should be cleared up before the season starts." Mr. D. Farrell told the meeting that this work had already been started.

Discussion of the deplorable condition of roads leading to the beaches resulted in the association to be approached with a view to securing the grading, for levelling purposes. Another suggestion was the securing of sufficient steel fillings, at present available in the city, to make a four-inch surface for the roadways. It was felt that an attractive road leading to the project would serve as an inducement to not only residents but the travelling public.

The association unanimously endorsed the president's suggestion that the first work to be done was the covering of garbage, and the completion of the tile-field for sewage disposal for nearby manufacturing plants.

To Interview Service Clubs

With only limited association funds in view, President Baird was delegated to interview service clubs of the city with a view to soliciting donations, also to study the financial requirements necessary for the season's contemplated work, and other ways and means of securing sufficient funds to carry it out.

R. P. Burrows, who built and operated the refreshment canteen last year, urged the association to consider the possibility of erecting a larger building to accommodate increasing crowds. He advocated a screened building in order to alleviate or get rid of the fly and insect menace that is apparent where foods are being served. Suggestion that concessions be granted was opposed by Mr. Burrows, who pointed out that association operation of the canteen would result in increased revenue over that obtained from leasing the medium of rentals or concessions.

To Build Larger Canteen

He advanced a suggested plan for financing the erection of a larger and more expedient canteen which met with the approval of the association and which led to the first motion above-mentioned.

Approval of the installation of water enclosures for tiny tots as suggested by a representative of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Club, was readily given. This could be done, it was pointed out, for a nominal figure.

Secretary Dave Fleming announced to the meeting that contracts with the Sims Greater Shows had been signed, and the attraction will play in Belleville for the benefit of the association, starting May 26th and closing May 31st. This attraction is a definite source of revenue, he pointed out, and terms arranged with the Sims' same as those agreed upon between the parties in former years.

Mountain View— Miss Bernice Minaker was a dinner guest on Monday at the home of Mrs. J. G. Sprague.

Miss Vera Way of Bowerman's is confined to the home of her mother, and Mrs. Jay Sprague.

Mrs. Alfred Poste and Yvonne, were Tuesday evening callers with Mr. and Mrs. George Lovell near Wellington.

Quite a few are employed at the canning houses, transplanting tomato plants and other small plants.

On Wednesday the Mountain View Women's Institute held an all day quilting at the basement of the Methodist Church. At noon all were invited by Misses Elizabeth Bowerman and Hazel Minaker to the home of Mr. J. G. Sprague for dinner. The large tables were nicely arranged one with yellow decorations and the other in green. After the singing of "Grace", twenty-eight enjoyed the dinner. Those assisting the girls in serving were, Mrs. Clarke Sprague, Mrs. Alfred Poste, Mrs. Jay Sprague and Miss Evelyn Sprague. Proceeds from the day amounted to $9.50 to be used for war emergency work. In the afternoon a short business meeting was held. It was decided to again send $20.00 to the British War Victims' Fund. Mrs. John Black, secretary of the Institute made a donation of $5.00 to be used in the war emergency work. The election of officers then took place and all returned to office for the new year. The rest of the afternoon was spent in quilting.

Mrs. Harold Cornell, Bridge Street spent Thursday with Mrs. Clarence Sprague.

The "Lucky Seven" club held their last meeting at the project "Being Well Dressed and Well Groomed", on Thursday evening at the home of Miriam Keeble. There were five members and one visitor present. The meeting was opened by singing the Club song. Plans were made for Miss Helen Lough to attend the leader's class in Picton next Tuesday and Wednesday. The new project is "The Club Girl Stands on Guard". The sewing for the children in the hooked mats on hand is ready to be sent. The Roll Call of "Record Books" and slips was responded to by each girl displaying her finished article. The remainder of the time was spent in discussing plans and preparation for Achievement Day. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. William MacRichie were Thursday evening ballers at the home of Mr. J. G. Sprague.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Rowbotham, 14 Bettes Street, wish to announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Margaret Louise, to John Ronsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ronsky, Colborne. Date for the marriage to take place quietly some time in April. a10-11

Mrs. G. O. Robson, Toronto, South, and brothers, S.A.C. W. E. Bone, Toronto, Sgt. J. T. Bone, Rivers, Manitoba, and Pte. J. H. Bone, Camp Borden, have returned home after attending the funeral of Robert Earl Bone!

Mrs. Fred Knox and little daughter are spending a few days in Napanee.

The condition of Miss Ellen Watson, 97 Alexander Street, who has been quite ill for the past week is considerably improved.

Miss Jean Parks, 90 West Moira Street, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

The first baptismal service was performed at Bethesda Church on last Wednesday by the Rev. PH.-LT. W. J. Sowerby, when Lloyd, son pads, at the flying centre, Baby David LeRoy Swick, six-weeks old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Swick, was christened in a solemn and impressive rite at the Y.W.C.A. hostess house, attended by relatives and friends of Belleville and Trenton. The godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bernard, Trenton, acted at the ceremony and the baby's three-year-old sister, Marlene, watched proceedings. Hostess Mrs. Marian Hewson served a luncheon after the christening.

Weddings

HALL—TAYLOR

A pretty wedding took place this afternoon at three o'clock in the Chapel of St. Thomas Church, when Miss Doris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor, 59 Hillcrest Avenue, became the bride of Mr. Everett Harold Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall, Belleville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in queen's blue with navy accessories and corsage of carnations. She was attended by Miss Marion Hall, wearing navy blue with matching accessories, Mr. Walter Hall, bridegroom, was groomsman.

A buffet lunch was served at the bride's home, following which Mr. and Mrs. Hall left on a "wedding trip to Toronto and western points. Upon their return they will take up residence at Frankford.

PHILLIPS—TOMS

The marriage took place in Norwood United Church on April 5, at 3.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, April 5th, of Doreen Elizabeth Toms, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Toms, Peterborough, and Alnwickmuir, to Mr. Phillips, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Phillips, of Campbellford. The ceremony took place in Norwood.

The bride wore a frock of sweetheart blue with matching accessories. Her attendants, Miss Reta Smithwick of Havelock, and Miss Glenna Yaxly, of Rochester, N.Y., were dressed in rose with matching accessories. Mr. Donald Toms, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Following a reception held at the home of the bride's parents, Lansdowne Street, Peterborough, the bridal couple left on a motor and short trip. The bride donned a navy blue suit. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips reside in Trenton.

BAKER—FEELEY

The marriage of Miss Catharine Isabel Feeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Feeley of Morrow-wood, Ont., to Mr. Willard H. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker, of Winchester, Ont., took place at 3.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. A. S. McLean of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of Morewood, officiated.

The bride was attended by Miss Isabel Hunter, a cousin, and Mr. Douglas Feeley, brother of the bride, was best man. The bride wore a costume of printed crepe with a headdress of pink roses and a matching corsage bouquet. Miss Hunter was in printed crepe with a corsage bouquet of rose shade carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for the immediate relatives and the bridal party, a wedding cake and pink and white tapers were used on the table. Later the couple left for Belleville and western points. The bride travelled in a costume of Air Force blue, a tailored dress with a tweed coat, and wore a corsage orchid. They will take up residence in Winchester, Ont.

White Shrine Officers Are Installed With Impressive Ceremony

In a setting of beautiful flowers and ferns tastefully arranged Sol. Sis. Isabel, P.W.P., last evening installed the officers of Belleville Ionic Shrine, No. 11, White Shrine of Jerusalem. Installing officer was Sol. Sis. Gracie McEwan, installation was Sol. Grace McEwan, P.W.P., as installing chaplain, Sol. Coral Adams, P.W.H.P. as installing marshal, Sol. Mabel Young, P.W.H.P. as installing herald, Sol. Irene Black, P.W.H.P. as installing guardian, Sol. Leona Austin, as installing organist, and Sol. Anna Solomon as soloist.

The incoming officers entered the shrine room in order to decorated chairs arranged in the form of an enclosed square. After the officers had been installed and the oath of office being conducted by their stations, Sol. Anna Solomon beautifully rendered an appropriate solo which added to the occasion most impressive. As each officer arrived at her station, Sol. Pearl Smith, P.W.H.P., recited a verse fitting to the arrival and during the various officers and lighted a candle from a taper which she carried to that at the close of the installation the light of many candles added to the beauty of the setting.

The officers for 1941-42:

Worthy High Priestess—Mrs. Jetta Noxon.

Watchman of Shepherds—Mrs. William Ashby.

Noble Prophetess—Mrs. Maude Elliott.

Associate Watchman of Shepherds—Mr. Frank Noxon.

Worthy Scribe—Mrs. Elsie Harrison.

Worthy Treasurer—Mrs. Mary Phillips.

Worthy Chaplain—Mrs. Thelma Liddle.

Worthy Shepherdess—Mrs. Hazel Baragar.

Worthy Guide—Mrs. Beatrice Tait.

Worthy Herald—Mrs. Helena Darwell.

1st Wiseman—Arthur Naylor, P.W.P.

2nd Wiseman—George Adams, P.W.P.

3rd Wiseman—William Adams, P.W.P.

King—Mr. John Darvell.

Queen—Mrs. Margaret Cherrie.

1st Handmaid—Mrs. Alice Hoard.

2nd Handmaid—Mrs. Jessie Wessell.

3rd Handmaid—Miss Evelyn Lick.

Worthy Guardian—Mrs. Mabel Ash.

Sol. Sis. Rose Nayler, P.W.H.P. expressed her appreciation to those taking part and aiding in the installation for the incoming officers. Sol. Sis. Gracie McEwan, P.W.P. "Be a Builder." Sol. Coral Adams, P.W.H.P., read a letter from Soloist Dorothy Fisher, No. 59, O.E.S., Amelisburg, congratulating Sol. Noxon on her installation.

Sol. Maude Elliott presented Sol. Mary Roseberry, P.W.H.P., with a gift to which she gracefully replied. After the closing ceremony refreshments were served under the direction of Sol. Helena Darwell and Sol. Elizabeth Holst.

The gathering was then delighted with a variety program, the numbers including a solo by Bruce Wood, reading by Miss E. Bell, solo, Jack Shaddock, and reading by C. C. Baragar. Those present were entertained by a reading picture put on by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and arranged for by C. C. Baragar. Sol. Ruth Naylor voiced the appreciation of those

Play Well Attended At Mount Pleasant

Rawdon — Mount Pleasant hall was filled to the rafters on Friday evening, April 4th, when a three act comedy entitled "A Ready Made Family" was staged by home talent and sponsored by the Young People's Union.

The scene of the play was a modern furnished living room in the home of the Martyns. The first act took place on a summer day and the program with action in character delineations, at the Capitol theatre on Tuesday evening, April 29th at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Draper uses no scenery, except a neutral shade plush setting, and a few props, a table, or chair occasionally. Yet she uses this simple setting as the canvas on which to paint unforgettable, living traits of quaint and unusual people, but she does it with such artistry as to make every one stand out as a triumph.

It is not easy to either explain or analyse her art. Great artists, of course, have it in a degree, but Miss Draper has something more than the rest and elsewhere we live. It is a fire of rare genius that seems to possess her the moment she steps upon the stage.

That peculiar genius mixed in her hereditary in the Draper family for her nephew Paul is equally extraordinary in his art of dance impression, and her brother and Paul's father, Dr. Dale Draper's art is a noted singer before his death in 1935.

The varied program which will be offered here contains many of the finest drama and comedy conception which this great artistic family has contributed to the stage.

Drama And Comedy Combined In Program By Ruth Draper

A most remarkable woman, with a great art brought to a standard unsurpassed in the field of entertainment, that is Ruth Draper, who under the auspices of the Canadian Red Cross Society is billed to offer a varied program at the Capitol theatre on Tuesday evening, April 29th at 8:30 p.m.

The Stars Say

EVENTS of unprecedented and unpredictable importance, affecting the whole future life and its fortunes, are among the major indications for the year, and must be for surprising and stirring adventures. These may be greatly facilitated with whirlwind force and startling rapidity, or with gradual leading. New matters of enterprising and consequential character may be launched under greatly stimulated creative forces. This in business, invention, science and literature as well as in intellectual and artistic modes of expression. It is time to attack such with might and main, although with sound discretion.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of suddenly precipitated events, with things happening with blinding strokes if not entirely uprooting force. Radical changes in constitution and the final issues, there may be startling and far-reaching results and interests, in a word expect the unexpected. Be on guard against fraud and misrepresentation. But take advantage of lightly calculated, yet highly quickened faculties, greatly accelerated emotions and adventurous or romantic urges.

A child born on this day may have natural gifts and faculties for expression in science, invention, literature, drama, with fine creative ability in almost any business or professional capacity.

For Friday, April 11

A RATHER happy and progressive day may be arranged although it may be that the mind and energies are predisposed to be lighter, less so, O.E.S., Amelisburg, congratulating Sol. Noxon on her installation.

St. Julien Chapter Activity in March

With the Regent in the chair, all officers present and a good attendance of members, the St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. held their regular monthly business meeting for March and the following very satisfactory reports were read:

The Treasurer reported splendid monetary results from all activities of the chapter during the month which included a concert at the Capitol theatre, rummage sale, card parties at the homes of Mrs. Wm. Graham and Mrs. Ross, and collection on sale of 240 tickets on a bracelet and several private subscription donations. The balance in our bank account was ready to meet immediate needs, with no outstanding accounts. The auditors reported the books audited and found correct.

The war convener reported the following: Donations of clothing, Polish Afghans, bandage materials. "These materials were made up by the Women's Auxiliary and by her share in war work). Donors, the Red Cross group No. 4 Tabernacle Church, Evening branch W.A. of Christ Church, Mrs. Coleen, Mrs. Stott, Mrs. Geo. Graham, Miss Maddox, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Ivan Mrs. Fargey, Mrs. A. Newman, Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Boyer, Mrs. Chaplin, Mrs. McCoy (Starmore). A lovely lot of articles were donated by Mr. James of The James Twats and the Corby Public Library (through Miss Gallagher). The chapter is truly grateful to all the above and thanks them all. It presented to the chapter who knitted infants' garments and mitts and layettes; also from chapter materials or materials supplied by the chapter themselves. The W. W. Weaver Co. was tendered a hearty vote of thanks for installing a fan in the rooms on March 20th so that the chapter might attend Mr. Wright's interesting speech from Toronto.

The Educational Secretary reported a war convener for the month were: 96 pairs socks, 9 tuckins, 17 sweaters, 25 pairs mitts, 1 balaclava, cap and 1 scarf.

Shipments made: To Navy League for Merchant Marine: 4 blankets, 1 pair socks, 1 sweater, 2 balaclava, wool drawers, 1 bath robe, 33 flannel shirts, 1 pair mitts, 1 pair mitts and 7 tuckins.

Lodgeroom Friends Arrange Farewell Party For Mrs. G. Graham

Tweed—A beautiful basket of Spring flowers was placed on the altar of Christ Church, Tweed, on Sunday morning by Mr. Harold Francis of Smith's Falls in memory of the late Mrs. George Graham, who passed away on April 6th, 1941.

The ice in Stoco Lake is showing signs of breaking and a new channel of open water has formed at the head.

A surprise party in honour of Mrs. George Graham of Lodgeroom was held at the home of Mrs. Bell, the beautiful farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Bell, Elzevir, when about sixty friends and neighbours gathered to honour Mrs. Graham before her departure. The delightful affair was arranged by the Lodgeroom Friends of the Women's Association of Tweed United Church.

An interesting program was arranged by Mrs. Bell, with convener of the group. It was made up of solo "Think to me Only With Love" (Mrs. Keeling, Mrs. W. Woods. Contest, under the direction of Mrs. H. A. Bell, "Mother Dear," "There is a Land", Mr. George Cerswell, Mrs. S. H. Bracken, Mrs. G. Gordon; trio, Mrs. Nath, Mrs. Grier, Mrs. Graham.

Mrs. Graham was presented with a smart leather hand bag and a bouquet of flowers by Mrs. Gordon Graham, while Mrs. Geo. Gordon, Lodgeroom Friends, read the address.

The address was signed on behalf of the Country Group of Tweed United Church, Edith Graham, Florence Bateman, Rosamond Rath.

Mrs. Graham responded in a few well chosen words. Lunch was served by the ladies, concluding with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" and "The National Anthem".

The Usual Reason For A Tantrum

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

A young mother writes:

"My oldest boy is 19 months old and for some reason he has gotten completely out of control. The least request brings on a tirade. Up until a few months ago he was spanked, talked and begged, all to no avail. He stiffens his legs, and all of the grunting and fits any one ever saw, he has it. It can't be jealousy over a younger brother because he's shown no difference in them and besides Billie, the baby, is no trouble. Jimmie, the older boy, dearly loves his baby brother. He always begs to hug him if the baby is awake which what I do before doing."

Doctor's Answer

I am sure you are a patient mother and try to show Jimmie as much consideration as the baby. But the baby baby needs more of your time and attention. This is Jimmie's baby and he cannot quite understand. Jimmie gains attention by hugging Billie. But if you really knew, Jimmie often wishes there were no Billie. Naturally you tell your friends how good Billie is. This word good Jimmie interprets as different from your meaning, and suggests that Jimmie, in copying is bad. Just because Jimmie often gets punished, he must believe you love him less than Billie.

Praise Good Behaviour

Now you cannot condone Jimmie's badness, but you can ignore much of it, and find ways to punish and command him less. When he gets the tantrum you speak of act as if you had no more feeling than a concrete pill. Should he kick or strike you, give him a spanking. Otherwise do nothing, say nothing.

Praise Jimmie more when he is good. You and Dad should read to him from pictured story books, and go walking or playing with him when he is generally out of sorts.

You say he will get these "fits" when you make a request, which must mean that you treat all requests as commands. What you should not, you don't with adults. When you make a request, give him the privilege of choosing. Then on no occasion punish him, since you have made no command. Don't tell Jimmie to come here, go there, or do this; ask him. Then use persuasion; but if he fails to accede, drop the idea, don't try to force him. This will increase his stubbornness. But when you say NO or Don't (being very sure you should) he must stop at once or receive instant physical pain.

Saving Parent Problems

Q. Is it wise to correct the child's grammar at home

A. It is not as a rule. If his parents use accurate grammar the child wishing to seem grown up will imitate them. If the parents employ inaccurate grammar their correction of the child will only annoy and confuse him. Occasionally, however, when the parent-child relationship is very companionable, a quiet suggestion in regard to a certain form of expression might be effective. The same applies to manners.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

The following letter came to me a day or two ago from a young man:

Dear Miss Fairfax:

When Ellen promised to marry me, I was getting $35 a week, which I thought would be adequate for a beginning. But my firm bet a lot of business and had to let some of us go. So I got another job, which pays me only $25 a week with chance for advancement.

It's a good firm and they're square shooters. I want to stick by them but the question is: Can we get along on that amount and not learn to hate each other?

Right now my fiances has a job in an office, and as she isn't in the best of health I had hoped that she could give up her job when she marries me. She says she doesn't know much about housekeeping, but is willing to learn.

What has been your experience with young couples who tried to make a go of it on twenty-five a week?

Jack.

As I've said so many times in this column when young people have asked me what amount is necessary on which to begin housekeeping, it depends on the couple. If a man has been brought up to be thrifty and to consider waste a crime, $25 a week could be ample. Then there's the other kind. Some girls feel that life would be a mockery unless their pinch will they take them to swell restaurants for dinners and drinks, and then dance afterwards until all hours of the morning, fortifying themselves with more drinks meantime. To them, $25 a week would be inadequate.

If Ellen doesn't know much about housekeeping it would be well for her to enroll in a domestic science class without loss of time. As you want her to resign her job anyhow, it might be well for her to join one of these classes immediately. She should go into the matter thoroughly.

Your fiance also should learn how to keep accounts and budget her time as well as the family finances. Old books which have been turned into flats are apt to be less expensive and more roomy than new buildings which boast the latest gadgets in the way of modern improvements.

Don't beggar yourself in the beginning, buying expensive furniture. Unpainted furniture now comes in excellent shapes—reproductions of early American models, in the best possible taste. And it's a lots of fun to paint these so that your rooms will be harmonious as to color. I know all about this from experience, as I've done a good deal of furniture painting myself.

If you and your girl are blessed with the divine gift of common sense, and are really in love, your marriage will be a grand success. Think what fun it will be, remembering all these amusing little makeshifts when you finally land on Easy Street!

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

When Speaking of Husband or Wife Form of Reference Varies

A few days ago I heard a woman say, "She must be a newly-wed. She spoke to one of her husband as 'Mr. Robinson.' I guess she was trying out her new name."

It was said laughingly, but underneath the mirth was the justifiable feel that Mrs. Newlywed had been discourteous, albeit undoubtedly not meaning to be so.

Why discourteous? Because to speak of your husband as "Mr. Robinson" implies that you are putting the person to whom you are speaking in the position of a total stranger.

There are three things for a married woman to remember when it is speaking of her husband, or for a married man to remember when he is speaking of his wife:

1. When you are speaking to a friend, refer to your husband as "John" and to your wife as "Mary."

2. When you are speaking to an acquaintance, refer to your husband as "your husband" and to your wife as "my wife."

3. When you are speaking to someone who will always address your husband as "Mr. Robinson," use these formal names. For example, when you are speaking to a servant or to a tradesman.

Not Obligatory for Girl to Give Her Engagement Present

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

Will you please tell me whether it is customary for a girl who has been given an engagement ring from her fiance to reciprocate by giving him some kind of gift?

Then seems to be a difference of opinion on this.

CLARA

It is not customary and certainly not obligatory for a girl to give her fiance an engagement present. However, neither is it improper for her to give her fiance an engagement present.

I don't like the idea of the girl's giving her fiance a ring, for instance, but I would prefer to be the only ring-giver, but she might give him a pair of cuff links; a wrist watch; a fountain pen; a set; a watch chain, key chain or watch charm; a set of cuff links with matching studs.

He Has Asked Setting Wedding Date

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

Will you please tell me how many months after my marriage is it proper to announce the date set for the wedding?

R.

There isn't any rule about how long before the wedding the date may be announced. When the date has been decided, the couple may tell their relatives and friends if they wish, or they may wait to reveal the date when the invitations are sent out. It's entirely a matter of choice and convenience.

On Eating Strawberry Shortcake

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

Should strawberry shortcake in biscuit form be eaten with a spoon or a fork?

With shortcakes of all kinds we have the perfect opportunity of using the table utensil—namely, the dessert spoon in the right hand, and the dessert fork in the left hand. The fork is an aid to the spoon, and with the spoon we can use the edge of the fork. Observe carefully and you will see that this is the practice given you in a well-appointed home.

Cleanliness the Answer To This Problem

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Most of my correspondents who are troubled with body odor appear to think about it like poverty. Poverty is no disgrace, but it might as well be. Body odor is just deadly, but so far as everybody's opinion is concerned, it might as well be.

Curiously, it is a mystery to the doctors, the victim usually thinks that there is someting the matter with his glands. Hutchison and Haggard, of New Haven, Conn., are quite definite about this is a piece of superstition. To quote them, "Body odors are produced by some complex chemistry deep in the flesh and vitiated by contact with the surface of the sweat and grease, as they come out through the pores of the skin, here with rare exceptions, little odor. But they come out, and when they stay on the surface, turn rancid and putrify from bacterial action."

Many body odors are a combination of unpleasant odors of the skin and the breath. Garlic or onion eaten in the form of salads, or cases, due to small amounts of the oil of garlic in the blood stream, where's, garlic and onion odor does not come from the absorption of vegetables in the digestive tract. It is not carried by the blood to the surface of the skin and to the lungs and exhaled in the breath.

Body odor which may come from the skin may be due to eating of anything about it, is due simply to the fermentation of the secretions of the skin with the bacteria and bacteria. The treatment, therefore, is obvious. Frequent close cleanliness with soap and water, but underneath the genuine is a little more complicated than that; because ordinary soap and water does not always kill or remove permanently the causative germs.

The method of washing and treating this problem, which may border on the fanatic with some people, the best thing to do is to assume that there is a certain form of fermentation of skin secretions by bacteria, and to try to find some soap or solution which will kill the action of the germs. Nobody can say definitely what particular special kind of soap or solution will do this, so the treatment must be more or less a matter of experience by trial and error.

Haggard's Experiments

Breath odors come into the same category and the same advice should be given to those with bad breath. Doctor Haggard found in experimenting that he could kill the odor of the breath no matter what it was because with any chemical which would thoroughly sterilize the mouth. Chlorine is very destructive to any raw protein.

Doctor Haggard made up a mouth wash composed of a weak chlorine, which would be harmless and at the same time destructive to breath odors. He found he could kill a garlic or alcoholic breath in five minutes. The only objection to using this as a toothpaste is that it leaves a rather disagreeable taste. So humans being what they are, the world awaits a tasteless toothpaste that will kill bad breath.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H.M.Jr.—I am troubled with red inflamed eyelids with small white pimples which seem to be at the base of the eyelashes. Could you give me information about cause and cure?

Answer — Chronic granulating eyelids due to pus infection of the hair follicles of the eyelashes should be treated by pulling out the infected eyelashes with thumb forceps and then bathing the eyes with boric acid solution and, further, twice daily, morning and evening, brushing the edge of the eyelids lightly with a camels hair brush dipped in a ten per cent solution of alcohol. But the condition may become serious if it diverts the lashes onto the eyeball and it is wise to consult an oculist.

By ANNE ADAMS

Is your small daughter clothes ready for the sunshine months? Here's Anne Adams in the nick of time with Pattern 4693, which is shown in two useful versions. Note all the cunning detail: the smartly pointed front waist-seam in the one front skirt panels; the centre bodice section that curves in one piece right into the waistband. The cute little frock with its merrily scalloped neckline and crispy puffed sleeves may have contrasting sleeves and side bodice sections. The sundress is made by simply omitting the sleeves and the back and front bodice sections, cutting the front bodice straight, and adding buttons and buttoning straps. Panties are included in this kiddie pattern.

Pattern 4693 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. For 2, sun-frock, takes 1 1-2 yards 35-inch fabric and 1 1-2 yards rick-rack; 1 3-4 yards 35-inch fabric and 1 1-4 yards lace edging.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Send your order to The Ontario Intelligencer Pattern Department, 166 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Shannonville United Church, was held at the home of Mrs. J. F. McFarlane on Thursday afternoon, April third with twenty-three ladies in attendance. The President, Mrs. F. Dorrator, was in charge of the meeting which opened by singing "God Save the King" and a hymn followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. This was called by the secretary members responding by repeating a verse containing the word "Praise".

Mrs. Everett Stratton, Group Leader, then took charge and led in prayer and gave an Easter reading "Following the way of the Lord to Victory".

Mrs. (Rev.) Doggett of Thomasburg, favoured with a beautiful Easter solo accompanied on the piano by Miss Sara Stickney who also played for all the hymn used at the meeting. Mrs. J. Crockett gave a reading entitled "A precious engagement". Mrs. Dorrator led in responsive reading and also introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. (Rev.) Doggett, who gave an inspiring message. Mrs. Doggett took as her subject "The Kingdom of God". Our Lord when He was on earth illustrated the Kingdom by speaking many parables. She made special mention of the parable of the leaven hidden by a woman in the meal, showing women have their task and duty to perform in the work of bringing in God's kingdom.

The speaker urged women to fit themselves for this service by prayer and study. Mrs. Doggett expressed appreciation to Mrs. Dorrator for her splendid address. Collection was taken and dedicated by Mrs. Stratton. Mrs. K. R. Virtue offered prayer. Mrs. Stratton thanked Mrs. MacFarlane for opening her home for the meeting also to her group for their help. After the closing hymn Mrs. Stratton pronounced the benediction.

The hostess and her helpers served a delicious lunch in the dining-room. Mrs. Dorrator poured tea. Collection amounted to $3.10 and for flower fund $1.15. A dollar was handed in by Miss Sara Stickney to make the infant daughter of Janet and Mrs. Clifford Holmes a life member of the Baby Band. Members welcome little Frances Marylin to the Baby Band of which she is the youngest member.

CARMEL W.M.S.

The April meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. John Homan's. The President Mrs. H. Homan opened the meeting with the devotional period and business was transacted.

Mrs. Horton took charge of the program giving the study book, topic and several readings from members of her group, which all heard with interest.

Mrs. Geo. Morman gave a good report from the first day of the convention at Trenton. Mrs. Selden Homan and other members gave interesting items from the second day. Mrs. Horton closed the meeting with a hymn after which the hostess served refreshments. A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Homan for her kind hospitality.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Moon Over Burma"

When a gal from Brooklyn who is quick on the flip cracks meets up with a couple of boys who know all the answers themselves, and the meeting takes place under the Burmese moon, almost anything can happen—and does!—in the new Paramount film, "Moon Over Burma," co-starring Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston and Preston Foster, opening tonight at the Capitol. It seems that the trio is brought together by the fact that the boys in the teak lumbering business, wander down to Rangoon one fine day to borrow a little money, but soon leads to celebration in a cafe where they meet Miss Lamour, posing as a Spanish singer. One way or another, the Messrs. Preston and Foster (don't get 'em confused), get her back to the logging headquarters up in the hills. And then there are excitement and romance galore, with Miss Lamour singing two new songs, cobras threatening to bite her and what have you. Others in the cast are Doris Nolan and Albert Dekker. Man. Louis King directed.

"Pie in the Sky"

New York's exciting waterfront is the background of "Pier 13," new 20th Century-Fox film opening tonight at the Capitol. The picture is based upon a sparkling story, which promises loads of laughs and lots of laughter.

Lynn Bari, last seen in "Earthbound" and "Lillian Russell" plays the leading feminine part opposite Lloyd Nolan, who has a surprise role that is said to top his great hit in "Johnny Apollo." Also included in the fine featured cast are Joan Valerie and Douglas Fowley.

Action is the keynote of the new film which was directed by Bernard Vorhaus and produced by Bernard Burton. Sol M. Wurtzel was executive producer. The screen play by Stanley Rauh and Clark Andrews was from a story by Harry Clemens and Phillip Klein.

To complete this great double attraction the Canadian Universal News will be shown as well as the final chapter of the thrilling serial "Dick Tracy's G-Men." There will be a daily matinee Friday, Saturday and all next week during the Easter vacation.

AT THE McCARTHY

"BLONDIE GOES LATIN"

"Don't miss "Blondie Goes Latin" Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the McCarthy, the greatest and grandest of all the "Blondies." They sing, they dance, they make chuckles into roars, "Blondie Goes Latin" is a honey of a comedy musical fest for the whole family to enjoy.

The cast is all the same as in the previous "Blondie" comedies, Penny Singleton as "Blondie," Arthur Lake as "Dagwood," Larry Simms as "Baby Dumpling," Daisy as "Daisy," the family pooch, Danny Mummert as "Alvin," the boy next door and Hobart Cavanaugh as Mr. Dithers. Dagwood's patient, long-suffering boss. Heading the important supporting cast are Tito Guizar, famous Mexican song singing star, and Ruth Terry, night club chanteuse, and lovely newcomer to the screen.

As important as the story itself are the musical numbers heard, the new hit tunes that will have you whistling happily. "Querida," "You Can't Have Your Cake and Beat It," (to which Dagwood madly proves that you do.) "I Hate Music Lessons," with Baby Dumpling delightfully proving why) "You Can't Cry On My Shoulder" and "Mexican Cotillian," (with Blondie introducing the Sconza Congo, in case catching blending of the old-fashioned square dance and the hitra-modern conga!) You'll cheer "Blondie Goes Latin" as the best yet and again we recommend do not miss it.

"San Francisco Docks"

The McCarthy Theatre program in addition to "Blondie Goes Latin" offers for excellent added pleasure the grand surprise hit of 1941, "San Francisco Docks," featuring a top-star cast including Burgess Meredith, Irene Hervey, Barry Fitzgerald, Esther Ralston, Raymond Walburn and Robert Armstrong. Also playing is the most amusing cartoon offering in months, "The Way of All Pests."

AT THE BELLE

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary"

Designed to strike a responsive cord in the hearts of all the family, Mr. Hardy's Private Secretary," at the Belle Theatre Friday, Saturday and Sunday, matinee daily, is heralded as destined to prove one of the most popular of the series.

The latest Hardy Family picture proves a worthy successor to all its predecessors, as Andy Hardy, He's plot, in brief, finds the young man deep in the duties as chairman of numerous senior committees, and also being a Good Samaritan on the side to a couple of youngsters less fortunate than he, when Andy's generosity causes a near tragedy in their family, and how in the midst of the English exam, he manages to be among those present when objectmas are to be given a home for one of the most human screen documents of the year.

The popular cast has again been assembled, with Lewis Stone as Judge and Mickey Rooney as Andy, Fay Holden as Mrs. Hardy, Sara Haden as Aunt Milly, and Ann Rutherford as Polly Benedict. Two additions are made to the favorite Ian Hunter and Gene Reynolds make their appearance with the family in the new production.

The picture also marks the screen debut of a pair of promising newcomers, Kathryn Grayson, seventeen-year-old coloratura soprano, and Todd Karns, son of the popular screen comedian, Roscoe Karns. In addition to appearing in the important dramatic role of Andy's secretary, Miss Grayson sings three songs, two classical and one popular selection. Young Karns, as proves himself one of the most promising juvenile finds of the year, portrays the role of Miss Grayson's brother.

An unusual screen miniature "The Happiest Man in the World" and a clever color cartoon "Abdul Ameer" will be exhibited on the same program.

"Honeymoon For 3" Funny

The Belle's happy new comedy hit, "Honeymoon For Three" which opens here pulling in large crowds at the theatre twill close its engagement tonight. Ann Sheridan and George Brent are co-starred in the zany story of a newly-wed whose favorite subject is women and the secretary who finally straightens him out.

Also featured in the cast are Charlie Ruggles, Geo Massen, Jane Wyman, William Orr, Lee Patrick, Walter Catlett and many others.

"Father's Son" Delightful Film

A human story of family life told with warm simplicity is the 69-bit. It's Warner Bros' "Father's Son" adapted from a Booth Tarkington story and excellently played by a talented cast, headed by Frank Inescort, John Litel and Betty Dawson.

39 DANISH SHIPS TO BE ACQUIRED BY U. S. GOV'T

President Roosevelt to Ask Congress for Acquisition of Vessels to Help Britain

MAY PURCHASE SHIPS

Washington, April 10 (AP) — United States acquisition of 39 Danish cargo ships was expected to be asked of Congress by President Roosevelt today, presumably as a move toward strengthening Britain's Atlantic convoys.

Speedy congressional authorization was anticipated by the administration. Once it is given, Mr. Roosevelt may charter or purchase the vessels for the time controlling Danish interests while they have them in American ports since Germany moved into Denmark a year ago.

Informed persons believed that soon thereafter the President might order vessels under the flag available to Britain to transport American war supplies across the Atlantic or else would lend them to Britain a similar amount of American ships.

The latter method was considered a possibility because if the vessels were transferred it might not be legally possible to place them in service under a foreign flag. The Danish ships aggregate more than 300,000 tons.

Other efforts to put more than 100 other vessels now lying idle in American ports to use in the Atlantic sea wars expected within the next few weeks.

Among these are 38 Italian and two German ships which, like the Danish vessels, were interned in protective custody by the coast guard recently following the seizure of their crews or fears that sabotage would be undertaken against them.

Copenhagen, German-occupied Denmark (via Berlin) April 10 (AP)—Cabinet ministers informed today it had instructed Hendrik De Kauffmann, Danish Minister in Washington to advise the United States that Denmark would neither sell nor lease Danish ships now in protective custody to United States ports.

(Reports from Washington said that President Roosevelt is expected to ask congressional approval today of a plan to charter or purchase the Danish vessels, numbering 39.)

Collegiate News

Around the corner—If it weren't for exams we could get quite lyrical this week-end. Spring is in the air, the first crocuses, the dreamy expression in our eyes, the first robin, men's eyes, spring coats and Easter hats, but try to make us do it and forget out pops the cuckoo from some foreign clock and hangs out disgustingly Latin! Trig! French! Chemistry! Yes, it's the annual spring overtone. There really isn't much news this week but we haven't yet mentioned Alma's Easter dance of a week ago Friday which was a decided success. Plenty of males in the crowd, good music and a good time for all. There were quite a few young men who bore the hall mark of Trenton Collegiate and we were glad to see them at the school.

Suddenly out of the ether, as it were, there came a fully-developed, very successful boys' model aeroplane and Bruce Hewson's "Flying Butchers." We haven't discovered Hewson's plot as yet but we compliment them on their excellent workmanship of the library accessories. It was splendid. It seems they are to hold a competition of model planes at Potter's Field tomorrow afternoon. Prizes are offered and we are sure that it will be very successful.

Last but not least on Wednesday the one thought in all our minds was Easter holidays. Tuesday is the only hospital for Easter holidays for and anticipated Easter holidays and Monday is Easter Monday. Let's arrive at 4.10 today. Celebrations are in order.

On Wednesday morning in assembly there was an exhibition of the staff on the Red Cross hockey stick autographed by New York Americans and Chicago Black Hawks. Both teams are "on their holidays now," and the Toronto and the other day and the winner of this choice souvenir was Bob Rounce. Congratulations! And so till after Easter when we shall settle down for the last real grind with "to do or our motto—Jo! Jo! Jo!

Speaking of the War Savings Stamp sales, the winners of the Spring contest are not yet determined, but Lois Liddle has won the prize donated by Miss Price, a XIB for the second highest in Stamp sales in the form.

Speaking of war service, Mac Smith is now training to be an anti - aircraft gunner. In the model aeroplane activities, the Belleville Rams Butchers will hold a model aeroplane contest at Potter's Field Landing Field on Thursday next of Belleville on Friday, April 11, commencing at 12 noon. We hear that contestants are wanted. Entry forms may be filled out at the field.

ASKS FOR INVESTIGATION

Brockville, Ont., April 10 (CP)—The town council decided last night to request the provincial government to investigate the price of milk in Brockville which was advanced recently by order of the Ontario Milk Control Board one cent to 12 cents for quarts and seven cents for pints.

British Admit Nazi Claim Of Prisoners As "Not Impossible"

London, April 10 (AP)—British general headquarters said today that German and Italian claims to the capture of 2,000 prisoners in the axis thrust in Libya "would not be impossible under the conditions in which encounters have been taken place".

The Germans claimed six generals, two colonels and 2,000 men had been captured in 27 Mechili, 55 miles southwest of Derna.)

The British forces have concentrated east of Benghazi in what are more adapted to future operations", states British War Office, adding that in a period of several days "we have inflicted considerable casualties on the enemy".

"We are without news of three senior officers, Lt.-Gen. P. Neame, V.C., Lt.-Gen. Sir Victor O'Connor and Maj.-Gen. R. N. Gambier-Parry," said the communique.

Gen. Neame formerly was the general officer commanding in Palestine, Gen. Gambier-Parry was head of a British military mission which visited Greece soon after Italy's attack on that country.

Cleveland Barons Favored Over Hershey

Cleveland, April 10 (AP)—The Cleveland Barons, fighting for their third title in 12 years of professional hockey, are favored over a determined Hershey Bears team tonight in the final playoff game for the American League championship.

Cleveland won the first two games of the series here by scores of 4-3 and 3-2, and the Bears came to the west two on their home ice, 4-0 and 4-3.

The final victory in Pennsylvania for the Bears the services of defenceman Jack Shewchuk and left winger Gordon Bruce, two of the team's sparkplugs. Shewchuk suffered a skate cut and Bruce a charley horse, thus, reducing the Hershey attack to a single line.

Hershey hopes to get along with three defencemen—Hank Lauzon, Roger Jenkins and Orville Rollins, who still wears a brace on an injured knee.

Cleveland recorded its first title in 1937 and its second in 1938-39. Hershey never has won a professional championship.

Newest German Aircraft

Newest german —Bfit ... .s

Information is gradually filtering through about the new types of aircraft which the Germans are preparing for use against this country. Some of the more orthodox types will be ready for operations in the Spring, but others are not likely to be issued to operational squadrons before mid-summer.

These machines will include a specialized short-range fighter, an improved fighter - bomber and long-range commerce raiding aircraft. A new Daimler Benz X type is based on the 24-cylinder engine which the Germans have been using for some time. Two of these engines are floumted on a common crankcase. These engines are possibly intended for use in Messerschmitts.

With this engine the aircraft, even if the wing surface has been largely increased, is likely to be very fast, but it is difficult to see how it could be capable of great range, or even of as great range as the earlier type. Indeed, if it is true that the engine is to be in the Messerschmitt, it may be assumed that the machine is intended purely for interception work.

Presumably escort work will be entrusted to other fighters. Possibly Stuka-Wulf, about which so much has been heard recently, may be among them.

Several types of four-engined bombers have been under development in Germany. It is possible that a few of these have been used already over this country, at night. They will be useful, not only for night bombing, but also for long range commerce raiding from the bases in occupied France.

Meanwhile, it must be remembered that the Germans have been able in the past very markedly to improve the performance of their existing machines by minor modifications. When the Messerschmitts 109 first appeared it was regarded as a poor airplane. Towards the end of the air fighting period last year, this machine was being met at great height and was being used to carry a small bomb load, and was proving a fine all round machine.

It may be assumed that as we have converted the spitfire and the Hurricane into Mark III, and Mark IV versions respectively, so the Germans have converted the armed that the Messerschmitt 109 and the Heinkel single-seat fighters, and are now able to obtain better performances from them.—Leeds Post.

Hennessey Seized the Birds

Hennessey Seized —Edit as se way.

Recently police in an Ontario city raided a cockfight and seized both human and feathered participants, The spectators paid their fines, but the birds, after spending in custody for a few days, were sold for $50. On the authority of fancier, it is stated that the price is ridiculously low, but it is a high enough price to suggest that the purchaser did not intend to serve the fowl on his Sunday dinner table.

Apparently the net result of the raid was the addition to the chief's amusement for several years, and the collection of a few hundred dollars in fines and proceeds of sale. The reprehensible sport of cockfighting will continue to flourish in Ontario as it has for many years.

In one town, at least, the sport is limited as long as a decent pretense of secrecy is observed. A generation ago, a new chief of police decided that such secrecy was overdue, and he raided two or three cockfights. Among the chagrin of some members of the town's best families, who were enthusiastic breeders of game cocks. They made no open complaint, but one evening the chief learned that a really gala affair was being planned in the west end. The place was Blank's livery stable, which he had raided successfully once before. The time was midnight on Sunday evening.

Hidden in a doorway on the Sunday appointed, the chief had the satisfaction of seeing several old acquaintances aide furtively into the place, and waited at his watch, and allowed 15 minutes to elapse for the fun to get under way. Then he blew his whistle, and he and his force. Constable Hennessey burst into the stable.

At opposite sides of the ring, two men were holding birds in readiness. The case was complete.

"Everybody stay where youse are," commanded the chief. "Hennessey, seize the birds".

Hennessey moved forward to obey. The handlers released the combatants. With a sickly grin, Hennessey moved back. The birds were stuffed.

For months afterwards the chief never stepped out on the street without hearing a "Cockie-doodle-do" from one or more urchins as they vanished around the corner. Local reform in that town received a setback from which it has never recovered.—Printed Word.

Tip, Famous Horse, Is Dead, Carried Girl Courier To Washington In 1924 With Message To Coolidge

Ride From Belleville to U.S. Capital Made in 32 Days by Miss Gwen La sier-Who Bore Invitation to President Coolidge and Others to Attend U.E.L. Celebration Here — Mr. Alex Moore Supplied Tip as Mount for Historic Journey — Horse Foaled in 1910 Was 31 Years Old and One of Twin Colts

Tip, the famous horse which Miss Gwendolyn Lasier rode to Washington, D.C., in 1924 to invite President Coolidge to attend the United Empire Loyalist celebration died recently.

On April 24th, 1924, Miss Lasier left Belleville, Ontario, on her mount Tip, carrying invitations to Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America at Washington, D.C. to attend the celebration of the 140th Anniversary of the Settlement of Upper Canada by the United Empire Loyalists. Similar Invitations to Ambassador Sir Esme Howard, Chief Justice William Howard Taft and the Supreme Court of the U.S.A., and other notables, were carried by Miss Lasier. She and Tip made the trip in 32 days.

Tip came back crated in an express car. Miss Lasier returned by train.

W. C. Mikel, K.C., mayor of the City of Belleville for 1924-1925, was the promoter and manager of this most unusual event. Alex. Moore of Thurlow Township and the owner of Tip, furnished the horse for the trip.

Mr. Moore speaking today about Tip said: "Tip was a great little horse and lived a long life for a horse. He was over thirty years old when he died. Little did I think the night he was foaled when I moved the mare around in the box-stall to make room for his twin brother Bobby, that he would be chosen to carry the charming courier, Miss Gwen Lasier (now Mrs. McCaughey), from Belleville to Washington, D.C., to invite a president of the United States to attend a celebration at Belleville, I was proud of him."

Tip died on the farm of Mr. William Holmes, Sidney Township where he has been for the last seven or ten years. Tip was the larger of the twin colts. Bobby, the smaller one was named after Halley's Comet, which was last seen in North America in 1910, and died when about three days old.

Twin colts are very rare, one in about ten thousand. One is almost always larger than the other, and the smaller and weaker one dies. Three sets of twin colts are recorded as in size, however, are known to have lived, one twin of each survived and the other two sets are thoroughbreds, along racing lines.

CONSTIPATION A LIFELONG STRUGGLE
Relief Found at Last
With perfect frankness a woman correspondent writes:
"I have suffered from constipation as long as I can remember, and taken all sorts of things—which in some cases seemed to do good at first, but afterwards to have no effect. Then I thought I would try Kruschen in my tea every morning. And I have done so for a few days and I am pleased to say after the first month I had no more trouble with constipation and I have felt very fit."—(Mrs.) G. M. E.
Kruschen helps to maintain a condition of internal cleanliness. The several salts in Kruschen stimulate the organs of elimination to normal, gentle action. Your system is thus kept clear of clogging waste and poisonous impurities.

Isolation As A Means Of Punishment

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Much advice to parents is from those who think in terms of a school group. Discipline in the elementary grade is relatively easy by means of isolation of the child who offends the group. Curiously enough most such advisers fail to see how different the home is from the schoolroom. In the average home there are not children to be isolated from. Usually it merely means sending the child to his room away from the annoyed parent. That, indeed, may prove a pleasure to the child. While isolated he is strongly inclined to get into some added difficulty seeming to deserve further punishment. Then how will isolation be effective? A mother writes of her boy 3 1-2:

"I have tried making him sit in his room. One day while there for punishment he tore the pages from his favorite story book."

Sit Doing Nothing

A wiser and more practical means of punishment of the child under eight or ten is simply to sit doing nothing, for a definite period, in the very place the child is in the room where he all the while has been playing. The punisher. Of course the child must stay in the assigned place until the punishment is over. Early teach him the meaning of "No." Without it home will present a mockery and a emotional torment for every one concerned.

If isolation works I'm for it, but I want to be sure it really does works. No punishment can merely fail. When it fails to attain its purpose it increases its resentment, builds up barriers between child and parent and engenders rebelliousness and disregard for constituted authority.

No Indeterminate Sentence

Whether you sentence your child to sit in a certain place or to go to his room, don't if you wish to get results, tell him to stay there until he can be good or until you say, "Now you may go"—as a penalty. That is the indeterminate sentence for children. Always make the task the punishment must last. Then he has no inducement to plead or argue or otherwise show feeling. Accordingly he soon learns to face his punishment stoically and to profit from it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Should we always aim to make the punishment of the child to his offence?

A. No; some efforts

Just as important thing is that the punishment shall render impossible the offence less likely to occur.

Sidney Council Sets Labor Rates For '41

The April session of the Sidney Council was held last Monday, Mr. Hinkin, Trustee of Schools for South Hastings, was present and discussed with the Council the formation of school areas within the municipality. Mr. Hinkin spoke also a benefit to the ratepayers. The school board, claiming this would be an advantage to the public and also a benefit to the ratepayers, the proposal was taken by the Council. The following resolution was passed by the Council.

Third Period Drive Nets Royals Five Goals in Wide Open Contest

SCORE IS 7-4

Ron Nelson Best Workman for Defeated Club With Three Goals

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, April 10 (CP)—The hopes held by Oshawa Generals for a third straight Memorial Cup received a rude jolt Wednesday when the Canadian Junior titleholders went down 7-4 to Montreal Royals in the third game of their best-of-five series for the Eastern Canadian championship.

Royals, looking as good as they looked bad in the second game when they were walloped 16-3, thus took a 3-1 lead in games. In the series they won the first contest here last Saturday by the same score as they trimmed host team, 5-4, in overtime. The fourth game will be played here this Saturday.

Coach Layne White of Royals, who insisted before the start of the series that his was a "third period club," had his words proved for the second time. Royals scored three goals in the last period to win the first game and repeated five again last night in much the same kind of a spectacular offence.

Ron Nelson Scores Three

Goal-getters for the Royals were Grant Warwick and Bobby Carpenter, with two apiece, and Buddy Bouvier, Lou Pleaden and Ken Mosdell with singles. High point scorer of the game was Ron Nelson, who fired home the puck three times for the Generals. The other Oshawa tally went to Norm McAtee.

Carragher, short but stocky and a whirlwind on skates, was the man who finally made it possible for the Royals to romp away from the Generals.

The teams entered the third period tied at 2-2 but it didn't remain long that way. Post 30 seconds after the start of the session Carragher flashed a perfect defence by Freddie Eddolls of the Generals, after taking a pass from Warwick, and blasted a hard one past Goalie Schad.

Fourteen seconds later Royals worked the same play, only this time Bouvier had the honors. Then in addition to Morrison, as Carragher sped around Eddolls and lifted the puck high into the net, Warwick and Shed

Hammered Shad

Those goals seemed to be a signal for everything to start clicking for the Royals as they hammered home incessantly around Schad. Mosdell and Planche added their counters to push the count to 6-2 and the Generals could reply with McAtee's tally.

Royals showed none of the looseness in covering around their sweater that characterized their play in the second game, when the Generals ran rings around them. Last night their defencemen cleared quickly and body-checked anyone of the Oshawa attackers free in front of the Montreal goal.

WIN SOCCER TITLE

Somewhere in England, April 10 —(CP)— A field regiment of the Royal Canadian Artillery defeated a supply column team of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps 2-0 to win the soccer championship of Canadian corps troops.

Bdr. A. Walker of Michel, B.C., scored both goals in the Gunners' victory.

WINNIPEG HANDS QUAKERS LOSS IN THIRD GAME

Depart for Saskatoon With 2-1 Edge in Games for Western Junior Title

Winnipeg, April 10 (CP)—Winnipeg Rangers handed 4,000 bowling fans a farewell gift last night—A 3-1 victory over Saskatoon Quakers in the third game of the best-of-seven final-series for the Western Canada Junior hockey hockey championship.

The Ranger win in their final game on home ice this season gave them a 2-1 edge over Quakers in the series which will be completed at Saskatoon. The fourth game will be played there Saturday, with the other games Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week as necessary.

Spotting Quakers a goal by Dave Livingstone, in the first period Rangers swung in the offensive shortly after the second opener. Only three minutes of the period had elapsed when Leo Ricker, shifty winger, equalized.

Just 61 seconds after he got the first goal, Rickey Satilieb his way close to freckled boy net, slipped the rubber to centre Bill Robinson and the latter beat Darrell again.

With little more than half of the last period gone, blond Bill Mortimer deserted his Ranger defence position, grabbed the puck and skated alone down the ice. Reg Hamel, on Dertell, skidded past the Quaker defence, but Mortimer shot the puck into the net behind him with a short backhand.

Tony Leswick, Quaker forward, was expelled last night from the game. It was his pass which Livingstone shoved behind Thompson, and his hook-check that broke up many threatening Ranger plays.

BOSTON BRUINS READY FOR WINGS

With Exception of Cowley All Players to be in Game —Adams Shifts Lineup

Detroit, April 10 (AP)—The onrushing Boston Bruins, National Hockey League champions, prepared once again to turn loose their speed against the Detroit Red Wings tonight seeking an overwhelming lead in the final stanley Cup playoffs.

Already leading by two games to none in a best-of-seven series, the Bruins were aware of the fact they would face a desperate squad of Red Wings on Detroit's home ice.

Except for Bill Cowley, league high point scorer, the Boston lineup will be the same that saw service Cowley, who injured his knee in the Toronto game, did not make the Detroit trip.

Red Wing manager Jack Adams, who called his players for a counsel of war today, said his biggest worry was the goals Johnny Mowers, who has an injured thigh muscle, allowed instead he would be ready for the opening whistle.

To bolster the defence, Adams said he would shift veteran Alex Motter from centre to defenceman Harold Jackson's post. Jackson, a rookie called from Indianapolis to replace Cowley, will centre Eddie Goodfellow, will be benched.

Substitutions in goal for Eddie Wares, whose injured shoulder has failed to round into form.

General manager Fred L. Haner of Olympia said a crowd of more than 10,000 would see tonight's game. The fourth game of the series will be played here Saturday night.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

Wichita, Kas., April 10 (AP)—The fact that the rival Chicago clubs are in the middle of affairs at home runs hold no terror for Dizzy Dean. He expected to try to last the full nine innings today for the Cubs against the White Sox. In the last five games the Cubs hit three blasts to homers and the Sox 12. Bill Herman of the Cubs hit three yesterday for the second time.

Greenville, S.C.—A month ago the Detroit Tigers' veteran batting star Paul Trafford Waibback had the best throwing arm of any of their outfielders but counted it. Now that flaunying a super .500 average in the grapefruit league and is the only bright spot in a club batting slump.

Goldsboro, N.C.—Bill Nagel, whom the Phillies acquired from the Athletics, is proving a sparkplug to Doc Prothro's aggregation. He has provided extra base hits in the last four games, three of them home runs.

Charleston, W. Va.—Bill Terry held a meeting of the New York Giants before yesterday's game with the Indians and told his men they couldn't possibly be as bad as they had been looking. This lecture coupled with the two home runs Hank Danning hit to celebrate his return to catching brought a 6-3 triumph over Cleveland.

MONTREAL SQUAD WITHIN ONE GAME OF EASTERN TITLE

DICKIE STANDOUT

By JACK MITCHELL

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal, April 10 (CP)—Backed by big Bill Durnan's stellar netminding job, Montreal Royals shut out Sydney Millionaires, 2-0, before a crowd of 7,628 here Wednesday to take a one-game lead in their best-of-five eastern senior hockey final.

The Quebec champions, flashing a fleeter and better organized attack throughout, concentrated their scoring punch within six minutes of the start of the second period. After a break gave Johnny Acheson the first goal, Lilla Pete Morin made it 2-0 at 5:58 of the frame. The victory left the Royals needing only one draw in the fifth match here Saturday to cop the Allan Cup emblem, titleholders and advance into the Allan Cup final with the western champions. Royals lead the series 2-1 in games while the other match was a tie.

Durnan, goalie of the champion Kirkland Lake team for the past season, turned in a great game for his adopted club, while Bill Dickie in the opposition nets was also a notable team's loss. With Royals getting by far the better of the scoring chances, Dickie rose to sensational heights time and again to keep the score from mounting.

Lackey First Period

After a cautious and almost listless first period, Royals jumped into the lead at 2:58 of the second on the next on Acheson's freak goal. The Montreal centre was right in a belt drive from the left wing, with the shot speeding on under Jack Fytis's stick and rebounding into the Sydney goal.

The goal was a signal for Royals to pep up their attack and they had the Allan Cup champions on their heels. The "parade-dazzle" unit of Lilla Pete Morin, Johnny Acheson and Herman worked the puck in close, with Lilla Pete Morin getting credit for a shot from just outside the goal crease.

The Millionaires looked their best in the remainder of the second period, when Durnan was called on to be sure in an attempt to get back into the running. Only once in the period did the Detroit trip.

Red Wing manager Jack Adams, who called his players for a counsel of war today, said his biggest worry was the goals Johnny Mowers, who has an injured thigh muscle, allowed instead he would be ready for the opening whistle.

To bolster the defence, Adams said he would shift veteran Alex Motter from centre to defenceman Harold Jackson's post. Jackson, a rookie called from Indianapolis to replace Cowley, will centre Eddie Goodfellow, will be benched.

Substitutions in goal for Eddie Wares, whose injured shoulder has failed to round into form.

General manager Fred L. Haner of Olympia said a crowd of more than 10,000 would see tonight's game. The fourth game of the series will be played here Saturday night.

OSCAR PEARSON COMING HOME

"Y" Sports Supervisor for the Troops to be in Charge in Canada

By ROSS MUNRO
(Can. Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in England, April 10 —(CP)—Shortly after the return to Canada of Oscar Pearson of Toronto is going back to Canada—a fine old Canadian troops in England but a break for the boys in khaki back home.

As Y.M.C.A. sports supervisor in the 1st Division, Pearson did a super job arranging for everything from hockey to table tennis. He probably is the most popular auxiliary service official with the overseas troops. Before leaving the Dominion, he will be assigned to sports in camp there.

Starting from scratch more than a year ago, he worked energetically in the camps here, seeing that every unit in the division had a chance to share in some athletic competition.

Soccer schedules were run off, softball leagues completed, cross-country races held, boxing cards staged and several other sports events directed by Pearson, with the help of divisional headquarters officers and other auxiliary service officials.

His activities helped to keep up the troops' spirits during the dreary winter months and he laid the basis for the spring and summer sports activities, as the general staff placed emphasis on athletics to toughen up the troops.

Pearson's crowning achievement, however, was winter hockey and skating for the troops. From his office in the rink, he made arrangements that allowed thousands of soldiers to don skates and for scores of regimental teams to play two-game eliminations until the Canadian Corps Championship finally was won by a Western Quebec Regiment.

Using two adjustable abrasive wheels to do its work, a motor driven tool has been invented to cut grooves in plaster ceilings and walls for the insertion of electrical conduit.

Reading all about the major league baseball training camp notes and the introduction of the varied kinds of protection afforded the players, to say nothing of feeding the "wizards" to the men only sit back and admire men like the late John McGraw, Ty Cobb, Hornsby, Rube Waddell and the other names of a long-forgotten baseball age. Pritch, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, well remembers the pitching of baseball two decades ago and only recently threatened to return to the old system of drilling his players in a manner similar to the McGraw-Cobb age. While forming McGraw's name with that of Pirates, reminds your reporter of a story that was told, to bring forward one more incident, regarding the seriousness of spring training in those old days.

Many years ago, when Pritch was a good ball player was at spring training camp in the hotel. How the players ran the place, with the manager left pretty much to himself. Pritch evidently feels these days. The Pirates have a good chance against the Cubs and the White Sox and Coast League teams and Pritch is threatening to clean house as he did in 1940.

An odd note was struck by Kingston Scribe Bill Walshe recently when cold cash and sundry that Mel "Lone Ranger" Harrington had been granted his science degree upon his scholastic achievements, which qualified him for graduation without taking the final examinations. Williamson immediately accepted a position in scientific war work at the Kingston Aluminum plant, which is the odd note struck by Walshe—"Williamson will fit in to the suggested plans for secret war work." Only here and there will it be the Kingston hockey moguls who are grinding out large (or small) hats? After one successful season, with the Ice Capades behind the Combines, surely the cooler heads in Kingston are contemplating sponsoring a hockey team to take Jumps to London, Niagara Falls, Peterboro and Belleville. The next pact loop is starting them in the south with Peterboro, Quebec, Belleville and perhaps one other Central Ontario point. After all—far away fields look green.

Do you remember when the Bowman Sterns team of Cleveland defeated Edmonton Grads 12-8 in the final match for the girls international basketball championship at New York 12 years ago tonight? The victory was the third in four starts for the United States team, which won the second title game the White Sox scored eight runs. The score bored in every centre field posted nine runs. Nobody on the field—everybody was there except McGraw and Kid Gleason, the Sox pilot, both of whom stayed at the hotel with their wife—looked the crew over, and it didn't seem to make much difference as the Sox scored another run in the third inning and two more in the fourth.

However, the Giants rallied and, in the ninth, scored what was really the tying run. By the scoreboard, though, the Sox were a run ahead and the teams walked off the field thinking the game was over. The writers in the press box had realised the slip up, had tried to get the attention of the players and the score board attendant just had failed.

The first the players, or McGraw knew about the real score was at dinner time in the hotel. How the Giants managed to get back and ranted—at Johnny Evers, who was running the Giants in his absence! This was only an exhibition game but to think that big league players didn't even know the score was too much for the fire-eating McGraw.

That is the way Pritch evidently feels these days. The Pirates have a good chance against the Cubs and the White Sox and Coast League teams and Pritch is threatening to clean house as he did in 1940.

38 ARE NAMED FOR 82ND RENEWAL OF KING'S PLATE

Undisturbed, Warrigan and Depositor, Favored for the King's Guineas

$8,000 ADDED

By SCOTT YOUNG.

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, April 10—The 82nd renewal of the King's Plate at Woodbine Park here May 17 attracted 38 entries in the preliminations as the usual wide-open battle looms. The field includes two black gridders and a chestnut filly from the Ontario Jockey Club's $5,500, two-year-old division, nominated for the $8,000-added event, which this year will be run in winter books. But the triumph of Kid Gleaner, the only Kid in last year's classic is hearty indication that the Kid is in the 1941 charts count.

Undisturbed is a black gelding owned by H. Giddings of Oakville. He has been favored in the winter books mainly because of his victory in the Clarendon Plate last year, but he has pressed the favorite closer to race-time by another Oakville colt, Coupled Stables' Warrigan, winner of Canada's richest two-year-old event, Mrs. Orpen's cup and saucer, over the Old Mill Course, a mile and one-eighth, last year.

The Plate, established in 1860 as the Queen's Plate and changed in 1902 to the King's Plate, was raised this year to $8,000—added this year and in addition carries with it, for the winner, the equivalent of the purseas donated by the King. Conditions limit the event to three-year-olds which have been foaled, bred and raised in Ontario and have never won other than a juvenile race.

Most of Ontario's better-known stables are represented on the list of nominations. James Fair of Cainville, Ont., near Brantford, has four nominees, the largest number of any stable. George M. Hendrie's Hamilton stable has three with similar groups from the Medonte Stable of H. S. Langstaff's Parkwood Stables of Oshawa. Other well-known stables represented include the Contrave Stable of Toronto, and well-known owners with single nominees include Fraser Gram of Waterloo, H. C. Hatch of Bowmanville and W. F. Morrissey of Toronto.

BASKETBALL

At full strength last night, the Belleville "Y" cagers beat the R.C.A.F. "Fliers" 36 to 28 in the second game of the Y.M.C.A. War Service basketball league finals. However, the "Y" hoopsters were not at their best, as the Belleville scored 24 points to the Fliers' 11 in the second half to forge forward to a well-earned 36 to 28 decision. Cole and Dickens with nine points each paced the Belleville quintette, while Verkerk and Carson lead the champions.

The line-ups:
R.C.A.F.—Carson 8, Verkerk 11, Freedman 2, Stanyer 2, Breather 3 and Adamac.
Belleville "Y"—Cole 9, Argue 2, Robertson, Dickens 9, Clapp 2, Dudgeon 9 and Wickerson 4.
Referees: Scott and Yeres.

72-80. Grads disbanded last year after taking every women's basketball title available. And since Iris Speaker, one of baseball's greatest; outfielders whose 11-year big-league batting average was .344, suffered a fractured skull and other injuries in a 30-foot fall at Cleveland four years ago. The "Speak" fell from a window of his home and 100 stitches were necessary to close an eye-to-neck wound. He recovered.

Perhaps the busiest place in town these evenings is the Y.M.C.A. Pool Tables are getting their every available nook and corner was utilized by members, including War Service, St. John Ambulance, Girl Guides and several other such meetings. As a matter of fact space was at such a premium that the softball moguls were forced to hold their convention in the ladies' rest room, a small 8 by eight shack, and glad to be afforded even that much space.

SPORT CHIPS—Coach Frank Boucher not only sold Dutch Hiller to the Detroit Red Wings, but said today a complete player shake-up is being planned by the New York Rangers before the 1941-'42 season opens.....While said "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown".....With their full team at hand the "Y" cagers beat the "Fliers" in the final in the final Y.M.C.A. War Service League basketball game last night, but lost the rounds as the locals were down 21 points after being the first game.....Talk about your Damon and Pythias act, but it takes the Montreal Royal Clubs to put on a brotherly daily dashes.....Every time the Royal senders win their juniors manage to keep pace.....Last night the Montreal seniors triumphed 3-0 over Sydney, No. 1 team in the Royal Juniors sprang a 7-6 decision with the Oshawa Generals to lead the Eastern Junior final group to one win.....If Peterboro' Fred Craig thinks the referee's decisions are inconsistent, he should take a look at the way Fred Comeau and Lee are playing these days.....And to think the Generals beat the Royals 18 to 2 only Monday, tut, tut.....Jawn Adams plans to shuffle his Red Wings a bit for the third Stanley Cup game, but then why prolong the agony? Only ten more payments.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, April 10 (CP). — Stock prices showed unusual strength in early session in quiet trading today. Base metals were the weakest and they registered a decline of .65 in the index at noon. Turnover totalled 80,000 shares for the first two hours.

In industrials, National Steel Car, Montreal Power and Kelvinator weakened one or more.

Gold stocks, including Preston, Little Long Lac, Kerr-Addison, East Malartic, Lamaque, Hollinger and Pickle Crow dropped 3 to 5 cents and Wright-Hargreaves slipped about 10 cents to $3.45. Hudson Bay, Nickel, Pend Oreille and Steep Rock were losers in the base metal list.

Western oils were steady but for a loss of a point in Home Oil to 1.65.

WALL ST.

New York, April 10 (AP)—The Stock Market was quiet today as though it might call a halt on the recent backslide which has carried many leaders in new low ground for the year.

Small fractional advances were fairly well spread over the list.

The Department of Trade was none too cheerful but a slightly improved trade outlook at home combined with persistent business optimism despite tax worries bolstered sentiment.

Stocks drawing occasional support included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Radio, N.Y. Central, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Glenn Martin, Anaconda, Cerro De Pasco, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, Texas Corp., American Telephone and Du Pont.

Dome Mines and Distillers Seagram declared dividends. Other canadian stocks were either unchanged or fractions higher. Stock Market Canada 4s advanced 1-8 of a point.

Livestock

Toronto, April 10 (CP). — Cattle prices were steady on the small supplies offered on the livestock market up to mid-session here today. Butcher steers sold at $8-$9.10, medium quality weighty steers at $8.60-$9 and plain butcher cows at $7-$8.50. The few veal calves offered sold steady at $14-$12.

Hogs sold steady at $11.35-$11.40 dressedweight and $8.50 liveweight with sows sold at $7.75 dressed.

No sheep were offered.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 50, calves 10, hogs 200, lambs 10.

BATTLE STORMS TO RAID ENEMY

Royal Air Force Planes Inflict Casualties on Axis Columns in N. African Desert

Cairo, Egypt, April 10 (AP) — Striking heavily against the Axis hit objectives, the Royal Air Force has carried out many raids and inflicted casualties on German and Italian columns in the North African desert.

Thirty-one Italian planes were hit in a concentrated attack on the Italians fled Addis Ababa, a communique said.

The Air Force, co-operating air the capture of Massawa, Red sea port, bombed Italian ships which were shelling the British troops. One ship was hit and set afire and positions on Mount Umberto also were bombed, the communique said.

Increased Selling Depresses Butter

Toronto, April 10—Increased selling pressure caused more pronounced losses in butter prices on the Toronto open produce market today. Trading was dull after a firm opening.

Reductions of 2-4 cent to 1 cent a pound on the wholesale butter market today drew arouse any buying interest and sellers asked 26 cents, near the close of the session. Some Chatham butter sales in the Firegrade Ontario product at 32 cents early in the afternoon, trading was at a standstill.

The egg market held firm under good clearance of fresh receipts in the mornings, but to turn soft in afternoon dealings when demand slackened. Prices eased 1-2 cent a dozen on grade A shipments of fair large. A medium and B grades. The retail butter in the market, however, reflected the recent strength of the grade and prices were firmed 1-2 cent to 1 cent a pound.

Montreal, April 10—(CP)—Production figures for March as compiled by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

Butter: Farm, 2,000; creamery prints, 3,016; prints, 24 1-2c to 25c; creamery solids, 24 1-2c to 25c; 24c to 24 1-2c.

Eggs: Graded shipments in used cases, selling at A-large, 27 1-2c; A-medium, 25 1-2c to 26c; A-pullets, 19c to 20c; B grade, 20c; C grade, 18c. Receipts: 1,249 cases.

Legislature To Pay Full Indemnities To Members On Active Service Or Ill

Toronto, April 10 (CP)—A plea that all devote themselves to "the great cause being carried on by the democracies was contained in the speech from the Throne which marked the first day of the 1941 session of the 20th Ontario legislature, The document was read by Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews, who entered the chamber with a guard of honor of Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

Some seven weeks after the Feb. 19 opening. A group of United Action members, who had been in opposition with the government's plans for prosecution of the trade this summer, watched the traditional ceremony of opening parliament.

"With faith in our cause and the righteousness of our cause before us let us all in the coming months devote ourselves in whatever ways we can to the great purpose for which the free democracies of the world are united," the Throne said.

The final piece of legislation enacted by a government motion to pay full indemnities to those members on active service or ill. Absent members unavoidably absent on Ontario business, Lieutenant-Colonel Major Colin Campbell and Lieut. Harold Croll, both overseas, will be paid to their wives.

Defeats Drew Motion

The last division was a 46-32 vote on the proposal of Conservative Leader George Drew's motion set up a commission, similar to that in the Nova Scotia legislature, to minister the timber resources of the province. The motion was lost on a real member of Port Arthur voted with the government.

A recommendation for the establishment of such a commission was made in the minority report of the Conservative members of the select committee which investigated the administration of the timber regulations. A majority report, signed by the Liberal members, declared there was insufficient reason for such a commission. Both reports were tabled Tuesday night.

A motion by Public Works Minister Farquhar Oliver for the appointment of a commissioner to survey hydro with a view to establishing a new rate for province was not called. Mr. Oliver will be heard when he deals with the question at session which is to be convened later to discuss ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway agreement.

Legislation Enacted

Legislation enacted included the following: A change was made in the Securities Act to permit a setting-up of a Board of Review to hear appeals from the Securities Commission's decisions and allowing the Board's rulings to be taken to the Court of Appeal.

The Magistrate's Act was amended whereby a Magistrate cannot be removed after two years' service unless for misconduct determined by a Supreme Court Judge. The retiring age for future appointees to the bench was fixed at 75 years. provisions enabling the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to appoint a Magistrate in office for five years after he reaches the age of 75 if his services are necessary.

A revision to the Highway Traffic Act makes suspension of a driver's licence automatic upon conviction of certain traffic offences, regardless of whether personal injury or property damage has occurred.

Estates Act Amended

The devolution of Estates Act was amended to give the widow of a soldier killed during active service on the first $5,000 of her husband's real property and to the children of that due. Under the old law the widow received only the first $1,000 and one-half of the remainder.

A new subdivision of court criers in the object of the appointment of the Sheriff's; Act which provides that upon the death or disqualification of one, no new appointment will be made unless the total complement of the clerk or registrar of the court.

The Ontario Municipal Board during discussion of an amendment to the Act. Act was criticized vigorously by urban members on both parties for its "arbitrary" ruling in the Toronto Eaton case. Dewan defended the board and declared it was necessary to establish "a most contentious piece of legislation." It was necessary to provide a municipality to send a representative to the board to participate in any deliberations concerning matters of interest to the municipality in question.

The Government's bill to place women on the voters' lists at provincial Liberal members from the rural constituencies, despite the opposition of the opposition that developed, it was given a final and second reading.

Touches of Humor

Of the many lighter incidents during the deliberations there were two outstanding touches of humor. Clark, the Speaker, admitted he hasn't been home for Christmas for years that his home town of Ingersoll has the honor of manufacturing the highest quality cheese, so, he admitted after the matter had been discussed, he would like Decorett (Con. Lanark) belonged to Perth South in 1882 manufactured a 22,000 pound cheese—more than three times the size of Ingersoll's best.

The other touch of humor came when Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister Highways, introduced a vealed he changed the name of Honeymoon Bridge at Niagara Falls to Rainbow Bridge. Recently, the former didn't "appeal" to him.

BRITISH NIGHT

Shelter Takes Direct Hit

The main German nocturnal attack was directed at a west midlands town, Birmingham, and the northeastern coastal area.

A shelter in which a large number of persons was believed to have taken refuge in Birmingham was hit, an area in a direct hit in the west midlands factory.

"The number of casualties is feared to be high, as much structural damage may prove to be heavy," a communique said. "Damage was considerable in both places."

Other raiders fanned out over the Midlands, the east and southeast coasts and other scattered sections. London had an alarm but there were no reports of bombs fall in the capital.

Reaction came in the west midlands town tolled amid a hail of bombs dropped by German raiders which kept up the assault for several hours. One group of bombers down fell on a house, causing casualties.

24 Killed at Newcastle

A northeast town in England, April 10 (CP)—Twenty-four persons were killed and 90 injured last night in the town, it was learned today.

German planes, kept at great height by the heaviest ack-ack barrage ever put up, dropped one or two at a time.

Incendiary bombs caused considerable fire and 200 others, all of which were brought under control swiftly.

PROTECTION

In that latter declaration, the Republics agreed that no foreign armed force in the Western Hemisphere should be transferred to the soil of any American country.

Referring to Mr. Roosevelt's statement that Germany had never intended to insure that Greenland would remain a Danish possession, Mr. Hull said the invasion of Denmark had ended, flatly declared:—

"That is the end of Denmark as any of the other possessions, including Greenland. It will be defended if attacked."

Text

The text of the President's statement:

"Yesterday we signed an agreement with the Danish Minister in Washington, who acts on behalf of the King of Denmark, as sovereign of Greenland, including Greenland in our system of co-ops sative neighborliness.

"This agreement was signed on the 73rd anniversary of the day on which German troops invaded Denmark.

"Last May the Greenland Council requested the United States to keep its mind on the exposed position of the Danish flag in Greenland. I have offered to take over available relief, if necessary, and to assure a steady flow of necessary supplies for the island.

Friendliness to Denmark

"This present day is a new proof of our continuing friendliness to Denmark. It does not present the circumstances the government in Denmark cannot, of course, act in respect of its territory in the Western hemisphere, but we proposed to make sure that the whole German invasion of Denmark has ended, Greenland will remain a Danish colony.

"Moreover, we earnestly hope for the quick liberation of Denmark from her present invaders."

Mr. Roosevelt noted that Greenland was practically all within the Western Hemisphere, and added: "We make it all-inclusive."

Diplomatic officials, recently delineating the theoretical boundaries of the hemisphere, included Greenland in the "echo" formula, where Canadian and British troops are stationed.

BERLIN ADMITS

Office Buildings Struck

The incendiaries, apparently coming down in bundles, fell on numerous other industrial areas in the province, including the historic Prussian state library, where the attic was burned out.

Similarly burned out was the top floor of the Ministry of Justice, the palace opposite the state opera, and the right wing of the government across the street.

A number of office buildings to-wit the Brandenburg gate suffered minor damage from incendiaries but the art treasures housed therein were brought quickly under control.

The state opera building offered a sad sight, however.

The fire there apparently started at the east end of the stage house, whence the flames, finding rich food, blew through the roof and up their way into the proscenium through the front.

At 8 a.m. E.D.T.) masses of spectators could see through the flaming inferno the bare walls, down to unscarred St. Hedwig's Cathedral—Berlin's only Roman Church.

Thirteen British bombers were destroyed by fire when shot down by night fighters and anti-aircraft guns on their approach and the Germans said that several more were caught on their way back.

The raiders left behind residents that performances at the state opera would be "temporarily" suspended.

Must Arrest Ship Shortage

"It is obvious that our ultimate defense will be greatly helped if the growing shortage of shipping can be overcome by speed.

Ships in American ports include the German and Italian vessels which have been taken into custody to prevent sabotage and attempted sabotage. Berlin and Rome have protested the seizures. Informed quarters here said Secretary Hull would grant the requested hearings to the two countries and the President would use the acknowledgment as a means to appeal to Britain.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference Tuesday the United States Government has the right to declare the 30 Axis ships forfeited to the United States but could not do so under the Hague convention such a procedure. However, their seizure by the United States merchant marine might permit release of the vessels without recourse to Britain.

No Hint in Message

Whether any steps were planned which might result in the seizure of Axis vessels in the Western Hemisphere did not hint. But nowhere in the United States, except in Denmark alone or to any specific country, was the message did not commit on this word from Berlin.

The President directed attention also in his message to the fact that an inability to secure materials tying up in ports could result in stopping production, with a consequent effect on employment and on consumers.

It is essential, both in the defense of domestic economy, the President declared, of course, that we shall not permit the continuance of the present congestion in our harbors of shipping facilities."

FATE OF FORCES

Oil Tanks Destroyed.

The withdrawal from Salonika, back down to the Bulkans, and the destruction of oil tanks and everything else of military value were accomplished without loss of life, it was said in the city, the Greeks asserted.

This, they said, was made possible by heroic Greek resistance which delayed the Germans in the defile of Klidhi and the Vardar valley.

The German break-through in the Struma valley and the retreat of Yugoslavs leaving the Greek left flank exposed made the fall of Salonika inevitable, they said.

Strung Greek forces in this area fire situated along the Bulgarian frontier from Lake Doiran to Lake Ardzan and John bands with the Greeks near Lake Ostrolda, but they were said to be fighting a delaying action in their objective.

One Yugoslav column driving down along the Albanian road, was reported attempting to force a crossing of the Mati river, about 31 miles north of the Albanian capital of Tirana, capturing Scutari and Alessio in a 35-mile advance.

Military observers expressed belief, however, that the British navy must act quickly to force a passage of the Straits of Otranto between Italy and Albania to open a supply lane to Yugoslavs if military aid and United States war material is to reach them in time that may be overwhelmed.

There was no indication of the number of Greek troops still holding out in mountain fastnesses in isolated Macedonia.

It was estimated the Greeks had concentrated more than 300,000 men along the Bulgarian frontier some days ago but reinforcements included a large number of these had been withdrawn in time to avoid being cut off.

British Rush Reinforcements

An Athens broadcast last night declared "the possibility of a Yugoslav defense on the Albanian front" had been lost, flanks as well as the cutting off of Greek troops in Macedonia and Thrace had been foreseen by Greek High Command.

The broadcast added:—

"The decisive battle will be given where strategic conditions demand it. The war goes on and will go on. We know how to fight and will not be influenced by unfavorable news. Nothing can change our final victory."

Nazis Mine Athens' Port

Athens was under an air raid alert for nearly seven hours yesterday last night and the Greek Ministry of Home Security disclosed that the invaders had dropped parachutist mines in Piraeus, port of Athens, Thursday, causing the entry point for British supplies to be closed. Two mines fell Monday and Tuesday nights.

The Greek Ministry today reported that Yugoslav troops northwest of Salonika, invading Greek Albania, had crossed the Zivi River and they appeared to be operating with Greek forces further south in an attempt to squeeze out the Italians. The Greeks claim to complete their withdrawal from Albania yesterday during local fighting.

In the Struma Valley, a Greek spokesman said a large number of German troops appeared to be "hors de combat" in the mistaken belief that the Greeks had withdrawn, but, only to be mowed down by Greek fire.

"The Nazis retreated in confusion," he said, "leaving large numbers of dead and wounded and much war material, constituting booty of hand grenades and portable machine guns."

The Athens radio took the view that the loss of Salonika "without fighting" was due to the "treason" of the Serbian army, does not contain the Greek Army, it declared.

"The heroic defenders of Greek soil will continue their struggle and face both invaders effectively," it said.

Evidence Shows Car Driven At 70 Miles Per Hour

Hamilton, April 10 (CP)—Evidence in court today in a reckless driving charge against Harold Alexander, 28, American-born member of the Canadian Active Army, who is closed that the auto in which one Private Ross Hall was killed and injured near Clappison's Corners April 4, was being driven at a speed of 70 miles per hour, was read guilty to the charge and was remanded for sentence for one month.

Provincial Traffic Officer Leslie Hall said he clocked the speed shortly at 11 p.m. on April 2 when the accused, with six others, was on Highway No. 5 a half mile west of Dundas. Corners, and showed off six guard rails within a hundred pole and coming to a stop.

Increased Selling Depresses Butter

Toronto, April 10—Increased selling pressure caused more pronounced losses in butter prices on the Toronto open produce market today. Trading was dull after a firm opening.

Reductions of 2-4 cent to 1 cent a pound on the wholesale butter market today drew arouse any buying interest and sellers asked 26 cents, near the close of the session. Some Chatham butter sales in the Firegrade Ontario product at 32 cents early in the afternoon, trading was at a standstill.

The egg market held firm under good clearance of fresh receipts in the mornings, but to turn soft in afternoon dealings when demand slackened. Prices eased 1-2 cent a dozen on grade A shipments of fair large. A medium and B grades. The retail butter in the market, however, reflected the recent strength of the grade and prices were firmed 1-2 cent to 1 cent a pound.

deceased. A north-bound motor car, driven by Bernard Stewart, Rosebay, was in collision with the parked bread vehicle, as Stewart later told police he first thought the parked vehicle was on the right side of the road and had swerved his vehicle in an effort to avoid a collision. The Stewart car struck the parked vehicle about the front fender, careening into the ditch, overturning in time to avoid being cut off.

Provincial Constable A. Dymond of Madoc investigated and no suggestions of charges were indicated. Provincial Constable Dymond and his son of Belleville opened a preliminary investigation at the following which the body of Mrs. Wilson was released for burial.

Governor Requests Strikers, Company To Accept Proposals

Detroit, April 10 (AP)—Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner called on the United States Conciliation and the United Automobile Workers today to accept "without further delay" a proposal designed to end the spiralling, the eight-day old strike in which 100,000 men are idle and which has threatened to force a paralysis of National Defence and preservation of the integrity of the nation's lightning "a practical and fair" plan with the Ford Motor Co. and the C.I.O. meeting the desires of either the company or the union, an affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organization.

The plan:-

"1. All employees shall be reinstated into their jobs without discrimination, at once, including five to the eight men. (The Governor referred to the men whose discharge precipitated the strike.) Because of an agreement the Ford Motor Company made with me not to re-open the Rouge plant pending the outcome of the strike.

"2. Grievance procedure established before the strike shall be resumed. Further, I myself, representing the public, will appoint a committee consisting of Mr. Conciliator, a member of the Governor's staff and one other Ford official representing the company, to consider, report and settle any other matters of dispute which may arise in the interim the National Labor Relations Board elections.

"3. Both parties, likewise, agree to do all in their power to expedite a further election by the Labor Board election. For example, the units should be limited to men working within the plant and the company should agree to furnish payroll records."

The Governor told newmen he had set no deadline for the acceptance of his proposals.

"I don't think there should be," he added, "since he has a made meeting arranged for tomorrow night."

$305,000 Needed to Put Fund Over The Top

Toronto, April 10 (CP)—National campaign headquarters announced today that contributions to the Canadian War Services Fund reported today totalled $3,195,215, a total of $3,500,000.

Officials noted the difficulties of canvassers in rural districts visiting prospective donors to the fund. One official reported seeing a farmer in nearby York County making his contribution from a tractor seat in a tractor because of the condition of the roads.

DRIVE FOR FUNDS FOR WAR SERVICES NEARS OBJECTIVE

Gen. Ross, National Vice-Chairman, Stresses Need for Concerted Action on Part of All

NEAR QUOTAS

Nearer and nearer the thermometer registering the amount of the Belleville War Services Organizations campaign is creeping to the top. Today it registers $16,000 just $500 short of the objective. Treston is steadily nearing the top and lacks but a few hundred dollars of its quota. County contributions hover near the $1,000 mark.

The urgent need for continued concerted efforts on the part of campaign officials and workers takes on a new aspect today. With the war picture changing in the Balkins, drastic readjusting of funds may be necessary. General Alexander Ross, Vice-Chairman of the National Campaign stresses this point in a letter to all district chairmen. The letter follows in part:-

"It is realized that for various reasons, organization in some parts was delayed, and that in other areas the work of canvassing has been seriously affected by weather and road conditions. To overcome these handicaps it "is very desirable that work should be carried on until we can say that everyone has had an opportunity to make a contribution to this worthy cause."

"From the information reaching us, it would appear that the public is well informed as to our needs and, generally speaking, that the people are willing to give. It would be unfortunate now if by reason of the conditions mentioned anyone should be overlooked.

"At the moment we have not yet reached our goal, and it must be remembered that our objective provides for only a very small reserve fund. The recent developments in the Balkans would indicate that the whole war situation may undergo a very radical change which will necessarily involve our organizations in additional and unanticipated expense. It would be highly desirable, therefore, if the National Organization could be assured of having in hand, not only 100 per cent of our national goal but also a generous over-subscription margin, which might be utilized if necessary to provide for unforeseen contingencies. It is hoped that all organization leaders will make a careful check to insure that the canvass is absolutely complete, and that efforts will be continued until this result is achieved."

Ranee Bottles Champagne

Starnes Announces Dies Committee Informed by Investigative Damage Will Run to $300,000 at Ford Rouge Plant

Washington, April 10 (AP)—Representative Joe Starnes (Dem., Alabama) announced today that the Dies Committee was informed by one of its investigators at Detroit that "there was sabotage" of machinery in the Ford Rouge Plant during the strike there and that damage would run to at least $300,000.

Starnes, acting Committee Chairman, said the investigation was directed to continue his inquiry with a view to determining whether the reported sabotage was committed by agents of a foreign power.

The agent reported that damage was done to "precision tools, jigs and dies."

Starnes told newsmen that he was insisting that the committee turn the "greater portion of our effort toward acts of agents of Axis powers slowing down our defence program."

"I see a deadly parallel between 1916-17 and the present," Starnes added, noting that then there was a wave of sabotage in this country prior to the United States' declaration of war against Germany."

5,000 Softball Players Answer Country's Call

Guelph, Ont., April 10 (CP) — More than 5,000 softball players have answered their country's call and have joined the various branches of Canada's armed forces, Secretary Verne McIlmurth, of Guelph, says in his annual report, which is to be presented to the 19th annual meeting of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association in St. Catharines, Good Friday.

The secretary finds gratification that under adverse conditions that the O.A.S.A., carefully worked out and maintained over a long period of years, is now proving its worth. The O.A.S.A. has refused single team entries, except from rural centres, insisting rather upon formation of leagues of several teams. As a result the great number of entrustments in our centre has not entirely disrupted these leagues and softball is able to continue.

Operating surplus of $363.61 on the past season is shown in annual report of treasurer W. Lloyd Squire of St. Catharines. In 1939 the operating surplus totalled $416.35.

"Credit rating of the O.A.S.A. has been established, bringing confidence in the association," he says in reporting a balance on hand of $722.58 of which $500 is in war saving certificates.

Only as a result of the sale of O.A.S.A. rule books, which realized a profit of $380.95, was the surplus possible during the past season. Receipts during the year were $2,529.29 as compared with $3,062.23 the year previous, while expenditures were $1,856.61 as compared with $2,451.03 in 1939.

Britain Agrees To Lend Spain Money To Buy Food

London, April 10 (CP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation, quoting what it termed an official Madrid announcement, said today Britain has signed an agreement to lend Spain £2,500,000 for purchase of foodstuffs and raw materials.

The BBC said the agreement was signed in Madrid today by Sir Samuel Hoare, British Ambassador, and Spanish Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner.

In London, the BBC said, the contract was viewed as a "further step in the policy of assisting Spain in her program of reconstruction."

No Confirmation Of Report Ship Lost With Mail For Canada

Ottawa, April 10 (CP)—Postal officials said today they have received no confirmation of a report that a Canadian ship carrying 4,261 bags of mail to Canada from Britain has been lost through enemy action.

However, ostmaster - General Mulock advised Canadians expecting mail from soldiers or friends in England mailed between March 15 and March 22 that there "might be considerable delay or perhaps loss" in delivery of the mail, which included 2,855 bags of letters and 405 bags of parcels.

The ship left Britain late in March and was expected to arrive here around the first week of April.

Hockey Stick, Autographed by Players Of Maple Leaf And N. Y. American Teams, Won By Local Boy In Raffle

HAS HAD SEVERAL OFFERS TO SELL

Just about the happiest youth in the city today and likewise the envy of all his classmates at the Collegiate, is 16-year-old Robert Ruttan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cannitf A. Ruttan of 83 Great St. James Street. On Wednesday Robert was the lucky winner of an autographed hockey stick in a raffle at the Belleville Collegiate—a hockey stick upon which was autographed the names of every present member of the Toronto Maple Leafs and New York American hockey teams.

Just how this hockey stick, which was formerly owned by Reg. Hamilton of the Leafs, and which now bears the name of famous players whose names will go down in history as some of hockey's greatest, came to Belleville is a bit of a story in itself. The idea apparently was one of "Hooley" Smith's, present player of the New York Americans, and the stick was presented by "Hooley" to his sister Marion, who is a member of the Belleville Collegiate teaching staff.

Miss Smith, realizing the money-making possibility of such a novelty, presented the autographed piece of hickory to the Junior Red Cross Society of the Collegiate, who promptly offered it in a raffle. Tickets were sold among the pupils students and yesterday the stick was raffled off with Robert Ruttan being the winner. The money realized through the sale of tickets, amounting to $175.70 will be used to purchase wool for knitted articles to be given to ex-members of the B.C.I.V.S. who are now on active service.

Envious teachers and classmates were not satisfied to let a hockey stick bearing the names of so many of hockey's stardom get out of their grasp however and promptly offered to purchase the stick from the winner. One teacher, who himself is quite a hockey fan and whose playing abilities were at one time not to be disputed, promptly offered Robert $5 for the stick, but no dice.

Robert today still is in possession of his prized hockey stick and although the ante has now been raised to $8, no offer would cause him to part with it.

Captain Says French Soldiers Would Join British If Given Chance

An East Coast Canadian Port, April 10 (CP)—For five months a prisoner in French Africa, Captain H. C. L. Phillips of Cardiff, Wales, still thinks the French soldiers are a pretty good lot who would join the British if they had a chance.

Victim of a Nazi submarine, Captain Phillips was landed here by a British warship that picked up people out of the Atlantic after they had been holding afloat in lifeboats for 36 hours.

It was in Algiers he was taken prisoner. The day France signed a separate peace with the Germans an armed party of Frenchmen climbed aboard his English freighter in the harbor here and slapped him under lock and key.

Shipped to Inland, the captain lived through five months of tropical heat and sand storms in a crowded prison. Later he got back to England in a prisoner exchange, and was given another ship—the one he saw battered to bits not so long ago by two torpedoes.

Foreign Legion Pro-British.

"I am convinced," he said, "that were the soldiers, especially the French Foreign Legion left to themselves, they would join the British cause against Germany and Italy."

He said that when he left Casa Blanca in French Morocco for Gibraltar, "French soldiers wept because they could not come with me."

Captain Phillips passed side all mention of his torpedoing experiences in routine stuff", and Chief Officer A. W. Ford, also of Cardiff, had to do the talking.

Calls Torpedoing Just "Routine".

According to him, the captain's "routine" experience would have ended tragically, if a "miracle" hadn't happened.

Ford said Phillips coolly directed the abandoning of the ship and that when bowled over by the shock of the torpedo explosion he was compelled to save himself when the crew had all scrambled overboard.

"And, locked in, though he moved too late," Ford continued. "His hammering number from exposure and he couldn't until the rope fastening the last life raft to the deck. The ship went down, but by some miracle the rope—a new one—broke, and the captain bobbed back to the surface, firmly holding onto the raft."

SUMMER KITCHEN SLIGHTLY DAMAGED

Catching ablaze from a grass fire which had gone unattended in the back yard, the summer kitchen and roof shed adjoining the residence of Maurice Connell, 161 Charles St., was slightly damaged shortly after the noon hour on Thursday. The blaze caught in the corner of the building as soon as the shingles ablaze but the fire was quickly extinguished upon the arrival of the fire brigade.

URGES SUPPORT OF QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND

Montreal, April 10—(CP)—Canadians can send "real and immediate comfort to those who have suffered from the ferocity of the Luftwaffe" by subscribing to the Queen's Canadian Fund for air raid victims, Herbert Morrison, British Home Secretary and Minister of Home Security said today in a cable received here.

Says Yugoslavs Make Supreme Effort To Break Nazi Front

London, April 10—(CP) — The Yugoslav army is making a "supreme effort" to break the German front, the Yugoslav legation said today. The spokesman declined to give further details, such as the direction of the Yugolav drive.

4,000 ITALIANS AND 1,000 NATIVES TAKEN AT ADDIS ABABA

Nairobi, Kenya Colony, April 10 (CP)—Four thousand Italians and 1,000 natives were taken prisoner with the British occupation of Addis Ababa, it was officially announced today.

NAZI CLAIM MANY PRISONERS

Greek Sources Say That Greek Army Remains Intact

Berlin, April 10 (AP)—A German military spokesman claimed today that Greek prisoners captured in Thrace numbered more than 80,000, but that the "final number will be much greater" since the count is not yet finished.

(Greek military sources declared in Athens that the Greek army remains intact despite the trapping of some forces in northeastern Greece.)

A commentary service declared the Germans are ready for preliminary aerial thrusts against the British Expeditionary Force on the Balkan front.

Apparently Goering's air force will try to "soften" the British forces before German ground troops tackle them at close quarters.

Diplomatic Australian commentary close to the foreign office, declared "it is self-evident that the rail line on the east coast of Greece will be one of the principal objectives of German bombers."

This line runs from Piraeus, port of Athens, to the northern area where the British-Greek troops are concentrated.

Obituary

WILLIAM FITZGIBBON

After being in failing health for some time, William Fitzgibbon, residing at 73 Lewis Street, passed away at the Belleville General Hospital this Thursday morning, April 10th. He was in his 80th year.

The late Mr. Fitzgibbon was born in Hastings County at Thanet, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzgibbon. During his active years he had been engaged in agriculture having resided in Sidney Township for some years before retiring to come to Belleville to reside with his son, Everett Fitzgibbon, 17 years ago. His wife predeceased him some time ago.

Surviving to mourn his passing are six sons, Harry Fitzgibbon of Bass Lake; Howard Fitzgibbon, of Toronto; Goldie Fitzgibbon of Trenton, and Arthur, Ernest and Everett Fitzgibbon of Belleville, also one daughter, Mrs. Earl Landon, of Oshawa. One sister, Mrs. Margaret Carde of Maynooth, and one brother, Thomas Fitzgibbon of Ox Ridge, survive.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Belleville, the funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

MISS HELEN FETTERLY

Miss Helen Fetterly, daughter of Mr. M. B. Fetterly, Hillcrest Ave., died this Thursday morning in Woodstock, Ont. Friends here will regret to learn of her death.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

District Deputy Hill Visits Eureka Lodge

Speaking on "Masonic Life During Wartime," R. Wor. Bro. Arthur E. Hill, D.D.G.M., of the Prince Edward District No. 13, made his official visit to Eureka Lodge, No. 6, G.R.C. & A. M. at the Masonic Temple last evening. During the course of the evening Rt. Wor. Bro. Hill informed those Masons present that the Grand Lodge of Canada had embarked upon a new, yet very old Masonic activities, namely the provision for the families of Masons in the devastated area of Great Britain.

During the banquet hour, following the regular meeting and official visit of Rt. Wor. Bro. Hill, entertainment was provided by the Eureka Lodge Orchestra upon the occasion of the celebration of the institution of this well known musical body. Lieut. Fred T. Symons, Master of Eureka Lodge presented the musical items having been borne from military duties on furlough.

Discusses Health Standards For School Children

The regular meeting of Queen Alexandra Women and Scouts Club was held Tuesday evening at the school with the president, Mrs. Ralph Morden, in charge. Community singing was led by Mrs. Sharpe. Various business matters were discussed.

Mrs. E. O. Kennedy sang a delightful solo. The address of the evening was delivered by Miss E. A. Earnhman, school nurse, whose subject was "Health Standards for School Children." Mr. H. F. Moon conducted an interesting geography match, at the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

CHECKER TOURNEY OPENS ON MONDAY

Checker enthusiasts from many towns of Eastern Ontario will compete for the H. S. Colliver Trophy at the Belleville Y.M.C.A. on Easter Monday in the annual Eastern Ontario checker championship tournament. For the past two years the championship has been won by Travers of Kingston. The district comprising the territory in which players qualify includes Tamlinn, Prince Edward, Peterborough, Northumberland counties and all other counties east as far as the Quebec border. The tournament will be held in the Belleville Y.M.C.A. for the past seven years.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with Itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of Fistula or Abscess developing into chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of blood is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from J. S. McKeown or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a tonic that helps take tablet will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful rectal disease. If satisfactory relief is not obtained your druggist will gladly return your money.

Mr. Marcus Suffered Afters Every Meal — Had Sharp Pains Across Back Due to Sluggish Kidneys — How Mayr's Medicine Has Given Him Relief and He Feels Like Himself Again.

Some of the Best-Known People of this Section are praising and endorsing Mooby's Tonic. This New Scientific Medicine is now being introduced to the public daily in

Food Soured, Fermented, Constant Gassy Stomach

"I had become a regular victim of stomach gas and sluggish kidneys. I felt so miserable, " I had such an upset stomach that everything I ate would sour and ferment in my stomach and I would fill up with gas. I had a terrible pain across my back. Also had dizzy spells. I was suffering all the time. My kidneys were sluggish and my stomach so sharp pains across my back. Also had dizzy spells.

"Well, that's the condition I was in, but after taking Mayr's Tonic I commenced to feel much better after the first dose. I heard of and never got any real benefit from anything before that. And I read about Mooby's Tonic and what it was doing for other people. I got it and now I want to say that it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have ever taken. It has cleaned out the gas and sourness from my stomach and I feel like a different creature now. It also relieved those pains in my back and revitalized my nerves. I can't praise Mooby's Tonic enough for what it has done for me and I will give you my statement and copy of my letter if you wish. I am glad to recommend Mooby's Tonic to all."

MANY INGREDIENTS!

Mooby's Tonic is a medicine of many ingredients. It is a combination of roots and herbs blended to form a wonderful medicinements. 20 INGREDIENTS—Each one has a purpose. Mooby's Tonic acts in 3 ways ALL AT ONCE. It clears away bowel-clogging waste, cool stomach gas and aids digestion—helps kidneys eliminate poisons. Mooby's Tonic is sold by Lattimer's Dry Store, 152 Dundas Street, Belleville. It is helping thousands of people in this and many vicinity. Costs only a few Cents a Dose.

Little Benny's Note Book

My cousin Artie was around this afternoon and he stayed for supper, being liver and onions in pop's honor, and after a while ma said, Time table seems strangely quiet considering the fact that you boys are both present.

Maybelle says we generally make too much noise instead of not enough, and I said, We dont speak.

We're mad, Artie said, and ma said, Well how long has this been going on?

Since just before supper, the big reason, I said, and pop said, Never mind the names. Dont you know it's a direct descent into savagery for 2 people to break bread together without speaking? he said.

It's not even polite, ma said. This makes me think of the Ouin of Persone! Allegience that I was reading about in line part. It's a great mass movement for world peace that somebody or else starting, and the idea is for all common people to take an oath that they will never regard a living sole as their enemy, so naturally if all the ordinary people in the world were free of enemies, nobody could get their inirgated in fighting each other, and the idea is to get the children especially to take the Oath of Persone! Allegience, and in 1925 or 1927 the entire young generation will become peace minded for future reference because naturally it's too late to do anything about the present state of worldwide bad feeling, ma said.

How about it, boys, there's probably a handsome button for everybody taking the oath, pop said, and I said, O, I'll take one, and Artie said, So will I, so we're not mad any more, you ugly face thing, and I said, Thanks for the compliment, you inside of a last year's tomato.

Now that will do, that will do, ma said, and pop said, Yes yeah what's a use. You have my permission to relapse into savagery, at least for the duration of the meal, he said.

Meaning to get mad again.

With we did, just making faces on the sly.

MURDER SAILS A TROOPSHIP

By A. W. O'Brien

CHAPTER III

Long afterwards, the officers aboard Troopship "T" treasured the atmosphere of impending tragedy to the evening sailing. At the time, they didn't recognize it as such although a number of them remarked that the "real" at last big adventure's start was grim rather than joyous. As is the case in every war, many of them had enlisted more with an eye on the glamorous prospect of sailing abroad to excitement than for purely patriotic motives. The average man dreads the prospect of a life of monotonous office routine far more than the possibility of being killed or wounded in action.

The lifeboat drill had occupied only a short time but before it was over, a mantle of misty grey had blanketed the Nova Scotian coastline. Canada had been pushed back over the horizon and only bleak ocean stretches were visible in the fading light of early evening. The lonely setting contrasted sharply with the gay scenes of departure.

Then, too, the convoy was running into a steadily increasing swell which, to many, is worse than a storm. The endless riding and rolling of the ship accompanied by sharp changes in direction at irregular intervals as she zigzagged caused some distress aboard even before dinner time. And, finally, there were the adjutant's stern announcements.

An order posted on notice boards throughout "T" and carrying the signature of the Colonel Commanding, instructed all to listen in to the evening newscast at 5:30 because immediately following the news "official announcements of utmost importance" would be made by Major Dawes, the adjutant. Nursing Sisters were to gather in their lounge on "A" Deck and other officers in their lounge on "B" Deck while the men were to listen in their messes. The ship's broadcasting system also had outlets.

The actual newscast wasn't the usual type one heard on land. It was a makeshift affair done by a subaltern who had some experience as an announcer on commercials before donning khaki. He obtained his news from the jumbled radio reports of the British Wireless Press that sends out its messages daily to ships at sea.

This particular newscast dealt almost exclusively with bombing of British ships and the listeners grimaced as pleasant thought at the start of the trip. A few brief local items followed detailing that evening's entertainment program. Sights to be offered by the War Services in the men's messes while a mixed bridge tournament was to get underway in the A and B deck lounges.

The subaltern, labelling himself "Your Shipboard Winchell," faded out with an attempt at a cheery adieu and the lackluster voice of Major Dawes crackled over the loudspeaker system.

"It is my duty to relay, at this stage, instructions included in Sealed Orders by the Commander of the escorting warships. It is imperative that all officers and men aboard this troopship exercise constant precautions against violations of the strict regulations governing blackouts. By express command," here Major Dawes became particularly clear, "any violation, no matter how slight, must bring the maximum penalty permitted by Army regulations. Lights on the part of any officer or man to report any such violations committed by another officer or man will make the former equally liable to the maximum penalty.

"The purpose behind this stern command is to safeguard the thousands of lives and valuable vessels involved in this convoy. Carelessness will not be tolerated no matter how seemingly excusable or insignificant an incident may seem. It shall be the duty of all platoon commanders to remind their men of the regulations daily. It shall also be their duty to check up at certain intervals on their men's observance of their Boat Station location."

"It will also be the duty of all officers to see that lifebelts are carried by the men at all times during this voyage. This holds true for the Mess and the Lounge as well as on deck. A second violation must be reported to the Orderly Officer.

"Lifeboat alarms are to be sounded at irregular times so as to provide for any possible situation. Two alarms, for example, will be sounded during Mess periods, one allowing troops to reach deck while all regular passengeyers are open and the other while they are blocked thus forcing the use of kitchen and mess-room exits. At your earliest opportunity, you are to familiarize yourself thoroughly with the ship's passageways to prepare for the eventuality of having to find your way about in total darkness. At night, before 'lights out,' easily donned clothing and equipment must be constantly kept within reach of bunks. Again, it must be borne in mind that said clothing and equipment might, in the event of emergency, have to be reached and donned in total darkness.

"The Commander of the escorting warships is particularly insistent upon the regulations governing the discarding of refuse. No rubbish of any description may be thrown overboard except at 10 p.m. There are cases on record of the enemy tracing a convoy by floating cigarette packages, cardboard containers, empty cans and the like.

"Finally, since in time of war ships unfortunately must undergo the risk of being torpedoed, all must bear in mind the necessity of staying calm in the event of emergency. It is quite usual for a torpedoed ship to list to port or starboard and it has been the experience of ship's officers that passengers frequently move against the list—that is, they walk or run up the sloping deck. This is exactly what they should not do. All must go with the list to the side at which the lifeboats hang free. You will note that double rows of lifeboats have been placed on each side of the ship to meet just such a situation. An ample supply of emergency rafts are also available. All are cautioned in the event of a night emergency not to show flashlights as the glare might provide a medium on which enemy gunners could focus.

"The Commander of the escort wishes me to add his personal good and best wishes for an enjoyable crossing. That is all."

The veterans of 1914-1918 smiled broadly as the youngster men exchanged glances. This was beginning to be the real thing and it awakened fond memories in the older soldiers' minds of the thrilling days when they made their first wartime crossing.

As faces were missing from the dinner tables that night. The rolling sea had sent a number of the men to their bunks. Rollins had felt a little squeamish around the middle but a remedy recommended by his father had straightened him up. Brandy, dry ginger ale and the juice of one lemon did the trick.

The meal was a surprisingly sumptuous affair. Hors d'oeuvres varies, consommé, Oxtail, and boiled Alaska salmon served as a prelude to delicately flavored roast turkey with cranberry sauce. Hollist pudding, ice cream, salted nuts, cheese biscuits, fruit and coffee rounded out the meal.

"Bad business—a hangover in a rolling sea," observed Captain Treg to Rollins, "especially when you're slated for convoy duty. Guess I'd better volunteer to replace him tonight—he's liable to roll over a rail into the drink and it would be a long swim home. I've told that chap at sea in wartime never stop."

Rollins felt he should volunteer also but he had other plans in mind—that bridge tournament in Instance. He felt deep down in his heart that he was allowing imagination to dominate common sense with respect to the nurse who had attracted him so forcefully. He hadn't even discussed the matter with his buddy but felt that he would somehow engage her in a private chat and from that chat form an opinion.

Tees, after confirming his suspicion about Jake Silver, saw that the Jewish officer was given a second escort by the M.O. and took over the Orderly Officer post at seven o'clock after asking Rollins to please take up with some attractive nurse for the next night.

The tournament was scheduled to start at eight in the writing lounges on A and B decks. Thirty-two nurses signed the entry sheet and the same number of men promptly signed.

Rollins realized he had a bit of a problem on his hands. He didn't even know the girl's name and consequently was unaware if she had entered the tournament. Furthermore, at the time had, he was in no know whether she would be with the sixteen girls playing in the "A" lounge or with the sixteen coming down to "B" lounge. In fact, it might end up with one being upstairs and the other downstairs—he might even go right through the tournament without playing at the same table as the girl. There was only one thing to do—have Tees do some reconnoitering. As orderly Officer he was privileged to invade the sacred precincts of "A" deck.

The Captain was at his orderly desk. He listened attentively to Rollins' description of the nurse.

"If she's as nice as all that," he smiled, "I don't have one hell of a job getting past me at all. But I'll see what I can do for you, my boy—leave it to your Uncle Syd."

True to his word, Tees had a report on the nurse within half an hour.

Her name was Nursing Sister Joan Davsar. Her residence was listed as Ottawa, Ont. And she would be playing in "A" lounge. That was good news for Rollins—he also was booked for the upper writing room.

Rollins wasted no time. He was among the first officers to innvade the "A" lounge. At first his heart sank but eventually he spotted her sitting up on a leather divan in a far corner. She was reading.

Walking smartly across the wooden floor after clicking his heels and bowing to the Matron, Rollins felt some misgivings as he approached. She looked up at him without smiling.

"Sister, Sister", he greeted, "my name is Gregory Rollins of the Royal Winnipeg Regiment and very anxious to have the honor of being your partner for the start of this tournament—and I left my revolver in my cabin tought."

It was quite impossible to resist his pleasant manner. She replied with a charming smile.

"I'd be delighted, Mr. Rollins, my name is . . . ."

He held up one hand as he slipped onto the divan beside her.

"Miss Joan Davsar—I've already sleuthed out your identity."

She raised her eyebrows in a mild gesture of surprise.

"And to what am I indebted for this intensive interest?"

Rollins laughed outright.

"If you weren't so deuced formal in your manner and uniform and if this was only a college prom I'd be tempted to say that I'm quite irresponsible where blue - eyed blondes are concerned—even when the interest isn't reciprocated. But, before I continue boring you, won't you permit me as a jitte-bridge cocktail—it might deaden the shock when I trump your ace?"

She smiled again.

"That's a rainy little speech, Mr. Rollins, and bespeaks of extensive experience although hardly befitting a troopship adventurer. But I will join you in a Martini, if you please."

"That's better, much better," he commented jumping to his feet. "Let's slip into the bar, it will be a lot quieter."

The call to bridge came far too soon. She was a delightful conversationalist although inclined to be cold on anything with a romantic flavor. She played a polished game of bridge and neatly smoothed over two awkward moments when Rollins made obvious misplays. All in all, it was a pleasant start to the tournament and Rollins thought he detected a bit of thawing in her manner.

The final rubber of the first night's play finished shortly before eleven.

Rolling was at another table by that time but he promptly came over to Sister Davsar's table where the scores were being calculated.

"Have a little nightcap with me," he whispered.

"Anything but," she replied, quite sentimentally as the rolling was just beginning to bother me. Looking at spots on the cards and seeing the saucer around was getting somewhat troublesome."

"Well, then, what do you say to a brisk turn or two around deck—it's still straighten you up!"

She looked at him with a twinkle in her eye; "You mean that you actually allow me to walk on deck tonight—last time you chased me indoors with a revolver in hand, remember?"

Rollins brow clouded as unpleasant thoughts returned in a rush. He had noticed, for instance, that she refused cigarettes throughout the card game.

"Indeed," he said somewhat crisply, "is another night. Also, it's not on the level. But, there are number of things I've wanted to speak to you about, if I may."

She laughed unexpectedly, displaying her dimple to advantage.

That seems a bit ominous, Mr. Rollins, but if you wait a second I'll be back with my greatest . . . ."

She paused and added in a lower tone, "I'll be back on the first floor."

The cloud vanished from Rollins' brow and his boyish grin returned. He bowed from the waist.

"As you say, Sister Sun!"

She laughed again and walked smartly away, Rollins noting that her figure was even trimmer than in civilian clothes. The severe blue uniform fit her like a glove and the blonde hair contrasted effectively.

Within a few minutes she joined him at the door, she wore no hat but her coat collar was turned up.

"You're sure you don't need an overcoat?" he asked solicitously.

"No, mildady, as a skier of Laurentian repute I have long ago learned that heavy clothing is often more cumbersome that valuable—especially when there's a handsome girl to hold your arm!"

She gave him a quick gay glance and pulled aside the curtain covering the door.

Outside it was amazingly dark. No moon lighted the gray mass of heavy ocean and a rather invigorating wind howled ceaselessly. It was a strong and noisy wind, Rollins leaning over the girl's shoulder to make himself heard.

Faintly, he heard her yell, "All right, and do not lose me!" Then on his arm sent little tingles through him.

They actually had to lean against the wind pressure as they walked. The troopship was like a shrouded greyhound plodding through giant waves. At regular intervals they spied dark shapes of walking sentries.

The stern was damp with spray and it dipped and rose with even measure, the couple lurching now and again as the ship hit the waves at varying angles in its zigzagging course.

M-m! Here's the treat of the year! These Rice Krispies Marshmallow Squares are just the thing for parties, teas, holiday festivities. So quick and easy to make, even a child can do it! So economical, too!

And this is only one of the many enticing ways of serving Kellogg's Rice Krispies — the cereal that has brought gayer breakfasts to thousands of Canadian homes. You'll find Rice Krispies so crisp they actually crackle and snap the moment you pour on milk or cream!

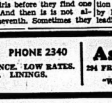
"Rice Krispies" is the registered trade mark of the Kellogg Company of Canada Limited for its delicious brand of oven-popped rice. Make sure you get several packages tomorrow. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

RICE KRISPIES MARSHMALLOW SQUARES

½ cup butter
½ pound marshmallows (about 2½ dozen)
½ teaspoon vanilla (if desired)
5 pounds Kellogg's Rice Krispies

Melt butter and marshmallows in double boiler. Add vanilla, heat thoroughly to blend. Put Rice Krispies in large buttered bowl and pour on marshmallow mixture, stirring briskly. Press into shallow buttered pan. Cut into squares when cool. Yield: 15 2-inch squares (10 x 10-inch pan).

VARIATION: Nut meats and coconut may be added.



Girls Make Fortune With Marriage Mart

Two young English girls, a couple of years ago, were casting about in London for some kind of business to engage in. Their combined capital did not amount to much. Finally they decided to open a marriage bureau in Bond Street. Their friends were deprecatory, could see no future for such a venture.

Today the partners, Miss Heather Jenner and Miss Mary Oliver, have cleaned up a fortune, according to The London Sunday Express. On their books they have between 9,000 and 10,000 men and women. Each of them has paid a registration fee of £5. When they get married they pay a further fee of £20 each, making a total of £50 a marriage.

So far the two girls have brought off 900 marriages. About a quarter of their clients are soldiers or workingclass persons. These pay only 30s for registration and £5 each when they wed. Canadians and members of the United States Eagle Squadron are much in demand. Unfortunately the bureau has "Eagles" on the books—but it has plenty of Canadians.

"At Christmas," Miss Jenner said, "we had letters from married couples all over the world.

"Divorce? No, not one yet—they all seem to be very happy."

Running a marriage bureau requires tact. The two girls encounter clients in hotels, restaurants, private houses all over London—but they never "recognize" them unless the clients make the first move.

They have found that men generally have to meet about seven different girls before they find one to marry. And then it is not always the seventh. Sometimes they go back to the fourth or fifth.—N.Y. Times.

MILITARY HONORS ACCORDED TWO CRASH VICTIMS

AC. Jean Attegila, Whose Home is in Unoccupied France, Buried in Picton

R.C.A.F. PADRE ASSISTS

Picton, April 10—Victims of the clearly discernible. Bombing and Gunnery School was opened, Pilot Officer Kenneth Armstrong and A. C. 2 Jean Attegila, were given full military honors here yesterday. Both were killed Thursday when their planes crashed on the ice of Lake Ontario, off the Outlet Beach.

Attegila was laid to rest in Mount Olivet cemetery, just below the mountain on which the air training school is located. The cortege proceeded from the Gilbert Co. undertaking establishment up the Main Street to St. Gregory's Church, where Rev. Collins of St. Michael's Church, Belleville, sang Requiem Mass. With muffled drums Trenton R.C.A.F. took part in both services, playing for the processions in which officers and men of both the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. took part. The firing party was also from Trenton. At the graveside, three volleys were fired over the flag-draped casket which bore the flier's cap. The last Post was sounded, while planes droned overhead, display in salute to their comrade.

The funeral of Armstrong was held in the recreation hall at the Bombing and Gunnery School. Rev. W. J. Province, chaplain at Trenton, conducted the Anglican burial service. Scripture, hymn, Psalm 23 read responsively and prayers. As the flag-covered casket was carried to an open truck, the band played "Nearer My God to Thee." The procession proceeded to the parade grounds where the three volleys were fired and the Last Post sounded. The body will be taken to Belleville for shipment to Los Angeles, California.

Attegila, being a native of France and not naturalized, the last and necessitated his burial here. The tragic accident has saddened the whole district and both men will be sadly missed by the officers and men at the training centre as both were efficient and popular.

Initial German Success Puts British On Spot

German blows rained on Greece and Yugoslavia with stunning power and devastating effect have convincingly changed the war trends in the Balkans.

Even before the British force in Greece has begun in contact with the Nazi foe, London appeared to have some appreciation over its fate. Again, as in Norway and Flanders, the battle seemed all but lost before the British forces could come to grips with the enemy.

Even before Belgrade fell, Berlin commentators claimed that the British troops were preparing to re-embark from Greek ports on the Aegean.

That still seems wholly improbable. Difficult as the situation is for the British army, there are circumstances that might be exploitable.

Its line of deployment, mentioned only as south and southwest of Salonika, is in defensive position to defend the Vardar River. It covers presumably rail and river valley routes such as Monastir Pass through which contact with Yugoslavian troops in the southwestern mountain area of Yugoslavia is still possible.

And from that British line, which may reach the Aegean coast fairly close to Salonika, a new British striking force conceivably could turn the flank of the German right column which speared its way to Salonika. German communications in support of it are no less exposed than were those of Greek troops on the Albanian front and along the Metaxas line.

That possibility and the British occupation of Massaua, main Italian port in Eritrea, are perhaps only relieving features of the war news, from the British viewpoint. Prime Minister Chamberlain's report to parliament to-day will indicate what reasonable hope the British have of early offensive movement rather than defensive holding action.

The crucial German breakthrough in the lower Vardar valley to jab a fast-moved column into Salonika was made possible by a German flanking movement (as yet unexplained) on the left flank of the Greek defense. A Berlin claim of 'half of wholesale Greek surrenders east-ward of the break-through should be accepted with caution until British army dispositions become known. The Greek surrenders, however, could prove an irreparable loss.

Nor is there any concealing the gravity of the situation for British or other than military ways. Virtually at a stroke the German Balkan drive has cut off the Greek army on an early Italian collapse.

The British have made a lodgment of German and Italian troops at the southern extremity of Albania, but it is not accomplished. They may already be in contact, stiffening Italian troops, but that is unconfirmed.

German claims of wholesale Greek surrenders east of the breakthrough at Greek wavering under smashing blows. Their army in western Macedonia is far from clear but a majority of her armies are probably already cut off from the Greek Army. British-Greek allies in the south, that the enemy claims, and these disasters may be in Greece and Yugoslavia, respectively.

There seems little in the situation in the Balkans to encourage hope of a British victory, at least in the immediate future.

The fall of Massaua probably means early release of British forces in the Sudan, but the number and numbers for use elsewhere. Whether in Libya, to help stem the German-Italian counter-attack, or in Greece, depends on major British strategic purposes yet to be revealed. There is small doubt, however, that the British army in Libya is virtually clearing Italian forces from the Red Sea approaches to the Suez Canal opens a wide avenue for increasing the flow of both Empire and American help to the British or Balkan nations resisting Germany.

Point Traverse, April 10—A very unusual spectacle was witnessed from here Monday night. So perfect were atmospheric conditions that across Lake Ontario, forty miles away, the myriads of electric lights of the city of Oswego were plainly visible to the naked eye. Flashing red pier lights on breakwaters of the Oswego harbour were also visible from the local

Several flocks of Canada wild geese were reported seen heading northward this week, which is evidence that the spring-like weather is to continue unabated.

Catches of fish being taken from frigid waters off here are only fair, according to fishermen. Spring prices for whitefish, it is understood were exceptionally high during the holidays and commercial fishermen are able to operate at a profit and are garnering a rich harvest from the lake waters.

SPORTS SCRIBES DIVIDED ON YANKS, INDIANS

83 Writers in Major League Cities Cannot Separate Two Clubs for Pennant

DETROIT PICKED THIRD

By JUDSON BAILEY

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, April 10 (AP)—To the sports writers who are supposed to living out on a limb, the American league pennant race looks like a dead heat between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees.

Seventy-nine of the 83 writers in major league cities who participated in the annual Associated Press check-up tabbed one or the other or these teams to finish first.

Not even an expert could sum up the sports conclusions any closer than that, however.

Forty chose Cleveland to come out on top and 36 liked the Yankees, but the odds of 5 points for first place, 7 for second, 6 for third, etc., New York wound up one point ahead, 61 to 61.

It would only be fair to the seventeen who picked the country to point out that these same experts picked the Yankees to win, voted 66 to 11 that the Yankees would win their fourth straight pennant and even more lopsidedly that could envisage nothing worse than second. Detroit finished third.

Placed As Low As Fourth

This year not a single eight writers conceded the Yankees at least would finish second and the others spotted them as low as fourth or perhaps with a longer memory than that, for they had been down for fourth. But otherwise everybody agreed they would land in one-two-three.

Some of the boys might have left a little room for doubt about a ticket for the Tigers if they could have kept Hank Greenberg in active status; but failing this Detroit was picked everywhere but Boston for sixth place. The consensus was third.

The White Sox were considered for all stops between first and seventh, second and fifth, while the Browns were rated from first to last, second to last and fifth.

The only club that wasn't named for four or more different positions was the Philadelphia Athletics, which received votes only for the last three slots and drew all but the cellar two points under the Washington total.

For the first time in years the Boston Red Sox not only were not picked to win but were not rated, that the present German Reichsfuehrer, after only seven years training, hops to rival the Imperial Army of 1914? Of course it cannot, and it doesn't. It does not.

I have myself had the advantage of discussing at length with the actual experiences of fighting in Norway, in front of the Maginot line, in the astounding operations on the Somme, and during the retreat to Dunkirk. I may briefly summarize some of the statements made:

The Storm Troopers are obviously very highly trained and fanatical. But the effect they had behind them nothing at all out of the ordinary—nothing bad, a young cavalry officer in "Light Tanks" remarked. The Germans came on readily enough in their tanks, but then seemed unable to make up their minds what to do. Given equal numbers, we were always able to deal with them".

A battalion commander in Norway says much the same: "We dug ourselves in, and the enemy dive-bombed and shelled us. Then apparently, according to their text-books, we were bound to go, but when we declined to do this the enemy appeared completely nonplussed. Some counter-attacks attempts at outflanking us were absolutely futile". He concludes:

Nothing 'Super' About Hitler's Huge Army

A Letter to the Edinburgh Scotsman

Sir:—I beg you to allow me to endeavour to dissipate, or at any rate to mitigate, an optimism which, if not, I fear, too prevalent and which I assert is entirely unfounded. Germany, Sir, is not, as pictured undoubtedly by fifth columnist propaganda, in that the Germans are a super-race and possess a superhuman army. Nothing, Sir, could be further from the truth.

In 1914 the German nation had for one hundred years been undergoing training for war, and when the Battle of Le Cateau, and at the Battle of the Marne the British Army showed that, given a reasonable proportion, it was always well able to hold its own with anything which the enemy could produce.

Now, is it likely, in spite of all the changes of weapons and tactics, that the present German Reichswehr, after only seven years training, hops to rival the Imperial Army of 1914? Of course it cannot, and it doesn't. It does not.

I have myself had the advantage of discussing at length with the actual experiences of fighting in Norway, in front of the Maginot line, in the astounding operations on the Somme, and during the retreat to Dunkirk. I may briefly summarize some of the statements made:

The Storm Troopers are obviously very highly trained and fanatical. But the effect they had behind them nothing at all out of the ordinary—nothing bad, a young cavalry officer in "Light Tanks" remarked. The Germans came on readily enough in their tanks, but then seemed unable to make up their minds what to do. Given equal numbers, we were always able to deal with them".

A battalion commander in Norway says much the same: "We dug ourselves in, and the enemy dive-bombed and shelled us. Then apparently, according to their text-books, we were bound to go, but when we declined to do this the enemy appeared completely nonplussed. Some counter-attacks attempts at outflanking us were absolutely futile". He concludes:

"After dark we retired unmolested, and the enemy disappeared next day".

Eye-witness accounts of the retreat on Dunkirk run on much the same lines. An officer sends these later operations: I think it is unfriendly to say, what would have happened had the boot been on the other leg? Should we have allowed 170,000 Germans to get away from Portsmouth or Dover even if they had command of the sea? I think not.

Lastly, most enlightening confirmation of all that I have urged, comes a letter signed "Brigadier General" in a leading London daily paper of 5th February last. This officer described actual operations at which he was present on the Somme just before the French surrender. He declares the tactics displayed by the young German soldiers as futile and in some instances child-like. Further he is vehement in his assertion that in this particular theatre the enemy had reached the end of its tether.

I hope I have said enough to induce those who read to decide that the German army is not the great omnipotent military machine that it wishes us to believe it is. One should not overrate the value of the enemy, but do not let us, for a moment, allow ourselves to make him at his own reiterated and blatant valuation.—Major General. Bembridge, March, 1941.

Feels Like Different Woman Since Syntona Built Her Up

Suffered with Stomach Gas and Acidity, Headaches, Nervousness and Sleeplessness. Was Underweight, Weakened and Rundown.

The great popularity of Syntona is not surprising, for this medicine actually does give grand results, as vouched for by the many grateful men and women who have used it. Compounded from no less than 12 of Nature's Finest Medicinal Herbs, and not one harmful drug, it aids in assimilation of food and elimination of excess acids and irritating waste matter. Syntona is pleasant to take and many who have used it say that, even after the first few days, the whole system takes on a new feeling of vigor and joyful strength. Here's the experience of Mrs. May Hughes, 326 St. George St., London, Ont., typical of recently.

"After a serious illness I found myself in a badly run-down and weakened condition. I couldn't seem to retain my stomach and I kept losing weight until I was down to NINETY FOUR POUNDS. My nerves were shot and my stomach was so upset that I couldn't digest food properly. The food just seemed to sour in me and I suffered terrible gas, acidity and nervous headaches. My appetite was always poorly, my constipation was shocking and my breath was bad.

"I had tried different tonics without success, but Syntona's amazing Herbs are helping me. I feel like a different woman since I started taking Syntona, my weight has come back to one hundred and eighteen pounds. My complexion is back to normal now and I feel so much better in every way that I can hardly realize I am the same person."

Every week, scores of such grateful people are cordially invited to call at DOLAN TIRE DRUGGIST, Belleville, and learn the plain, truthful facts about Syntona. Find out how it can help you, too.

British And Greek Forces Reaching Climactic Struggle In The Battle For Greece

Greek Press Minister Tells Residents Of Thrace And Macedonia "We Will Win This Battle"—Details Of Major Engagement Meagre

COMMUNIQUES ISSUED

ATHENS, Greece, April 12 (AP)—Nazi Panzer units, clashing with Greek forces on the west flank of the Allied Hellenic defence line and thrusting steadily toward the east flank, appeared today to be forcing a climactic struggle in the battle for Greece.

The Greek high command announced that German forces smashing through from Bitolj, Yugoslavia, had reached the Greek lines in the Florina sector on the west flank, while on the east flank, on Athens government spokesman said, Nazi troops "have penetrated further" but without reaching the main defences.

POISED FOR BIG BATTLE

With the land forces poised for big battle, the Royal Air Force announced its bombers had kept up a steady pounding of the Germans in Southern Yugoslavia and Northern Greece.

Particularly heavy attacks were reported against south Yugoslav towns of Veles and Prilep and the village of Kilkis, in Northern Greece.

Despite bad weather, the R.A.F. made repeated low-level attacks on the Germans Thursday and yesterday between Bitolj and Prilep, the communique said, resulting in the destruction of seven tanks and a number of lorries set afire.

Germans advancing in darkness toward Kilkis and in the Galikos area were both bombed and machine-gunned and were thrown into "great confusion," it added. At Polykastro, an important road bridge was reported blown up.

Two R.A.F. planes were lost.

Delayed reports from the front said advance units of the German army had encountered British patrols between Gionitsa, (Yanitza)—48 miles north of Mount Olympus, eastern anchor of the defence line—and the Aegean coast, in the first contact between the Nazis and the British Expeditionary Force in Greece.

Details of the engagement were meagre but the British earlier had acknowledged that Gionitsa was in German hands.

Theologos Nicaloudis, Greek press minister, informed the residents of German-occupied Macedonia and Thrace last night that:

"Within a few hours there will start—if it has not started already—one of the most stubborn and best battles in history, between the Greeks and British on one hand and the Germans on the other.

"We shall win this battle," he declared.

BRANDS REPORTS AS EXAGGERATED

London, April 12 (CP)—Reuters News Agency reported from Athens today a statement from an official Athens News Agency branding as "most exaggerated" reports that the number of Germans cut off and captured east of the Vardar River numbered 25,000.

"Greek forces in this area were much smaller than this and, furthermore, thousands of them were reaching their homes to help their free Greek territory," the report said.

(A German military spokesman claimed Thursday that Greek prisoners captured in Thrace numbered more than 80,000 and that the "final annihilation" of the enemy alone on the count was not finished).

Spitfire Squadron On Routine Duty Bags Three Nazis Before Flight Ends

London, April 12 (CP).—It was four o'clock on a March afternoon and a Pilot Officer, out with his Spitfire squadron over occupied France, was beginning to think the day's work would end without incident.

Suddenly three Me. 109s streaked over and seven more came in from the front.

The fight was on. Here, in the words of the pilot officer, is what happened.

"I pulled straight up and opened fire on the leader, the target changing from semi-head-on to full broadside into the enemy aircraft's belly. Almost simultaneously there was a great burst of flame aft of the pilot. There were only five machines now and they were descending.safe.

"As I was flying back over the Channel I saw the Me. 109 stalk and shoot at the squadron leader's Spitfire. I opened fire when some way off and he blew up in flames.

"I turned to continue the engagement, but broke away on seeing the aircraft, emitting dense clouds of black smoke and flames from its starboard side. The aircraft appeared to be out of control and burning fiercely."

Forty-five minutes after encountering the first enemy planes, the pilot officer was back at his base. He learned that a sergeant in his squadron had shot down another of the Me. 109s and that the squadron leader made a forced landing on the coast and although wounded was safe.

Settlement Calls for Rehiring of All Employees Without Discrimination

Detroit, April 12 —(AP)— Acting swiftly after the end of a 10-day C.I.O. strike, Ford Motor Company officials started today to pump the life blood of production back into the industrial giant whose key unit is the world's largest factory.

More than 5,000 of the 85,000 production workers at Ford's great Rouge plant were expected to return to their jobs Monday; Others will be recalled as needed.

The strike settlement yesterday was hailed by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner of Michigan as an "historic step in establishing peaceful industrial relations."

Jubilant pickets of the United Automobile Workers (Congress of Industrial Organizations) abandoned their posts at gates of the 1,100-acre factory. State policemen who maintained order during the dispute also left.

Within 10 days — longer in some departments where equipment was damaged—will be needed to restore normal production, company officials said. First calls were expected to go to workers in the foundry,

Bells of Rome's 420 Churches Ring Out to Proclaim End of Lent

Rome, April 12 (AP)—The bells of Rome's 420 churches, silent since Holy Thursday, rang out today to announce the end of Lent and Christ's resurrection.

In St. Peter's, Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, archpriest, struck sparks from the first flint to light the "new fire" symbolizing the resurrection. Then he blessed the Pope's paschal candle, about 10 feet high and 2 inches in diameter. This ceremony was followed by the Holy Saturday Mass.

Because of war conditions, there will be no Mass celebrated outside St. Peter's by Pope Pius but the Pontiff will delivered his Easter message (urbi et orbi) at noon (7 a.m. E.D.T.) and his words will be broadcast over the Vatican on short wave lengths 31.06 and 19.84.

Editor Sees Silver Lining In Dark Clouds

NEW YORK, April 12 (CP).—The following editorial, written by Publisher Ralph Ingersoll ari captioned "To the People On Our Side", appeared Sunday in he New York PM:

The Greeks have been drivei from Thrace, Salonika abandoned. The northern plains of Tpolaris are gone, the southern mountains have been split by Axis has reactpured the stage on which Gen. Wavell performed he feat of swallowing Grasiani's army.

So It's bad news.

So what?

The Axis victory in Africa without bring them back Grasiani's lost armies...Or Ethiopia. Or Etrea. Or put their submarines under the Red Sea again.

And what's happened in Greec and Yugoslavia? No one expected either Thrace or Croatia ike hold. The Serbian and the British armies have retreated, bu as everyone knew they would have to retreat—being outnumbered and out-equipped—into the mountains.

It all happened a little quickr than we expected. It's bad news all right. But is it as bad as it city seems to be moaning? I can't remember when I'm seen Uldown take the nose dive into the dumps that New York has take in the last 48 hours. For what?

A couple of weeks ago we were paigned to the old Yugoslavian government's Seliout—to mo conquest by telephone. Would that have been better?

What in the world did ye expect tohave happen? The unprepared Greeks and a couple of mechaised British divisions—and the Greeks with three fronts to m—chopping up a carefully planned blitz with 500,000 men hind it? Go on! We hope—but what did we expect? Nonsen.

We knew it wouldn't be good and vedo knew, however bad it was. it was better than Yugoslavia big sold up the Danube without a gun fired against the Nazis.

Take it easy. A battle in the Balkancan's lose the war for anyone but Hitler. There's no evidence it that it hasn't been managed smartly by our side, that the Hish and their Allies haven't made the best of a bad setup.

This in the spring of 1941 when wenew we had bad news coming to us—when the offensives the Ms had been planning all winter would be launched. But it is so the spring in which every month sees the U.S.A. stronger at sible to help. Soy—if there was ever a time of which is undeservable be said: "We haven't begun to fight"—that "it"!

Wave on German raiders battered their way through intense ground and air defences at Bristol, subjecting that southwestern England port to "a very heavy raid."

The Nazis unleashed their slashing attack by the light of a full moon and used a "hit-twice" technique, following up early bombings with a fierce final attack.

John Winant, the United States Ambassador, arrived here this morning a few hours after the raid, looked over the town, and commented:

"The courage and fortitude of the wounded and other victims of the raid is the most remarkable thing I ever have seen."

The assault was described as particularly severe in the west, and a communique said casualties there were "rather heavy." The number killed and injured in Bristol, however, was comparatively small.

Two of the raiders were reported officially to have been destroyed, bringing to 40 the number destroyed since Monday.

Protest Compulsory Service

Syracuse, N.Y., April 13 (AP) — The Six Nations of the Iroquois confederacy, occupying 4,200 acres of New York's estimated 8,500 Indians, named yesterday a committee to protest to the United States government the law subjecting them to compulsory military service. George Thomas, 53-year-old Onondaga chief, said the government's 137-year-old treaties with the Six Nations recognize the confederacy as "independent and sovereign" nations.

Rolling Tableland May Be Scene Of Battle In Libya

Battle-Wise Troops From East Africa Reinforce British In Large Numbers—British Progress In Ethiopia

Cairo, Egypt, April 12 (AP)—British desert troops in Libya, reinforced by a flood of battle-wise veterans of the ebbing East African campaign, were reported engaged west of Tobruk today with the axis offensive which Prime Minister Churchill has termed a threat to Egypt.

Throughout the 400-mile advance of axis forces in the past three weeks the British have isolated they were merely withdrawing light covering forces to a concentration point where they could fight with "assurance of success."

Today it appeared this second battle of Cirenaica would be fought on the rolling tableland between Tobruk and the Gebel By Achdar escarpment, the famous ground to the British who know every water hole and gully in the area.

Beyond a terse official announcement that "our troops are in contact with the enemy west of Tobruk," no details of the British operations were disclosed, however Tobruk is only 80 miles from the Egyptian border.

Blackout On News Of War At Sea Almost Complete Week Ended April 11

The blackout on news of the war at sea was almost complete in the week ended April 11. Neutral sources reported the loss of only one merchant ship, the 4,831-ton British freighter Gracefield, sunk in the South Atlantic by enemy action.

The British Admiralty's latest summary, covering the week ended March 30, showed 39 British, allied and neutral ships aggregating 175,376 tons sunk, about 13,000 tons above the weekly average of the war.

Head-On Attacks By British Fighters New Method Used to Shake Nazi Nerve

BY DEVON FRANCIS
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

New methods of British fighter tactics on attacks by British fighter planes on German bombers, revealed in conversations—a new attack method in which each fighter plane attacks singly instead of a combined speed of more than 375 miles an hour—are described by a Royal Canadian Air Force pilot.

Flt.-Lt. Hartland De M. Molson of Montreal, who was shot down in a dogfight over England last October, said this form of attack, one from the beam, was more effective than attacks from the rear.

"A head-on attack in modern aircraft," he said in a talk here before an audience of 1,000, "is a most unnerving affair. Judging from our own experiences, I imagine the nerves of the Germans pretty thoroughly.

"If you are flying, let's say, at bombers in a formation of three in a sort of 'V' each stepped up between the two, travelling at 250 miles an hour, you can imagine how much time you have to think about what you had for breakfast.

This is the way Lieut. Molson described the fight in which he was shot down, wounded.

His squadron was sent up to intercept some German fighters, he said. Such fights usually occur at around 20,000 feet.

A brief fight resulted. Then the aircraft around him seemed to vanish.

"Well to the south near the coast, I saw a large, milling mass of aircraft, like bees around a jam pot. A number of Messerschmitt 110's (twin-engine fighters) stood out distinctly, as do the Germans, for getting mowed down in a dog fight in existence.

"There was a gentleman behind him hoping I'd do something stupid, and he knocked my machine out of the sky with his little cannon in about two seconds.

"A moment later I was off on the greatest flight of my life, strictly on my own bailing out from 22,000 feet."

The war, he declared, is decided, is not without its humor.

"I remember being shot on a flight over Germany radioed back to his base, 'Now over Hamm. Natives unfriendly.'"

SIX FATALITIES ON GOOD FRIDAY IN THE PROVINCE

Two Drowned, One Died From Fall and Another Killed in Car Crash

ONE HIT BY TRAIN

(By The Canadian Press)

GRASS FIRES KEEP FIRE BRIGADE BUSY

Another series of grass fires kept the local fire department quite busy over the holiday, no less than five alarms arising out of this cause being answered. No alarms of a more serious nature were received and no damage was reported as a result of any of the alarms answered.

SYRUP SEASON SHORTEST ON RECORD

The maple syrup season is again practically completed for another season according to marked vendors offering syrup this morning. Lack of rain and continued warm weather of the past week has rapidly dried up the sap in district sugar bushes and farmers for the most part have already pulled up their buckets and stored their equipment for another year. The current season was one of the shortest on record according to makers.

FRED B. JARRELL SUFFERS STROKE

Mr. Fred B. Jarrell, who suffered a stroke while sitting in his home at 24 Crier Street on Wednesday, was said today to be showing signs of slight improvement.

Mr. Jarrell was stricken while sitting in a chair shortly after he had finished his dinner. Previously he had been down town for a walk, but had not complained of feeling unwell.

Mrs. Jarrell, was not at her accustomed place in the city market today, and stated that she would not be there until her husband had gotten well.

TO FURNISH PROGRAM ON OPENING DAY

Members of the Belleville Rotary Club have been asked to furnish the program for the opening day luncheon of the Rotary International Convention which is scheduled for Toronto on May 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th. (Sandy) Burrows, who enjoys international fame as a song-leader will be in charge of the singing while the clubmen, some forty-five strong will constitute one of the best "singing" clubs in Ontario, will be in attendance.

W. J. MORRISON TO HEAD ROTARY

W. J. Morrison, Superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf and well-known in this city, was elected President of the Belleville Rotary Club at a meeting of the new board of directors this week. The 1941 directorate is composed of Rotarians Jack Deacon, I. G. Hockey, Lloyd Hicks and C. A. Pinkston, with the latter being reappointed as secretary.

President-elect Morrison, who succeeds President Percy McGuire, has been a member of the club for the past six years, and was appointed to the directorate three years ago. He enjoys a well-deserved popularity with his fellow clubmen and has been active in all Rotary activities since joining.

SOLDIER INJURED WHEN CAR UPSETS

Skidding on the upheaved highway at Shannonville, an automobile driven by Gunner L. C. Wray, of Kingston, turned completely over into the south ditch early Saturday morning. Gnr. Wray sustained a deep gash along the forehead and was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital by a passing motorist. Wray was visiting privately after being cut by flying glass.

Provincial Patrolman C. E. Siple investigated the crash, which occurred shortly after seven o'clock this morning. Signalman R. V. Richardson, R.C.D., Kingston and Pvte. F. C. Tyler, Montreal, resident and owner of the vehicle, both escaped injury.

Pvte. Tyler had picked the two soldiers up at Kingston as they were debarking a train. Later Wray offered to drive the car. Approaching Shannonville Highway No. 2 is a sharp condition owing to the spring thaws and the road upheaving. Wray is said to have swerved the car to avoid one of the upheavals and the vehicle struck a culvert and turned over. No charges were laid.

SWASTIKA FLAG PLACED ON POLE

Teen-Aged Youth Admits Placing Flag in Front of Gannifton Road Home

Believed to be the prank of juveniles, a swastika flag emblem was placed in front of the residence of Leonard L. Wood, of Gannifton Road, sometime Thursday night.

The flag, attached to a six-foot pole and bearing the inscription "You are a Boche and a Hun" was discovered by Mrs. Wood, when she arose on Good Friday morning. The improvised flag was a white piece of cotton about two feet square, upon which was crudely painted in ink the sign of the swastika in a blackened color. The wording was printed below.

Mrs. Wood notified police and Detective Fred Isaac investigated the matter. Nearby a piece of paper was found, upon which were printed instructions for the manufacture of model aeroplanes and it was through these printed instructions that Detective Isard ultimately apprehended a teen-aged Collegiate St. lad, who upon being questioned by the police station admitted he had placed the swastika flag atop of a pole on the Wood's property.

POLICE BLOTTER

Mystery surrounds the finding of two small holes which penetrate the plate glass window in the front of Ed Kelleway's grocery store on West Bridge Street. While cleaning the window yesterday, Mr. Kelleway discovered two small holes at the bottom corner of the window. Police were notified and upon examination the only theory brought forth indicated that someone with discharging air guns nearby had been responsible.

Jack Musgrave, 56 West Moira Street, reported to police on Thursday night, that his motorcycle and trailer, which the bike had been left parked near the intersection of Dundas Avenue and Front Street. Police found another bicycle abandoned near the Bridge Collegiate campus and took the bike to the police station for identification.

Two London, Ont., girls were apprehended loitering about the streets and failing to give a good account of themselves at an early hour Friday morning. Checkine through the London police department, Serreant Arthur Booth was informed the girls had run away from home and returned home late Friday after being placed in the custody of a C.P.R. passenger train conductor.

The passenger motor of a Front Street used car lot reported one of his employer's motor cars missing from the lot last night. Subsequent check-ins proved one of the company salesmen had taken the vehicle for demonstration purposes. As police had notified surrounding district police to be on the alert for a stolen car, the informant in the matter was notified of the mistake of all lone distance telephone calls made necessary by his original report.

POLICE COURT

Owing to Good Friday being a statutory holiday, city police court was held before Magistrate E. J. Butler at the police station court Saturday morning.

William E. Fair, Belleville, was given one year in the Ontario Reformatory after pleading guilty to three charges of receiving and retaining goods, knowing the same to be stolen and an additional charge of committing and procuring Wm. Orr and Wm. Woodcock to commit the indictable offence of theft.

His Worship decreed that Fair should serve six months on one count of receiving stolen goods and an additional six months to run consecutively on the second count. Otherwise all other sentences will run concurrent. Fair admitted receiving articles from Mrs. Reid's Dairy and from the Graham Cold Storage and a few other places and says in his possession the property of the Harris Bakery knowing the same to be stolen.

S. J. Howell, local barrister, appeared for Fair, while Col. B. C. Donnan, K.C., County Crown Attorney, prosecuted.

Kenneth Badgley was fined two dollars and costs after admitting failure to stop at the designated stop street at the Dundas Road and Station St. intersection.

A charge of reckless driving was dismissed against Joseph Parks, after Chief Kidd informed the court there was not sufficient evidence to proceed. The charge arose out of an accident which occurred in Belleville on Feb. 8th, 1941. Charles A. Payne, K.C., on behalf of Parks appeared to defend Parks had the matter proceeded.

A local man paid $10.00 and costs after admitting a state of intoxication by reason of which a domestic case, held in camera, concluded the morning's pre-Easter court.

Takes Weak Spell Driving Motor Car

When the motor car she was driving went out of control and crashed into a hydro pole on Victoria Avenue, Thursday, Miss Jean Pauline Sidney Township, sustained severe internal injuries and was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Sargent was driving in the family automobile westerly on Victoria Ave., when it is believed she had a weak spell. The car bounded ahead as Mrs. Sargent slumped over the wheel, after crashing into the Pinnacle Street intersection, the vehicle crashed into a hydro pole in front of the residence of Dr. R. Anderson. The force of the impact was so that the pole was broken off about six feet from the ground, about six feet from the ground, which was buried forward, by the force of the impact, and struck the car bonnet, bending it forward and out of commission. Mrs. Sargent was in a semi-unconscious condition when rushed to the hospital and was later attended by Dr. G. S. Cronk. Her condition was reported better on Saturday.

"You'd think that Nature lavished here
Her purest wave her softest skies,
To make a heaven for love to sigh in,
For bard to live and saints to die in!"

—Thomas Moore.

Far out in the Atlantic Ocean, 568 miles from the nearest point on the American coast, lies a little group of islands which have been British for over 300 years. They are about 150 in number, but only a few are of any considerable size, the whole group being less than twenty square miles in extent. No flag but the Union Jack has ever flown on the warm, flower-scented breezes of Bermuda.

Many thousands of years ago the seabirds in their flight found there no place of rest for weary wings; only the wind-tost waves broke into creamy foam over curving lines of hidden reefs. But through the activities of the busy little coral polyps and other processes of nature, the submerged rocks gradually rose above the surface of the water; soil was formed, and the birds and waves carried seeds. After hundreds of years of gradual development and changes the beautiful Islands became clothed with luxuriant vegetation. Still the centuries came and went, and no voice were ever heard there save those of winds and waves and birds.

At last the fair green isles were alighted by wandering Spanish seamen, and Juan de Bermudez, who anchored near the land in 1515, gave his name to the group. Years later twenty-five Frenchmen—a crew of Englishmen were wrecked on the shoals. They lived in the islands until they had built a vessel, when they sailed away.

In the spring of 1609 a company of adventurous men and women set out from England in nine vessels with the intention of settling in the little British colony of Virginia. But out at sea stormy winds blew, and one ship became separated from the rest. This was the Sea Adventure, having on board about 150 people, including Sir George Somers, who was in command, with Captain Newport and Sir Thomas Gates.

Fiercer and fiercer blew the hurricane, and the ship was driven down steadily rising, and at last they gave up hope. Some of the men brought out bottles of wine and they drank to each other as a sort of solemn leave taking.

All this time the passengers were pumping and bailing it out as fast as they could, taking little rest or sleep for three days and three nights; but still the water kept in a deluge. The poor Sea Venture soon sprang a-leak. The seamen stood up to their waits in water, trying to face the peril as heroically as possible and make the best of it. Fathers and mothers comforted their children with brave words of cheer, and many an earnest prayer went up to Him who "who hath stilled the stormy waves on the Lake of Galilee."

Sir George Somers never left the post he had taken up on the poop, where he directed and assisted the steersmen to keep the vessel in a safe course. Early in the morning of July 28th., when but little hope remained, his keen eyes discovered land a few miles away. Twenty-five Frenchmen—a crew of Englishmen were wrecked on the shoals. They lived in the islands until they had built a vessel, when they sailed away.

Land! They could hardly believe it, and so eager were they to see for themselves that they left the ship on which their very lives depended and swarmed on on to the deck. Very soon, however, all were in their places again, working with a will even though they knew they were heading straight for the dread "Isles of the Devil". The superstitious seamen in those days believed these islands to be the abode of evil spirits, and for a long time had carefully avoided them.

All sail were spread, for the wind had suddenly calmed down. Forward the vessel lurched and rolled. Then again she almost stood stranded on a reef, but the waves lifted her over it. Then she became tightly wedged between two rocks. Surely divine mercy alone had so suddenly stilled the boisterous wind! Who could doubt now that the same Power Whose word is omnipotent in their rescue?

Blithely the boats were launched and laden with 150 thankful souls, their goods and stores. Blithely they rowed over the intervening league of smoother water, and landed safely. Very one, upon dry mysterious shore.

With the prints of the deep behind them and their feet firm on the white and glistening sands, what long breaths of relief they drew! Joy and amazement were written on every face. Could this indeed be that "enchanted den of furies and devil, the most dangerous, unfortunate and forlorn place in the world", of which they had been told?

Here the winds, scented with strange and fair flowers, whispered softly in green groves of fragrant cedar and tall, broad-leaved paletto. Mulberries, olives, and many other trees they could not name met their delighted gaze. The woods seemed full of singing, twittering birds; but more noticeable were the numerous flocks of seabirds. There were grey, brown and white; coots, cormorants and wild ducks, with many other known and unfamiliar species. Streaks, white flashes and beautiful sea plants were seen in the clear, sparkling water.

Not all at once did Sir George Somers tab the these varied details, but the picture spread out before him was bright and vivid, and the atmosphere exhilarating. There was much to be done immediately, and he gave directions to the band as willing, if weary, helpers. Some of them rowed back to the ship that they could from the stranded ship; some sought for food and water. Sir George himself went exploring.

What delightful sport it was! Never before had he dreamed dreamed of such luck. In half an hour, with hook and line, he had caught enough to feed the whole company. There were rockfish so large that two of them were enough for a man could well carry, and they perfect for eating. Crawfish. In the woods the men found plenty of wild fowl. What with such variety and abundance of fish, pork, turtles, fowl and fruit, there was no danger of starvation, that was very evident.

Homes there were none, and it might rain again at any time, so a number of the men set about making cabins. This was an easy task, for the broad palmetto leaves furnished roofs and walls. Plenty of splendid cedar was available for clapboard houses wherever they should be required.

The haunted Isles turned out to be a veritable fairyland. For months these adventurers lived there in ease and comfort, always finding something of new interest and beauty. Many of the natives and wonders in time disappeared, but Bermuda is still a happy hunting ground for the nature student or lover.

The people were so happy and comfortable here that some of them at least had no wish ever to leave. But with others kindred and duties far away were still remembered. After a time the longboat was fitted out for a sea voyage, and eight men set out for Virginia intending to send a larger vessel from there for the rest of the party. Weeks and months passed, but they never returned, and nothing was ever heard of them.

Meanwhile evil was not entirely absent from this little Eden. Sir George had trouble with some of the men, and some had to be punished. But there were happier events too. Two children were born a boy named Bermudas and a girl, Bermuda. There was also a wedding one day.

At length two sound ships of cedar were built and all but two men, Christopher Carter and Edward Waters, who preferred to remain, sailed away. They had a good voyage and arrived safely in Virginia colonies, and they were in need of provisions. So after a while the good Sir George Somers was induced to return to Bermuda in his cedar ship and bring back a cargo of supplies. He and his little company reached the Isles in safety and at once set about procuring the cargo. But the brave Sir George was grown old and weary, and he died at the place now called Somerstown.

His nephew and sorrowing friends embalmed his body and took it to England for burial. This time Christopher Carter, Edward Waters and Edward Chard remained in the islands. For a while they worked happily, building house, planting seed and making various improvements. But while searching one day among the rocky crevices for any chance treasures the sea might have cast up they found a great mass of ambergris weighing about eighty pounds. Ambergris is a rare and valuable substance, used in making perfumes, and this find would mean a great deal of money if it could be sold.

The men quarrelled over this wealth. Two of them came near fighting a duel over it, but Mr. Carter hid their weapons until they thought better of it. There they lived for two years, when an English vessel arrived bearing fifty people as colonists to the islands.

Thus began the romantic history of Bermuda. The Islands, though now an important military stronghold, form a little Paradise of loveliness, peace and bralthful existence remote from the rushing, noisy, work-a-day world, but easily and often reached by fortunate adventurers of today.

St. Mark's Y.P.S. Bonarlaw, Honors Rector And Family

Bonarlaw — The Young People's Society of St. Mark's Church met in the Sunday school rooms on Wednesday evening last with a good attendance. The meeting opened with prayer by Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne. President Carl Heath conducted the business session with Eva Irvin as secretary. The roll call "A verse of Scripture and a Proverb" was well responded to.

A committee was named to arrange for a social evening soon after Easter.

An address was read to Canon Swayne, Mrs. Swayne and Robert expressing the appreciation of the Association for their invaluable support and assistance in the work of the Y. P. A. since its inception and the sincere regret of all the members that they are moving from this parish. At this point Mr. Carl Heath, President, presented Robert with a belt as a remembrance from the Y. P. A. Canon Swayne and Mrs. Swayne replied feelingly but briefly, admonishing the members to keep up courage even when the going is rough and do not be easily discouraged.

Miss Margaret Brown took charge of the program which was as follows:— Harmonica solo by Ray McLaren; vocal numbers by Misses Marion Richardson, Marjorie Hegerty and Mr. Jack Baker; reading by Miss Iva Brown; contest by Mrs. W. J. Barlow and Mr. W. O. Swayne and Mr. Ross Piper.

A bountiful lunch and a social half hour closed a very pleasant evening, the finale being the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne.

Quite a number from this neighborhood attended the crokinole party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKeown on Wednesday evening of last week.

Miss Marion Richardson spent the week end visiting friends in Consecon and Carlaw. Mrs. W. J. Barlow taught school on Friday.

Mr. M. Fitzgerald and Mr. J. Davidson each loaded a carload of livestock this week.

Rome Communique

Rome, April 12 (AP)—The Italian High Command claimed today that Italian troops in southern Yugoslavia occupied Debar and Ohrid, where they joined German forces which had smashed through from the east.

Ljubljana, a city of about 53,000, is an important railway centre, with links to Belgrade, Vienna, Plume and Trieste.)

In the air, the High Command reported attacks along the Yugoslav coast in the vicinity of the Italian city of Zara, where enemy warships and seaplanes at anchor were set afire and two others sunk.

EASTER

The long period of Lent is ended and Easter comes with its message of eternity and the life beyond the grave and the assurance of the spring season. Easter and springtime have been associated in the calendar and in the English language, the name of the great Christian festival of the resurrection of Christ bearing the name of the goddess of springtime or light, a festival which was celebrated on the first of April. Easter in its religious aspect stresses the completion of the long period of Lent with its restrictions and trials and marks the glory of that Life which on Easter reached its fullest fruition. In Easter's association with spring, it brings into prominence, color and warmth and growth in nature, and all the reviving signs of life.

The Christian church at the Council of Nicaea or Nice in 325 A.D., dealt with the date of Easter and since that time the feast has been held on the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or next after March 12th., or on the next Sunday if the full moon falls on a Sunday.

No time of the year seems so apt, when with the expanding life in nature, and with the expansiveness of the human spirit natural at this season, the great Easter festival should be observed. Winter seems to possess the spirit of Lent and Easter to typify spring.

With Easter have grown up many social forms and customs which linger on. These are perfectly natural. There is the custom of wearing new attire at this time for it is the time when there is a desire for the new and for an expression of the sense of relief from the grip of the season of cold in the warmth and the color of the spring and the brightly shining sun.

The religious appeal of Easter does not change, it touches the depths of the human heart in its attention upon the nobility of the One Life and His message to the individual and to mankind. Christmas fills the world and the individual with the warmth of the joy in the birth of Jesus and Easter marks the completion of that Life on earth with its infinite appeal and its influence upon the conscience of the world and the destiny of the human race. Therefore in the greatest and smallest of the churches songs of hallelujah are sung and the hearts of Christians are filled in the knowledge that man has had the revelation of eternal life as well as of the life and ideals that man should follow for the teachings of Christ are for one and all and lay down the true rules of life for individual and society. No message can go beyond that message and His teachings on the nobility of life and the sacredness of personality.

Even in the time of war Easter has a special message as it is the assurance and guarantee that there is such a factor in life as a world consciousness of right and justice and that in the last these principles triumph over violence and evil. The world has been passing through great trials, its tragic Lent, out of which man believes will come the fruition of devotion to truth and light and the principles which the Great Teacher taught.

Music and flowers seem natural expressions of Easter.

The former strikes the loftiest emotions. It takes the form of instruments of many types and of the noblest instrument of all, the human voice. Composers have created out of the inspiration of this season and out of their knowledge of the human soul's aspirations infinite cadences and sequences of sound. Music is one of the best forms of praise and satisfies the aspirations of the human spirit. Noble works of music are a proof of the divineness of their inspiration and of the divineness of human life.

Flowers which grow according to nature's law whether in the field or in the hothouse, enrapture with their sheer beauty and with their delicate perfume at this time. The flower in its frailty is symbolic of life's brevity and in its beauty and the power of its appeal it symbolizes the greatness of the human soul.

All I have seen teaches me to trust the Creator for what I have not seen.—Emerson.

Happiness consists in the attainment of our desires and in our having only right desires.—St. Augustine.

SPRING POEMS . . . (With apologies to a flock of authors).

If you're waking call me early, call me early, mother dear
For I'm to be the happiest gal in all the glad new year,
Get out my new spring bonnet and my suit of dusty grey
For I've got a date with an Air Force guy, on this his first payday.

LILT OF THE BEACHES

"Mother may I go out to swim,
Yes, my darling daughter,
You're so darned near naked anyway,
You'd better stay in the water"

POP'S PARODY ON "EASTER PARADE"

With parts of last year's suit on, and one shoe and a boot on,
I'll be the proudest poppa in the Easter parade.
My pants are getting baggy, the seat is very saggy
My shirt is one that grandpop wore, when purple was the shade,
Every payday (hum the melody here) each payday (keep humming)
The hall-and-chain she grabs it, and I find that I am flat as a pie,
And then she is in clover, and when you look her over,
You see where all my dough goes—
In the Easter parade.

In lighter vein, News of Norway has the story of two pilots who had a forced landing in a Ford a few hundred yards from shore. A local fisherman set out to the rescue. As he neared them, watchers saw him take them aboard, then grapple with them and throw them back. Questioned later, he said he thought they were British, but they turned out to be Germans.

"But why did you drown them—Weren't they alive when you tossed them overboard?" he was asked.

"Well," he said, "one of them said he was alive, but you know how these d.... Nazis lie."

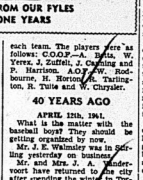
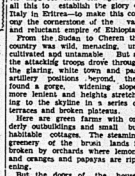
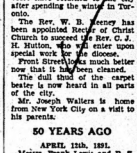
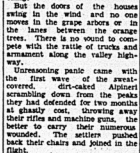
SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT









Flight Of A Colony

By Robert J. Casey, Correspondent of the Chicago Daily News with the British Middle East Command.

Out of the promised land today fled Il Duce's colonists, leading his abandoned army on the road to Asmara and nowhere.

Old men, women and children, these were plodding afoot through the quivering heat, choking with dust stirred up by the hoofs on the smashed road or stirred from the hillsides by flocks of frightened animals and more frightened men. Behind them, the British artillery crashed in the not so distant peaks and machine guns stuttered in brief and savage fire at the futile road blocks. Ahead, beyond the wells of death and Asmara, lay the hopeless, useless march to the dead end of Massawa and the sea, or the aimless trek toward the south and into the hands of the vengeful natives.

They are not newcomers to East Africa, these Italian colonists. Many of them had grown old here nurturing the rocky and with-out-less patience— seeding mountain crevices, burning and starving their youth on the promise of better days for their old age. And all this to establish for Italy or Italy in Eritrea—to make this colony the cornerstone of the vast trophies of the Italian Empire.

From the Sudan to Cherem the road is wild, mountainous and uncultivated and untamable. But as the shackled army descends through the glaring, white town and past artillery positions beyond, they found a gradually changing scene, more lenient and heights stretching to the north, with cool green terraces and broken plateaus.

Here the land is rich with orderly outbuildings and small but habitable cottages. The steaming heights of the Mareb River is broken by orchards where lemons and oranges, figs and olives are growing.

But the doors of the houses swing in the wind and no one moves in the grape arbors or in the lanes between the orange trees. There is no sound to compete with the roar of the retreating armament along the valley highway.

Unreasoning panic came with the first wave of the sweating, bedraggled Italians who deployed scrambling down from the peaks and the first thought was to get out at ghastly cost, throwing away their rifles and machine guns, the better to carry their comrades the wounded. The settlers pushed their children in front of them in flight.

So began the trek that in a little way was like that from Belgium and northern France last year. But there were two distinctions—there was no harrying of civilians by the air and there unpreoccupied pioneers marched without the haunting memories of the last minute with the peasants in Belgium.

Belgium and French refugees hoped one day to go back to their homes. Italians in the path of the day German bombs slaughtered in Ethiopia reclaiming its own, have no hope of returning. Without homes, without prospects, they plod on to the sea.

Click Of Heels Betrays A Nazi

The recapture by a Sheffield bus conductor of a German prisoner, one of three who had escaped from a North of England camp, is recalled by a letter of commendation sent to him by the Sheffield Corporation Transport department.

Colin Redfern, the Sheffield Man, Sheffield was acting as conductor on a bus going to Rotherham, and as Retford the police gave him a description of the escaped prisoners. Sixteen miles from Sheffield the bus stopped for an elderly passenger, and a young man stepped on. He was dressed in civilian clothing, and had a British appearance, except which was later found to contain chocolate. He asked for a ticket to Sheffield in German, and then in English, said Mr. Spittle. "As I gave him the change I noticed the click of his heels and saw a slight movement which made me think that they came to a police sergeant and constable about the time. When Sheffield the German was ordered out of the bus, for which he had not possessed until he was asked if he was. He appeared startled, and was was one of those who escaped men taken into custody.—London Times.

SHORTAGE OF WAITERS

—The shortage of waiters is, indeed, one of the most noticeable of war's effects, as the Times says.

A few days ago I lunched at a Bulgarian restaurant. It was crowded, and some of the diners registered well-bred impatience, but two waiters were attending to the other over the hors-d'oeuvre trolley at the top of their voices and with full reach of their arms. The Maitre d'Hotel, caught in the middle, fumed and eloquently. A few minutes later he leaned over and asked, "what can you do? They're like gold."

At a cheap and popular restaurant at night it is usual to find part of it roped off and empty whilst a queue waits for tables. The other night I remonstrated with a head waiter. "Why all these empties, sir?" he replied the head waiter "at this time, I have no waiters." — The Manchester Guardian.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

An Open Letter to Henry Wallace

My dear Mr. Vice-President:

I want to thank you for the speech that you delivered before the Free Press Association of New York last Tuesday. It seemed to me that you said things that were trying to be said, and that you showed real courage about the future—about the future of America and the future of the world.

For one thing, I want to thank you for your attack on our self-righteousness about the American role ever since the last war. "In World War number 1 we fought well, believed profoundly, and produced tremendously.... When the war was ended, conditions existed lower wages, and everybody wanted lower taxes.... The desire of the people for 'normalcy' and isolation caused us to refuse to accept the world responsibility.... we were offered responsibility but refused it, accepting it we gave the world high tariffs, and isolation."

I believe those words to be exactly true. This country is inclined to put all the blame for the catastrophes of the last twenty years upon the European nations. Nevertheless I know well that one, namely that the international economic policy which was brought on by Hoover directly contributed to the bankruptcy of Europe, our own economic crisis, and the rise to power of Hitler in Germany.

Men in power today, and men having to bear the terrible responsibility for shaping the next two decades—men like John Maynard Keynes, who is now a long last in British Finance Ministry—know saw everything that was bound to happen, as they say, "with the utmost lucidity, selfishness, and greed, with which the United States pursued their course after the last war." The consequences of one's sins is the beginning of wisdom, you are to be congratulated for having spoken out. Together, all we, too, are not gullibles before history.

But what moved me most about your speech was your proposal that the Bill of Rights should be supplemented by a Bill of Duties.

I am the last to love property, and as I survey the scene of contemporary history, the more convinced I am that freedom is based in its final form a last trench only because we, and the other free peoples of the earth, men a moral law as incurable as a law of physics, that freedom imposes duty are twins, and that every single right obtained by man carries with it a reciprocal responsibility. If freedom is regarded merely as a blank blanche to pursue our own interests and whims regardless of their results, upon society, and our rights are translated into privileges to be exercised—payment of any kind, freedom becomes anarchy. Men used to claim freedom as the means of realizing the highest self-development and social development. Only in these unphilosophical and a-moral times has our right been translated into a right to unlimited self-indulgence, has it means freedom either without self-control or social control inside the framework of a communal objective.

After reading your speech, I took out a copy of the Constitution and reread the Bill of Rights, which guarantees every American freedom to speak, to write, to assemble, to petition for the redress of grievances freedom from having soldiers quartered upon him except in time of war and except by law, freedom against unwarranted search and seizure, freedom against arrest without indictment, trial for major misdemeanors except by jury, against the confiscation of life, liberty, and property, the habeas corpus only possible with compensation, the guarantee of speedy trial, and protection against excessive bail or cruel or unusual punishment.

There is another item in this Bill of Rights. It is the Right of the Citizen to bear arms. "Since," says the law, "a well-regulated militia is necessary for the security of the state."

But how about the other freedoms? Does not freedom of speech imply the responsibility of using speech for purposes within the framework of the preservation of freedom? Is it not our duty to refrain from speech calculated to inflame the interests of those free citizens? Libel laws prevent us from exercising the freedom of speaking and writing, but they do not prevent us from exercising slanderous agitation against classes, against religions or free Americans. Could we not offset Bill Presents with the Duty of Refraining from systematic slander against races, classes, and religions?

The Constitutional Assembly include the right to assemble for the purpose of planning and measures for the overthrow of American institutions by violence? It is used to-day, as you and I and they well know. Could we not offset the Right to Assemble with the Duty to refrain from such activities?

Does Freedom of the Press include the right to the circulation of anonymous and salacious lies? Some say and could not the right be offset, in law, by the duty to refrain from such perverseness?

It seems to me that with so many Bills of Rights in the world as there shall Note." People who advocate liberal practices and unusual punishments, as do, the Nazis and the Communists, who indulge in cruelties involving unwarranted search and seizure, and who advocate the confiscation of property without confiscation, whether it be "corrupted" property or "Jewish" property, ought, it seems to me to be put under the duty that they are unwilling to accept the duty of protecting for others what they claim for themselves.

And does not the right to own property imply the duty of using it as a trust for the community?

Many of us feel that the inner regeneration of America is the most important task before us, that upon it all depends. And we begin it in any other way than that which is based upon a spiritual attitude, and personal collaboration with those who share our ideals, who feel the same way? Will you not help us to start such a movement—a movement filled with the spirit of faith and humility and personal and political responsibility? Many Americans are looking for some sort of collaboration for such a purpose. Make your words into actions, Mr. Wallace, with our help.

Balkan is the Turkish name for mountain.

The Balkans are a range of mountains in Europe, stretching from central Bulgaria from the Yugoslavian frontier to the Black Sea.

From the Balkan mountains comes a pleasant name the Balkan peninsula received its name.

It is the southernmost peninsula of southern Europe and is occupied by the Balkan states.

This name was first applied in the 19th century to several countries that had recently won their independence from the Ottoman empire.

Many persons will be surprised to learn that a "pterodactyl" occurs in the King James version of the Bible. According to Isaiah (34), Pharaoh employed Joseph to "teach his senators wisdom."

Yankee dime is a slang term used in some parts of the United States particularly the South, to denote a kiss.

A Dutch quarter is a bug.

Puck, in Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," is often incorrectly quoted as saying: "Lord, what fools we mortals be." Puck was a fairy, not a mortal, and what he said was: "Lord, what fools these mortals be."

The Chinese call a book, "Shoo," which is written with two characters meaning "pencil" and "speak."

Nix Perce is French for "pierce-nose," yet the American Indian tribe of the name are not Nez Perces never pierced their noses.

Salt in small quantities is absolutely essential to normal health; but the Eskimos regarded salt as an abomination and never used it in the months they lived entirely on fish, and they obtained the necessary quantity by that means.

R.D. Arnott, M.P.P. Addresses House During Debate On Throne Speech

Mr. R. D. Arnott, K. C., M.P.P., Belleville member for West Hastings in the Provincial Legislature, speaking during the debate on the Throne Speech gave his views on agriculture and other topics. In part Mr. Arnott said:

"The general consensus of opinion in the House is very apparent with respect to basic industry, Agriculture. It is briefly that the farmer is in a desperate plight, the black picture painted by members, both Government and Opposition, is not nearly black enough.

I have listened with a great deal of interest to the reasons advanced by various members for the present difficult position in which Agriculture finds itself, but there seem to be very few, if any, concrete suggestions coming from the Government side of the House, and the only direct action taken to cope with the situation is the bonusing of cheese and bacon. I have no quarrel with the Government for this assistance. On the contrary I believe it does not go nearly far enough. Bonusing is only a temporary measure and is not going to correct matters.

On many occasions in this House I have heard previous administrations bitterly attacked for the operations of the Agricultural Development Board. I believe that the Board was a good thing and served a very vital need of the farmer, particularly during the depression years.

Denies Allegation

The Board was set up during the regime of the Drury Government and after the defeat of that Government was carried on by succeeding Administrations and I credit Administrations and I think quite properly so. The purpose which the Board served was to furnish loans to the farmer at a low rate of interest. It has surprised me to hear some Honourable Members state that some of the farmers used these loans to play the stock market and purchase expensive motor cars. I do not believe this. There may have been some cases but I am convinced that the vast majority who obtained loans used the money properly. True enough some of the valuations placed on the farms then were in the light of later economic conditions, too high. But if the Honourable Members will look back, they will recall in those days of prosperity from 1926 to 1929 that everything else was valued too high. Everyone thought that good times were here to stay, consequently everyone, particularly the Governments, business firms, farmer, laborer and everyone else, spent the money as fast as they made it. When the depression struck, you will also remember, credit, particularly that of the farmer, froze. I say to the House that if it were not for the policy of the Government then in loaning money to Agriculture, at cheap rates of interest, that the condition of our farmer friends would be even more desperate than it is today.

Speaking for the County of Hastings, I believe I can assure the House, that the loans advanced to the farmers in that County were used strictly for the purpose for which the Board was permitted to loan money, namely to pay existing and overdue encumbrances, mortgages, tax arrears, etc., to purchase live stock, repair buildings and generally for Agricultural purposes purely.

Re Tariffs Collecting Agency

What did this Government do when it came to power in 1934? Abolished the Agricultural Development Board and set up a collection agency in its place. A Collector called the "Commissioner of Agricultural Loans", whose duties with the mortgagee in one hand and a set of bailiff's warrants in the other. The farmers of this Province are entitled to more consideration than that. We must keep the farmer on the farm. He must receive a fair and just return for his long hours of work, not just an existence.

I would suggest that the office of "Commissioner of Agricultural Loans" be abolished and the matters it now deals with be under the jurisdiction of the Minister of Agriculture, where they belong. Further may I say to the Honourable Minister of Agriculture that he should have members of his staff travel the length and breadth of the full particulars of the load he is carrying and does not do so. Increase the number of your district representatives. Increase your information and by doing splendid work but there are many things within the power and sufficient leadership to the Department of Agriculture to point out to meet the farmer, not wait for the farmer to come to them. Sit down with Mr. Farmer, discover his crops, herds and flocks and farm and for the benefit of the latest and best advice to help him make a decent living.

Only Makes Gesture Is Claim

This Government, periodically (especially when there is an election in the offing) makes a gesture to agriculture for its support. But it is only a gesture. Witness the reduction in the motor vehicles, followed by an increase in the gas tax. I do not believe this latest gesture of bonusing cheese and bacon will fool Agriculture this time. In the light of past experiences our rural cousins have become very, very wary. Some arguments have been advanced, that this Government has done all it can—further help must come from Ottawa. You cannot evade responsibility that way, not with an estimated revenue for next year of $113,000,000. That should place you in a position to make more than a gesture of aid. It should enable you to attack the problem at its source. May I earnestly solicit the Government to make a far greater and more determined effort to correct the conditions which beset the Agricultural industry of this province. The situation is very serious. The farmer is leaving the farm to get work in the war production and industry, and one can hardly blame him for this. The mass production of farm products will be greatly decreased this year. I believe to permit this situation is a dangerous proceeding. Make it worth while for the farmer to stay farm, Enable him to compete with other industries. Give him at least an even break.

Highways

The Government has announced big intention of expending huge amounts of money in new highway construction. In particular the several extensions of the four-lane system on King's Highway No. 2. I am staunchly opposed to the expenditure of public funds for this kind of thing in wartime. The very thought of it is absurd. Why does not this Government follow the lead which has already been given by the Municipalities in financing. I note that the Government wishes to take all the credit for the reduction in Municipal debts. They not give credit where credit is due? The Municipalities are to be congratulated on the manner in which they have eliminated capital expenditures and reduced taxation. This Government could, in my opinion, do nothing better to assist in this Country's war effort, than to follow this example. Cut provincial taxation to the bone. Our people here in Ontario who pay approximately one-half of the total of Canada's taxes have huge taxes in connection as our war effort to face. They face it resolutely and loyally. Let the legislature eliminate as much and as many Provincial taxes as they can to lighten the tax-payers' burden.

Re Traffic Toll

The Traffic Toll keeps steadily mounting. Something must be done about it at once. I believe a great portion of the evil could be corrected by more stringent rules and examination before a driver's license is issued. There should be a medical examination, as well as a strict driving examination. Then there should be periodical re-examinations of the same nature, say every two years.

The Attorney General should take as his motto, "Prevention instead of prosecution after the accidents have happened". Our new Highway Patrol cars out on the highways to eliminate among other things, speeding, glaring headlights, one light driving and the like but not least, speeding. The speed limit according to the Highway Traffic Act is 90 miles per hour. Actually it appears that the sky is the limit.

Attorney-General

The Attorney-General is to be commended on his impartial way in which he conducted, as Chairman, the recent Public Accounts Committee appointed by this House, to investigate the administration of Justice in the Province. I was a member of that Committee and I think, without exception, we would approach provincial problems more in the way that Committee approached its investigation, that we would get further ahead. I am also grateful to see so many of the recommendations of that Committee being implemented by Legislation at this session of the Legislature. I would warn the House though, that unless the public show more interest in the responsibilities of democracy as well as its rights advantages, that we may lose some of these advantages. In particular I refer to our jury system. To me it is the very corner-stone of our democratic set-up. Guard it jealously. Be willing when called to serve on jury duty. Because it is a duty. But remember it is a precious privilege as well.

I believe that mixed juries would be a good thing. In other jurisdictions, where it has been tried, it has proven very successful. For instance the system has been followed in England since 1918 and in Manitoba since 1922. I am confident that women generally would be quite willing to assume their duty as jurors in this respect and I believe it would be a decided step in the right direction to improve the administration of justice in this province.

Re Under-Privileged Children

I was concerned to hear a Member the other day refer to the large number of our young men, who after having been exempted by the military service, as being physically fit, have been discharged as being unable to stand the rigours of the training course.

It has been my thought for a long time that the Province might have a lower part of its revenue and resources in our boys and girls. We have some of the most beautiful and healthy vacation areas in the world. In the north part of the country, I say without contradiction we have a vacation centre, that is second to none. Why not see to it that for three months every summer each and every child in the Province of Ontario would have the opportunity of spending a holiday in Government sponsored and approved camps, free of charge. It would build health and vigor into everyone of them. It would give them a start in life that money later couldn't buy. I would also assert that our young men if called for army service would not have to be discharged as being medically unfit. I believe the plan to be feasible and ask the Government to give it consideration.

The Budget

Expenditure of $113,000,000 in war time is inexcusable. As I have said before eliminate the capital expenditures, restrict other expenditures, eliminate duplication of Departments. I suggest to the Government that they send their estimates back to the Finance Council and cut them down by at least 25 per cent. We are all loyal. Every Member I believe wishes to do everything in his power to assist in our war effort. I say again that this Legislature can best serve by reducing taxation to the minimum. Many suggestions have been advanced by members as to how the surplus will be disposed of. My suggestion is that you use that surplus to reduce the burden of taxation for the coming fiscal year.

C. W. Whitemore Named President Of Deloro Social-Dramatic Society

Marmora — The annual meeting of the Deloro Social and Dramatic Society which took the form of a smoker, was held in Deloro Hall on Tuesday evening. The retiring president, H. O. Lovelace, took the chair and there was a fair attendance of members. After the presidential report had been given J. H. English, secretary treasurer presented the financial report which showed funds to be in a satisfactory condition. The report of the librarian, Mrs. A. V. Yates' was next received, followed by the report of P. Gray, Master of Ceremonies. The election of officers resulted as follows—

President, C. W. Whitemore; Vice president, A. W. Drew; Secretary-Treasurer, W. F. simmons; Librarian, Mrs. A. V. Yates; M. C., N. Smith; Auditor, M. J. Corrigan.

A change was made in the Society's year. Originally commencing in October 1st, it will now conform to the calendar year. J. H. English, retiring secretary-treasurer, has served the society well in that regard, having been first elected to that office in 1921.

Marmora Women's Institute

The monthly meeting of the Marmora Women's Institute was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. L. Green with about thirty in attendance, including a number of visitors. The president, Mrs. H. W. Sabine called the meeting to order and after the singing of the Maple Leaf and the Institute Ode, the Institute Creed was repeated, the roll call was "a vegetable beginning with the first letter of your name".

Aunt Dean Jr. Caldwell then gave an address on "The Spiritual Side of the war". The business session followed. Mesdames D. Thomson and F. W. Marett were selected as correspondents to correspond with Mrs. McDowall of Brasbourne Vicarage, Kent, England, who is a member of the W. I. in her county. Plans for the forthcoming Mothers' Day to be held by the District W. I. in St. Andrew's Hall were then discussed. Mrs. J. Gordenier next gave a report of the District Executive meeting held in Madoc on April 7th.

Mrs. D. Thomson followed with a report on the village library in which she stated that the Institute had contributed over eighteen hundred dollars to that worthy object since commencing their annual grant some years ago. Miss Gladys Gordon then sang "Juanita" in pleasing voice and Miss Lucille Green gave a much appreciated dandelion's selection. The president then displayed garments which will be sent to the Salvation Army to be forwarded to people in the homes areas of England and she also gave out cut out garments for members to complete in their homes. An apron contest having been enjoyed, a delicious lunch was served by the committee in charge. The meeting adjourned with the singing of the National Anthem.

Weddings

WELLMAN—KEW

Victoria Presbyterian Church, Thornton, was the setting for a pretty spring wedding on April 3, at 4 o'clock, when Ethel Beryl Kew, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kew of Indian Road, Thornton, became the bride of Ralph, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wellman, of Bellefville.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the wedding march, played by Mr. Chas. Kilgour, D.A., of Galt, Ontario. The bride was smartly dressed in a navy blue tailored suit with a pretty blue flowered hat and matching blouse. Her corsage was a Rouge Majestic rose and freesia. She was attended by her sister, Miss Meggin Kew, who wore a grey tailored suit with rose accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Charles Wellman was best man. Mr. Ronald Kew, brother of the bride, was usher.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. McKay, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. Immediately after the ceremony a reception wedding dinner was served in the banquet room of the Alpa restaurant on Dundas Street. The Rev. Mr. McKay proposed the toast to the bride and Dr. Marvin Wellman proposed the toast to the bridesmaid. The tables were decorated with vases of sweet peas and freesia; a pretty wedding cake formed the centrepiece for the head table.

The bride's mother wore a wine velvet dress and hat and corsage of primroses. The groom's mother wore a blue figured crepe dress and hat and wore a corsage of sweet peas.

Mothers who have children whose ankles could operate her characters in a play, and therefore the ceremony for the stage should not despair. Let them be confident in the make good, with fame and fortune on the professional stage, and command the respect and adulation of literally millions of people. The only one we know of, first hand, is Ruth Draper, appearing at the Capitol Theatre on Thursday, April 24th, in a repertoire of her famous character sketches.

We have it on good authority that Miss Draper is very shy in very young—non-professionally— to entertain her family and guests in her home with imaginary dramas and comedies of adult life. At first she used dolls and toys to represent people and properties but, as her fame spread and she was asked to "recite" or "act" when she was not at parties in other people's homes where there were no dolls or toys available, she found that ad-libbing was the only way out.

The happy couple left amid showers of good wishes and confetti for a motor trip through the Falls, Port Erie and Hamilton, the bride travelling in her wedding suit. Upon their return they will reside at 81 Bonsaliar.

Out-of-town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. Marvin Wellman of Whitby; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wellman, Bonsaliar; Pte. Dave Wellman of Ottawa; Mrs. Ralph Kew of Bellefville, and Mr. Charles Kilgour of Galt.

RAINES—STORMS

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, April 5th, by the Rev. W. L. Keough, at his residence Dufferin Ave., when Alice Mae Storms, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Storms, 77 Grier Street, became the bride of John Edward Raines, youngest son of Mr. J. Raines, of Kolinsky.

The bride was attired in Chinese blue with navy accessories and wore a corsage of Talisman roses and sweet peas. Miss Marjorie Tracy, the bridesmaid, was attired in beige with tan accessories and wore a corsage of Talisman roses. Mr. Wilfred Murphy of Point Anne did honors for the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony the happy couple left amid showers of confetti for a quiet week end at Point Anne.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's brother, Trooper K. E. Raines of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, Petawawa Camp; Mrs. Mearns, Bert Gordon and John Storms of Toronto.

The young couple will reside in Bellefville.

ELDER—BATES

In Erskine United Church, Trenton, at three o'clock this afternoon a pretty wedding took place when Leona (Lea) Gertrude, daughter of Mrs. Bates, Bellefville, and the late Edward D. Bates, became the bride of Lieutenant William S. Elder, of the Irish Regiment of Canada, and son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Elder, Toronto. Capt. Rev. D. C. Rowland, padre of the Irish Regiment, assisted by Rev. P. Duncan, performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Wm. Bates, Trenton, the bride was charming in an ensemble of ice blue moon crepe with matching veiled turban, and corsage of Talisman roses. Miss Cecile Bellefville, was bridesmaid and wore an ensemble of beige crepe with matching turban and corsage of roses. Mr. Jack Elder, Toronto, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Harry Bates, Bellefville, brother of the bride, and Mr. Clare Blackstock, Toronto.

A reception was held in the Old Mill. The guests were received by Mrs. Bates, mother of the bride, in pearl grey with black hat and accessories, and corsage of roses, and Mrs. Elder, mother of the groom, who wore beige with nigger blown accessories and a corsage of roses.

Lieut. and Mrs. Elder left on a wedding trip to the Laurentians, the bride travelling in a navy blue tailored suit with accessories to match.

The groom's mother received the congratulations and best wishes of the guests in a navy blue tailored suit with white accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. E. D. Bates, Mrs. Wm. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bates, Miss Margaret Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman, all of Toronto, and Mrs. W. F. Coutts, Ottawa.

Sacred Oratorio, "Savior Of World", Sung At Christ Church

"The Savior of the World," oratorio by Sir Johnny Nicholson former organist of Westminster Abbey for thirteen years who received his doctor's degree at the school of English Church Music, was sung by a choir of fifty male voices at Christ Church on Good Friday evening before a very large congregation. It was fitting that this great work of a musical composer and organist should be sung here for Sir Sydney was in Canada in the year 1939 and took part in a gathering of the choirs of many churches in Belleville during the time of the Canadian Week while on this tour that Sir Sydney received the degree of Doctor conferred with knighthood. The English musician and composer is at this time yet an abiding influence across Canada by his devotion to English Church Music.

Mr. George N. Mayhew, organist and choirmaster of Christ Church directed the singing of this great composition under the able style of the English Church Music. On Good Friday evening there was a repetition of this choir to sing notable sacred compositions at this time the proceeds $37 will be handed over to the British War Victims' Fund. The rendition was a splendid and memorable achievement of the choir for the singing was of the fullest measure the manifold opportunities which the composition gave the production of a work of art.

The same effective balance was ably executed the range of emotional appeal which is very wide, was thoroughly conquered by the singers. The work offers opportunity for the choir to show to the best credit of the church choir it must be said that the fifty male voices sang, were eminently successful. Their singing was very fine quality and show careful training. Mr. Mayhew's accompaniment portrayed B. J. Theobald and T. Hyland sang the baritone numbers and Jack Wallace and Gordon Watkin, Bruce Wood the soprano parts. The male voices entered into a fine remarkable awareness and range, while the soloist used in the work the organ contributed very much to the glorious achievement.

The Rev. G. O. Wills, rector of Christ Church, read the recitative parts during the presentation of the service.

One of the impressive features of the composition was the procession of the choir down the aisle through the aisles symbolizing the journey of life.

Weather Enjoyable On Good Friday

With the mercury hovering around 62.5 degrees and weather more reminiscent of May 24th than mid-April Bellefville took to the road yesterday, and the highest April sun combined to make the holiday one of the most enjoyable in years and large numbers of residents took advantage of ideal atmospheric conditions. Continuous streams of motor traffic whirled through the city and motor-minded people enjoyed themselves on the highways.

On the streets, the younger people were looking for a pre-Easter showing of new toggery and many new styles and creations were aired for the holiday.

According to the Bellefville Purification Plant officials, temperatures yesterday were the highest in eight years, and Meteorological Observers stated today that it was the warmest day fr over a score of years.

A NATIVITY: Indications point unsatisfactory day, despite much activity. Mercury conflicts through the lunar and mutual transits. Under pressure and trying to force an effort to launch new enterprises, it is possible that impulsivity, hastily made decisions, measures may bring to a head further aggressive and belligerent actions in connection with public affairs, financial opportunities.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a lively and eventful young year, although matters may not always move in harmonious grooves. Impetuosity, alarm, rash and forceful tactics may be detrimental factors, whereas finesse, compromise and stratagem would overcome opposition.

A child born on this day may be of independent, impulsive disposition, some, wayward and headstrong, although not lacking in ability to compromise or yield if necessary.

Ladies Guests Of Craig Lodge, Deseronto

Deseronto — On Friday evening, April 4th, members of Craig Lodge, A. F. & A. M., entertained their wives and many invited guests to their annual ladies Night. After partaking of a well prepared supper, served by the ladies of Deseronto United Church, the following program was presented:

Chairman, Bro. Hathaworth, Wor. Master of Craig Lodge and toastmaster for the evening gave a splendid address and extended a very great welcome to all the visitors. A toast to the King was sung by all with Miss Hathaworth at the piano. Mrs. Ego delighted the gathering with several readings. A toast to the Ladies was ably given by Bro. Young, and responded to by Mrs. Jay Clark.

The 'Great Gardini', a magician of note, formerly of Montreal, but who now is a member of the R. C. A. F. of Trenton, performed many feats of magic and sleight of hand much to the delight of everyone present.

The toast to Grand Lodge was given by Wor. Bro. John Milligan, who in his address, likened our civilization to an old house. What rot and insects are doing to the old foundation, Fascism and Communism are attempting to do to the foundation of our land. To retain the structure, we must keep up the foundation. The best material for such a foundation for the world lies in our children and the best foundation for our children is the masonry is playing its part in the present uplift in every community in which it is lodged. Its underlying aims are to build character and to instil in its adherents, a respect for the law, a desire to aid his fellow brethren and a true perception of the duties of true citizenship. The Freemason, as we know him today, in this province, believes in the Golden Rule and practices everything that makes him a better citizen, a better husband, and a broader view of life. Its goodness will live on in the generations of all time, it has kept alive, humanity through the ages, preserved the liberty that has especially been the heritage of the English-speaking race.

Right Wor. Bro. A. L. Hill, D. D. G. M. for Prince Edward, paid a visit to the lodge. He spoke chiefly on the question of today, our country. During this war, Canada has a great part to play. The conditions of our people must not only be adopted, but the flow must be steady. Co-

By ANNE ADAMS

Here's a frock with "good mind for figures!" You'll love wearing this Anne Adams style. Pattern 4722. It slims your waist, narrows your hips . . . softens your bosom . . . and does it all with a smart, youthful air! The slenderizing panels add to the slim curves in front. Panels go down from the front and back skirt, making you seem much taller and slimmer. Sections are wonderfully soft-cut and bloused, with gathers across the waistline that add generous stitched darting at the shoulders. Sew tiny buttons down the front, and make a simple, nice V-neckline with a ribbon bow, or a jaunty scarf. Make the puff your sleeves in neatly tucked short ones, or elbow length. Very easy!

Evangel Temple Congregation Holds Good Friday Services

Use of Holloway Street United Church Loaned For Occasion

Good Friday services which will be long remembered by those who attended, were held in the Odd Fellows' Hall by the Evangel Temple congregation, the building of Bridge Street United Church which was generously loaned for the occasion.

Pastor Richard Boomhay was the speaker at the morning meeting, taking as his theme, "Jesus Our Passover." Stressing the privilege and duty of Christians to avail themselves of their covenant rights to have their sins forgiven through the shelter of Christ's atoning blood. Pastor Boomhay concluded with the observance of the Lord's Supper in worshipful commemoration of the death of Christ.

Pastor J. W. Beam of Castleton, Lake of Loudon, Ont., addressed the afternoon gathering very ably on the subject "Our Risen Saviour." During the first part of this service, Evangelist Gardiner, of the Whitby peg led in a "testimony meeting" which was joyfully entered into by the large audience. At the close of the meeting, the ministers prayed for about thirty, desired divine blessings on their bodies.

Several splendid musical numbers were given during the various services including a solo by Pastor Boomhay, and a vocal trio by the Routley sisters of Toronto, and, Evangelist Gardiner with "A Green Hill Far Away" by four brass instruments. It is conservatively estimated that upwards of two hundred persons attended the evening gathering. Evangelist Gardiner, formerly of Glasgow, Scotland, gave a powerful ministry discourse on "The Cross of Christ Under Fire Aspects." Other visiting ministers who participated in the day's meetings were Evangelist Mrs. Gardiner of Toronto, Evangelist M. B. Cunningham, of Frankford, Pastor A. O. Routley of Toronto and Pastor Ernest Tindall of Tweed.

Miss Dorothy Miller will preach special Easter messages at Evangel Temple at 11 o'clock and services as announced elsewhere in today's paper. On Monday, at which meetings, Evangelist I. Honderick of Toronto, who is described as a "Bible character" and child-children's evangelist" will conduct two services one afternoon at 3 o'clock, being at 7 o'clock is for children, and the second meeting at 8 o'clock is for adults. Mr. Honderick states that 97 percent of juvenile delinquent crimes have not or do not attend Sunday School, and hence the urgency of caring for the spiritual welfare of the boys and girls. All children and adults irrespective of denomination affiliation or non-affiliation are invited to all of these meetings.

"I Was Young Then"

By GENEVIEVE FOURNIÁ

About this time of year an old man that I knew long ago used to shake his head and say "Every woman should be called "Hattie." It took him a long time to get used to the new styles in women's hats every year. To him they were most fantastic.

At about the same time an old doctor didn't object to the ladies' hats, but thought the women were a little bit insane on the subject of housecleaning. A patient of his had been following his instructions for a number of months until her health was almost normal. Then, one day, when there is usually a certain spring upheaval there. When a room needed decorating the hall is done, regardless of the time of year. For the rest she used to vacuum the house regularly. In clashing the attachment for cleaning the furniture and drapes, and didn't tear up her house in the spring. Instead she got out in the lovely spring atmosphere, pruned her rosebushes, uncovered her perennials and really enjoyed April and May. She had a large family of teen aged boys and girls and was never too tired to have good times with them.

MURDER SAILS A TROOPSHIP

By A. W. O'Brien

CHAPTER IV

For a few minutes it was impossible to distinguish anything beyond the ship but as their eyes grew accustomed to the wind and the grayness other dark objects took form to the front and sides. No lights appeared and not a sound beyond the nature roar of water and wind could be heard. The convoy had widened out in night formation, emphasizing width in place of length.

To the rear no form was visible. Rollins thought it rather strange because he knew that just before dusk his ship had been the last one in the convoy. Then something caught his eye and he squinted steadily to a point about a mile off the stern and a bit to port. His pulse quickened and he squeezed the rail with a grip that was capable of matching even a Nazi pocket battleship.

Rollins looked down at the girl beside him. Her cheeks were glistening with spray and wet and she suddenly transformed from the starchy nurse into a very desirable young woman—rather petite and winsome.

Impulsively, he put his arm around her and drew her close. She didn't resist. She gave a great warm glow filled Rollins' heart . . .

"Hey, you there!" a hear of 'Lights Out'—it's almost eleven thirty . . ." and a figure looming behind the couple suddenly burst into laughter.

Rollins quickly pulled his arm away and turned to the intruder—it was Sergeant-Major.

An introduction in such a setting was difficult but Rollins managed to shout it out.

"Sister Farmer, this is my friend, Captain Sydney Tees — tonight's Orderly Officer and prize butterhinter."

She held onto the rail with one hand and extended the other.

"How do you do, Captain Tees, we'll get on immediately."

The three of them stood inside the door for a few minutes before parting.

"Start step on deck all night, Captain?" asked Joan.

"No, I don't," replied Tees, "but the sentries do. Every hour I'm obliged to make the rounds to check up on the men. My next is at two and around midnight and I'll be relieved shortly after one."

She looked at her watch.

"Well, I won't keep you any longer. Good night Captain," she looked at Rollins, "and thank you Gregory, for the Martini—and the stroll on deck." With a pleasant smile, she turned and disappeared around the turn in the corridor.

"You seem to be doing all right, my son," remarked Tees, "but take it easy. There is a war function-ing and this isn't a pleasure cruise. Wearing one's heart on a shaki sleeve isn't . . ."

Rollins poked him playfully in the ribs.

"Just leave my heart to me, Mon Capitaine, and if you mention a word about this to the other lads I'll be guilty of socking a superior officer."

Within a few minutes Rollins was in his bunk. He had carefully taken the greatest zeal and lifebelt on the chair beside his bed. A miniature searchlight was tucked under his pillow. The cabin was snug and warm after the cold, February wind on deck. The bed was soft and white. He drew the covers up around him, yawning coolly. Joan filled his thoughts and the adventure of going to war had suddenly thrown a magnificently romantic touch. He dozed off happily.

He woke with a start. It must have been some hours later. Three men in oilskins—one of them a Sergeant-Major with an "M.P." band on his arm—were standing in his cabin. They were talking as he awoke.

"Please take your dressing gown and slippers only, Lieutenant Rollins, and report immediately to Colonel Stephenson. It is his order, Sir!"

Rollins tried to shake off the haziness of first sleep.

"What's up—anything happen?" The N.C.O. replied briskly.

"I cannot say, Lieutenant, please be quick. The Colonel is waiting for you.

Rollins shook off his stupor. He swung his feet out of the bunk and into his slippers, picked up the dressing gown from the foot of the bunk and put it on. Instinctively, he rubbed back his hair as he stepped into the corridor.

There were military police outside the "O.C. Troops" cabin and he grasped them within easy hearing distance of the witness chair, Granville, and in Murdoch and Silver".

The two officers entered and stood to attention before the "O.C. Troops".

"Both regulations call for me to select officers to preside at this preliminary investigation," began Stephenson, "and since the Adjutant might eventually have to act as Prosecutor, I have asked the frequent Court Martial, he is excluded from presiding. Murdoch, I recommended that you gentlemen around the scene of the body since you were both experienced lawyers in civil life. This is not an order but a request. Please sit down." He up at the officers.

Captain Murdoch, Sir—Murdoch, a former Senior Crown Prosecutor of the Province of Ontario, quickly replied, "I accept, Sir!"

Lieutenant Silver, however, hesitated.

"I would be happy to serve, Sir, but I am afraid that I might not have to give testimony. You see, sir, I was the officer who first discovered—he got what I might have got," speaking to the point, his voice tonless until precisely nine o'clock when the big glass doors swung open and Colonel Stephenson thumped into the lounge, proceeded to the head of a desk placed on a little platform where the piano had stood. The officers rose to their feet as one man and stood rigidly at attention.

"At ease!" barked the Colonel. "Please be seated".

He arrived some notes upon his desk, asked some questions of the adjutant, Major Dawes, before turning to his tensed audience:

"As you are undoubtedly learned by this time, gentlemen, Captain Sydney Tees of the Royal Westmount Regiment was found murdered by person or persons as yet unknown some time about the hour of one o'clock this morning on the port side of the stern end of 'A' Deck. At the time, he was conducting his final round as Orderly Officer of the early night watch, and . . .

"The murderer or murderers . . ." here the Colonel's voice slowed to a deliberate tempo and every word seemed to hand suspended in the air, "is or are naturally still on this troopship and must remain in these limits in accordance until we reach our overseas destination some days hence. It is our purpose to have the matter definitely settled by the time we dock and the guilty person or persons tender arrest.

"I am convening a Court of Investigation which, as you are aware, or should be aware, is a strictly fact-finding tribunal designed to obtain and supply sworn statements and general data of use to a Court Martial that will follow on land. Since such is the purpose of this Court I have called this preliminary assembly to ask for any and all information pertinent to the case that may be within the knowledge of any officer other than those who have been formally summoned as witness.

"I must remind you that we have a mystery on our hands and that any detail brought out now may help the Court when it hears the witnesses. Has anybody any suggestion . . ." he looked around the room at the alert, cleanly shaven faces.

No one spoke. The Colonel drummed his fingers on the desk. A long minute dragged by before he cut the silence:

"Very well, gentlemen, you may leave but before you do so I ask you to ponder carefully and if anything forgotten at the moment should later come to mind, report to me personally. Except for those of you on port duty, I am due to be on parade on the forward section of 'C' Deck at three o'clock this afternoon when the late Captain Tees . . ." the Colonel looked down at his desk and cleared his throat, "will be buried at sea. That is all".

Quickly the lounge cleared except for the Colonel and the adjutant. The latter spoke:

"Captain Murdoch and Lieutenant Silver are waiting outside, sir, together with a pair of secretaries supplied by Maintenance. The witnesses have been summoned and are also waiting in the corridor".

"Very well, Major. Instruct the secretaries to set up tables in a relay team in takine down testimony and please have them bring in Rollins ruhed by them, a naval Lieutenant-Commander attached to the Adjutant and Medical Officer were with the Colonel. All were fully dressed and Rollins noted he pointed a lie behind the hands of the clock on the Colonel's desk at 2.30 a.m.

The Colonel pointed to a chair.

"Please be seated, Rollins, and when you saw your roommate last!"

Rollins sat down automatically.

"I saw Captain Tees at about 11:30, Sir—has anything happened to him?"

Colonel Stephenson wheeled around on the desk, thoughtfully into the Lieutenant's eyes:

"Yes, Mr. Rollins, something has happened to Captain Tees and it is my business. Some time within the last three hours Captain Sydney Tees was savagely bayoneted to death on 'C' deck".

The Court of Investigation got underway in the "B" lounge at nine o'clock the morning of the late Captain's murder.

All the officers aboard "T 9" were present except three assigned to temporary duty ashore to serve as Orderly Officer, but . . ." his voice thickened, "poor Tees took over my watch and I took over his—accidental—he got what I might have got," speaking to the point, his voice tonless until precisely nine o'clock when the big glass doors swung open and Colonel Stephenson thumped into the lounge, proceeded to the head of a desk placed on a little platform where the piano had stood. The officers rose to their feet as one man and stood rigidly at attention.

Come to Church on Easter Sunday

THERE are so few things to hold on to these days — material values, mental conditions change rapidly . . . affected directly and quickly by the strife, turmoil and economical upheavals of recent years. There is one thing left unshaken — the solace and peace to be found in church. Come to church Easter Sunday; find stable spiritual values which, in the last analysis, are enduring in peace or war, or times of sadness. Go to the church of your choice . . . Easter Sunday and every Sunday — you need the comfort and companionship to be found there . . . the churches need your support. Go to church Easter Sunday in the traditional Canadian way . . . to celebrate this great day in accordance with your beliefs. It's a perfect way to begin the day — and you'll enjoy the Easter parade more afterwards. You will find a warm welcome at any of Belleville's many fine churches—and you'll find great benefit in the special Easter Sunday services planned by each. COME TO CHURCH EASTER SUNDAY!

Travelling Bag Gift Of Stirling Friends To Mrs. Charles Sweet

Stirling — Prior to her departure from the village of Stirling, Mrs. Charles Sweet, well known and highly respected Stirling resident was honored by neighbors and friends and presented with a handsome Aero-pack travelling set. The affair took place at the home of Mrs. Hollins on Friday evening last with a large number of friends and neighbors present.

Reeve W. G. West officiated as chairman for the event which was regarded as a most pleasant evening by those present. The entertainment included vocal duets by Mrs. W. H. Walker and Mrs. Roy Eggleton, lively community singing led by Mr. Clayton Timmons, who also offered a pleasing solo. A vocal duet by Arline Timmons and Marylin Eggleton was also very much enjoyed. At the appropriate time the gathering was called to order by the chairman and its purpose of being, at forth. Mr. West then called on Mrs. Harper Hollins who addressed the guest of honor on behalf of the gathering. Speaking in high praises of Mrs. Sweet's qualities as a citizen of the village and as a neighbour, Mrs. Hollins capably expressed the regret felt by all present that her departure from the village became necessary, and further expressed the very best wishes of all present for her future prosperity and success.

At this time Mrs. H. Foster presented the honoured guest with a handsome Aero-pack travelling set. In response to this kindly gesture, Mrs. Sweet stated that her stay in Stirling has been made very happy by the association of such friends and neighbours and for this lovely gift she was extremely grateful. Other speakers included: Mrs. L. Harding, Rev. W. H. V. Walter, Robt. Eggleton and R. H. Duffin. The affair was climaxed with the ladies serving a dainty luncheon.

St. Paul's W. M. S.

The Easter meeting of St. Paul's W. M. S. was held in the church parlours on Tuesday afternoon, April 8th, under the direction of Mrs. Geo. Pollard, president. An impressive devotional period which included the Scripture lesson, prayer and the singing of an Easter hymn was followed by the business portion of the meeting with Miss Mae Currie presenting the Secretary's report of the last meeting and calling the roll. Each department secretary also presented reports of department activity.

Report of Presbyterial Meeting

Mrs. Pidgeon gave the delegates' report of the Presbyterial convention of W. M. S. Society held in King St. United Church, Trenton. At the opening sessions during the first convention day, Mrs. Geo. Pollard and Mrs. H. G. Martin, two of the Stirling delegates, conducted an inspiring memorial service. A report of the convention activities of the second day which took place at Grace St. United Church was capably given by Mrs. R. A. Patterson.

Miss Mae Currie, convener of the program committee, directed the remaining part of the program. After the use of an Easter hymn, Mrs. Pollard gave an Easter reading. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Pidgeon with constructive comments by Mrs. Robt. Christie and Mrs. O. W. Hockey led in prayer. Two splendid readings completed the fine program, the first given by Miss Currie and the second by Mrs. Caldwell. The meeting was brought to a close with a hymn and a short poem offered by Miss Currie.

Miss Helen Morrow of the Bank of Montreal staff left early this week to enjoy her annual vacation.

Friends of Mrs. W. J. Scott (formerly of Stirling) will be sorry to learn that she underwent an operation recently at Lindsay, Ontario. She is progressing favorably.

Twenty Per Cent Of Former Playing Strength of C. A. H. A. Now On Active Service List

W. A. Hewitt, Registrar-Treasurer, Gives Annual Report to Meeting

$61,277.76 IN BANK

Bonuses of $500 to Each Club Reaching Allan and Memorial Cup Finals Given

Calgary, April 12 (CP)—W. A. Hewitt, Registrar-Treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said in his annual report to the Association's annual meeting here today that registrations during the 1940-41 season had declined sharply and estimated that more than 20 per cent of the former playing strength of the C. A. H. A. is now on Active Service with the Canadian Armed Forces.

He listed total registrations at 20,751, the lowest figure in a comparative chart showing registrations for the last six years. The total was 4,201 below that of last year. Mr. Hewitt said that many military teams were included in the registrations this year and that the percentage of enlistments was greater than comparative figures would show.

He reported the C.A.H.A. to have assets of $61,277.76, of which sum $56,277.76 was in a trust fund to "protect the future of the Association." Receipts for the year were $39,736.31, with $25,736.63 of that representing the surplus from Allan and Memorial Cup playdowns.

Grants Given

Grants were reported at $14,363.43, including one of $9,000 to Provincial branches for promotion of minor hockey; $3,880 subsidies to clubs competing in Allan playdowns; and bonuses of $500 to each club reaching the Allan or Memorial Cup finals.

In his report he commended briefly on the controversy between Sydney and Glace Bay in the Cape Breton Senior League, and said that a telegraphic vote of the C. A. H. A. executive committee had decided had Glace Bay won the intercollegiate championship it would have been unable to meet Seattle Bill Fraser in Interprovincial playoffs. Fraser was substituted after Glace Bay's goalie, Jimmy Foster, was declared ineligible for not obtaining a transfer from the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association.

Registrations by provinces: Ontario (O.H.A.s 9,187; Quebec 4,977; Ontario and District 1,472; Manitoba 1,323; Alberta 1,277; Saskatchewan 1,151; Maritimes 697; Thunder Bay 671; British Columbia 566.

CINCINNATI REDS PICKED TO WIN NATIONAL LOOP

DODGERS SECOND

New York, April 12 (AP)—Cincinnati Reds, in the opinion of sports writers in major league cities, are capable of winning their third straight National League pennant this year and taking a place among the leaders of baseball's immortals.

All but 14 of the 83 scribes participating in the annual pre-season poll of the Associated Press predicted the Reds would finish first and 12 of the others could see nothing worse than second for them.

With one stray vote cast for third place, Cincinnati received a total of 649 points on the basis of eight for first, eight for second, six for third, etc.

Twelve of the writers came out for Brooklyn Dodgers to win and the other two stood up for St. Louis Cardinals. But in points Brooklyn received only 31 more than the Red Birds and it was evident that their choices were considered almost on a par.

Except for Cincinnati's world champions, and the last-place Phillies, who were tabbed for the cellar by 80 of the 83 writers, there was a great spread in the balloting with all other clubs getting at least five different positions.

Based on total points, however, the predictions were that the league would line up at the end of the season exactly as it did last year.

The total points received by each club were Cincinnati 649, Brooklyn 580, St. Louis 507, Pittsburgh 390, Chicago 335, New York 268, Boston 209 and Philadelphia 88.

The same writers wound up in a last trying to pick the American League outcome, finishing in a dead heat between Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees.

RESUME SERIES IN SASKATOON

Saskatoon, April 12 (CP)—Winnipeg Rangers and Saskatoon Quakers resume their best-of-seven western junior hockey championship series here tonight with Rangers leading 2-1 on games with every opponent anticipating a seven-game battle.

The first three games were at Winnipeg Rangers took the first and third 4-3 and 2-1, and dropped the second 4-1. The series will be completed here with games today, Wednesday and Friday as necessary.

The teams arrived yesterday and both went through strenuous workouts. Quakers were at full strength

Hopping over to the American scene, Boston Bruins' captain and defenceman who is suffering from a recurrence of the bronchial trouble which kept him out of three of the five games in the western semi-final with Toronto Ail- to play his defence post will be filled by either Bill Sobosla or Laurie Donaldson.

Only defenceman Bill Mortimer is a doubtful Winnipeg starter. He suffered a leg injury in the Win- nipeg Wednesday and if he does not play tonight he will be replaced by Bill Heidt.

The officials will be Albert Pudas and Jackie Sullivan, Port Arthur men who handled the first three games.

Defeat Wreckers in Seventh Game 3-1 With Burrows and Lane Scoring

Owen Sound, Ont., April 12 (CP). —Kingston Combines are O.H.A. senior "B" champions of 1941. They defeated the Owen Sound Wreckers in the seventh and deciding game here last night by a score of 3-1. Inability to count when close in on the nets cost the Owen Sound contending of Burrows for the Combines spelled defeat for the Wreckers who had made the best of the territorial play. Burrows was the outstanding player on the ice scoring of his stops being sensational. Lane also starred for the Combines, even though he took a terrific lot of punishment.

Kingston scored twice in the second period. Pete Burrows beat the Yankees and the rejuvenated Indians shaked off the Tigers by next September. If the Yankees can't repeat as champions then the Yankees will fly high again. Their new management combination of Priddy and Rizzuto is a hot one. Both are fine in the majors and if they fall it will be a major upset to baseball. Joe McCarthy has developed what the 1940 superior complex; and plus the fact they didn't feel too great chest of the league title last year. The Highlanders seem to be slight favorites. Something like 54 percent of the baseball experts select the Cleveland Indians to win the Junior honors but how they can expect Bob Feller to carry much load is the problem. However, the Cleveland "kangaroos" have been spelled and all of Frankingash's charges are pulling on the same end of the rope, which will make them a strong contender with the Yankees.

We'll doubtless jinx some club by calling the major leagues to wind- up in September as follows:

National League.

1. Cincinnati Reds.
2. Brooklyn Dodgers.
3. St. Louis Cardinals.
4. Chicago Cubs.
5. Pittsburgh Pirates.
6. New York Giants.
7. Boston Yees.

In all probability the annual Bay of Quinte O.S.S.A.A. amateur track- athletic track and field meet will be discussed for the last time. Numerous interscholastic students have signified their interest and willingness to shield Canada's war effort by accepting farm and war work during the extended summer vacation. As arrangements to beWaaaed the present interscholastic semester before the end of April have already been completed and with students daily concluding their final examinations and accepting farm and war work, the heads of the district O.S.S.A.A. group feel there is little use in continuing the district annual interscholastic track and field meet. No doubt every high school and collegiate in the district will be effected by the local scholastic war measures and the creation of the responsible track and field crew will doubtless be in charge of the physical instructors. Incidentally shipping on the Great Lakes boats will be observed this year by the responsible departments of nautical teachings.

Do you remember when "Fireman Jim" Flynn, early man to knock out former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey, died at his Los Angeles home six years ago today. With 18 years' experience behind him Flynn met Dempsey in 1917 at Salt Lake City and won by a knockout in the first round. Fireman, boxer and, in later years, bartender, Flynn was 55 years old at his death.

Congratulations are in order for the Bellefonte "Combines," 1940-41 senior "B" champions of the Ontario Hockey Association. Wally Elmer's Limestone City sextette won 3-1 over the Owen Sound "Wreckers" in the Georgian Bay town last night to take the seventh and final game. Playing inconsistent hockey all winter, the Combines added to their problems by losing in with some of their poorest efforts in the finals, but returned to form last night, led by Buck Burrows, their star forward who scored two goals and one Kingston junior, won the Junior "A" championship, defeating Owen Sound. Congratulations are in order for Wally Elmer, Jim Sutherland and all the rest.

SPORT SPICE—The Corby A. - C brandiers sport the major league bowling picture in the Recreation Alleys of the holiday — Corbys took four points from the Belleville Golf outfit, annexed the pull up even and share the losing leading last half's honors.

Then along came the Belleville- Bargers to take four points from Dave Tobe's, Deacon Sportswear to drop them into second place behind Corbys and Golfers. Mead-Johnson gathered in four points to keep in the league race..."s anybody's race" going down the stretch. Bill Cook's Cleveland Indians are leading the major league title for the second time in three years by eliminating Ossie Schectman's Celtics, 43-31. The Boston Bruins are aiming to be the first team to win the Stanley Cup in four straight games. It's been done by the Red Wings, haven't beat the Bruins since April 8, 1940, over a full year ago. Drag out them glad rags.

JUNIOR ROYALS CAN WIN TITLE IN TONIGHT'S GAME

Unable to Play Fifth Game in Toronto if Oshawa Generals Win

FOUR WRITE EXAMS

Toronto, April 12 (CP)—Coach Lorne White of the Montreal Junior Royals said today that if the Eastern Junior hockey final between Royals and Oshawa should go to five games it would be "utterly impossible" for Royals to ice a team for the fifth game if it is played in Toronto.

Under present arrangements, the fifth game, if necessary, will be played here next Wednesday. Royals could end the series tonight with a victory over Generals in the fourth game here. The Montreal club won the first and third games of the series by 7-4 scores, with Oshawa taking the second contest 10-2.

While said that should the fifth game be played here four of his best players would be unable to play as they have to take University examinations next Wednesday afternoon in time for the game. They are Jack Ritchie, Defenceman Brice Ward, and Forwards Buddy Mortimer and Bob Morrison.

"We think the Royals have been more than fair in playing four games in Toronto," said White. "If the fifth game is necessary it would only have to play it in Montreal or we won't be able to ice a team."

George Dudley, President of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said at Midland, Ont., a few days ago that if the series should go the five-game limit it "just possibly may be switched from Toronto to Montreal." He said the move may be taken up at the Association's annual meeting, which will start today in Calgary.?

CHANGE OFFICIALS FOR FOURTH GAME

Calgary, April 12 (CP)—A change in officials for the fourth game of the best-of-seven western senior hockey final between Regina Rangers and Lethbridge Maple Leaf Sox, announced here by Frank Sargent of Fort Lethbridge, Alberta Amateur Hockey Association Vice-President. Regina leads the series two games to one.

Referee Lyndo of Winnipeg will be referee in charge of tonight's game here, replacing Bertram of Winnipeg. Dick Davis of Winnipeg, who handled the previous three games, will be the other official.

The teams arrived yesterday and it was announced the only change in the Regina lineup will be the absence of Sandy Sandelack, 19-year-old Regina defenceman who injured his shoulder at Moose Jaw Wednesday, when Regina won 4-3 and will be out for the remainder of the series, it said.

Coach Freddy Metcalfe precautes his Saskatchewan champions will end the series tonight. "We'll go all out to polish them off," he said confidently.

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

— Ken J. Colling

Monday sees the opening of another Major League baseball season when the New York Yankees play off the lid in a solo game fixture at Washington. Annually the baseball season opens with a single game at Washington when the President of the United States officially opens the season by tossing out the first ball. The next day all 16 clubs in the two Major Leagues swing into action and the big race for the ultimate goal—a place in the world series is on. What clubs will win the American and National Leagues? Well let's delve into a little analyzing of the relative strength of the clubs prior to the opening. Last year Detroit and Cincinnati won their respective leagues and the Reds are top-favorites to repeat for a third term, having such superb pitchers as Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters available, while Johnnie (Two-no-hitter) Vander Meer has shown return to form during the spring training period and may produce. As long as the Reds can continue to hit, they should be tough to beat. However, the Dodgers will find tough opposition from Brooklyn and St. Louis this year.

Hopping over to the American League it is hard to give the league champions Detroit Tigers even a tumble. They may not find the two-three punch of both the Yankees and the rejuvenated Indians should the Tigers be by next September. If the Yankees can get away to a good start then the Yankees will fly high again. Their new management combination of Priddy and Rizzuto is a hot one. Both are fine in the majors and if they fall it will be a major upset to baseball. Joe McCarthy has developed what the 1940 superior complex; and plus the fact they didn't feel too great chest of the league title last year. The Highlanders seem to be slight favorites. Twenty Per Cent Of Former Playing Strength of C. A. H. A. Now On Active Service List

Bonuses of $500 to Each Club Reaching Allan and Memorial Cup Finals Given

Calgary, April 12 (CP)—W. A. Hewitt, Registrar-Treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said in his annual report to the Association's annual meeting here today that registrations during the 1940-41 season had declined sharply and estimated that more than 20 per cent of the former playing strength of the C. A. H. A. is now on Active Service with the Canadian Armed Forces.

He listed total registrations at 20,751, the lowest figure in a comparative chart showing registrations for the last six years. The total was 4,201 below that of last year. Mr. Hewitt said that many military teams were included in the registrations this year and that the percentage of enlistments was greater than comparative figures would show.

He reported the C.A.H.A. to have assets of $61,277.76, of which sum $56,277.76 was in a trust fund to "protect the future of the Association." Receipts for the year were $39,736.31, with $25,736.63 of that representing the surplus from Allan and Memorial Cup playdowns.

Grants Given

Grants were reported at $14,363.43, including one of $9,000 to Provincial branches for promotion of minor hockey; $3,880 subsidies to clubs competing in Allan playdowns; and bonuses of $500 to each club reaching the Allan or Memorial Cup finals.

In his report he commended briefly on the controversy between Sydney and Glace Bay in the Cape Breton Senior League, and said that a telegraphic vote of the C. A. H. A. executive committee had decided had Glace Bay won the intercollegiate championship it would have been unable to meet Seattle Bill Fraser in Interprovincial playoffs. Fraser was substituted after Glace Bay's goalie, Jimmy Foster, was declared ineligible for not obtaining a transfer from the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association.

Registrations by provinces: Ontario (O.H.A.s 9,187; Quebec 4,977; Ontario and District 1,472; Manitoba 1,323; Alberta 1,277; Saskatchewan 1,151; Maritimes 697; Thunder Bay 671; British Columbia 566.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZKE

(Associated Press Sport Writer)

New York, April 12—(AP)—Official Lawn Tennis Guide omits pictures of Frankie Kovacs, La Marbie and Buddy Biggs, but of course, Milo Marble is a pro, but how about Biggs and Kovacs? . . . When Charlie Root hit the second batter of the inning the other day, the other Cubs raised bats to form a military arch through which Charlie paraded on his return to the bench. . . . Dodger fans are betting on the 1941 passes. They not only call for a service charge of $1.10 plus the usual 10-cent tax, but are not good on opening days, night games, holidays or Sundays.

That 78 Bobby Jones took in the matches at the other day inspired Jack Troy of the Atlanta constitution, to sing:

A 76 from the hands of him
Who once was 60's dream.
A 79 just to make more sharp
The change in the golfing scene.

Says the Baltimore Evening Sun: "Brooklyn looked and played the part of an aggressive, confident, well-balanced ball club. The Yanks were listless and sloppy." . . . Draft numbers of Willie Turness and Freddie Strafaci, former All-American and Publinx golf champs, expected to go up in June. . . . Only three days until the bell rings and until the Giants and Yanks haven't signed to broadcast their games. . . .

The Yankees now are being offered for sale via the form letter route. . . . An individual named Henry Eyre, who says he reverences the estate of Jacob Ruppert, signs the letters now going out to individuals and groups.

The Yankee entourage has 31 out for California. . . . Catcher Frankie Pytlak says Jimmy Foxx throws with a sidearm motion. . . . Speedy and smacks 'em, too, if you ask us.

. . . Artist Fred Conway has immortalized Pepper Martin with an engraving in the St. Louis Art Museum. . . . St. Louis papers are calling Mike Jacobs the "Little Napoleon."

Too bad Jimmy Braddock has the arthritis, but it is high time some thing put a stop to that comeback campaign.

CINCINNATI REDS PICKED TO WIN NATIONAL LOOP

DODGERS SECOND

New York, April 12 (AP)—Cincinnati Reds, in the opinion of sports writers in major league cities, are capable of winning their third straight National League pennant this year and taking a place among the leaders of baseball's immortals.

All but 14 of the 83 scribes participating in the annual pre-season poll of the Associated Press predicted the Reds would finish first and 12 of the others could see nothing worse than second for them.

With one stray vote cast for third place, Cincinnati received a total of 649 points on the basis of eight for first, eight for second, six for third, etc.

Twelve of the writers came out for Brooklyn Dodgers to win and the other two stood up for St. Louis Cardinals. But in points Brooklyn received only 31 more than the Red Birds and it was evident that their choices were considered almost on a par.

Except for Cincinnati's world champions, and the last-place Phillies, who were tabbed for the cellar by 80 of the 83 writers, there was a great spread in the balloting with all other clubs getting at least five different positions.

Based on total points, however, the predictions were that the league would line up at the end of the season exactly as it did last year.

The total points received by each club were Cincinnati 649, Brooklyn 580, St. Louis 507, Pittsburgh 390, Chicago 335, New York 268, Boston 209 and Philadelphia 88.

The same writers wound up in a last trying to pick the American League outcome, finishing in a dead heat between Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees.

RESUME SERIES IN SASKATOON

Saskatoon, April 12 (CP)—Winnipeg Rangers and Saskatoon Quakers resume their best-of-seven western junior hockey championship series here tonight with Rangers leading 2-1 on games with every opponent anticipating a seven-game battle.

The first three games were at Winnipeg Rangers took the first and third 4-3 and 2-1, and dropped the second 4-1. The series will be completed here with games today, Wednesday and Friday as necessary.

The teams arrived yesterday and both went through strenuous workouts. Quakers were at full strength

Hopping over to the American scene, Boston Bruins' captain and defenceman who is suffering from a recurrence of the bronchial trouble which kept him out of three of the five games in the western semi-final with Toronto Ail- to play his defence post will be filled by either Bill Sobosla or Laurie Donaldson.

Only defenceman Bill Mortimer is a doubtful Winnipeg starter. He suffered a leg injury in the Win- nipeg Wednesday and if he does not play tonight he will be replaced by Bill Heidt.

The officials will be Albert Pudas and Jackie Sullivan, Port Arthur men who handled the first three games.

Owen Sound, Ont., April 12 (CP). —Kingston Combines are O.H.A. senior "B" champions of 1941. They defeated the Owen Sound Wreckers in the seventh and deciding game here last night by a score of 3-1. Inability to count when close in on the nets cost the Owen Sound contending of Burrows for the Combines spelled defeat for the Wreckers who had made the best of the territorial play. Burrows was the outstanding player on the ice scoring of his stops being sensational. Lane also starred for the Combines, even though he took a terrific lot of punishment.

Kingston scored twice in the second period. Pete Burrows beat the Yankees and the rejuvenated Indians shaked off the Tigers by next September. If the Yankees can't repeat as champions then the Yankees will fly high again. Their new management combination of Priddy and Rizzuto is a hot one. Both are fine in the majors and if they fall it will be a major upset to baseball. Joe McCarthy has developed what the 1940 superior complex; and plus the fact they didn't feel too great chest of the league title last year. The Highlanders seem to be slight favorites. Something like 54 percent of the baseball experts select the Cleveland Indians to win the Junior honors but how they can expect Bob Feller to carry much load is the problem. However, the Cleveland "kangaroos" have been spelled and all of Frankingash's charges are pulling on the same end of the rope, which will make them a strong contender with the Yankees.

We'll doubtless jinx some club by calling the major leagues to wind- up in September as follows:

National League.

1. Cincinnati Reds.
2. Brooklyn Dodgers.
3. St. Louis Cardinals.
4. Chicago Cubs.
5. Pittsburgh Pirates.
6. New York Giants.
7. Boston Yees.
8. Philadelphia.

American League.

1. New York Yankees.
2. Cleveland Indians.
3. Detroit Tigers.
4. Boston Red Sox.
5. St. Louis Browns.
6. Chicago White Sox.
7. Washington Senators.
8. Same as National League.

In all probability the annual Bay of Quinte O.S.S.A.A. amateur track- athletic track and field meet will be discussed for the last time. Numerous interscholastic students have signified their interest and willingness to shield Canada's war effort by accepting farm and war work during the extended summer vacation. As arrangements to beWaaaed the present interscholastic semester before the end of April have already been completed and with students daily concluding their final examinations and accepting farm and war work, the heads of the district O.S.S.A.A. group feel there is little use in continuing the district annual interscholastic track and field

CHANGE OFFICIALS FOR FOURTH GAME

Calgary, April 12 (CP)—A change in officials for the fourth game of the best-of-seven western senior hockey final between Regina Rangers and Lethbridge Maple Leaf Sox, announced here by Frank Sargent of Fort Lethbridge, Alberta Amateur Hockey Association Vice-President. Regina leads the series two games to one.

Referee Lyndo of Winnipeg will be referee in charge of tonight's game here, replacing Bertram of Winnipeg. Dick Davis of Winnipeg, who handled the previous three games, will be the other official.

The teams arrived yesterday and it was announced the only change in the Regina lineup will be the absence of Sandy Sandelack, 19-year-old Regina defenceman who injured his shoulder at Moose Jaw Wednesday, when Regina won 4-3 and will be out for the remainder of the series, it said.

Coach Freddy Metcalfe precautes his Saskatchewan champions will end the series tonight. "We'll go all out to polish them off," he said confidently.

The German-Italian mechanized column, now more than 100 miles from their base in Tripoli, were said to include several German armored divisions, strongly supported by air-

British sources gave no indication of the volume of troop movements from East Africa to Libya.

Italians Pursued In Libya

Of East Africa, a British communique last night said that Italian columns were falling backward in Eritrea in pursuit of scattered Italian units. From the beginning of operations which led to the fall of its chief seaport, Massaua, Wednesday, the communique said, the British have taken 41,000 troops, including 1,000 Italian officers, 14,000 Italians of other ranks, and 26,000 colonials.

In Ethiopia, the main British column, having passed through Addis Ababa, the capital, was reported continuing "to press the retreating enemy" in the mountainous hinterland. At Addis Ababa 5,000 prisoners were taken, including 4,000 Italians, an official announcement declared.

Another Imperial force was said to be driving deeper into Southern Ethiopia from Italian Somaliland.

Berlin Claim.

Berlin, April 12 (AP)—The German claimed today that British and North African troops have been pushed back by German-Italian forces from defence positions they had established at Tobruk and Derna.

(A British announcement said only that "our troops are in contact with the enemy west of Tobruk".)

Co-operating German and Italian air units were claimed, to have struck on shipping and advancing axis ground forces, effectively raiding port facilities at Tobruk with "super-success", and to have declared that 250 German planes are operating in the Derna-Tobruk area.

BRITISH AND GREEK

Urged to Stand Firm

He urged them, in a radio address, to stand firm in their "iron endurance" during the struggle and said Britain "will know how to do and would be "treason against the Greek soldiers."

The clash in the Pindus sector, occurring within h few miles of where the Greeks broke through an Italian onslaught five months ago was the heaviest reported in fighting against the German since the fall of Bulgaria, which has apparently followed a weakening of Yugoslav resistance.

(The German and Italian high commands last night announced the withdrawal of Italian troops from Albania and German troops moving westward from Bulgaria towards the ports of Lake Ochrida not far from the Albanian border. This means that Yugoslavia is being cut off from Greece.

London dispatches said Yugoslav Premier General Dusan Simovic broadcast a declaration last night that "our troops are concentrating the main battle lines to check the enemy's advance" and announced that "Germany's early successes cannot frighten us."

Florina, 20 miles south of Bitolj, is the first important town of a road leading to Koritz, Albania, scene of the Greeks' big victory in their war against the Italians.

The British High Command communique on the situation last night said in part:

"German motorized elements coming from the direction of Bitolj came in contact with our forces in the Florina district.

"On the Yugoslav front," it added, "there was restricted activity of patrols and artillery."

The German Air Force, meanwhile, continued its steady pounding of the Port of Piraeus in a four-hour raid during the night. The communique said that about 250 German planes are operating in the Derna-Tobruk area.

CHURCHILL SAYS

"I go about the country, wherever I can escape for a few hours or days from my duty at headquarters and I find everywhere the same unsung attacks, but I also see, side by side with the deadliest strain and the ruins, glad, confident, bright and gallant spirits, resolved with consciousness of being associated with a movement finer, higher, wider than the limits of personal issues.

"I see the spirit of an unconquerable people, I see a spirit bred in freedom, which in the darkest hours has come down to us through the centuries which enable us to meet surely at this moment, this turning point in the history of the world, to stand up and to say to the enemy, some of our race who come after us will have and will keep the right to approach upon their sites.

"That is why we are assembled here, and gathered here in this way, in such a mark of fortitude and gallantry, to make a stand of detachment from material facts worthy of the days when we turned to history or ancient Rome or of modern times."

Praise For Winant.

Of Mr. Winant, the prime minister observed:

"He is a man whose life has been a preparation for a cause which he is now called upon, in a position of great responsibility, to sustain and to sustain.

"I must assure all of the strong feeling of uplift and encouragement, of admiration for his great personality and imperishable character of our fellowship and association with him raises in my heart.

"He is interpreter of the great republic to us and he is our interpreter and, friend sending back his impressions of the work he found to do.

Of Mr. Menzies, the prime minister added:

"He brings with him strong assurances of the democracy of the Australian commonwealth and of their will with us go through this long, fierce, grim struggle to the victorious end.

"It is indeed a marvellous fact that the people of Australia, whom I who are separated from us in Europe, with its passions and quarrels, have been enabled to develop this manhood and scatter their wealth with this wide extent of territory and law, say bond, nor treaty obliging them to come to our assistance in war. Yet the whole force and strength of those communities move with unconstrained, with unquestioning, with an alacrity which is not to be conquered. That is a fact which will provide upon which other empires have been constructed."

Air Force Co-operation.

After receiving his degree, Mr. Winant said: "I think I already think first of the patience and character and courage of the people of this hotel."

Mr. Menzies declared people of Britain are fighting magnificently not only for their own freedom.

It was equally true, he said, that in this war Britain had had practically the whole of the Empire's diversity a spokesman and leader in the United Kingdom peoples than anyone could ever have hoped for. All the qualities of courage, courage, determination and passionate faith of the people whom he led."

Mr. Menzies declared he was "a great human being" Mr. Menzies said: "The bond with the American people is not a bond that rests upon any treaty or any alliance but is in truth the bond of a simple common humanity. This is humanity's war and it will be the most glorious page in the history of human history as one in which the cause of freedom was championed by the common people of many countries and not by the great democracies of the world."

Cairo—Engagement reported in progress between British and axis forces in Libya west of Tobruk; reports say the Greeks said two Nazi bombers, and possibly a third, were shot down.

King George VI, in a message to high embattled nation last night expressed confidence in final victory despite the fury of German attacks and urged the Greeks to turn to God and the Virgin Mary for help.

"In this moment of our supreme national interpretation let us stand with reverence before the God of Greece, before the Protecting Virgin who is our Supreme General, before the columns of our heroes of so many glorious battles, before those who defend the honor and glory of eternal Hellas," he said.

"While the Greek army is writing with blood the most magnificent page in the glorious history of our Fatherland, must express with emotion my profound gratitude for your manly gallant stand, unreconciled spirit, faith in the justice of our sacred cause and optimism in the final successful outcome."

Price Remains Steady at 2.00 Gallon With Season Practically Over

An influx of maple syrup coming from all parts of the Quinte district featured the local produce market this morning with prices, however, remaining steady. The same figure which has been quoted for the past week, namely $2 per gallon, was the figure at which splendid quality retailed quality sold at $0 per quart or at $2 per gallon, with the latter figure prevailing along the warning that the quality of maple syrup was rapidly declining.

Eggs took a slightly firmer note for the Easter trade, on the local market and sold quite steadily at 27c per dozen, approximately one cent higher than the price asked by many vendors last Saturday. Butter remained at the usual figure of two pounds for 75c, while chickens, ducks and fowl were in a brisk price of 26c per pound, with choice lovely lots of fowl being offered.

Fresh radishes and lettuce as well as rhubarb were in brisk demand offered the housewife the opportunity to make a choice of these early vegetables, while rhubarb could be had at 10c per bunch. Other vegetables such as parsnips, turnips, beets and carrots were in the usual demand, selling were 5c for the same quantity. Potatoes were offered at 90c per bag.

Increased demands for fruit for the Easter market, pot whiteflies at a premium and vendors' stocks of oranges sold at 30c per pound. The only other varieties, pilm and mandelin, sold at two pounds for 25c and two pounds for 25c respectively.

On the meat counters, smoked ham retailed at Prices ranging from 25c per pound, while pickled pork ranged from 18c to 25c, according to cut, or at slightly higher figure. If sliced." Pork sausages were 25c per pound and smoked sausages at 30c per pound.

Young porkers were offered in plentiful supply and were in demand on the local market this season with prices, however, remaining fairly steady for lots being counted. Prices were, however, compared with last week's quotations were ranging from $2.50 to $5 each, according to age and quality.

HUGE COAL RESERVE

Edmonton, April 12 (CP)—Dr. R. H. Boomer of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, Geologist and Engineer, has had discovered that an average of 1,000,000 gallons can be extracted from a ton of Alberta coal. Dr. Boomer has estimated the province's coal may contain about 180,844,110,000,000 gallons of synthetic oil. Boomer has estimated Alberta's coal reserve at 1,072,627,400,000 tons.

rolling mills, coke ovens and blast furnaces.

Completion of Rouge plant operations means a Ford assembly line set-up of 'mammoth rolling mills, bugles," small trucks for the Ford fleet and other motor transportations, in a huge factory within the plant, for output of airplane engines, Knudsen said. The new Ford Company holds defence orders totalling $150,000,000.

Branch Plants To Open.

Knudsen said he notified branch plants to plan for early reopening. Including employees of these units and of independent firms producing parts and materials to the Ford program, an estimated 300,000 workers were made idle by the strike. Over 118,000 Ford employees received the wage loss was placed at $400,000 daily.

The end of the first major strike in the Ford Company's 36-year history came more than a month out of day and night conferences in which Gov. Van Wagoner and James P. Dewey, U.S. Department of Labor Conciliator, played active roles.

Dewey said Ford officials would assured at 4:30 a.m. E.D.T. Friday that the National Labor Relations Board agreed to postpone a hearing it had ordered on charges in the complaint by the U.A.W.-C.I.O. against the company. This postponement was conditioned on the company's acceptance of Van Wagoner's peace formula, which broke a deadlock in negotiations.

Announced On Friday.

Official announcement of the agreement came yesterday afternoon.

The settlement calls for rehiring of striking employees without discrimination including five of eight union committeemen whose discharge was the immediate cause of the strike; for a collective bargaining election procedure used before the strike, and for operation of both union and non-union plants pending an employee election which the N.L.R.B. recently ordered held within 45 days.

WHY SOW WEEDS?

Belleville Seed Company Seed Cleaning Plant is equipped with Modern Scouring, Seed Cleaning, Grading and Seed Separating Machines installed for the purpose of improving the quality of your seed.

Clean, well-graded seed will result in cleaner farms, greater yields, higher grades, better prices and more profits. There are many factors in crop production—weather conditions over which we have no control; soil conditions over which we have some control, and the quality of the seed that is sown over which we have almost complete control.

When one considers this fact, the folly of sowing poor seed is apparent. Let us help you grow profitable crops. We guarantee cleanliness and thorough work. One trial will convince you.

Clean and grade your seed and watch results. You are invited to visit our plant. Prices moderate.

WE STILL HAVE A SMALL ACREAGE OF SEED PEAS AND BEANS TO CONTRACT FOR THE GROWING SEASON OF 1941

SIX FATALITIES

At New Toronto's DuBois Barger, 50, was killed in the Canadian National Railways yards when struck by a freight train. He lived with a view for a train to pass.

At George McCoy died in Garth from what doctors believed to be food poisoning. Her husband was reported in critical condition with the same symptoms.

Margaret Valaks, 18, died in Brantford from injuries received when she was struck by an automobile while riding her bicycle. Police said Mary Trevor of Toronto was driver of the automobile.

George Gordon and Robaid Secord drowned in Junction Creek in Welland when while playing with two younger brothers. Mrs. Fred Braidford the body of six-year-old Kenneth Braidford was recovered from the Brantford canal. He had been missing from his home since last Saturday night.

Alfred Bennett, 45, of Bonnieville, Ont., died in St. Catharines Hospital a few hours after he fell from the third storey of construction on an industrial plant.

LT.-GEN. WILSON

Only a few months ago Prime Minister Churchill paid high tribute to the men of our finest tacticians."

Gen. Wilson was first appointed Commander-in-Chief of British forces in Palestine and Transjordan and Governor of that Libyan province following the British victory there which was recently recaptured by the Italians in their drive through Cyrenaica.

Gen. Wilson became General Officer Commanding in Chief of the British Troops in Egypt in July and was responsible, the Information Ministry said, for the defence of the western desert frontier during the fighting which led after the collapse of France and Italy's entry on to the war.

In 1925 he commanded Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, now Commander-in-Chief in the Near East, as second-in-command of the Sixth Infantry Brigade at Quetta and was responsible, the Information Ministry said, for the training of the Sherwood Rangers battalion and three rifle battalions—the first completely mechanized unit in the British Army.

Gen. Wilson is known among his fellow officers as a man of exceptional initiative. He won the Queen's Medal with two clasps and the King's Medal with one clasp in the South African campaign, while in the first Great War, during which he served as a regimental staff officer, he was mentioned three times in dispatches and awarded the Distinguished Service

A Scottish Airman: His Declaration of Faith

EDITOR'S NOTE: — Outstanding among war letters is this one, from a young Glasgow airman to his parents in that city. It was written last St. Andrew's Day, from the Sudan, and its fire, its fortitude, its tenderness, its declaration of faith, will make for it a place in the literature of the war.

My Dear Mother and Father:

Perhaps you will be feeling that I have been neglecting your newsrights of late, but, believe me, I have neglected all this charming impartiality. I have been busy.

I have only three other operational pilots in my flight just now, which has meant one night on the flare-path, one night in bed, and the third night over Eritrea—now you'll understand why it is difficult to find either the time or the urge to write.

Your son is now an "old hand" at his job, equally at taking on any of the jobs which come our way—and has consequently had the task of showing the newcomers the "how" and "why" and telling them the "always" and "never" do's he learned at the hard hands of the Desert Pilot Training Scott, of the Border Down Agordat Way.

This morning I led my own bombing raid for the first time and that until yesterday I received the back-dated and diary rank of Flying Officer and this morning my flight Commander went off with Flight Lieutenant Harris leave and a well-earned forthnight's P.D.O., an even better earned than I did.

Well, I was up at 4 a.m. and out on the 'drome again, checking up with my crew and my formation mates. We had a very comfortable trip down to the Opposition's country, and I received the next flight on the way, and it was pitilessly cold.

We had had an idea that since we started operating by night the Italians thought we were afraid to come by day, as we had not been having it all our own way, but today just at their breakfast hour we showed them for the first time in eight weeks that we are still able to see in daylight as well as the darkness.

In a certain Army camp down there there were unaware of the two pair of eyes high above them in the clouds, and too late to do anything but run into the open, when, with a last-minute "Andrew for Scotland," I put my hand up, and we wiggled out of the cloudy sky like the Wind of Vengeance, and swept down a hundred feet or so, and with guns in a cone the camp and with some in a blast of engines and bullets, and of seventeen bombs in a wide lane of shattering explosions leaving in its wake in a flaming, smoking avenue of disaster.

By God, it was exciting, grand, fast, high living — and damn the fears; and when our formation of three pairs of wings had swept and gently like a mile in a straight line there were grins a mile wide on every face, and shouts and waves from the five who couldn't speak to each other; we thought then God we'd got away with it.

We hadn't, for about 10 minutes later seven Flat Fighters came after us, and we got down to about 50 feet and the Wadis and the valleys of the steep high mountains thundered with engines and gunfire.

One Flat went under us from behind, a brave man, too. He came up slowly in front, started to fire my front gun at him. So did Bush and Sweeney, and he very suddenly flew straight into a clump of palm trees. In the next half-hour our gunners fired two more of them, and when we got home after five and a half hours, we were still in close formation—and not one of us hurt a hair.

Whether or not we have to take our punishment we never let up never.

Night after night, day after day without cease, the enemy are pounded and pounded and hammered away.

There is no peace for them throughout the 24 hours. The R.A.F. which they had the foolishness to believe was too small and inefficient and weak, is always with them. They will be tomorrow and tomorrow again until they finally yield to us.

We have our Brennens and Hamburgs and Berlins there, and they get the same accurate and painstaking attention as the original Kiels at home; and, taken all for all, I think we are doing every bit as difficult a job as the fellows we are so proud of at home.

When I went through that long, painful, and detailed print at Flt. and Mandatory hours of interest and anxiety, enjoyment and concentration, for all purposes — I never realized how terribly efficient that training was that I dreamed how very deadly that damned bombsight could be when you learned it properly.

I do now, and even the enemy can't call it luck if he flies in it.

I am very far from under-estimating our enemy here. The brighter papers at home treat them with contempt. We have a holy respect for the good ones, and the others we consider useless. For there are good ones — and brave ones — and they all be here long. We are not, and those who have gone west to the guns of brave men like that one who looked while his comrades attacked from above and behind, had the courage and foresight to see that if he could get in front he'd have us. He couldn't go round for our gunnies. He couldn't go over without being seen — and shot at, and so he tried the other way, and was unfortunate in that while he was trying to slip us cleverly in some little height (for if he mounted we should certainly have spotted him) he was seen.

He was seen because he did not imagine the pilots would be doing anything else but looking back at the other fighters—he guessed wrong; the pilots were doing their jobs—flying, flying tight formation and watching where they were going, and leaving the gunners to their job.

They are very unfortunate in other ways—they have the devil's own luck with their bombing, but my flight has done 11 raids for every one done by the Italian Air Force against Sudan, and we're not the only flight in the squadron, or the only squadron in the Sudan.

What, you may ask yourselves, is the driving force behind them? What is the driving force behind each squadron in this wilderness of Mohammin and dust and heat and sand, where each does the work of four?

And here is your answer—You.

Believe me, I speak in all sincerity when I tell you that it is the fighting forces all over the East, be it Egypt, Aden, Eritrea or Sudan, be we on a station or in the last place God made, can find no words to fit the immense pride, the unbounded admiration, and the deep sympathy and complete confidence which are in us for you —all of you . . . your calmness and cheerfulness in face of daily and nightly bombing and warnings and alarms.

It is beyond me to hope to express how we feel. I can only say that we give a day's pay every to help in the Air Raid Relief schemes as an expression of our admiration.

And when, knowing what it feels like to be bombed—all of us—we see and hear of your calm courage, we feel that the attitude means wordlessly says: "Don't worry, we shall die by here, thankful that we get on with beating them . . ."

And by the Seven Furies, we have nothing left in us that we would not do, which we don't give them with all the deadly, cold accuracy, or the reckless audacity that there could be called for every time the situation arises or the chance comes our way.

You are the driving force, all of you, and that your example is believe us, no one of us will ever be found wanting. I'm proud to know it.

I can honestly tell you that your own immeasurable kindness and thought for us, your letters for which I can never on earth hope to repay you, have been helpful to the full in this if in nothing else —that should I be unlucky enough to die tomorrow, I'd leave a good job blocked well done, and a friend and many very, very competent officers to carry it on to the end, and I will . . and that is your own contribution to our success.

I'm sure you'll agree that we owe it to Dad, I certainly do. Now it's only half-past nine at "The Retreat", but it's quarter to twelve here, and I've had a busy day . . . and tomorrow is all to come. So I'll close the book quickly and say good-night. God bless you and every one. God bless you.

Remember, keep smiling always. My prayers are for you.

YOUR SON.

—Glasgow Citizen.

Masonic Funeral Held For PO Broad One Of Largest Ever Held In Bancroft

Bancroft, April 13 (Special)—One of the largest Masonic funerals to have been conducted in Bancroft for a number of years took place Wednesday afternoon when the remains of the late Pilot Officer Leslie Allen Broad of the R.C.A.F., of Trenton, killed in an air crash near Wolfe Monday afternoon, was conveyed from the Martin Funeral Home of Bancroft to the Community Hall in Bancroft. The pupils of Bancroft public and continuation school formed a guard of honor for the funeral cortege, which arrived in town shortly after noon escorted by several cars of close friends and relatives.

Members of Bancroft Lodge, A. F. & A. M., No. 462 of which Mr. Broad was a member, also attended as past masters and the pall bearers met the procession, the hearse conveying the remains into the hall. Following a short Masonic service two Masonic guards of honour were stationed at intervals until the main service commenced at three o'clock p.m.

Over sixty members of the local lodge marched from their hall to the Community Hall, forming in a body after entering. Several members of the Air Force from the R. C. A. F. were in attendance, also a detachment of "A" Company, Bancroft, and Battalion of St. de P. E. Regiment Barrie (Militia). These together with a capacity audience stood while the sorrowing relatives entered the hall.

The exceptionally large display of floral tributes exemplified the esteem in which the late Leslie A. Broad was held in this community.

The service was conducted by Mr. N. R. Flower of Bancroft United Church assisted by Dr. J. Semple of Bridge Street United Church, of Belleville, Flight Lieut. E. C. McCullagh of Trenton Airport, Rev. W. J. Davis of Cannilton United Church and the Rev. G. A. Gordier of St. John's Anglican Church, Bancroft. The choir of St. Paul's United Church were in attendance assisted by Miss Jessie Collins, organist and Miss M. Marcom, soloist, who sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Following the close of the service the procession led by the lodge and local militia proceeded to Mount Pleasant Cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Mr. N. R. Flower, immediately following the Worshipful Master took charge of the Masonic portion of the burial service assisted by the officers, brethren of the lodge and visiting brethren.

The Masonic pall-bearers were Bro. E. Mamuel, Bro. Robert Keller, Bro. Colin Richter, Bro. Walter Mullett, Wor. Bro. Reginald Wiggins and Wor. Bro. John Wiggins.

The late Leslie A. Broad is survived by his parents and his twenty-old son Eugene, three brothers, Pilot Officer of Bancroft, George of Roquo, Quebec and Alex of Belleville.

Many friends of the late Pilot Officer Leslie Allen Broad, from out-of-town, were in attendance for the funeral service which was held in Bancroft Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. McLean and Mr. G. Cragger of the Imperial Oil were in Bancroft on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Hatherwick of Rockwood are visiting with their son Reginald in Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wiggins of Belleville are in town this week, the former is supplying relief for the local Imperial Oil agent for a couple of days.

Mr. D. Ogden of Eldorado was in Bancroft on Wednesday.

Mr. Frank Hubbel and daughter Janet, who were visiting with the former's parents at Faraday Lake returned to his home in Huntsville Thursday.

Mr. Percy Kingyens has taken over the business at Harmon formerly operated by Mr. Archie Harvey.

Mr. Roy Kingyens has bought the butcher and grocery business formerly carried on by Mr. F. Shannick of this village for a number of years, commencing business under the new ownership on Monday.

AT THE CAPITOL

"I See Ice"

Esquire Films release of Basil Dean Production, directed by Adrian Brunel Kimmins, with the following cast:

George Bright .... George Formby
Judy Gaye ..... Kay Walsh
Mrs. Hunter .... Betty Stockfeld
Paul Martine .... Cyril Richard
Callaway .... Garry Marsh
Night Club Singer .. Gavin Gordon
Col. Hunter .... Archibald Batty
Harvey's a triple feature entertainment in "I See Ice" starting Sunday midnight after 12:05 a.m. at the Capitol which brings you not only George Formby in a new series of songs and antics, but also a skating-carnival and a big league hockey game, and all for the price of one-admission. In addition you have the irrepressible Mr. Formby cavorting through both carnival and hockey match, which may not add to the artistry of either exhibition but which certainly adds to the general hilarity of the situation.

Yarn opens with George as a photographer's assistant who has invented a camera concealed in a bow tie. With this trick camera he gets amazing candid camera shots of people which the newspapers gobble up. He also gets involved with the railway police and an ice-skating set. To save him from the police the act disguises him as their property man and finally as a form part of a barricade over which the skater jumps. George gets so close to the ice that his head freezes to the surface, as a consequence George completely wrecks the star act of the show. The carnival, by the way, is a very impressive one, presented on a plaza with scenery and lighting effects.

Next, George is a druggist's assistant giving vast doses of castor oil to customers, then a jailbird, and finally an unwitting referee in a hockey match where he gets trick shots of the match for a newspaper that had been barred from the arena.

It's quite impossible to make any synopsis telling of what goes on but there's an endless string of gags (including two very old chestnuts) plus the usual interruptions while George sings ditties. The songs this type are "Naughts and Crosses," "In My Little Hideaway Room," "Mother, What'll I Do Now," the last being the best of the three.

The production is elaborate, with a number of specialties, and the whole thing should stack up as hilarious first-class entertainment.

To complete this hilarious concoction is the British A to the person of Ralph'n Greyson, who makes her screen debut in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," now on the Belle Theatre screen.

Petite Miss Grayson, seventeen years of age and the possessor of an amazing coloratura voice, was discovered some eighteen months ago when she appeared at a Hollywood wedding. Louis B. Mayer was among the guests and was so impressed with the girl's beautiful talents that he brought her to the studio for a test, she was signed.

Then started a period of training. For eighteen months Kathryn Grayson attended the various studio schools. She was coached in voice, diction and screen presence. In addition to her regular school work, she was familiarized with the technicalities of recording. She studied with a personal voice coach, Himalaska White.

Just prior to the start of the latest of the Hardy Family series, she was judged by her teachers to be ready for her first screen role. That role is the important one of Andy's private secretary in which she is given an opportunity not only to act but to sing three songs, two classical and one popular.

In appearing in a Hardy picture, Miss Grayson joins the starlets who have found these productions a springboard to screen success. Among these are such now important film personalities as Lana Turner, Judy Garland, Diana Lewis and Virginia Grey.

She joins the regular cast including Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney, Fay Holden, Sara Haden and Ann Rutherford, plus Ian Hunter, Gene Reynolds and another newcomer, Todd Karns, son of the popular screen comedian, Roscoe Karns.

AT THE McCARTHY

"POT O' GOLD"

With James Stewart and Paulette Goddard in the top stellar roles clicking out a million dollars worth of fun, laughter and romance, James Roosevelt's first Hollywood production, "Pot o' Gold", featuring the Horace Heidt band and his famous radio music, will be presented Sunday after and Monday at the McCarthy Theatre. George Marshall directed the picture and the cast supporting the stars features Charles Winninger, Mary Gordon and Jed Prouty.

Among the special hit tunes sung and danced to in "Pot O' Gold" are "When Johnny Toots his Horn," "Knife, Fork and Spoon," "Pete the Piper," "Rhondada Caballero" and "Do You Believe in Fairy Tales?"

The musical scoring for the picture was done by Frank Skinner, the man who did the music for "Gone With The Wind" and "Rebecca" of many a Broadway and Hollywood musicomedy, directed the dance numbers.

"Pot O' Gold" is a package of swell Easterline entertainment, featuring a cast of fun and melody for all movie lovers, be certain that it is a "must see" for you.

"The Three Stooges"

"The Three Stooges," Larry, Moe and Curly, America's favorite Middsen, in their latest zaniest comedy "From Nurse to Worse," "Beautiful British Columbia" an exceptional fine all inclusive scenic subject and latest MocCarthy-Fox News events, will precede the premier exhibition of "Pot O' Gold" at the McCarthy, at all performances.

AT THE BELLE

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary"

Hollywood's new system of grooming its young players before presenting them to movie audiences presents its Ralph'n A to the person of Kathryn Grayson, who makes her screen debut in "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," now on the Belle Theatre screen.

Members of Bancroft Lodge, A. F. & A. M., No. 462 of which Mr. Broad was a member, also attended as past masters and the pall bearers met the procession, the hearse conveying the remains into the hall. Following a short Masonic service two Masonic guards of honour were stationed at intervals until the main service commenced at three o'clock p.m.

Over sixty members of the local lodge marched from their hall to the Community Hall, forming in a body after entering. Several members of the Air Force from the R. C. A. F. were in attendance, also a detachment of "A" Company, Bancroft, and Battalion of St. de P. E. Regiment Barrie (Militia). These together with a capacity audience stood while the sorrowing relatives entered the hall.

The exceptionally large display of floral tributes exemplified the esteem in which the late Leslie A. Broad was held in this community.

The service was conducted by Mr. N. R. Flower of Bancroft United Church assisted by Dr. J. Semple of Bridge Street United Church, of Belleville, Flight Lieut. E. C. McCullagh of Trenton Airport, Rev. W. J. Davis of Cannilton United Church and the Rev. G. A. Gordier of St. John's Anglican Church, Bancroft. The choir of St. Paul's United Church were in attendance assisted by Miss Jessie Collins, organist and Miss M. Marcom, soloist, who sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

Following the close of the service the procession led by the lodge and local militia proceeded to Mount Pleasant Cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Mr. N. R. Flower, immediately following the Worshipful Master took charge of the Masonic portion of the burial service assisted by the officers, brethren of the lodge and visiting brethren.

The Masonic pall-bearers were Bro. E. Mamuel, Bro. Robert Keller, Bro. Colin Richter, Bro. Walter Mullett, Wor. Bro. Reginald Wiggins and Wor. Bro. John Wiggins.

The late Leslie A. Broad is survived by his parents and his twenty-old son Eugene, three brothers, Pilot Officer of Bancroft, George of Roquo, Quebec and Alex of Belleville.

Many friends of the late Pilot Officer Leslie Allen Broad, from out-of-town, were in attendance for the funeral service which was held in Bancroft Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. McLean and Mr. G. Cragger of the Imperial Oil were in Bancroft on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Hatherwick of Rockwood are visiting with their son Reginald in Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wiggins of Belleville are in town this week, the former is supplying relief for the local Imperial Oil agent for a couple of days.

Mr. D. Ogden of Eldorado was in Bancroft on Wednesday.

Mr. Frank Hubbel and daughter Janet, who were visiting with the former's parents at Faraday Lake returned to his home in Huntsville Thursday.

Mr. Percy Kingyens has taken over the business at Harmon formerly operated by Mr. Archie Harvey.

Mr. Roy Kingyens has bought the butcher and grocery business formerly carried on by Mr. F. Shannick of this village for a number of years, commencing business under the new ownership on Monday.

Bitolj Gap Vital Area For British

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

Washington, April 12 (AP)—The Nazi smash through the Bitolj (Monastir) Gap in extreme South-western Yugoslavia—announced in Athens—could be disastrous for the Greek-British Allies.

It appears that allied strategists had counted on holding it as the apex of a defense line forming a long-spread inverted "V".

It seems certain that only relatively light motorized forces composed the first assault wave. Supposed the first assault wave. The Yugoslav resistance, reported to be "stiffening", was still therefore to delay the German advance sent-ously.

A Berlin spokesman hints at a possible explanation of the Yugoslav failure to stand in the south. Croat elements of the Yugoslav army, possibly dissatisfied with the Belgrade anti-Nazi regime, were shifted south before the outbreak of hostilities, he asserted.

Urged is Desert Serbs.

A Croat uprising is reported to have barred independent Croat State out of Yugoslavia, apparently with Berlin sanction. Its head has appealed to "Croat regiment" to take oath of allegiance to the new State, thus deserting their Serb and Slovene comrades in the field and in the face of an advancing enemy.

That may prove an important factor for hitherto trying to explain the situation with which the Greek-British Allies are confronted now. At the moment, however, attention centers on the first contact of British-German forces, a contact said to have been established in or about famous Bitolj Gap in Southwestern Yugoslavia.

If that is where German and British shock troops have met heaviest on, it discloses that the Britons are somewhat further north than had been expected. The terrain is ideal for Greek mountain fighters. It may be that only British gun or mechanized detachments have been brought that far north and so distant from the Aegean supply lines.

Nor is it probable that the full force of the German attack has yet been felt at that point. It takes time to bring up men and equipment to support the first, head-on-ing panzer dash. It is quite clear, however, that the Royal Air Force was on the alert and exerted a surprise that might have been disastrous. It spotted and attacked the Germans en route south from Prilep and notified the Allied defenders of their approach.

It is possible that the Allied Command withdrew all but a relatively small delaying force from the Metaxastic Cap because of threats to imperil supply communications. A large force for a strong stand there.

The indicated Allied plan appeared to be to hold the mass appeared to be keyed to the railroad running south from Larissa, through the Florian and Bitolj. It is perilously close to the Gulf of Salonika at one of the way and wide open to German bombing attack.

Moreover, Nazi-armored feelers are reported already grasping for Salonika and wide open to German bombing attack.

Moreover, Nazi-armored feelers are reported already grasping for Salonika and wide open northwest of Salonika and well beyond the Vardar River, in a two-pronged German attack is visualized in cable advices.

Of the two, the southern thrust, westward from Salonika and the Vardar Valley, seems the most menacing. If it could reach the Larissa-Bitolj railway at any point in the coastal area, it would cut the major supply routes for all British and Greek forces north of the wood mouth. Linked, it would create a general Allied retirement with all its confusion and possibilities of disaster.

SOLDIERS CONVICTED

At Barrie, April 12 (CP).—Pte. Walter Shinton was sentenced to three years in penitentiary today and Pte. Cecil Shantz was sent to Ontario Reformatory for two years by one day after the two Camp Borden, Ont., soldiers were convicted of armed robbery.

They were arrested after Harold Stegkowski, Barrie taxi driver was held up April 2 and forced to drive two soldiers to Toronto.

British Planes Hit Axis Supply Ships And Patrol Vessel

City Docks At Bordeaux Bombed And Hangars Set Afire At Nearby Airdrome

London, April 14—(CP)—British bombers attacked Merignac airdrome and the docks at Bordeaux in German-occupied France last night, the Ministry of Information reported today.

Air activities over Britain during the night were described as "slight" in a communique which said "a small number of bombs were dropped, at sea or two coastal points."

Some damage was caused and casualties were reported in a night attack on a town in the northwest of England.

A German bomber crashed early today on a mountain in Wales, killing one of the crew of five.

The Air Ministry reported that attacks off the Netherlands and German coasts yesterday, British planes destroyed a 4,000-ton supply ship, which was just even "well down by the stern," and attacked another supply ship of 3,000 tons and a naval patrol vessel.

In the attack last night on the Bordeaux area, the city docks were said to have been bombed and hangars set afire at the nearby Merignac airdrome.

FORMER U. F. O. MINISTER DIES

Beniat Bowman, 55, Served in Drury Government as Minister of Lands and Forests

Toronto, April 14 (CP)— Beniat Bowman, 55, at one time Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests and Deputy Prime Minister of the Province, died here Sunday. A resident of Gore Bay, Manitoulin Island, he had been spending the winter in Toronto.

Mr. Bowman was a Cabinet Minister in the administration of Hon. E. C. Drury, United Farmers, which followed the defeat of the Drury government in 1923. In 1926 he was defeated when he ran as Liberal candidate for Algoma East.

He was of United Empire Loyalist stock and was born in Manitoulin County, receiving his education in the public schools of Doon and Rockpier. Surviving are his widow and one son, Marven.

MATSUOKA SIGNS NEUTRALITY PACT WITH THE SOVIET

Pledges Each Nation to Remain Friendly to the Other Made 'Object of Hostilities'

VALID FOR 5 YEARS

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

Moscow, April 14 —(CP)— A Soviet-Japanese neutrality pact was concluded here by the Soviet communist party press as clearing the way for political and economic cooperation—without, however, binding either country to attack.

The pact, signed yesterday by Premier Vyacheslav Molotoff and Japan's Foreign Minister, Yosuke Matsuoka, fitted the general pattern of expressed Soviet policy neutrality in the midst of an expanding war.

It is the first political pact concluded between the two countries since the resumption of diplomatic relations after the Bolshevist revolution of 1917.

Pravda, Communist party organ, said the pact and the accompanying declaration pledging respect for the integrity of Manchukuo and outer Mongolia "clear the way for the regulation of other unsolved questions between the U.S.S.R. and Japan."

The major questions outstanding the Easter Sunday accord, which pledges each nation to remain neutral in the event the other is made "the object of hostilities" are Japan's part of one or several third powers. It was considered the main prize of Japanese Foreign Minister Matsuoka's three-week European tour to Moscow, Berlin and Rome.

Between the two countries are:—

1. A trade agreement which long has been in operation.

Reported Preparing For Swift Army Of Ship Of Need Arise

Washington, April 14 (AP)—The United States Navy was understood today to be preparing for the swift arming of hundreds of American cargo and privately-owned merchant vessels should such action become necessary.

In addition, Congress has provided funds to enable the navy to acquire equipment to protect such vessels against magnetic mines.

President Roosevelt's action last week in opening U.S. ports to the American shipping stirred considerable talk of arming United States merchant vessels carrying supplies to African ports would be armed in view of Hitler's threat to torpedo all ships carrying supplies for Britain.

CONVICTS SHOOT WAY FROM PRISON BUT SOON TAKEN

ONE DIES OF SHOCK

Two Who Escaped Across Hudson River Captured in Bushes Near Stream

Ossining, N.Y., April 14 (AP).— Two long-term convicts who shot their way from the Sing Sing Prison infirmary in a sensational break which cost three lives were captured a few hours later today in the woods on the Hudson River.

The two convicts, still armed with machine guns when they and a confederate, who was later slain, fought their way from the prison in a battle in which a prison guard and an Canning policeman were killed and a fourth convict wounded, both were cornered on the slope of Mount Hope in Pelham Manorsan Park.

Patrolman William Mullen, an ex-member of vaudeville member of the Park's police and one of 200 peace officers trailing them, dashed them from underbrush within a few feet of the shore point from which they had fled after forcing a fisherman to ferry them across the river.

Convicts Appeared Dazed.

The convicts, James Riordan and Charles McGale, both under sentence for robbery, appeared dazed when they emerged from the brush on the slope below them.

"We're all done down," one said. Police disarmed them and took them to Nyack, N.Y., police headquarters for questioning before taking them back across the Hudson to Sing Sing.

Norwegian Warship Raids Norway Coast

London, April 14 (CP)—A Norwegian warship, operating under the agreement with British naval forces, has been in Petsamo harbor today to have raided the northern coast of German-held Norway yesterday.

Norwegian circles here said they had learned no details of the raid.

This possibly was the second landing on Norwegian soil in two days and the third in recent weeks.

Reuters (British news agency) in a Swedish press report from Stockholm last night said a Norwegian landing party raided a small, undisclosed Norwegian port, attacked a fish meal factory and a telegraphic station, the home of a local "Quislingist". The raid was said to have been successful Saturday.

The first landing, March 4, British forces sailed up to the Lofoten Islands, fired oil tanks, sank eleven ships under German command and captured 223 prisoners.

Details of this sortie, described by some London sources as the forerunner of more things to come, the British expedition also brought back 200 young Norwegians who expressed a desire to join the Allied forces to carry on the fight for freedom.

London Press Severely Critical Of Official News Of Libyan Situation

By LOUIS HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, April 14 (CP Cable) — An outspoken London press viewed alarmingly today the African situation and openly criticized official announcements, minimizing the German push across Libya into Egypt.

The Daily Telegraph and Morning Evening News, "It is a well prepared blow for a glittering prize — to overrun Egypt, stand astride Suez, and seize Alexandria, the key to all British power in the Mediterranean and the Near East."

"Closing it over with vague official words of comfort — words which long ago have lost all their par value on the public market—is mere futility.

"Even while they were crouching to strike we were told how best these poor inexperienced Germans in the desert would be in the desert if they ever came to grips with how trying they would find the hot sandy climate. We are not worth of that talk now—and the sooner it stops the better.

"It is time that some of these spreaders of fairy tales were given a long rest. They are the real creators of gloom and despondency."

The Daily Mail said: "South Africa no longer is the mere sideshow it was. We know that the Axis quarters only a fortnight ago. It South African raiders last week but business area remained undamaged.

Nazi Armored Columns Fail In Push Against British-Greek Front

Military Men at Athens Doubt Germans Can Succeed in Offensive Against Mountain Defiles —Nazis Harrassed by Air Attacks

Athens, April 14 (AP)— With British and Greek forces holding back the Germans on the 100-mile front of northern Greece, the Royal Air Force has launched an offensive designed to cripple German's mechanized columns.

An R.A.F. communique today announced "a large number of sorties" against Nazi columns in Greece with direct hits by most of the participating planes.

Athens, April 14 (AP)—German mechanized columns, hampered by mud and snow, have failed in their push against the strengthening British-Greek front from the Albanian border to the Gulf of Salonika, Greek dispatches declared today.

Fresh troops, including additional Greek reservists, were being moved to threatened positions while Allied patrols clashed at several points with armored scouting forces from the Nazi ranks.

The Germans, reports from the front said, still were pre-occupied with mopping up Yugoslav forces fighting in a wide area at their rear, meanwhile bringing up reinforcements for the offensive into Greece.

The Nazis were declared to be continually harassed by air attacks on their communications through Bulgaria.

Military men here generally expressed doubt that the Germans could carry any successful offensive through the mountainous defiles of Northern Greece, where artillery would be unwieldy.

To say the least, the commanders of the Allied forces were reported "confident" that any German break through the defence area would be the smallest thrust of the war.

'LITTLE RAINS' BEGIN TO FALL IN ETHIOPIA

NO FOOD SHORTAGE

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, April 11—(Delayed) — (AP)—South African planes pounded a retreating Italian army northwest of this captured capital as the first of the season's "little rains" drenched Ethiopia today.

British officers forecast certain destruction of scores of the fleeing Italian force as it retired after blowing up a bridge over the Blue Nile near Debra Markos, since it is caught between two fires, for the British forces which occupied this capital and of the native army approaching from the northwest.

We caught them in a rare place of open country and bombed and strafed from the raid. "We let them have every thing—the big bombs and machine guns. Many were on horses. They charged wildly to and fro, but could find no cover. We must have inflicted many casualties."

Italian Desertions

The main Italian forces still were concentrating in the northern area, but it was believed there had been considerable disintegration through desertions.

Quiet prevailed in the capital and the British military had the situation well in hand after disarming the Italians and Ethiopians in the city area.

Most shops were open and doing business in the streets were temporarily closed and only military automobiles were allowed in the streets, where Italian white and native troops temporarily remain on duty.

The natives, for the most part, seemed apathetic to the change in government and frequently greeted British officers with a Fascist salute—apparently the only one they know.

City Packed With Refugees

Many Italian officers and soldiers still were about the city in uniform, but without weapons, and the city was packed with refugees.

There was no apparent shortage of food in any part of the city as the finest of wines and delicacies were displayed in the shops.

The city's airfield was littered with the wrecks of Italian planes. Italian Savoia bombers destroyed by the South African raiders last week but business areas remained un-

VIOLENT DEATHS IN ONTARIO OVER WEEKEND TOTAL 9

Three Die by Own Hand Police Claim Liquor Causes Responsible for the Rest

AIRMEN KILLED

(By The Canadian Press)

Nine violent deaths were reported in Ontario during the week-end, three of which police say were suicide. Other causes of death were burns, an air crash, drowning, accidental shooting and an automobile accident.

The body of Benjamin Elverton, 68, Pilkington Township farmer, was found hanging Sunday from a rafter in a shed near Elora, three miles from his home. Police said he had been in poor health and there would be no inquest.

Louisa Krangle, 56, Elmira, police said strangled herself with a piece of cord while a patient in a Kitchener hospital and Andrew Drummond, body was found hanging from the bars of his cell in the London city jail, just five hours after he had been placed in custody on a charge of drunkenness.

Lac. J. M. Reardon of Southport, Lancashire, Eng., was killed early Sunday when his plane crashed near Kingston while on night manoeuvres. Lieut. J. A. Stone of London, Eng., was injured.

Alloe Bodner, seven, of Humberstone died in Port Erie Saturday night from injuries suffered a few hours earlier when she was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Howard Barnhart of Port Erie.

Norman Ireland, 19, died in Toronto Sunday morning from wounds received Thursday when a rifle he was carrying on his father's farm at Lloydtown discharged accidentally.

At Port Arthur the body of Sgt. J. A. Halliday of Winnipeg was found in a Port Arthur harbor slip-way. He had been missing since last November. Cause of death was undetermined.

The body of three-year-old Glenna Hutchinson was found Sunday near Guelph in the Speed River, into which he fell nine days ago.

Four-year-old Donald Gowell of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gowell of Hamilton, died Saturday from burns received when the room in which he was sleeping at his home caught fire.

German and Italian Forces Skirted Tobruk but Were Hammered by British Bombers

Cairo, Egypt, April 14 (AP)— With Axis and British Forces fighting on Egyptian soil, British military observers predicted today that the army of the Nile might withdraw as far as Mersa Matruh before making its first stand against the Fascist advance last night, and Lieut.-Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell launched the winter counter-attack which swept more than 500 miles across Libya.

$30,000 FIRE LOSS AT HALIFAX, N. S.

Halifax, April 14 (CP)— Fire roared through a three-storey building in downtown Halifax today, causing damages of about $30,000 before it was brought under control in a three-hour fight by firemen.

Interior of the building, which housed the Imperial Sign Firm of W. R. MacInnes and Company and the Nova Scotia Union of Journeymen Association of Painters and Decorators, was completely gutted.

The fire, burning out telegraph wires, disrupted the printer service of the Canadian Press in an adjoining building. Canadian Press reports were relayed by telephone at 2.19 a.m. and then cleared equipment out of their third-floor quarters. A firewall, however, kept the flames from moving into their building.

Ontario Scholars Invest $959,131 in War Certificates

Toronto, April 14 —(CP)— Ontario school children have invested $959,131 in war savings certificates since January, the Ontario Committee, delegates now attending the Ontario Educational Association convention here announced today.

Aim of the committee, it was said, is $2,000,000 for Ontario and Canada. That is 2,000,000 school children would buy certificates to each per year.

The committee is hopeful, however, that this figure will be exceeded. Two weeks ago 7,000 questionnaires were mailed to schools throughout Ontario. Today, 2,106 have been returned and 1,400 subscriptions pledged to nearly $100,000. Earlier collections were started in January by school children.

Civilization Must Destroy Hitler And Nazism, 'And All They Stand For'

Chicago, April 14 (AP)—Civilization can survive only by the destruction of Hitler and nazism "and all that they stand for," Harold L. Ickes said in an address last night.

Speaking before the Jewish National Workers' Alliance of America the United States Secretary of the Interior asserted that "we have the phenomenon of Americans, some of them men of distinguished position and of good will, who, sometimes innocently and sometimes deliberately, have adopted the Nazi viewpoint."

"Their insidious and most pressing aim is the same as that of Hitler—to defeat Britain and Greece and Yugoslavia by hindering American aid to the last.

Ickes mentioned several public figures by name as "Nazi fellow travellers," and ranked Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as "No. 1" Gen. Robert E. Wood, industrial Chairman of the America First committee, as second and Ickes as "apparently a fellow traveller."

'SS Hitler Division' Suffers Heavy Loss By British Infantry

Yugoslav Army Counter-Attacks North Of Nis Although Belgrade Occupied By Axis—Morale Continues High

London, April 14 (CP). — British infantrymen fighting in Northern Greece have routed Germany's "SS Adolf Hitler" mountain division with heavy losses, it was officially announced today, and Yugoslav troops are believed to have captured the strategic Adriatic seaport of Durazzo.

Durazzo lies 35 miles west of Tirana, the Albanian capital.

(The battle between the British and German forces apparently was fought between Florina, Greece, and the Bitol Gap, in southwest Yugoslavia, where Nazi armored divisions stormed into Greece last Friday).

"There is good reason to believe that the Yugoslavs have captured Durazzo," the Ministry of Information declared.

Other Yugoslav troops, rallying from the first violent impact of Hitler's invasion, were reported to be counter-attacking fiercely against the German invaders, reliable reports said today.

Naval Troops.

Military circles said the SS Adolf Hitler Division was composed of picked troops fully motorized.

They played an important part in the operations in Holland, but not as a division," it was said. "At that time they were known as the Adolf Hitler Leibstandarte body-guard). They were stationed at Metz and were at Bucharest, Rumania, in March. Hitler joined part of his Christmas with them.

"To become an SS trooper, there are certain strict rules—including height and racial qualifications of self and wife.

"Their ceremonial dress is a black uniform, but in battle they wear ordinary field grey."

The SS, or Schutzstaffel—was originally constituted as a guard for Hitler.

In a four-point statement the Ministry said:

"1. There is good reason to believe that the Yugoslavs have captured Durazzo.

"2. Their morale continues to be good and they still are counter-attacking fiercely at Nis, although Belgrade has been occupied by the Germans.

"3. The enemy have retaken Kragujevac (40 miles southeast of Belgrade).

"4. The 11th of April an attack by the SS Adolf Hitler division in northern Greece was repulsed with heavy losses. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy."

ITALY DELIVERS NEW NOTE ON SEIZED VESSELS

Note is Third to be Presented Since Ships Were Taken Into Protective Custody

SEIZED FOR SABOTAGE

Washington, April 14 (AP)—Italy delivered a new note to the United States today in connection with the seizure of 29 Italian merchant ships on charges of sabotage.

The note was taken to the State Department by the Italian Ambassador, Prince Colonna.

The contents were not disclosed but an Italian Embassy official said the note was a further explanation of the Italian point of view concerning the seizure of the ships.

The note was the third known to have been presented to the State Department since it first was done ships, along with two German and 39 Dutch vessels, were taken into protective custody two weeks ago.

The United States, rejected the original Italian and German protests.

President Roosevelt has asked Congress for authority to requisition or foreign ships idle in American ports.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

CITY LAWNS RAKED DURING WEEKEND

The general appearance of city lawns took on a decided improvement during the weekend as many business men spent his day off on Good Friday by raking, rake and cleaning the yard of its winter accumulation of refuse. Yesterday's and last evening's showers also aided considerably in brightening lawns and this morning a greenish tinge was apparent as the result of the grass receiving a much needed start.

In several instances however lawns have not yet been raked and City Engineer Charles Mott asked that householders get the refuse raked off their front lawns and piled on the pavement this week if at all possible. Considered effective on the part of the Public Works Department, aided considerably by the rain over the week-end, resulted in a decided improvement in the condition of city streets and department officials are anxious to complete the job this week if possible.

ORDERS WOMAN TO DROP PURSE

Stepping out from behind a clump of bushes on Bridge street on Saturday night, two youthful bandits ordered Mrs. Clive Wilson, 34 Dundy St., to drop her purse to the street. The frightened woman obeyed the command, as the partner staging the hold-up finished what they might have been armed. The bandits obtained the sum of $1.70 after running away with the purse.

Mrs. Wilson was returning home from downtown shortly after eleven o'clock Saturday night when she was accosted by two young men who had been lying in wait behind a clump of bushes and hidden in the darkness.

"Drop that purse and keep moving," one of the youths. Mrs. Wilson complied and continued her journey home where she notified police headquarters.

Police, under Sergeant Arthur Booth, made an investigation and the entire district directly after the hold-up was received, but were unable to locate the two boys.

BRIGADE ENJOYS TEMPORARY RESPITE

Sunday morning's shower resulted in the brigade's first opportunity receiving at least a temporary respite from the epidemic of grass fires which have kept the fire reels on the jump for the past week or two. The last run arising out of this cause took place on Saturday afternoon, with the department having a complete respite over the week-end as not one alarm was sounded.

NEW APRIL RECORD FOR BUILDING PERMITS NOW TOTALS $28,000

Sixteen building permits, involving a total construction value of over $28,000 have been issued in the office of the city engineer since the first of the year, was stated by Charles Mott this morning. As far as can be learned this amount constitutes a building record for the month of April in city.

Charles Mott, 1932, the nearest approach within recent years to the present month for proposed building list, permits involving construction to the value of $28,000 were issued. This included permits for sixteen residences. In April, 1935, permits to the value of $8,000 were issued, no other April during the time appeared in this connection.

City Hall officials forecast that before the present month is completed, the number of permits issued and value of construction presented will far surpass all building records for this city.

No Bonnet For Easter

Two Trenton girls did not parade on Sunday, as a new chapeau was not completed in time for the Easter Day in the confines of the local bastile.

The case came about Saturday afternoon when clerks in Wm. Jones store observed two pretty young girls acting in a rather suspicious manner. Observing more closely one of the clerks saw each young girl slip a new Easter bonnet beneath her coat and walk nonchalantly to the door. The clerk made no outward indication of her observations, but once outside she followed the pair and later relieved them of the hats, returning them to the store.

Later Mr. Wm. informed police of the incident and following a description given, the police spent a hundred two young girls from Trenton. They were questioned at the police station and later released, after being instructed to return to Belleville on Tuesday as their attendance would be required in city police court.

Rabbi S. G. Levi Is Appointed Jewish Chaplain

The Department of National Defence has announced the appointment of Rabbi S. Gerson Levi, of Montreal, as chaplain for the Jewish troops in Canada, with the rank of Major. Chaplain Levi will co-ordinate and supervise chaplaincy services for the Jewish personnel, and will be under the direction of Col. G. A. Wells, principal Protestant chaplain. The new Jewish chaplain was recommended for the post by the Canadian Jewish Congress, said Col. Wells, in announcing the appointment.

This step has been deemed advisable due to the growing number of Jewish men in the armed forces, Religious services for the Jewish men have been provided hitherto throughout the country by the Welfare Efforts Committee of the Canadian Jewish Congress. They will now become the duty of the new Jewish chaplain, who will spend some part-time chaplains in the larger centres of Canada to assist him in his work.

Campaign Officials Intimate That Drive Has Gone 'Over the Top'

While no official figures were obtainable today due to the fact that campaign officials were busy checking up their respective districts, it was strongly intimated that Belleville and Hastings County has gone well over the top in the War Services Organizations drive for funds.

Secretary Jos Shorts announced that an official statement would be forthcoming tonight from Judge Charles A. Cameron, General chairman for the campaign.

Weekend contributions from the city and district caused officials to be wrestled in smiles today and although campaign heads would not make any statement they made strong inferences that this city has once again "done itself proud" in contributing to the Dominion's war effort.

Canvassers practically completed their work over the weekend, and although a few outlying districts are yet to be heard from, it was felt in official quarters that practically everything would be finished today.

Outside contributions, the bulk of them unsolicited, were far better than was at first anticipated, and the amounts already received have boosted considerably the campaign's handsome figure.

Trenton, it was reported on flatfoot, still lacked a few hundred dollars in order to reach its objective of $6,000, but officials in the town felt highly optimistic that the objective would be reached. Trenton is itself with Belleville and the county in going "over the top."

Revised Egg Grading Regulations Clarified

Incorrect reports concerning the scope of the latest egg grading order and the regulations are, says the Agriculture Department, causing a certain amount of unnecessary confusion in some districts.

One of the misleading reports which has been given wide circulation is that producers selling eggs to consumers or to retail stores throughout Canada are to grade the egg grading station to be graded. This is incorrect. The order applies to the full provision for a producer to continue to grade in his own egg room for sale as in the past.

The department asks that country merchants at points where no egg grading station is located, when making any change in their method of handling eggs until they have full and correct information about the requirements of the regulations, which may be had from the department or from one of its officers. Members of the Canadian Egg Council are endeavoring to visit all egg handlers, producers and merchants, as quickly as possible for the purpose of explaining the regulations.

POLICE BLOTTER

Some person enjoyed Easter eggs over the weekend and in this particular case it wasn't the person who purchased them.

Whole crates of eggs were unloaded Saturday night that a quantity of groceries and four dozen eggs had been stolen from his parked automobile along the proposed city esplanade on the east side of the Moira River. Mr. Johnson had completed his week end purchase at family groceries and placed them in his car, while making another delivery of cigarettes. It was upon his return that the groceries and eggs were found to be missing.

Cigarettes Stolen

Fred Chapman, in charge of freight police at the Canadian National Railways here, reported the theft of four cartons of cigarettes, valued at $20, from a freight shed off Lingham Street over the week-end.

Later today police questioned three teen-aged boys regarding the cigarettes, after it had been learned that a quantity of cigarettes had been found in a chimp of bushes at the extreme north end of Charles Street. The boys contended they found several packets of cigarettes scattered beneath a large stove. They denied knowledge of the theft of the cigarettes, however.

Car Is Stolen

Peterborough police reported the theft of a 1941 Mercury sedan, radio equipped and bearing Ontario license plate numbers 6-27.

With the exception of a quarrette of fights and drunk charges on Saturday night, activities were moderate in and about local police circles over the weekend.

No Serious Accidents Reported Over Holiday

With the heaviest traffic of the year in progress during the Easter parade, not a single major motor accident was reported in Belleville or environs over the holiday week-end. Continuing from Good Friday until early Monday morning a busy stream of traffic poured in and was seen passing through Belleville, as holiday-makers and motorists seeking to view the Easter parade of Every took to the highways to enjoy the ideal weather conditions, when perfection for the motorist seems the missing purchase.

"Incessantly from early Good Friday until late last night the highways were the scene of heavy motor traffic, which proceeded with cautiousness," remarked Motorcycle Patrolmen J. H. Hatch and G. M. Sigle when reporting on the traffic conditions.

Highways proceeding in every direction in and out of Belleville were literally covered with motor vehicles of every style and variation as the driving public took full advantage of the ideal weather conditions that ushered in the Easter season. Remarkable feature, however, was the absence of serious motor accidents, a circumstance apparently gratifying relaxation and enjoyment of the spring season, given the public every chance to thrills on the open highways.

BAY OF QUINTE FREE OF ICE

Only Small Field Left Between End of Park and Schuster's Dock

The Bay of Quinte freed itself of its winter ice shackles over the week-end and today only huge fragmentary particles of ice-fields which, for the past five months have covered the bay are in evidence. Last night a strong northerly and rotting ice was jammed west of the Bay bridge for a distance of approximately a half mile extending to the west and down the bay toward Deseronto, but as far as can be appeared as far as the eye could see.

With the exception of a small field of ice between the Belleville lying between the end of Victoria Park and Schuster's dock, South reminder of winter has disappeared at the local waterfront. Only a few cakes of ice clinging to the shore at various points along the bay are now left to mark the passing of the strong sun of the past few days.

The boating season was officially opened in the local harbor on Sunday when several youths were noticed rowing around the Government Dock.

Obituary

LATE PERRY H. GILL

The funeral of Perry H. Gill of Kingston took place from the Manitou Funeral Home, Church Street, on Sunday, April 13th to St. Michael's Church where the Liberan was read by Rev. Father J. J. Collins. The committal service at St. James Cemetery was in charge of Father Collins.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Arden Gill, J. Y. C. Truesch, Maurice Gill, Ralph Gill, Wilfrid Gill, W. Richard and Charles Bawden.

MARGARET ELLEN DOUGLAS (Huntingdon Township)

Mrs. Margaret Ellen Douglas, widow of the late Robert McGee, 7th concession of Huntingdon Township, passed away at the family residence on Saturday, April 12th. She had been failing health since last September.

The late Mrs. Douglas was a life long resident of Huntingdon Township, having been born there 73 years ago. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Emerson. In religious faith she was an adherent of the United Church and her passing will be a source of sorrow to a wide circle of friends. Her husband died over a year ago.

Surviving are one son, Robert, and six three daughters, Mrs. William Bird, Belleville, Mrs. Ernest Windsor, Belleville, Mrs. R. A. Sinclair, Sarnia; Mrs. Lorne Ross, Toronto and Nancy Douglas, both at home, 9 sisters, Mrs. Lorne Ross, Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. Rosalin; Mrs. Robert McGhee, Madoc, and one brother, Mr. Jim Emerson, Toronto also survive.

Funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

ARCHIE McGHEE (Sidney)

Stirling, April 14—Residents of Stirling district were shocked to learn of the sudden death Monday morning of a well-known citizen of the village, who suffered a heart attack while at work in the garden late Thursday afternoon. In apparently good health, Archie Hardy leaves on the lawn near his home when death came to him. A life long resident of th district, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McGee, pioneers of the county's early settlement period and unassuming in disposition, he was a friend to all. A keen bible student, he was a faithful member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and for a number of long standing in the Stirling Orange Lodge, having married, he is survived by his widow, the former Miss Ella Tweed and one sister, Mrs. Thos Spry, Stirling.

The funeral service was held on Saturday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. W. J. V. Walker; a brief service was held at the residence, on the arrival of which the cortege continued to the church where Rev. Walker was attended by many friends and relatives. Interment was made in the Stirling Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Fred McGee, Thomas McGee, Clarence McGee, Ernest Hardy, Harold McGee and Archie McGee.

Program Of Fun For Everyone At Spring Festival

April is a refreshing month, a month of showers, sunshine, that breathes and lives seems to take on new life, and Belleville during this year of St. Michael's parish, is to be the scene of festivities next week, gives promise, yes, great promise, of being entirely refreshing.

The Catholic Women's League who are sponsoring the event appear on the first two nights will be overjoyed indeed to see the large, generous, succulence et al. after which they have labored, and as a entertainment to delight all. Games will be in progress during the first night of the three evenings there will be a stage performance, with an entertaining Irish comedy on Tuesday.

Jitney dancing, with music supplied by Harry Hall and his band, will conclude each evening's fun. A doxy fee of 25c will be charged at the door for each evening. As in other years a special table will be arranged, to that, have fun and dine with one another. The proceeds of the festival will go towards the building of a new convent.

Little Likelihood Of Just Peace At Present Says Pope

Vatican City, April 14 (AP)—Pope Pius XII urged in an Easter message that belligerents "show some feeling of charity for the sufferings of civilian populations" and that conquerors deal "justly, humanely and providentially" with peoples in occupied territories.

In a 30-minute broadcast over the Vatican radio, the Pontiff called upon Catholics to pray for an early and just peace.

"Let us pray for universal peace," he said, not for peace based upon the oppression and destruction of peoples, but peace which, while guaranteeing the honor of all nations, will satisfy their vital needs and insure the legitimate rights of all."

Then he added:-

"But we are saddened to note that there seems to be as yet little likelihood of an approximate realization of peace that will be just, in accordance with human and Christian forms."

HONDURAS—LAND OF THE LOGWOOD-CUTTERS

Captain James was a privateer. That is to say, though his ship was not a man-of-war, but a trading vessel engaged in trading, he had been given permission by the British Government to attack and plunder the ships of any of England's enemies, so he might logon to meet on the seas. England's great enemy at that time was about the middle of the 17th century—was Spain. There were a great many privateers on the Seas in those days, and you can perhaps imagine the exciting times they had.

Spanish vessels were often captured along the eastern coasts of Central America, a country they had discovered and now claimed, though much of it, including what is now British Honduras, was still unoccupied. Ships leaving these shores were apt to be full of rich and valuable cargoes, the varied products of the land, perhaps gained from the sea. And so it was toward this great country that Captain James turned his prow, keeping a sharp lookout, like an eagle for its prey.

By and by a Spanish sail hove in sight, and the excitement on board. The light English cruiser gave chase. The lumbering laden Spanish ship stood little chance, and before long it was in the possession of Captain James.

Eagerly the captain and his men examined the ship to find out its probable value. They were somewhat disappointed for the most turned out to be little else than logs of wood. Not very thick, and of a very dark colour—merely the heart wood of some unfamiliar tree. It had often happened before that the captured vessels carried a great deal of this same sort of wood, usually in addition to other products. What the Spaniards used it for the English pirates did not know, but it was of no use to them. Usually after stripping the prize of everything considered of any value they would then set fire to the shipwith the wood in it, or set it adrift.

This time, however Captain James thought he would try to make a little money out of it, so he took the vessel and its cargo of logs to England. On the way he permitted the crew to burn some of the wood in the galley fire. This was one way at least to make use of it. The wood burned well, so he thought he could probably sell it for fuel.

Arriving in the port of London, he set out to try to dispose of the wood. He guessed at it all right, he certainly did! What price do you suppose he was offered for that wood? One hundred pounds per ton! The despised, dark-looking logs burnt and the ashes left one of the most valuable of woods, used for making fine and beautiful dyes, blue-black, rich purple, or delicate mauve; it was also useful for some other purposes.

Captain James both amazed and delighted; but he also thought ruefully of the money that had gone up in smoke on the voyage. Just imagine using fuel at nearly $2000 a ton! You may be sure that not much more of the precious wood went to feed the fires for English sailors soon learned its value. After that they were more cautious about how they plundered Spanish ships.

Before long it began to be more difficult for the privateers to obtain valuable loads. At last the Spanish trading vessels were more carefully guarded, and it turned out to be all the better for the English, because then they turned their attention to honest trade. began cutting logwood for themselves in much more sensible and honorable proceeding—and privateering was prohibited by law. There was plenty of wood in the great unexplored forests, but for all that you may be sure that the Spaniards were none too ready to share their wealth. By and by, however, a treaty was arranged between the two, the privileges of cutting and taking out the wood. They might build homes, and grow whatever was necessary for them to live on while cutting it, but were not in full possession of the soil.

English settlements thus began to grow up in this region. The English began to settle and carry on their work at Campeche and Cape Catoche, but the Spaniards drove them away from those points and they took up their abode in the more remote districts on the coast of Honduras and along the Belize River, Spanish settlers trouble not these shores, which, on account of reefs and many small islands called cayes were difficult for large vessels to navigate.

The Spaniards annoyed the settlers in various ways, and for many years tried again and again to drive the English out of the country. Now and then there was actual fighting, resulting sometimes in victory to the Spanish, some times to the English.

In 1779 the brave settlers were taken unawares and completely defeated. Many were transported to Roatan Island and some to Jamaica, while others escaped and hid in the forests, or fled to Havana, where they remained for years kept in dungeons. During all that time British Honduras was practically deserted.

Then Admiral Nelson came with his fleet and fought the Spanish, but had determined once and for all to drive the English from the country. Nelson was a man who was not to be put off by mere difficulties. The English could not find out whether they were to be driven into the sea. They knew how great the danger was, but bravely determined to defend the country to the last. They had only one gun-boat, the Merlin, commanded by Captain Moss, but they collected flat-bottomed logwood boats at St. George's Caye, mounted guns in them, and formed them along the coast. Then on the masthead of the Merlin could see coming over the horizon were thirty-two vessels in all, including fourteen large ships of the line. In these were a fighting force of 3000 men.

The families and valuables had been removed from St. George's Caye to safer places, and all who could bear arms made ready for the expected attack. And the men who could fight, including colored slaves employed by the woodcutters, were armed with guns and such other weapons as could be procured. They did not have long to wait, and soon the booming of guns echoed and reechoed along the forest-clad shores. The defenders were pitifully few, and their equipment decidedly inferior, but they displayed the utmost courage from first to last. In fact, they feared also the great natural advantage of situation, for the long and shallow bay made it impossible for the Spaniards to make a secure and united attack.

The battle lasted off and on for two days, and then the defeated Spanish Armada, with a considerably lessened living freight, took advantage of a light south wind and set sail for Spanish waters.

This was the last attempt to drive the English out of British Honduras. Spain acknowledged their title to the lands they had fairly won by right of conquest, definite boundary lines were fixed, and the people were left in peace to their various pursuits in peace.

For some time the cutting and exporting of logwood was the main industry, but after a few years the enormous prices originally received dwindled down until there was very little profit in it. Before that time mahogany had taken the place of first importance. This wonderfully hard, fine-grained wood, used in ship-building and in the making of furniture, grew plentifully in the forests, and for many years gave steady employment to most of the men.

A log weighing fifteen tons or more has been cut from one of these trees which require 200 years to attain their full growth. The mahogany is a magnificent tree, a plant so engraved with the grace-ful logwood, a tree of about forty feet, which grows as quickly that in ten or fifteen years after the seed is planted it is fit to cut. In blossom time this beautiful little tree with evergreen, mimosa-like leaves, is covered with pale-gold bloom, deliciously honey-scented. The two are not found growing together, for while logwood loves the lowlands, mahogany prefers higher dryer land. These two trees have played a large part in the history and development of our one Central American colony.

The two young R.A.F. officers were getting measured for new uniforms in a Front Street store. They had nearly finished their measurements, when he casually asked one of the young fliers his weight.

A quiet cultured English voice replied: "Ten-stone-six."

"Pardon me," said the clerk, "but how much is that, please, Sir?"

"Ten-stone-six," the young officer replied.

The clerk scratched a puzzled head. He was plainly in a quandary. He looked about him for possible assistance. None was available. Not even a set of scales.

He turned again to the officer. "Would you weigh about 150, Sir?" he politely inquired. The officer smiled. "No, ten-stone-six."

The clerk picked up his tape in near desperation. He made useful guesses. Then, at last, he got to working at a tremendous rate. Finally came a ray of light. He remembered that away back in his schooldays there was an English system of measurements. He smiled. He smiled at the officer.

"Ten stone, approximately 140," he replied the officer.

The officer received a sigh or relief. As the officers left, he chuckled to himself and figuratively patted himself on the back. He remembered "It's a good thing I remembered my tables."

Nazi Libyan Drive A Diversion Keyed To The Balkan War

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington, April 14 (AP)—The first "contact" between British Empire armies and Axis legions has been reached, and the people of Yugoslavia or in North Africa, the Balkans or Libya, can expect more battle equipment, even in the advantages of initiative are with the Germans.

It was theirs to attack, the task of the British forces to defend.

The Balkan war thus would provide all important, that where the Greek-British defence line runs west of the Vardar to the Aegean, Germany is to be keyed to mountain peaks, narrow valleys and precipitous gorges from its sea flank on the east coast to the Gulf of Corinth to the great mountain lake system through which run the frontiers of Albania and Yugoslavia, if they obviously the actual Greek-British front line is to last. So Sunday they pressed it the road and rail communications of the war, over which come supplies.

Attacks Canalized

It is 190 miles or so, crow flight, from the end of the sea mountain and lake-battened front. There is no certain estimate of the British-Greek forces or possible reinforcements that would be in it. Its topography necessarily canalizes attacks upon it to relatively few roads and passes. Nations are that the vital Balkan front was won by right of conquest, holding boundary lines were fixed, and the people were left in peace to their various pursuits in peace.

News Of The Boys Serving Overseas

(By ROSE MUNRO)

(Can. Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in England, April 14 (CP)—A series of informal lectures for officers and men at Canadian Corps Headquarters here wound up by Labor Minister Ernest Bevin.

His talk was "off the record" and he gave a straightforward account of the government's plans for "the labor of millions of men and women closer to the war effort.

His estimate of the progress of British and Empire war industries for the rest of this year was encouraging to Canadians.

Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Corps Commander, attended. Another guest was J. P. Bickell, Toronto mining executive now working with the Ministry of Aircraft production.

A trade unionist all his life and a one-time dock labourer, Bevin got a laugh when he said: "It's a strange war that transforms dress-shop girls into munition workers, white-collar workers into aeroplane fitters and dockers into cabinet ministers."

The Spitfire for which the 1st Canadian Division made voluntary contributions from a gift a Royal Air Force squadron, on the battle-line in front of the cockpit is flanked by a Canadian Eagle and a gold printed under it in five-inch letters is "1st Canadian Division."

Thanks to Western Canada farmers, thousands of Canadian soldiers enjoyed a tremendous feed of turkey. The westerners donated the birds and the Canadian Legion distributed them.

Number of camera fans in Canadian Corps is becoming phenomenal. One official visitor, amateur lensmen in khaki pop up everywhere. During the Royal Inspection visit of the King and Queen one soldier was sitting in a dentist chair in the back of a truck acting as a patient. Their Majesties had scarcely turned their backs when the "patient" suddenly came to life, reached under the chair for his camera and snapped away.

When the royal visitors were with the reconnaissance battalion, vehicles "ferried" all the seats "reconnoitered" a simple battle recently against British regiments, the battalion captured 2 British tanks, 10 bulloads of Tommies, an anti-tank battery and half a dozen Bren gun carriers.

belongings scattered to the four winds."

But he gave a vivid account of a tour in the East End of London the morning after an air raid. "Men don't forget the sight," he said. "You see houses and little children bombed with a few bits of clothing outside of what was once their home. Until help comes you can almost read in their faces a look of despair and disillusion."

"There may still be fires burning and smoking and the people who have been up all night still on duty. Ambulances are there and rescue men to be rescue workers digging carefully and patiently on the debris of bombed houses. They have to go carefully—there are people underneath in fact certain. Obviously it is disturbed it may come down and crush them.

On a "noisy" night in London, Reynolds said, Londoners are not a hundred German planes over the city looking for places to drop their bombs. "If they obviously see they're looking for, they'll drop them anywhere. On the morning London will count its dead and face a new day. London is fighting for its existence. London can never die as long as the spirit of London lives. And that London has yet been devised which is capable of killing this spirit."

No Bombs Can Kill Spirit Of London

On his way back to London, Quentin Reynolds, the famous foreign correspondent, made a statement urging generous aid to the victims of air raids in Britain.

"Bombs will never kill the spirit of London," he said, "and the people do not complain. But if those who live undistinguished by air raids and battle equipment, even in the advantages of initiative are with the Germans.

For some time the cutting and exporting of logwood was the main industry, but after a few years the enormous prices originally received dwindled down until there was very little profit in it. Before that time mahogany had taken the place of first importance. This wonderfully hard, fine-grained wood, used in ship-building and in the making of furniture, grew plentifully in the forests, and for many years gave steady employment to most of the men.

A log weighing fifteen tons or more has been cut from one of these trees which require 200 years to attain their full growth. The mahogany is a magnificent tree, a plant so engraved with the graceful logwood, a tree of about forty feet, which grows as quickly that in ten or fifteen years after the seed is planted it is fit to cut. In blossom time this beautiful little tree with evergreen, mimosa-like leaves, is covered with pale-gold bloom, deliciously honey-scented. The two are not found growing together, for while logwood loves the lowlands, mahogany prefers higher dryer land. These two trees have played a large part in the history and development of our one Central American colony.

ESCAPING GAS EXPLODES

Brockville, Ont., April 14 (CP) — E. Cromwell of Cardinal, was slightly burned about the face and Pte. R. McNutt, of the same village, received a slight leg injury, when escaping gas exploded as one of the men tossed a match into a manhole in King Street East here after lighting a cigarette late last night.

The men were standing in the roadway waiting for a ride to their homes. No other damage resulted from the blast.

MEAT SHIPMENTS DWINDLE

Vichy, France, April 14 (AP) — Supplies of meat arriving in Greek-occupied Paris decreased sharply by half the past fortnight officials of the Paris newspaper Le Matin reported today, and Marseilles said 3,176 tons of meat were received during January, 2,726 tons in February, and 1,794 in March.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, April 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds testimonies of some very active and important happenings' of a public economic and political nature.

Ills. All church and charitable activities may be under high stimuli. Unless these are guarded by caution and peculiar perplexities especially by relation to writings, or documents. It would be well to shun extravagance, excess and possibly gambling.

Those whose birthday it is may have a sense of some progress and success in public affairs, or in group or community objectives, although this advantage may have delays, disappointment and the menace of duplicity, litigation and loss. Extravagance and indulgence may be regrettable. Proceed cautiously.

A child born on this day may be active, ambitious and devoted to the public welfare and collective progress, although it may have fluctuating personal fortunes.

For Monday, April 14

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a day of unusual liveliness and activity, although the sudden interruptions may call for the utmost skill and discrimination in meeting emergencies, changes and disruptions. Such striking adjustments may require the emotional, romantic or artistic life, which could be thrilling and lucrative if discreetly managed.

Those whose birthday it is may find a new line of work opening and often unpredictable, with matters moving at thrilling pitch in both private and public affiliations. It is probable that the romantic, emotional or creative faculties are pitched to high tempo and call for much discernment and clever management.

A child born on this day should be talented, public-spirited, have unusual talents and creative ability. Also a strange urge for romance and adventure.

Paulette Goddard and James Stewart put the emphasis on romance in James Roosevelt's "Pot O' Gold," the gay comedy with music and melody now playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

CONVOY DEBATE LIKELY TO BREAK IN U. S. SENATE

Proposal to Forbid Naval Escorts for War Materials to be Discussed

ROME COMMENT

Washington, April 14 (AP)—Critics of United States convoy operation foreign policy forecast today that the long-developing debate over a proposal to forbid naval escorts for war materials would break wide open in the Senate this week.

The convoy question was of main immediate concern to legislators returning to the capital from Easter vacationing today and their interest was sharpened by these two developments:

1. President Roosevelt's removal of the Red Sea from the list of waters in which United States shipping under the neutrality act is active, which raised discussion in congressional circles as to what protection might be given American-flag vessels if one of them were attacked while delivering British war supplies in Mediterranean ports.

2. Announcement of the Russo-Japanese neutrality pact yesterday—foes of naval convoys said it would relieve Japanese pressure for further southward moves in the Orient and provided them with a strong argument against the sending any naval vessels to convoy duty.

Foreshadows New Events

While this view of the Russian-Japanese agreement envisioned eastern developments unfavorable to British interests, some felt it encouraging Japanese expansion, diplomatic observers pointed out, the pact might foreshadow developments in line with British-American-Russian interests.

These sources said that Russia, like Japan, had grabbed "no direct" protection through the non-aggression agreement and their children have left more free to pursue her present anti-Nazi policy in the Balkans.

The issue of whether Congress should prohibit specifically convoying of war materials will be considered by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee tomorrow morning. Before the committee is a resolution (introduced by Senator Tobey (Republican, New Hampshire) to forbid convoying. Indications were that the committee would begin hearings, if not in control, would pigeonhole it.

Rome States Position

Rome, April 14 (AP)—Virginio Gayda, Fascist spokesman, said today the axis considers itself free to act in Greece, Libya, Africa, wherever bearing aid for the enemy of the Tripartite.

Referring to President Roosevelt's lifting of the ban on United States shipping in certain areas, Gayda said: "African waters still are embraced by the war. Therefore every passage in the enemy service may legitimately be attacked. . . It is well that this is made clear in time."

Magic Of Two Names Keeps Average Briton From Too Much Worry

London, April 14—(CP)— The magic of two names, Wavell and Wilson, kept the average Briton from too much worry today despite news from the Balkans and Africa.

Many reports on the serious successes in Yugoslavia and Greece the past week-end, and today's news that Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, Commander-in-chief in the Middle East, had taken charge in Greece, and Wilson, the Commander of the British expeditionary force, would know what they are doing.

There was a general feeling that Gen. Wavell's conduct of the Balkan strategy paralleled that of Wilson before the present German-Italian thrust through Libya, and, so far that, one hasn't chased them back across the desert but they have not yet done that the time is ripe. If he feels it is time to fall back now, why should we worry?"

Gen. Wilson shared fully in this feeling of confidence because he was in direct command of the army of the Nile in the Libyan-Italian back into Libya last winter.

U.S. PROTESTS SEIZURE

Shanghai, April 14 (AP)—The United States Consul General made representations today to Japanese authorities over the seizure by Japanese river police of 5,000 drums of American-owned gasoline from the British freighter Shanghai, The gasoline was loaded by the Texas Oil Company at Rangoon, Burma, but was unloaded at Shanghai under the recent "embargo order" issued by the Japanese-sponsored Nanking regime.

UPSETS POLICE STATION CALM

Omaha, April 14 (AP)—Two-year-old Bobby Jones upsetted the entire Omaha police station while officers called to "put where he lived. Among other things Bobby: pulled record books from shelves, slammed the safe door, got into a cigar case, summoned a private detective agency, the radio operator and the County Sheriff by twisting some little handles he found on the wall.

IRISH REPUBLIC REMAINS NEUTRAL

De Valera Says Plans for Evacuation of Eire Towns Must be Made Without Delay

Dublin, April 14 (CP)—Prime Minister De Valera said in a broadcast yesterday that plans for the evacuation of women and children from Eire towns must be completed without delay.

"Death and suffering we shall not be able to avoid if we are attacked," he said, "but we shall be certain that they will not be in vain by completing and perfecting the organization and training of our manhood in several national services.

"If we have to take up arms we shall know the cause is just.

"I many times have warned you of the dangers which threaten us. Although we wish to all peoples have no desire to quarrel with any, we proclaimed our neutrality and made our will so manifest no one could mistake it.

De Valera's broadcast followed a similar display in tribute to the men, who, during the past 24 years ago, took up arms to proclaim the Irish Republic.

For nearly four hours 30,000 marchers strode down once bloody O'Connell Street while "Soldier's Song" and "Irish Republican Marching Song" and their fellow citizens watched.

Eire's President, Dr. Douglas Hyde, began the ceremonies with a speech in Irish. He said: "We shall never lose the freedom which

16 Given Acclamation In Man. Nominations

Winnipeg, April 14 (CP)—Eleven supporters of Manitoba's coalition government, all members of the last legislature, received acclamations and return of the non-partisan administration was assured when official nominations closed Saturday with all 16 opposition candidates in the field for contests being held to contested April 22.

Premier John Bracken, the Liberal-Progressive Premier, and five of his cabinet ministers were re-elected without opposition. Those accorded acclamations were 18 Liberal-Progressives, five Conservatives, including Works Minister Errick Willis, Manitoba Conservative leader, and S. E. Rogers, leaders of the Social Credit Group in the last House.

The dissolution of the 20th legislature on March 12 Liberal-Progressives held 31 seats, Conservatives 16, C.C.F. six, Social Credit five, Independents four and there were four vacancies. Opposition proposed to coalition were Miss Salome Halldorson, member of the Dennis and Stonewall constituency; Gen. D. S. Ketchen, Conservative, Winnipeg and L. St. George Stubbs, Winnipeg Independent. Three seek re-election as anti-coalitionists.

Berlin Aflame After Severe R.A.F. Attack

The first photos of its kind to be permitted out of Germany is this radio photo showing the burning State Opera House of Berlin during the R.A.F. attack of April 9. Wave upon wave of planes, including American-made bombers, took part in the raid which was the most severe to which Berlin has been subjected since the war began. This photo is one of a series flown back-out in which the raid was controlled. The Opera House was gutted by flame and bomb. Note the military statue facing the flames.

GREENLAND PROTECTED

The announcement by President Roosevelt that the United States has signed an agreement with the Danish minister at Washington which places Greenland under the protection of the United States to guarantee it as a colony of Denmark will have great meaning for the New World or the Western Hemisphere. Air bases are to be established by the United States with naval and military facilities. Recently it has been reported that German war planes had been seen flying over the island.

The news of U.S. protection of the island is welcome to Canada because of Canada's proximity to Greenland. It is 1,650 miles long and about 800 miles wide at its greatest. It is only a few miles from Canadian territory at the far north.

The southwest coast is most suitable for habitation and considerable animal and vegetable life exists. There are no forests but a few vegetables are grown.

The Danish inhabitants of the island generally live in houses of imported wood covered with pitch while the Eskimos live in houses of stone and turf entered by a little tunnel.

The history of Greenland dates back to 982 when Eric the Red, the Norwegian, sailed from Iceland on a report that there was a new country to the west. He called it Greenland in the hope of persuading colonists to settle there. There were two colonies formed, which have both left ruins and remains. Eighteen years after Eric the Red's discovery Christianity was introduced by Leif Ericson and twelve churches were built by the colonists as well as a monastery. From 1261 to 1814 Norway ruled the island since which time Denmark has held it.

The larger part is within the Arctic Circle. The interior is a vast glacier of ice and snow, enough to fill the valleys and bury the mountains. This inland stretch of ice arises to a height of 9,000 feet and more. The glacier slopes gradually to the coast discharging icebergs which float down the Atlantic. The coast is indented with fjords. Native iron is found on one of the islands near the coast with poor quality coal.

There are wild animals, reindeer abounding in all parts except the south where it has been hunted to extinction. The elder duck, guillemot, and ptarmigan are the chief birds. Fisheries are very important, cod, halibu, halibut, sea trout and other fish being plentiful. Whaling is still an industry and sealing is prosperous.

The population is about 12,000 according to records some years ago, of whom all but 800 white are Danes, are Eskimos. The trade has been only with Denmark.

What will be the future of Greenland? Will it have a great development? Time will tell.

But the island is safe, it is to be protected from the possibility of aggression, for the Monroe doctrine takes in this largest of all island in the world except Australia.

AXIS WITHOUT SHAME

The shamelessness of the Fascist Government in Italy in announcing that the Axis Powers had promised Yugoslavia the port and city of Salonika at the time the Yugoslav regency cabinet signed the Axis pact (which was repudiated when King Peter assumed the throne and replaced the regency council and old government with a new government) is one of the plainest evidences of the sordidness and brutishness of the German and Italian aggressors. Here the Italian Government without a spark of conscience or without any evidence of shame boasted of this conspiracy of the Nazis and Fascists to the world.

ENGLAND EXPECTS

"ENGLAND EXPECTS" the signal ran
"THAT EVERY MAN THIS DAY WILL DO
HIS DUTY!" Nelson's message still
Has power to fire brave hearts anew;
And men who to the seas go down
In ships by Nelson's spirit led
To do their duty give their all.

"ENGLAND EXPECTS" and not in vain
For Nelson's breed still man her ships
Still face her foes; whate'er the odds
Still fight, outmatched, with smiling lips
And theirs is still the Ancient Code
Of One Whose Cross was lifted high,
'No greater Love hath Man than this—
That for another he should die!'

"ENGLAND EXPECTS . . ." and as of old
Her sons reply with deeds today
The Spirits of Trafalgar hail
Their comrades of the Jervis Bay!
And while the Flag of England flies
High at the masthead, proud to see,
Her sons will answer Nelson's call
And do or die to keep Her free.
—by G. L. Creed, R.C.A.F.

The all-out generous gesture of Uncle Sam in extending aid, to a battle-scarred Britain has quite naturally caused a few of the sceptics to raise the question, "What did England ever do for the U.S.A.?" An American friend of ours comes forward with the answer.

To make a long story short, if Great Britain had on any occasion refused to extend a helping hand to Uncle Sam, there might not have been a free United States of America today — nor a free Mexico or South America for that matter.

A young untried power, yet to win her spurs in major conflict, the youthful United States went to war with Spain in 1898. No one knew how the world powers would line up. They sailed away in their navies to get a ringside seat and watch the fun.

Bravely the American, Admiral Dewey, took his Far Eastern fleet, one that, by the way, was much smaller than any of the assembled squadrons of the European powers, to block the Spanish in Manila Bay. The rest of the boys took up their positions on the sidelines. Admiral Chichester was there with a British fleet. So was the German, Admiral Von Diedrich, with a force also large enough to blow the Yanks clean out of the water.

The Hun, true to nature, truculently blocked Dewey's every move by maneouvering his fleet. He made it perfectly clear that he was all for the Spanish. But on his starboard bows gleamed the British guns. And strangely enough they were pointed directly at the German ships no matter how or where they manoeuvred.

But Von Diedrich had heard of the British Navy and what it could do. Before Dewey sailed in for the attack he sent a message to the British admiral asking what course he would take should the Germans decide to throw in their lot with the Spaniards.

Most politely came the British reply, "I suggest you ask Admiral Dewey that question," the English admiral wrote. "He is fully informed as to our plans."

When Dewey sailed in to the attack, the German fleet manoeuvred in a manner that was, to put it mildly, definitely menacing. The fate of Dewey's fleet and the future of the United States hung in the balance. Germany's power was at that time far superior to that of Uncle Sam, and had the German admiral got away with his threatening gesture, his country would have been in the war, and the world picture might have changed considerably.

BUT—the British fleet countered the German manoeuvre so unmistakably that the Hun did not have the nerve to carry his bluff through. The Americans won the battle of Manila Bay and Germany was definitely warned that England would not stand by and see the United States go down. That step sent the U.S.A. forward on the march that has culminated in her being one of the most powerful nations in the world.

NEED

I can thrust pomp and brilliance aside
And all the glory of the boastful great;
Can turn my back upon all worldly pride,
But not the hungry poor man at the gate.

I can refuse some rich many proffered wine,
His table set with costly glass and plate.

I can reject his plea with him to dine,
But not that starving brother at my gate.

I can look out on victory's parade
And stay aloof as conquerors ride in state,
But when some faltering fellow asks for aid
I hasten, lest my service come too late.

Soho Restaurants Carry On

Soho was London's escape from English cooking, and Soho has bravely carried on with its mission. After the worst of the "blitz" was over in November many of the restaurants tentatively opened for dinner, and in many cases it paid them to do so. Officers on leave and a good number of de Gaulle officers and many more cosmopolitan members of the BBC—where the oddest hours are kept—availed themselves of the opportunities offered them by these bolder Soho proprietors.

Apart from the genuinely Swiss restaurants and those which "went Swiss," a good number do not pretend to be anything but Italian, though "British-subject" Italian.

The coming of the French has introduced a new note into the French restaurant line. Chez Victor Bernard, in Rupelle, Chez Victor, on the Gourmets, and the rest, a good number of the customers are foreign officers, mostly French, other people connected with de Gaulle headquarters, or British friends of the Free French.

Despite the many difficulties and restrictions, the standard of cooking is still good in the better-class Soho restaurants. . . .

But far more acute than the problems confronting the more exotic restaurants—Spanish, Hungarian and, above all, Chinese and Indian. A shortage of pimento must greatly handicap the Spanish, and a shortage of paprika must punish an Hungarian.

Even the Spanish restaurants in and around Soho, and even without pimento, will continue to be among the best patronized. Perhaps the secret of their success is rice. There is something satisfyingly filling about an "arroz" (those generous Spanish rice dishes containing minced meat, or a couple of fried fish) after bacon and eggs.

Ever without the banana, which vanished a month or two ago, which is still to be said for the Spanish "arroz"? Well, for one thing, the Spanish restaurants is notoriously hospitable. The welcome is almost proud of "never being able to refuse" a friend, and all his family are in prison. The atmosphere here is Bohemian and unconventional. Even before the more West End-like Spanish places nearer Regent Street, open their Prunco tone. But the rice is much the same in both camps, and so are the Spanish hogs, the turon, and the carafes of red wine.

The Chinese and Indians are in much more difficult circumstances. In a famous Chinese place in Gerard Street the proprietor complained to me, as I sat eating next to nothing from China and nothing from Ceylon, "Even ingredients would become very difficult to get. Sometimes I know could he, he reasonably asked, cook Chinese food without Chinese ingredients?"—Manchester Guardian.

1891 CIRCUS PASS STILL GOOD FOR 2

On March 16, 1891, Edwin Leroy Hurd was standing idly by the picket fence in front of his sister's farm at Elmsford, N.Y., when a passing circus parade came by and out stepped a businesslike gentleman.

"Price barn you've got, farmer," said the gentleman. "Would you like to see a couple of free shows?" Mr. Hurd agreed it was a nice barn and said he'd be delighted to come see the circus. "Well, just let me paste this bill on the fence and I'll be right back with the passes above on earth, Barnum & Bailey." Mr. Hurd's sister was horrified, but he agreed to the posting of the bill and waited for the passes. On March 13.

For some unknown reason, Mr. Hurd never got to see the Barnum & Bailey circus at the old Madison Square Garden, although the local papers reported no significant event that happened during that day in the vicinity. Mr. Hurd went back to his home in Wallingford, Conn., and died at the age of 78 at Denver, Col.

Last Saturday afternoon Mr. Hurd's nephew, Francis E. Falkenbury, went to see the circus for the couple of months," decided it was about time he began the replacement of his farm at Hartsdale, N.Y. He rummaged through the old oak desk, picked up a weatherbeaten purse, which he termed "accordian style," and found the two pass of green, red and pink colors. It read:

"Admit two persons for exclusive reserved seat, posting on bill, on his barn, billboard, fence or shed, in accordance with contract. Good on even date, signed Barnum here-with. The bills are not to be covered up or defaced by any other show bills allowed on the building for seven months from date hereof."

Mr. Falkenbury, farmer and dealer in antiques, promptly had the pass framed and sent a letter to the circus with the pass:

"Now I'm looking over my uncle's old papers I found this pass to the circus in his desk.

The letter was a long shot. Mrs. Falkenbury says: "I think they would be no reply. Late yesterday afternoon, Roland Butler, the press agent, was relaxing in front of the press release, disconsolate because imagination failed him, when he picked up the letter.

Breathless, Mr. Butler exclaimed: "Here is a valuable piece of American history." Immediately wrote to Mr. Falkenbury:

"Your pass to the greatest show on earth, Barnum & Bailey, is out of date. However, as we have no record showing that you have, we do not live up to the terms specified on the back of this pass, and we assume that the posters have not been removed. I am sending you a pass in exchange for it. The Show at Madison Square Garden."

Over the telephone Mr. Falkenbury was told about the pass. "Hold on until I catch my breath. That's just like my father. That's just fine, we haven't seen the circus in ten years.—N.Y. Times.

Preparation For Hard Times

We are a very mercurial country. A fortnight ago we were in the dumps because the Yugoslavs had signed a pact with Germany. Then, a few days later, we were elated over all of all proportion because the Yugoslavs had reversed the pact. Then the Germans struck, with characteristic energy in an all-out blitzkrieg, and drove right through to Greece, and everywhere one saw long faces.

With Yugoslavia surrounded on every frontier and ill-prepared for resistance, it was obvious that the Germans would plough through her. The best expectations might have reckoned in terms of weeks; it happened in days. It's a psychological reversal, but it will not determine the outcome of this war.

The war will not be decided in North Africa, either. If the Greeks can hold out in their mountains, with British aid, for a short time, the British forces in Egypt and Africa will finish with Eritrea and Abyssinia, and begin to threaten Italy in Libya.

But it will be silly to go into a panic like Alsop if Greece goes, as it probably will, and pretty soon. It will not be the end of the war if Libya goes to the Germans, and if Egypt goes. I rather expect both things to happen.

In fact, we are going to see dreadful events in the weeks and months, and we may see the loss of the whole Mediterranean.

The importance of the Yugoslav coup d'etat, however, and the immediate German occupation, is much larger than the Balkans. It brought the war into an area of vital importance to Russia. Russia began cooling off on the pact with the Nazis the day the Russo-Japanese pact was signed. Then, when Yugoslavia was invaded, they went much further. They not only did not attack, they concluded a treaty of friendship with their fellow-Slavs. If Turkey is attacked, they will go another step away from the Axis and toward that paper carbine and editorial headline: "Bentio takes another hand with Allies."

The chin is not the part of the anatomy Mussolini, the army, or the air force, has been taking it on. This is merely pointed out for military and historical accuracy.—St. Catharines Standard.

A CORRECTION

It is with natural reluctance that one attempts to correct such an erudite newspaper as The Ottawa Journal. That paper carries an editorial headline: "Benito takes another hand with Allies."

The chin is not the part of the anatomy Mussolini, the army, or the air force, has been taking it on. This is merely pointed out for military and historical accuracy.—St. Catharines Standard.

know what his left hand is doing.

The decisive areas of this war will not be in the Mediterranean or in North Africa, but in the North Atlantic and in the Middle East—around the Red Sea, the Arabian Sea and the Indian Ocean.

And last week, while Yugoslavia was collapsing, Mr. Roosevelt took two measures of a vastly greater importance. He declared that Greenland is part of the Western Hemisphere—which the geographers all concede it is—and made a deal with the Danish Government-in-exile, for American bases there. With this gesture, he has cut the gap between the Western Hemisphere and the British Isles to about 1300 miles, with Iceland, occupied by the British, in between.

And he has declared that, since the British have cleaned up Ethiopia, the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden are free for shipping.

Hitler sooner or later will certainly drive through Turkey to Iran, which he wants, and he will be living him in conflict with Turkey and sharpen still further his relations with Russia. But he will probably not fight unless attacked, but he will be fighting, will remain a benevolent policy toward Germany's enemies.

So the net effect of the Yugoslav heroism is to embrace Russia, while the United States has made swift and extremely important moves on the Atlantic and in the important areas of the war.

Viewed on a planetary scale, Hitler's attack is a tweezer movement, while Roosevelt's policy represents a movement around the whole of the European continent, or rather mediate German bid, is what Europe is: a peninsula of Asia.

The President's move is the move of a man who is ocean-minded, and who is determined to command in think in terms of vast spaces. To that end he has not only established a base in Greenland, but has taken steps to establish a base in Iceland, which is a key to the Atlantic. He has directly against Britain. But Marshall Petain's statement of policy indicates that should the French navy—will not engage against her former ally, or will not be used in connection with the German conquest of Yugoslavia. Vichy and North Africa count only incidentally. Armageddon will not be fought in Africa.

CONVOY SYSTEM

The system of sailing merchant ships in groups and escorting them with warships is almost as old as naval warfare itself.

In the days of the Spanish Main it was customary for merchantmen to sail in great fleets to defend one another against pirates.

In those days a convoy of sailing ships sometimes numbered from 200 to 500 vessels.

It was the German submarine campaign in the spring of 1917 that led the Allies and the United States to revive the convoy system.

Before that the Allies had valiantly tried camouflaging merchant ships, armaments, zig-zagging while in submarine waters and other well-known method of protecting shipping at sea against submarines and their deadly torpedoes discharged under water.

The convoy system proved so effective that the loss of merchant ships to convoy conduct dropped to fewer than 1% a week.

A total of 88,000 Allied ships sailed under escort during the last two years of the war, and the loss of only one-half of one percent.

Destroyers, corvettes and converted troop ships bearing more than a million soldiers to Europe without the loss of a single soldier in transit.

Such technical naval patience, troop ships or cargo vessels travelling in company and requiring protection are known as a "train."

The fighting ships that accompany a convoy of trains are called an "escort."

An assemblage of ships consisting of both train and escort comprises a "convoy."

Modern escorts are cruisers, destroyers, corvettes, patrol craft, fast light, swift anti-submarine craft.

One of the hazards of the convoy system is the necessity of maintaining the convoy speed at that of the sea jr the night without lights.

Consequently the fleet is that the speed of the entire convoy is restricted to that of the slowest vessel in the train and escort.

"Convoy" comes from the same root as "convey" and literally means to carry, conduct or direct.

If the destruction of Allied shipping had not been checked by the convoy system during the World War, the outcome of that conflict would have won that conflict.

MURDER SAILS A TROOPSHIP

By A W O'Brien

CHAPTER V.

"I seemed to give me some relief, Sir, but I thought it was Captain Tod with the spray lashing my face. I must have remained there for thirty minutes before returning to where I had left my equipment. The whole of the world time seemed to have gone out, which was missing. I thought it had dropped from the scabbard and slid with the motion of the ship to the trough at the rail, but as I went to search I noticed for the first time a man's figure standing about twenty feet away. He was in the shadow of a lifeboat and leaning on the rail looking out to sea. Apparently, in the noise of the wind and the rushing water he hadn't heard me walking up and putting on my stuff.

"I was about to challenge him when I saw he was an officer. At first I thought it was Captain Tod whom I knew was on duty but the figure seemed slighter and taller than the Captain. However, I figured he might have been relieved early by another officer. He was just as I'd'dint want to leave myself open for questioning on the matter of the lost bayonet.

"I believed a few minutes later and went down to my quarters. I guess the stuffiness caused by the sealed portholes sort of got me because I got plenty sick and two of the five pegs with me also threw up. It was a rotten night. This morning at daylight I went above but found 'A' Deck roped off and a guard told me what had happened. At first I was going to keep quiet about the bayonet but finally decided to tell what I knew."

Colonel Stephenson turned to Major Dawes.

"Have this man's story checked—concerning the time of his return to his quarters, his condition, etc."

"I already have, Sir", replied the Adjutant, "and his room mates testify to his arrival a few minutes after midnight. The fact that he became violently ill . . . the officers had to repress smiles (as the old Sergt of the Guard actually blushed) . . . and caused two of his. . . ."

"Very well," sighed the Colonel "that is all for you, Lance Corporal". He looked over his papers and turned to Murdoch and Silver. "Our next item seem to be guilt. There is only one more witness to call. Captain Tod" calm mate, Lieutenant Rollins. I may mention that one of my first moves was to call to my quarters for a statement during which time I took the liberty of having his cabin thoroughly searched—including the equipment of Rollins as well as Tess. But the searchers reported no clue. Rollins has little to offer but you should hear what he has to say before we adjourn".

Lieutenant Rollins was a haggard young man. Usually full of pep and youthful enthusiasm, even his step seemed to have lost its sip.

"I have known the late Captain Tess since my college days", he declared in a dull monotone, "and have been a personal friend after graduation. In fact, it was through him that I was commissioned with the Royal Westmount Regiment. I have been thinking back over the years and the immediate past since I was notified of the tragedy and cannot think of a single incident or lead for a clue to his killer or killers. I am sorry."

He went speaking to him at about 11.30 right?" the tough old Colonel asked in his gruff, growling gentleness.

"Yes, Sir, I was getting a breath of air at the stern after playing for the bridge tournament and Captain Tess came along, jokingly asking whether I had ever heard of 'Lights Out'. We walked together to the nearest door and stood inside chatting for a couple of minutes before I left him . . . ."

"Pardon Mr. Rollins", Murdoch interrupted, "but were you standing in the shadow of a lifeboat while getting your breath of air?"

Rollins looked at his questioner curiously.

"No, Captain. I walked directly from the door to the open space of 'A' Deck at the stern. And Captain Tess and I walked directly from the stern to the door".

"Was that last door on the stern end of 'A' Deck, port side".

"No."

"Did you notice anybody else on deck at that time?"

"No."

Silver dropped a question:

"You were on 'A' Deck at the time Captain Tess found you?"

Rollins paused for a split second "I was alone", he lied.

Murdoch, the Military Policeman, stated died several about noon and by three o'clock, summer sunshine bathed the ship's spread canvas. They had entered the kindly Gulf Stream which, many miles away, was allowing Miami's children to bask on the sands. Most of the officers and men standing around the flag-draped coffin had doffed their overcoats and were only pale dress under their lifebelts. Like statues, they stood at attention while above the gentle swishing of the ocean swishing along the sides of "T" p'ts and the deep-throated monotone of the Anglican padre:

"And we therefore commit his body to the deep, in sure and certain hope of the Resurrection unto eternal life . . . ."

Those imaginings would create a sensation, but they were to prove never be surmounted. The girl was all right and she had snapped him out of his blues and set his mind on the track of the killer.

Then a form hatched away at imaginary enemy planes—sounding for all the world like the drone of Florida sephyrs and overcoats appeared once more.

Within an hour the wind was lashing sleet-like snow across the deck. Deck chairs and awnings showing itself in all its perverseness and word got around "Expect a storm in for it tonight". The roll of "T" p'ts becoming labored and groans came from unfortunate sources in the ocean greyhound's beams. The gulf stream had never left behind . . . .

Rollins left the Officers' Salon, several vacant chairs took away the sting from the missing member at Rollins' table. Tess' place had been there but the Polish waiter—a tenured seaman from the wrecked Philistidi—had discreetly shifted the condiments. The table was a little more space between each one and no painful gap appeared.

There was no mention of the tragedy nor the funeral service. Life carried on on the Salon as if nothing had happened and Rollins found himself secretly ashamed that he was looking with such appetite upon the menu. An hour in the whistling wind on the highest point of the ship except for the Captain's Nest made the sumptuous dinner look good. He handled the whole list from three courses down to strong cheese and crackers plus two cups of coffee. Wine corks popped and the sound of men's voices and robust laughter were heard just as they had been the night before and would be the week and the next . . . if the sinking men never look back.

The bridge tournament was cancelled for the night due to "severe conditions" and most of the contestants were openly happy about the whole thing. The prospect of sitting and watching the cards and spots chasing and blending into one another wasn't at all inviting. A "Force-7 Wind" was blowing—twenty points below a full-out gale and the ship was plunging heavily in the tremendous seas.

Rollins went down a note to the effect that she deemed discretion the better part of valor and was intending to spend the evening in the security of her bunk. Greg was just as glad. His thoughts were in the past since he had been awakened in the wee hours of the morning and he wanted to be alone. He left the table thinly, somewhere in the crazy pattern was a single clue which might be rolled like a snowball until it assumed sizeable proportions.

He undressed slowly, marveling at the fact that the empty bed across the pitching cabin no longer bothered him. Already it seemed as though Syd had gone long ago on another of his nightmare. Automatically, he placed his lifebelt and overcoat on the chair beside his bed and slipped his flashlight under his pillow. As an afterthought, he took his service revolver from its holster and shoved it into an overcoat pocket.

It was not until he was between the clean, cool sheets that Rollins realized how tired he was. Mentally and physically, the last twenty-six hours had taken a lot out of him.

He had barely lighted a cigarette when a knock sounded on the cabin door.

"Come in!"

It was Jake Silver.

"Greg—could me busting in for a slight chat?"

Rollins handed his cigarettes:

"Not at all, Jake—I was just a little tired and wanted to do some thinking besides. There must be some answer to the puzzle."

"That's why I dropped around, Greg. We've been pals since the first fair and I was wondering if you had any ideas. Hell, I'm no detective than any of us. Perhaps some little, remark he passed re- some in your absence . . . after pain might give us a hint."

"Well, if you were?" he turned to her suddenly.

"I'd bend every effort to hunt down the murderer and square things away for my friend—that would be much more manly than quitting".

On a full minute Greg looked at her, then he straightened and put out his hand. He actually pulled down upon the girl:

"Good kid, Joan, you gave me just what-I needed—I'll get the dog before this ship drives under".

"Attaboy, soldier!" she came back and as their eyes met over the bandaids, Lieutenant Gregory Rollins of the Royal Westmount Regiment knew that for the first time in his not unromantic lifetime he had fallen irrevocably in love.

It was only later, as he stood directing a Lewis gun crew in anti-aircraft drill atop the roof of the Captain's bridge, that he found himself wondering why he hadn't told her of his lie before the Court of Investigation about being alone on the deck when Tess found him last night. He had wanted to then, and dismissed the thought on the grounds that he might seem to be putting on a gallantry act. But he had also wanted to ask her about that first night and the cigarette . . . he shook his head. His wild suspicions produced by a dramatic imagination had laid stress upon things that didn't warrant emphasis. Like Jake Silver's question:

"Bloodstained clothing?" Rollins interrupted.

"Yes and it was a good chance. you noticed. Tess' right hand and blood was found on the deck wall. It had evidently squirted from Syd's jugular. The Colonel thought that blood from a jugular can travel about six feet and figured that the murderer might have got some of it on his clothes and rolled them up while waiting for a chance to do some cleaning. The killer would hardly have a chance to clean up after stealing back to his room in the dead of night and everybody's been kept busy today—in fact, it would be rather dangerous for him to start any cleaning work today" everybody thinking about the business . . . ."

"That was all right, but supposing the killer's utensils did the killing?"

"The Old Man thought of that, too," replied Silver, "but he felt so sure that the killer was a member of the ship's company and Philistidi—had discreetly shifted the cabins from three officers' cabins to those on the ocean greyhound's beams. The gulf stream had been left behind . . . .

"Even in the Officers' Salon, several vacant chairs took away the sting from the missing member at Rollins' table. "Attaboy, soldier!" she came back and as their eyes met over the bandaids, Lieutenant Gregory Rollins of the Royal Westmount Regiment knew that for the first time in his not unromantic lifetime he had fallen irrevocably in love.

It was only later, as he stood directing a Lewis gun crew in anti-aircraft drill atop the roof of the Captain's bridge, that he found himself wondering why he hadn't told her of his lie before the Court stories. He would always figure that the "taut, thinly character" as the guilty person. Sometimes it worked but that was in fiction.

He rang for the steward, a Polish chap who always brought Scotch and soda, no matter what he ordered. Rollins got the usual. But the drink didn't help his rest. He tossed from side to side. The ship seemed up off his feet and when he kicked them down they cleared his shoulders. Then things began to roll in his cabin. A book case bumping from side to side in the adjoining cabin, a bulkhead of the ship. The noises from the adjoining cabins drifted into the background while the spaced bumps of the bottle seemed to become increasingly loud.

Finally it grew unbearable. Rollins sat up on the side of the bunk. The cabin was terribly stuffy. He turned on the light and found the offending bottle, wrapped it in a sweater and placed it back in the drawer. But sleep was impossible in this heat.

He looked at the clamped porthole. Why hadn't the thought of fresh air and ventilation said not to open the portholes after hours of darkness but that would be easily remedied. He switched off the cabin light and stood on his bunk. Unclamping the porthole, he gently took his breath—but it was turned on the light, which was promptly by some impulse stuck his head out of the porthole.

The wind was a gale, Sir. Into the night. The waves were mountains, the spray like rain. Rollins breathed deeply of the fresh air and the sea was a dark grey from the whitecaps—that would be torture.

Towards the bow it seemed not quite so dark. He could clearly make out the side of the deck all the way to the bow and thrilled at its great power and briskness as it plowed through the night.

Afterwards, he often wondered what made him look up since it forced him to twist his head in a most awkward manner especially with the ship tossing about.

There was a man's head in the world about it — somebody was looking down from the bridge, Sir.

Rollins felt a surge of excitement but fought it back. He must keep his head.

He pushed forward as far as his shoulders would allow and strained his eyes for a better view.

The light was being flashed from "A" Deck and he could see the form of the officer standing there. Apparently the person was holding a flashlight in his left hand and standing in such a way as to hide the right hand completely as well.

Suddenly the light was turned off and the head withdrawn from the railing. Rollins pulled his head back through the porthole. For a second he was undecided what he do?

Swiftly he switched on the cabin light and began throwing on his clothes over his pajamas. As he did so he noticed the open portholes and closed them. Jamming his feet into his slippers he swore as one refused to receive his foot. Then he was out in the corridor and paused bent over—every fac- ulty alert.

From somewhere on the deck above came the sharp, metallic double crack of a rifle, . . . even above the noise of the storm. Then a second shot—the sound was distinctive to one who had spent long hours on the ranges . . . then a third and another shot!

Rollins ran for the door, pulling the service revolver from his pocket as he went. On But with his hand on the door knob an ungodly din shattered the night . . . It was the siren—three long blasts—followed by madly clanging a lifeboat alarm!

Metal His Choice In Odd Diets

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

We read in the paper every once in a while about somebody who has had a hairpin removed from the stomach. These reports make more impression on the laity than they do on the medical man. Every once in a while we are privileged to see a really startling example of what the stomach can do when it is put up against it.

I once was present at an operation on an elderly gentleman who had inadvertently swallowed his false teeth. The surgeon removed them without the slightest difficulty and the gentleman went on his way apparently entirely unharmed. I knew he was alive five or six years later, and for all I known to the contrary, he may still be alive. However, he is much more careful with his false teeth then he was and he strenuously objects to that word "inadvertently".

One of our all-time highs in stomach testing occurred not long ago in Brattleboro, Vermont, where a man was found who had an extreme craving for a metallic diet. There were removed from his stomach 197 foreign bodies, which weighed 92 grams. His favorite food was hairpins, but he also was very fond of open safety pins. There were pieces of a safety razor blade, several staples, pieces of glass, part of a bed key screw. He stated to the surgeon before the operation that he covered many of the objects, such as razor blades, with chewing gum or food but in spite of that at times his throat got sore.

These were all removed and he made a good recovery but he was plagued with acid indigestion and went back to his diet of iron, eating 540 pieces of glass, pins, needles, screws, safety pins, a bottle cap, a few fragments from a hatchet and a saw, but he had lost his taste for razor blades. A few years later he did it again, swallowing a set of false teeth, toothpaste tubes ,while still sticking to glass, tacks, safety pins and hairpins. He recovered from all three operations.

The fear of robbery has often lead to the swallowing of money or jewelry. In one case a famous doctor and antiquarian, was captured by bandits, who stole and swallowed all the money he had on his person.

Other records we have show a dog that swallowed his collar and chain, and a woman who ate a search made for them, which was unsuccessful. It was only when it was noticed that the dog was ill and refused food that it was found the wherebouts of his machinery or thraldom was had.

Spoons, scissors, handles of music bones, swabs and roasters have all been reported as having been swallowed.

Breakfast: A glass of fruit juice, or an orange, one half a grapefruit, cereal with added sugar; 1 slice of thin toast with only one-half pat of butter or oleo; 1 cup of coffee, with a little milk and only 1 lump of sugar.

Luncheon: 1 cup of any clear or vegetable soup; cold meat, fish or eggs; 2 vegetables with a little French dressing; 1 egg; 1 glass of skimmed milk; 1 serving of one or two vegetables.

Dinner: 1 cup of clear soup; a lean cut of beef, lamb, while meat, fish, chicken or liver; 1 thin slice of bread with one-half pat of butter; 1 medium-sized potato, baked without butter milk or cream; 2 vegetables, cooked with without added butter; 1 cup of coffee with a little milk and only 1 lump of sugar; stewed or raw fruit, gelatine; a baked apple.

Complete List of the Necessary Articles for Home Medicine Chest

To the List of the recommended articles for the family medicine chest—iodine, rubbing alcohol, boracic acid powder, tannic acid powder, baking soda and mineral oil already discussed here, we must add milk of magnesia. It is always a good thing to have around with which to give relief to an upset or sour stomach, and it is a mild laxative useful in intestinal disturbances.

Petroleum jelly is very well known as a household remedy and deserves to be in every medicine cabinet. It has a variety of uses, from aiding in the handling of wounds by keeping them soft and unirritated to allaying crusts on hair. It has a special value in that it is not absorbed into the body.

Another product that belongs in the medicine chest, of course, is aspirin. It is useful in treating nearly all pains and aches in the human body but is dangerous if used to excess. Some persons are definitely allergic to it. For these people, the doctor will recommend a substitute for your medicine chest.

These are some other drugs commonly found in home medicine chests that I do not recommend for general use. An example is aromatic spirits of ammonia. It is chest-not as necessary an item as any of the products mentioned above, though it does have some value in treatment of an upset stomach when taken ten to fifteen drops in a half a glass of hot water. Its value deteriorates when it is kept very long and it should be thrown out and replaced at intervals.

Epsom Salt is a necessity in my medicine chest and I do not recommend its indiscriminate use to intimate vomiting. It can also be used in small amounts to relieve coughing.

Of course every medicine cabinet should have a hot water bottle with syringe attachments. It is unnecessary to dwell on the uses the hot water bottle can be put to, not the least of which is the enema which I have recommended in preference to medicine when a patient is constipated.

Besides drugs and the indispensable thermometers, there should be the mechanical equipment needed to take care of all wounds and injuries. Bandages, absorbent cotton, adhesive tape, sterile gauze dressing, gauze bandages, a good pair of scissors, a pair of tweezers and a bulb syringe.

Put all these things together, and keep them renewed at intervals, and you have a good family medicine chest.

New Interests Good Cure for Broken Heart

Alice — Has it not been this column over an acute problem she has had? Yes, I have written and queried this summer when her fiance was in Europe. Then I received a letter from the woman he loved, her and that the wedding plans were definitely off. Alice wrote to her and found that the girl she knows in her heart, that this is a temporary affair and that they will not believe otherwise. From his actions and the letter she wrote I realize that he means exactly what he says.

The thing for Alice to do is to get over the whole affair as quickly as possible. She has written to me once to adjust herself to the new conditions, that love is not something to her impossible and the outlook terribly futile for her. She suggested time. But with will power and determination she will come through the crisis with flying colors.

The first things for her to do is to get her wedding gifts back quietly and to interest herself in anything that will help her to get her mind occupied. She should take up some new hobby, develop new interests, reasonably fascinating for her. She must be counted out of her thoughts for a time.

As she points out, friends make things very difficult for her, talking over her sorrow and sympathizing with her. She must try and keep the conversation away from this matter, refuse to discuss it, and then she will never be able to forget.

Until while the thoughts of being "jilted" are uppermost in her mind just now, she should reflect that that Bob's love for her was not worth having, rather was not worth having, and that this realization come to her before she married and listened after she had been married to him. A recent issue or a national magazine will give her the story of how all girls have loved men who stopped loving them. Then, to try and over it and many of them made conditions that look as though they sought out in a very short while by men totally worthy of them and found in their marriages true and lasting happiness.

Time and time you will write to me again, in three months, and tell me that if you have faithfully followed a program or re-adjustment, just as I have outlined for you. Over letters shows you have character, sympathetic nature and intelligent understanding. With these fine qualities you should be able to make a success and irresistible a sleeping stone, rather than a block, to your future happiness.

Mother Plans Tea in Honor Of Future Daughter-in-Law

Dear Mrs. Beecham:

My eldest son is to be married and my future daughter-in-law and myself are planning to give a tea in honor of the bride. Will you please suggest the form of invitations to be sent out, and also what refreshments would you suggest?

Mother

The most appropriate type of invitation to this tea is the visiting-card invitation. If you wish to include the names of your two daughters-in-law, and if your visiting-card is large enough, their names may be written underneath your engraved name. First under your name would be the name of the wife of your older son. Above your name would be the words "To meet Miss Anne Wood".

The necessary information details would be on the card:

To Meet
Miss Anne Wood
Mrs. John Your Name
Mrs. George Other Name
Mrs. Paul Youngerson
Tea, five to seven
Five Home Place

If it isn't convenient for you to have the type of invitation visiting-card isn't large enough, I suggest that you have a small card called "Informals". On the first page write the three names, as I have suggested above, with the address written in the lower right corner. Inside, write the date and details of the invitation.

The usual refreshments would be the appropriate one: small, slim tea-sandwiches, some bread-and-butter sandwiches, some of open-fillings. It is interesting to have the sandwiches made of several kinds of breads. Have toasted scones or tiny hot or heated biscuits or rolls (opened first, buttered and re-heated) or cinnamon or orange toast with the tea either as an alternative. If the day is warm, an alternative of iced tea or ice-tea or fruit drink. For the sweet course, small plain or iced cakes, or layer cake or slices of plain or fruit cake.

Informal Wedding Calls For Informal Invitations

Dear Mrs. Beecham:

I am to be married informally at the rectory of my church at three-thirty in June. We are planning to have a dinner at my home for the immediate families at noon and a reception at a hall for friends following the ceremony. Would this be correct?

2.—How should the invitations to friends be worded since they are to be invited to the reception only, not to the ceremony? Should the invitations be engraved or would hand-written notes be preferable?

3.—Should invitations be sent to my fiance's immediate family? They do not live in our city.

Bride-to-be

1.—It is not customary to have a dinner or luncheon or any other type of festivity before the wedding ceremony, and, in judgment, this is not a wise plan. To begin with, according to tradition the prospective bride and bridegroom do not plan on the day of the wedding and the time for the ceremony. Also, naturally, everyone is busy and excited. However, it is not really incorrect to have this dinner, but I do not consider it wise and if it is especially what you wish to do, but wouldn't it be better if, at the same time, you have one table for the parents and perhaps other close relatives? You and the bridegroom and your attendants might also sit at this table. And the other guests might be served buffet fashion.

2.—Since you say that your wedding is to be informal, your invitations should be informal. That is, friendly little notes, written preferably by your mother or whoever is to be the hostess of the occasion, are in order.

3.—Yes, the invitations to your fiance's immediate family are the same important of your own invitations, and if possible your mother should write these invitations, and most cordially.

Promoting Intelligent Parenthood

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Those who have been reading this column know that I have for years encouraged parents to band themselves together in small groups to study ways and means of becoming better parents. The increasing number of parents who strive individually to thought and study at home to increase their skill and wisdom in intelligent parenthood has been heartening to me.

This movement toward self-improvement in parenthood began with such organizations as the Child Study Associations of America, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, the American Association of University Women etc. Strangely enough, the church was the last one to get in this worthy movement, nor is it, the country over, very active now in this direction. Yet it would seem that the church, by its very nature, should be foremost in furthering better parenthood and more wholesome family life.

Women's Union

However, one finds here and there, very active and early efforts through religious organizations. To illustrate, The Women's International Religious Union of Philadelphia, Pa., under the leadership of the far-seeing Dr. Dennis Dimmick, has carried on a program for many years through which the churches of various faiths have combined to study groups in the respective local churches. For several years these churches have co-operated in a two-day institute on family life. Indeed, it was my privilege, some years ago, to participate in two of these institutes here in Canada, on March 11 and 12 of this year, Mrs. Myers and I together conducted an institute for this city-wide interdenominational group.

Mothers' Clubs

Last December we met the combined membership of the mothers' clubs of the churches of Canton, Ill., where practically the entire protestant church has such a club. From Canton and Galesburg, Ill., we went to Monmouth and Macomb, Ill., where practically the same church has such a club. From Canton, Galesburg, Macomb and Monmouth the first such club in that city and that locality.

"The club was begun to meet a specific need, the problem of irregular Sunday school attendance. A program was devised for entertaining and feeding the visiting children during the meetings. During the discussions, a mother would ask for the opinions of others on a specific problem of her own. Mothers from other churches came to visit our club and joined it, but eventually their home churches organized their own mothers' clubs. These mothers' clubs have a large circulating library. Occasionally an open date is arranged and the public is invited to hear some person of authority lecture on a subject of interest to all parents".

Why shouldn't there be a mothers' club in every church which also would include fathers?

If she will give herself a cream and almond meal face pack twice a week for a month or so, she'll have that renegade skin toeing the mark and on the straight and narrow, coddling and encouragement. It will respond, be sweet natured.

Almond Meal and Cream

Begin with a thorough face washing with warm water and a bland soap, rinse with tepid water, dry gently. Take three level tablespoonfuls of almond meal, mix with rich cream that is thick enough to bring— whipping cream is best—to a stiff paste. Then smooth and spread, but won't run.

The mask can be applied with the fingers or spread on with a silver table knife. Start the application at the throat, then certain types of birthmarks.

Liver spots and moth patches are caused by sluggishness in the element of the skin. Liver spots, like some kinds of freckles, pop out in summer time, do not seem to affect in the winter season when the flesh is no longer exposed to strong sunlight. When they are in a weakened state it is advisable to apply a mild bleach made by combining equal parts of strained lemon juice and peroxide.

Moth patches are something else again. Any chemical strong enough to annihilate them will destroy the skin itself, and that's bad business. There is always a chance of infection.

Bruins Disband For Season After Winning Stanley Cup In Four Straight From Wings

Boston Team Captures Both N.H.L. and World's Title in Grand Display

SCHMIDT A HERO

One of Smallest Crowds in N.H.L. Playoff History Watches Bruins Win Fourth Game 3-1

Detroit, April 14 (CP)—Boston Bruins today prepared to disband, having completed their business for the season. To homes in as widely scattered parts of Canada and the United States went players to rest, while back to Boston, carrying all the booty available to a National Hockey League team, will go Business Manager, Art Ross, and the club president, Weston Adams.

Bruins won their way with a businesslike flourish to the 1940-41 professional hockey season's finale last night when they scored three times in the second period to beat Detroit Red Wings 3-1 and complete a four-game sweep in the Stanley Cup finals. The best of seven series ended in straight games before one of the smallest crowds in N.H.L. play-off history—only 8,125 paid admissions.

Milt Schmidt raised his point total to 11 with two assists, and made the plays for both tying and winning goals after Carl Liscombe had scored from Syd Howe and Gus Giesebrecht for Detroit in a fast first period. While Jimmy Orlando was off for a minor penalty early in the second period, leaving Detroit short-handed, Schmidt made one play to flash Hollett in the tying goal and set other to Bobby Bauer for the winner. Later in the same period Eddie Wiseman wound up the scoring with a 40-foot drive after a play with Schmidt and Bauer had set McAvoy.

Feeling ran high at times during the game. In the second period a four-man outbreak developed but failed to materialize. Late in the third Carl Liscombe and Pat McMasty were sent to the Boston bench after a shoving affray around the Detroit goal. Both received five-minute penalties.

It was the third Stanley Cup for Boston in the club's history, the others coming in the seasons of 1928-29 and 1938-39. The Boston club, this season set an admirable record, finishing first in the standings over the 48-game schedule which was featured at one time by Bruins' 23-game string of unbeaten games.

SYDNEY DEFEATS MONTREAL TEAM IN FOURTH GAME

Score 8-5 Victory and 'Sudden Death' Tusale Will be Staged Tonight

(Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal, April 14 (CP)—The Allan Cup clock of Sydney Millionaires, ailing off before their 8-5 victory over Montreal Royals Saturday night, hovered at the one peak today after tying Saturday night. Paying a Millionaire machine at the best: they defeated Royals to the score at 5-5 with less than 10 minutes to play, then scored three ahead again.

In contrast to the other games in the series, it was a sweeping exhibition of wide-open hockey before a crowd of 7,000.

The perfect balance of the Millionaires' attack was revealed in the distribution of scoring. Grant Hall and Harry Lalonde Hall bagged a pair of tallies and the others were divided by four players—Johnny McCreedy, Jimmy Orlando, Athokas and Dick Kowcinak, who was hitting full form for the first time since his long injury-siege.

Saskatoon Evens Series With Winnipeg for Western Junior Title by Winning 5-0

Saskatoon, April 14—(CP)—Predictions the Western Canada Junior Hockey Championship series would go the full seven games carried over to extra time as Saskatoon Quakers and Winnipeg Rangers prepared for the fifth game in games standing at two apiece.

Saskatoon evened the series in games in the first three contests played on Winnipeg ice. The team's moved here for the fourth game Saturday night, Quakers smothering the value of familiar surroundings to register a 5-0 win. Manitoba champions 10-5.

A crowd of 2,000 saw Saturday's battle. Quakers set up a 2-0 lead in the first two minutes here as Ken Ullyot and Jack Hall each scored a score when the first period ended, Saskatoon had a 3-0 lead. In the second and counted five times to Rangers' three in the wide-open closing session.

The shift centre star, Ken Ullyot, paced the Quaker attack with four goals while Hall, Saskatoon captain, and Dave Livingstone, Fred Weaver, Tony Lewicki and Harry Watson once each. Rangers' goals went to Bill Robinson, Bill Mosienko, Frank Hamilton, Hugh Millar and Bob Ballance.

OSHAWA JUNIORS DEFEAT ROYALS IN FOURTH GAME

Fifth and Deciding Game for Eastern Junior Title Will be Played Tuesday

SCORE IS 7-1

By ROBERT CLARKE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, April 14 (CP)—A single game held the answer today to the question of whether Oshawa Generals will represent the east in the Memorial Cup hockey final, as they have done for the past three years, or whether the honor will go to Montreal Royals.

The Generals tied the eastern junior final at two games apiece here Saturday night, by defeating Royals 7-1 before about 6,500 fans. The deciding game will be played here Tuesday night.

Generals, winners of the Memorial Cup last two seasons, held command throughout the fourth contest and only the brilliant work of Goalie Roy Ritchie and the steady defensive play of Bruce Ward and Bill Southwick kept the score from mounting higher.

Needing a victory to escape elimination, the Generals swept to the offensive from the start. They scored twice in the first period and five times in the third as Royals were held to a single tally in the first period by Bobby Carpenter, who counted on rare favorites to take the final contest.

Oshawa's first big period goals went to N. Meates. High goal-getter of the night, however, was Roy Sawyer, who scored three of the third period tallies. The other two Oshawa scores went to Ron Wilson and Jim Conacher.

Generals boasted his total to six with his tally, which was another which originated in a pass to Meates and became his team's high scorer.

The goal that clinched the game for the Generals was Sawyer's first of the night. Conacher made the score 3-1. It came while Royals were short two men through penalties.

SHORT SITTING OF C.A.H.A. HELD

Amendments Made for Quick Branch-to-Branch Transfers

Calgary, April 14 (CP). — The annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association opened today with discussions of proposed changes in by-laws and playing rules by district delegates.

Opening of the convention was marked by the fact that each of seven delegates Saturday and only a few Monday of the annual C.A.H.A. meeting adjourned over Sunday.

Saturday business sessions heard Cecil Duncan of Ottawa charge the "central committee" had acted illegally when it refused to allow the eastern intermediate playoffs this spring. Duncan said the Ottawa district sanctioned the committee should not have flouted a decision of the year's annual convention authorizing the playoffs.

The delegates approved regulations amending provisions for quick branch to branch international transfers. The new clauses force quicker rulings and limit the time players can be held.

The charge by Mr. Duncan came while the convention was hearing a report on the western intermediate playoffs which were cancelled because of a net operating profit of $1,789, described by the report as the "unexpected" success.

Replying to Mr. Duncan, President Gordon Lindsay of Midland, Ont. said the eastern series had been cancelled because there was all operating loss last season, it was not financially possible to repeat the serious war situation might bring and it was impossible to get maritimes and west would enter teams in the playoffs.

The president spoke optimistically about renewing the eastern intermediate playoffs next season.

REGINA RANGERS WIN WESTERN SENIOR TITLE

Defeat Lethbridge 3-2 to Win Series Three Games to One

COME FROM BEHIND

Calgary, April 14—(CP)—Regina Rangers, a conglomeration of castoffs, rookies and Indian players, have the Western Canada Senior Hockey Championship back in the Saskatchewan capital today for the first time since 1922 and they won't be satisfied until they bring the Allan Cup back to the banks of the Wascana.

The team that Freddy Metcalfe flung together at the last minute to get into the Saskatchewan League playoffs and then smashed as they edged out Lethbridge Maple Leafs 3-2 here Saturday night to win the Western Canada final series three games to one.

Rangers will remain idle in Calgary until next Saturday, when they meet the eastern champion either Montreal or Sydney—in the opening game of the best-of-five series for the Allan Cup.

Maple Leafs took a one-goal lead late in the second period on a counter by Alec Kaleta during a power-play. After Alf Kunkel made it 1-1 early in the third, opening game of the best-of-five series for the Allan Cup.

Maple Leafs took a one-goal lead late in the second period on a counter by Alec Kaleta during a power-play. After Alf Kunkel made it 1-1 early in the third, Lethbridge's Bill Webber scored on Marshall Darling's goal at the 18-minute mark.

The possibility of Rangers wiping out that lead again appeared slim but at the 18-minute mark Harvey Barnes, Lethbridge defenceman, let a clear the puck and Kunkel came out of the net unchecked to score and unmolested in front of the Maple Leafs' goal. He scored again at 12 feet out.

Lethbridge appeared discomfited seconds later when Hermie Grenier passed from the corner and 18-year-old Frank Macie, uncovered in front of the Maple Leaf net, beat Andy Young easily for the winning goal.

New York, April 14 (AP)—Baseball bows in today with the first skirmish of the 1941 Major League season.

The opening game matches New York Yankees and Washington Senators in the capital with President Roosevelt giving the affair a formal flourish by throwing out the first ball. For the rest of the clubs the first inning will start tomorrow.

And while they waited today the pilots looked into the future, past and reached the unanimous conclusion that all clubs are stronger than last year, but several in both the National and American Leagues will be weaker and the season generally should be successful.

Connie Mack, starting his 41st year at the helm of Philadelphia Athletics and his 48th as a manager, keynoted the comments collected by The Associated Press with an observation that the war with an observation that the war tension, increased employment and freer circulation of money would be reflected to the advantage of all baseball league.

Will Want Relaxation

"People are keyed up more than they realize," said the 78-year-old sage of the diamond. "And I expect they'll be wanting to go to the ball games and relax."

Mack gained considerable repute as a prophet last spring by forecasting the downfall of the Athletics and correctly spotting them in third place. But this year he is inclined to think the New York members will hit the target in the American League.

Del Baker, manager of Detroit's surprise pennant winners of '40, is "as a fifty-fifty proposition" as to the fortunes of the Detroit Tigers, this year, but will all depend on whether Hank Greenberg, Detroit slugger and Newsom can come up with big years."

Joe McCarthy of the Yankees said: "I will say I'm not worrying about my team."

The virtually unanimous opinion of the Baseball League experts that Cincinnati's world champions hold the key to the flinch.

Germany Claims Nazi And Italian Forces Linked

Berlin, April 14 (AP)—The German high command today reported that German and Italian forces had linked their lines in southern Yugoslavia north of Lake Ochrida.

On other fronts the Germans said their Stuka planes out-ran Yugoslav units west of Zagreb, in the newly-formed Croat puppet state.

The air force was reported to have renewed attacks on the Salamis area. The Good Friday attack on Salamis roadstead followed Thursday's aerial assaults on the harbor of Salamis and Piraeus, both ports serving Athens.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you suffer from pain, itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be applied at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from J. S. McKeown or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used inter-nally is in small easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itch-ing and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recom-mended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition. When such a fine remedy may be had at so little cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

AT THE CAPITOL

"I See Ice"

A more opportune booking for the Capitol couldn't have been made to order.....for "I see Ice" has everything about it to make us confidence that a young photographer without a future. But he did; and it and he landed in London with a skating team, Kay Walsh and her obnoxious partner. Their accidental "flight" ended up a newspaper photographer after a position as editor, and his ideal-ability as a cameraman, was due largely to Kay, and with a miniat-ture camera hidden in his tie, he took pictures of a hockey game for a newspaper which otherwise had been barred from the arena.

That, the producers considered different plot than that in which you're accustomed to seeing George. There's no war in this one.....but even a hint of it.....and ....laughs are based on the same grim situations than those in which you saw him in "It's in the Air" and "Let George Do It."

Here he's a flier, but not and he doesn't sock Hitler on the jaw. But he has fun with the pilot, thus dragging in the inevitable Formby "chase." This one takes him at the end of a speeding express train, a ladies' wash room, a Lon-don theater, a night club, and eventually a hockey arena — with just the results you'd expect.

AT THE BELLE

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary"

Taking its place among the best of the popular Hardy family series, "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary" finds its engagement at the Belle tonight.

High school graduation, a subject dear to the hearts of parents and youngsters alike, is one highlight of these two hours spent in the famous family, with the inimitable Andy Hardy heading a junior committee that has almost misses the big night. In a surprise of the film is found in the person of two newcomers to the screen, both headed for stardom. The first is Kathryn Grayson, sev-enteen year old coloratura soprano, who makes her screen debut as Andy's secretary. Miss Grayson is the possessor of a rich, clear singing voice and more than her share of acting ability. The other is Todd Karns, one of the outstanding juv-enile lead finds of the year. Mick-ey Rooney, Lewis Stone, Fay Hol-den and Sara Haden turn in their usual characterizations and Judge Belle newsreel and a clever fun cartoon precede the feature attrac-tion.

Sneh Hasn't a Chance

How a fast-stepping young secre-tary makes a real guy out of Snow White's seven dwarfs, enlivens provides a plot of fun in "A Girl, A Guy and a Gob," which co-stars Ann George Murphy, Lucille Ball and Edmond O'Brien, coming next to the Belle Theatre.

Produced by Harold Lloyd, fore-most screen comedian, the RKO Radio film present O'Brien as the staid business man who is eventu-ually humanized by his secretary, Lucille Ball, but not without bring-ing hilarious complications and em-barrassments between the young lady and her sailor crewmate, George Mur-phy.

"Gallant Sons" Unusual

Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville, Gene Reynolds and other clever youngsters mingle hilarious adven-ture with thrills and tense drama-tic moments in "Gallant Sons" dramatic story of childhood loyal-ties, announced as the added fea-ture attraction. It deals with high school youngsters in the wild west, mingling the more serious side of youngsters approaching manhood and womanhood with the comical predicaments in which youngsters and Dunsmuir.

The Belle new's of the day will be exhibited on the same program.

"POT O' GOLD"

Fun and laughter, music and dancing, romance and youth are de-lightfully blended in James Roose-velt's Hollywood offering, "Pot o' Gold", a tuneful and melodious comedy with music, which opened with a premiere performance Sun-day after midnight, at the Mc-Carthy Theatre, and was most thor-oughly enjoyed by a capacity audi-ence.

Brilliantly directed by George Marshall, "Pot o' Gold" has a great acting cast headed by James Stew-art and Paulette Goddard and fea-turing the famous music of Horace Heidt and his musical knights.

"Pot O' Gold" unwinds a story packed with humor and excitement and interspersed with gay and light-hearted musical and dancing se-quences. It revolves around the the fortunes of an impecunious band leader who presents the pro-gram on the rooftop of a down-at-the-heels boarding house. Paulette Goddard stars as the pseudo-landlady and Horace Heidt's 30-piece band plays a specially composed and fea-tured song, "Pot O' Gold".

The song-and-dance tunes which belong in the hit class include "When Johnny Toots His Horn", "Knife, Fork and Spoon", "Pen, Ink Paper" and "Do You Believe in Fairy Tales?" These catchy songs are de-livered with the usual experience and brilliance of the Horace Heidt band, which has proved to be one of the outstanding bands in the busi-ness.

"Pot O' Gold" was filmed from the fast-paced and well-knit screen-play by Walter De Leon. The new Roose-velt production must have been a top-flight hit, which entertains audiences of all kinds will agree from the first shot to the final fade-out.

Life seemed nothing but endless GREASY dishwashing

THEN I TRIED RINSO—in a minute all grease vanished

THEN grease floated on the dishwater, clung to the plates and made a horrid ring round the dishpan. Then I tried Rinso . . . I was amazed! The grease just vanished! Rinso's thick suds, you see, absorb all the grease in no time. Dishes come out sparkling, and drying is much easier. I'm finished in half the time now. Try Rinso for your dishwashing. For greater economy get the GIANT package.

RINSO ABSORBS GREASE

Trenton and District

Trenton, April 10—The Mission Tea Shoppe conducted by the local Red Cross Society on Dundas St., just east of the highway bridge, has become a popular meeting spot for afternoon tea.

Attentive and charming hostesses are on duty each afternoon and the volume of business is daily increasing. Already one cheque of $36 has been passed to the local branch of the Red Cross Society from the surplus funds accumulated from the sale of cups of tea and accompanying dainty morsels. Surplus funds are now being accumulated for the making of presents to be sent to the boys in camp and Prince Edward Regiment overseas.

Mrs. Clarence Saylor presides over the organization which has been accomplishing the notable patriotic work. The walls of the tea room are hung with the mural paintings executed by Mrs. Saylor.

A large group of ladies assisted in their turn at the shoppe. They are: Mrs. E. A. Simmonds, Mrs. C. W. Farley, Mrs. W. J. Johnston, Mrs. A. Black, Mrs. A. Hill, Mrs. G. Flinn, Mrs. F. P. Boyce, Mrs. H. D. Graham, Miss Doris Powers, Mrs. Jim Sharpe, Mrs. J. Ahearn, Mrs. Allan Harcourt, Mrs. Allen Hubbs, Mrs. J. H. Owens, Mrs. W. B. McClung, Mrs. Harold McClung, Mrs. O. G. Noyes, Mrs. F. Reid, Mrs. J. E. Renton, Mrs. A. Blakely, Mrs. Norman Hall, Mrs. Angus Mowat, Mrs. H. Hall, Mrs. R. Wilson, Mrs. Perris, Mrs. Bruce Graham, Mrs. L. D. Foster, Mrs. W. Hoose, Jr., Mrs. J. Bate, Mrs. Gordon Johnson, Mrs. D. McKay, Mrs. Wm. Bain, Mrs. Cavanaugh, Mrs. A. Burtons, Mrs. R. W. Burns, Mrs. M. Waldorf and Mrs. T. W. Spear.

Mrs. R. Fortune Elected

Mrs. R. Fortune was elected to succeed Mrs. L. LaMorte, as president of the Trenton sub-division of the Catholic Women's League for the coming year.

Other officers of the league are: Past President, Mrs. L. LaMorte, 1st Vice-President, Mrs. G. Robinson, 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. G. Blondin, 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. O. Lee, Recording Secretary, Mrs. Dessie, Corresponding Secretary, Miss Driscoll, Treasurer, Mrs. T. B. Gauthier, Councillors appointed are Mrs. Peters, Mrs. G. Augur, Mrs. John McGreary and Mrs. Cole.

According to the annual report given by Mrs. T. N. Gauthier, the Catholic Women's League had accomplished outstanding parochial work. Many finished articles were sent to the Red Cross workroom and the C.W.L. donated $60 to the Red Cross Society.

The members co-operated with the national body in contributing their quota to the $25,000 donation to the Canadian Government for war purposes, also aided in the collection for war service.

Under the capable direction of Mrs. J. Kerr, Trenton sub-division has established itself as an auxiliary hospital, providing equipment and supplies for the R.C.A.M.C. station hospital and rendering invaluable assistance to the Nursing Sisters in charge of the hospital. Mrs. Kerr has also assisted the V.O.N. activities.

Butter Prices Tend To Ease

Toronto — Butter remained easy and unsettled in inactive dealings on the Toronto grain exchange yesterday, while eggs held about steady.

Gains on the butter market were only sufficient to establish a declining price range, and were insufficient to reduce prices in an effort to interest buyers in the commodity, receipts to be small. No. 1 grade Ontario creamery butter was offered in heavier volumes at 31 cents a pound, bids were lacking. Grade A creamery butter, although some points quoted a price of 31 cents a pound, failed to be traded in. Grade B butter in sympathy with the wholesale market, top grades were 30½ cents a pound.

Arrivals of fresh receipts proved enough to satisfy the fair local demand on the egg market, but left both sections of trading held about even with previous levels.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, April 14 (CP)—Produce market quiet and unchanged on Saturday, as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture:

Butter—First grade creamery prints, delivered, 31c to 31½c; first grade solids, jobbing price, 31½c to 32c; fresh made pasteurized regraded, wholesale price, 29 3-4c; Quebec No. 2 regraded, 32c. Receipts at Montreal Harbour cash week last year, 2,523 boxes.

Eggs—Graded shipments in used two case, selling at A-large, 21½c; A-medium, 20c to 21½c; pullets, 19c to 20c; B grade, 20c; C grade, 18c. Receipts for week, 13,329 cases, last year, 11,366 cases.

Livestock

Cows, good, $9 and $9.50. Medium good, $8.75; medium $8.50 to $8.50 while common down to $6. A few red calves sold at $10.50. Bulls, $8 with medium good kinds $7.50. Good cows $6.50 with a few $7, medium $5.50-$5.75 and butchers $4.25. Canners sold at the reduced $3.50-$4 and bulls $4.25-$4.75.

A few quality veals $8.50 while there were a few heavy calves at $7.50-$8 and common lights as low as $5. Sheep, $7 for choice and $6.50 for lambs and sheep were steady. No price was established for hogs. There were, no cattle unsold from last week.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 2,630, calves 580, sheep 1,000, hogs about 700.

Butcher steers and heifers sold at $7.50-$8.75, butcher cows at $4.50-$6.75, bulls at $4.50-$6.50, fed calves at $8.75-$10.50, and fed yearling stockers at $7.50-$8.

Veal calves sold at $11-$12 for choice with a few tops at $13.50 and common light selling downward to $6.

Local fed lot lambs sold at $10-$10.50.

Sheep sold at $3-$6.

Hogs prices generally at $11.25-$11.45 dressedweight at yards or plants and sold liveweight at yards.

WALL STREET

New York, April 14 (AP)—Stocks generally sold off sharply in heavy trading without being subjected to a great deal of pressure. Prices of issues which might have picture apparently influenced many buyers.

While a number of leaders dipped fractions to a point or so into new low ground during the first hour of the start, offerings soon dried up and, near the fourth hour, scattered recoveries were in evidence.

Action of the Steel Corporation in granting a 10-cent/per hour wage increase for 50,000 workers was the market highlight.

Among stocks—hitting new bottoms for 1941 before attempting firmer bids were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible Steel, Youngstown Sheet, National Steel, American Tobacco "B", Anaconda Copper, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Chrysler, Air Reduction, Montgomery Ward and Woolworth.

Resistant issues included Standard Oil of N.J., Texas Corp., United Aircraft, Pullman and Caterpillar Tractor.

In the Canadian department Lake Shore and Home Oil were active while Canadian Pacific advanced a small fraction.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, April 14—(CP)—Dress. Hogs: Selects, $11.25; butchers, $11.25; Breakfast $10.85; plus transportation. London $11.10 dressed.

Prices reviewed the Pan Western transportation line, which Japanese war ended in 1920, including the routes, equipment, rates, and assorted: "Some statesmen in Japan tried to regard the Soviet Union as an object of their aggressive policy. This was a great mistake from the point of U.S.S.R., while carrying on a peaceful policy, always allowed and never allow anybody to dictate to it a policy against its interests."

Prices were for Tokyo only in short time after signing the pact, though Stalin and Matsuoka, the five Stalin ever has been known to say such things in a visiting Stalinman.

The treaty valid for five years, pledges the two powers to respect each other's "territorial integrity and inviolability."

It was accompanied by a declaration solemnly binding both to respect the boundary of the Russian-Japanese Mongolian People's republic and the Soviet would do the same for Japanese-sponsored Manchukuo.

"The neutrality pact and declaration, therefore, will make for peace in the Communist party organization, and for stability and security of influence, since they constitute an important step for the improvement of relations between the Soviet Union and Japan, whose governments are resolved, by this pact, to establish a firmer basis for peaceful and friendly relations between their countries," Tokyo Domei said.

Pravda's statement was made in the form of comment on Tokyo and Moscow radio news agency. It said the declaration "puts an end to the petty intrigues" of both of the two.

"The importance of the neutrality pact is that it is not limited, but is continued, since it was signed at the moment when the European war was continues spreading and including new countries.

"At such a moment, normalization and improvement of relations between the two great states has a very important step in the cause of peace and in strengthening the Soviet Union's policy of peaceful relations with all countries, neighbors and other countries."

Furthermore, Pravda asserted, the agreement paves the way for "settlement of remaining outstanding issues between the U.S.S.R. and Japan, including the fishing convention which lapsed this year."

Pravda added that now "all obstacles are removed."

The agreement is all-embracing. It continued, declaring that Japan and Russia "desire to be good neighbors and "not hinder each other in the fulfillment of the great national tasks."

Widely different reactions came swiftly from the world capitals.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull looked at themselves in Washington—one taking the view that the pact foreshadows a new era of cooperation unfavorable to British-United States interests, the other that the effect of speculating that it might bring decisions in the Far East favorable to American interests in Europe.

(Some sources felt that Great Japan had acquired Russian and Japanese news agency, called "back-door" publication of the pact, in order to go ahead with her heralded south-ward expansion.

(Others said Russia had gained the same kind of "reassurance" which Japan and Axis-partners was relieved of any fear she might have of taking a strong attitude toward Britain in the Balkans.

It was also seen as assuring Russia of peace in the east should Germany attack Russia in the Balkans.

The term was also taken to mean that Japan had acquired Russian promise

THE CAMERA CATCHES THE NEWS

British army commanders are looking forward to the day when they will be able to order their troops on a general offensive against the Nazis. Vigorous military exercises are being carried out with the great day in view. British soldiers are pictured practising charging over barbed wire entanglements with the aid of heavy rope mats.

Galt, Ont., April 14—(CP)—Two houses were damaged extensively and windows in dozens of nearby homes were shattered after lightning hit a tree here yesterday. Large splinters of wood blasted from the big maple that was struck were found 400 yards from the scene.

The homes of Randolph Agnew and E. O. McDonald, on Birch St., received the full force of the electrical explosion which came during a brief thunder shower.

The bolt hit the tree located in the back yard of the McDonald property and then is believed to have travelled through the ground to the cellars and up into the houses. Mrs. Agnew and Mrs. McDonald both suffered severe cases of shock, but other members of the family were unharmed.

Water Connections Broken

Water connections to several houses were broken. In both the McDonald and Agnew homes plaster was knocked off the walls, dishes were broken, all the windows were shattered and splinters of wood flew through windows and were imbedded in the wall. A shed located 100 feet from the tree had large holes in the three-quarter inch siding through which splinters were blown.

The telephone bell box in the McDonald home had the wood cover shattered. Mrs. F. C. Ballantyne said a stove had tipped over in the McDonald home and that Mrs. McDonald had smothered the red hot coals which spilled on the floor.

Alderman J. H. Brewer, whose home is south of McDonald's, was blown out of bed onto the floor when the bolt struck and assisted the neighboring families for half an hour and then suffered a reaction and had to be treated by a physician.

Bicycle Twisted

The handle bars, seat and pedals were blown off a bicycle belonging to Mr. Agnew and the remaining frame was twisted, a new radio in the McDonald home was blown into pieces. Mr. Agnew said that in his room the bed was shoved from one wall to another.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austen Scraith, on Henry St., all the windows on the south side were shattered. A large splinter from the tree flew through a window and lodged under a bed in which one of their children was sleeping. Glass splinters fell around a son of F. R. Crawford, on Albert St., when he was standing near a window and he narrowly missed being injured.

In addition to the interior damages at the Agnew and McDonald homes, the outside walls were severely shaken and doubt was expressed as to whether the houses could be made habitable again. The east wall on the McDonald house was forced out by the concussion and while it did not give way there is a large bulge in it.

Trenton and District

Trenton, April 14—Trentonians turned out by hundreds for church yesterday and practically every church in the town was overcrowded for Easter services.

Holy Communion at seven in the morning, held in the chapel of St. George's Church was well-attended, while large numbers of communicants attended the communion services at eight and eleven o'clock. Rev. J. L. Hutchinson, L.Th., preached and conducted the services assisted by Rev. J. W. Robinson, B.A. Miss Dorothy Galna was the organist.

Easter music

Both morning and evening services at the King Street United Church were well-attended, yesterday. Rev. P. G. McLennan, B.A., the minister, was in charge of the special Easter services, with Leslie Hearts at the organ.

Presbyterians filled the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to capacity for the morning and evening services conducted by Rev. Ross C. McLean, B.A. Mrs. C. B. Wilkins was the organist playing the special Easter music.

A combined service for the Sunday School, congregation and junior choir was held at Grace United Church, yesterday morning. Rev. George D. Campbell, the Minister conducted the services. The members of the Sunday School gave an excellent rendition of the Easter Cantata.

Although the rain on Easter Sunday noticeably affected the Easter parade, hundreds of citizens welcomed the rain, which was badly needed. Even the light showers of yesterday seemed to bring the grass back to life after a dormant winter, while crocuses showed their heads above the ground in many flower beds throughout the town.

Season Seen to Open

With the opening of the Trenton Softball League less than a month away, softballers in this town now advantage of the warm sunshine over the holiday weekend to get in a little practice.

The teams have already signified their intention of playing in the league this year and President Jesse Baker promises that softball will hold an important place in the entertainment of the Trentonians.

Plans are being laid by the committee, for the opening game. A parade will be held prior to the game with the Lions Club boys band, making their initial appearance on the streets of Trenton, this season. Tickets will be sold for the opener and the proceeds will be donated to the work.

The teams as they have lined up are The Bata Shoe, Frankford; Quinte Transport, Glen Miller; Continental Can; Canadian Dorothy; R.C.A.F. and 6 A.R.D. Station at the Airport.

Wife Of Columnist Held For Slaying

Dallas, Tex., April 14 (AP) — Mrs. Juanita Elizabeth Barr, wife of a Dallas newspaper columnist, was at liberty under $25,000 bond today on charges of murder in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Blanche Woodall, 27, former night club dancer.

Mrs. Woodall was slain Saturday night and Mrs. Barr was arrested at a tourist camp the next day.

Mrs. Woodall was the estranged wife of Bennie Woodall, fight trainer. They had two children.

Eddie Barr, husband of the woman charged with the slaying, told police he and his wife had separated a week ago.

VITAL WATERWAY OPENED BY TUGS

86 Great Lakes Freighters Tied Up by Ice Jam Again Start to Move

Detroit, April 14—(AP)—An ice jam in the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair that blocked passage of more than 86 Great Lakes freighters was broken this morning to open the vital waterway to ships stopping.

Twenty-one vessels ice-bound in the south channel of the St. Clair River were freed through the combined efforts of coast guardsmen and two tugs. Thirty vessels anchored off Detroit began moving slowly before noon in upbound passage.

The coast guard cutter Cosipes from Cleveland was directing traffic through the lower reaches of Lake St. Clair as ship movements were resumed.

The steamship Alex McDougall grounded Saturday north of Algonac, released herself at 9.30 a.m. today and led the procession of downbound boats toward Detroit.

Capt. Ralph Millard, directing the ice breaking work of the tugs Idaho and Wyoming, said that the ice in some instances was 15 feet deep.

EXPECT BOARD TO BE APPOINTED

Will Deal With Application For Cost of Living Bonus

Ottawa, April 14 (CP)—Appointment of a Board of Conciliation to deal with an application from the war labor organization for a cost of living bonus is expected shortly.

The unions, representing practically all classes of workers employed by the railways and steamers, maintenance of way employees, clerks, freight and express handlers—applied for the bonus under the order-in-council of last December which was designed to stabilize wartime wages and prevent deterioration in the workers' standard of living as a result of rising costs. It is understood the labor department today that arrangements are being made to set up the Board which will be the first called upon to apply the government's wartime wage policy to a large nation-wide industry.

The order-in-council declares wage levels prevailing in the period from 1926 to 1928 a basic standard for present wage adjustments. It provides that increases above that basic standard must be by way of cost of living bonuses rather than increases in wage rate and stipulates that cost of living bonuses may be granted by boards only when the actual cost of necessities of life increases more than five per cent.

ORDERS INQUEST IN TWISS DEATH

Toronto, April 14 —(CP)— Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson said today he had ordered an inquest into the death of Basil G. Twiss, Toronto insurance executive, after an autopsy on the body revealed that vitamin B injections infected by staphylococcus contributed to death.

Several other patients who were treated with the same injection are in Toronto General Hospital under treatment, All were reported improving and out of danger today.

Mr. Twiss, 57, widely-known in insurance circles and for the past two years president and general manager of the B.A. Twiss Company, died in hospital Friday after a brief illness. The death certificate listed accidental poisoning as the cause.

Dr. W. L. Robinson, Provincial pathologist, was ordered to perform an autopsy and all other patients who had been given the same injection immediately.

No date was set for the inquest.

SEIZED ITALIAN SEAMEN ARRIVE FOR STAY AT ELLIS ISLAND

Between two rows of armed U.S. coast-guardsmen march the 500 Italian seamen who were taken from the Italian luxury liner Conte Biancamano when the vessel was seized in the Panama canal zone. Women are among them, stewardesses and maids from the seized liner. They arrived at the army base in Brooklyn aboard the transport Leonard Wood, from the Canal Zone. From there the immigration authorities took them in hand and transported them to Ellis Island. This photograph was made on their arrival at the island. Though closely guarded, officially they are "not under arrest."

International Forum' On War

The consensus of four brilliant minds, correspondents, observers and writers of the United States, who have spent much time in Europe and other theatres of war, is to be brought before the public in the "International Forum" broadcast running currently at the McCarthy theatre.

Miss Dorothy Thompson, internationally famous correspondent and commentator, Wythe Williams, William Bitner, Columbia Broadcasting Company's reporter recently returned from Berlin, and Linton Wells, another Columbian observer, are shown in the film exchanging opinions, gained from personal contact with the greats of the belligerent nations and general observations made from world movements in general. Mr. Williams and Miss Thompson declare there is no foundation for the claim of Nazi invincibility.

Hitler's actual map, on which he predicted his final world domination is shown. It portrays the tentacles of the Swastika octopus stretching out and absorbing the many countries, and the Balkans. Oddly enough on Hitler's map the British Isles are covered with a piece of paper, symbolizing Hitler's aim of complete eradication.

After exchanging opinions, in themselves extraordinary statements, the four panelists are to hear the most terrific punishment—but will survive. Lionel Wells forecasts the complete downfall of the Fascist dictatorship. William Bitner says that Germany will go all-out in an attempt to win the war this year, while Mr. Williams gives his forecast in one word, Nazis will meet their "Waterloo."

The board of adjudicators of the Canadian Performing Right Society making awards in the fourth annual scholarship competition for young Canadian composers. This year's competition brought 41 entrants and the scholarship value $750, was awarded to Wan. Keith Rogers, 19, of Charlottetown, P.E.I. Cash awards were given to Phyllis Gommer, 21, Kingston; Jean Fraser, 21, Mt. Allison university, Sackville, N.B.; Lawrence Goodrvill, Vancouver, B.C.; and junior prizes to Clermont Pepin, 14, College de Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere, Kamouraska, Que.; Clayton Rose, 12, Coleman, Alta.; and Joyce Maureen Cohn, 9, London, Ontario. Adjudicators, LEFT to RIGHT, Hector Charlesworth, Prof. Leo Smith, Toronto; Godfrey Hewitt, Ottawa; H. T. Jamieson, president of the society; and sir Ernest MacMillan, Toronto.

THE WAR TODAY

By GUY ROBADES
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Japan apparently has opened a new phase in the war of nerves by negotiating a five-year neutrality accord with Russia, but the full significance of the pact is far from clear.

The agreement, fruit of Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka's European tour, ostensibly would protect Japan's "back door" in the event she instituted aggressive action against her Pacific neighbors or the United States, but some observers see other implications in it.

In the first place, it is argued, Russia, like other nations, does not sign treaties lightly from any spirit of sheer altruism. At the moment she has not much to fear from Japan, being neutral herself while Japan is embroiled in the long war with China.

In the second place Russia probably is no more sure than anyone else that she has not something to fear from Hitler's drive toward the east. The golden wheat of Ukrainia might well prove an irresistible temptation to Germany should the day arrive when the Nazi heir has been tightened to the last notch.

Counteracts Berlin Ballyhoo

Should such a situation arise, and it might occur within the five years that treaty is supposed to live —it would be in Russia's interest to have a non-belligerent Japan at her back door. It would also be to Russia's interest to have Japan committed to benevolence should the Soviet find bound to go to the aid of Turkey or some other Balkan neighbor.

Russia's reaction to Hungary's participation in the Yugoslav campaign was angry and cynical. It was noted.

This reaction in fact did as much as anything to counteract ballyhoo in Berlin, Rome and Tokyo which sought to advertise the agreement as heralding a virtual alliance of Russia to the axis.

Japan officially hailed the pact as a contribution to world peace, a declaration which was rendered less credible by the prudent tone of the Japanese press which said, among other things, that the treaty "definitely is a blow to the activities and policies of the United Sates in the Pacific."

St. John's, Nfld., April 14—(CP Cable)—The second disturbance in three nights in the Newfoundland Penitentiary was quelled last night when guards turned hoses on the convicts.

The men threw plates and ripped up cell fittings in protest against treatment of their alleged leader in a previous demonstration. Friday night they went through a similar performance because, it was reported, they thought the penitentiary was no place to imprison a number of juvenile delinquents.

Order was restored when police arrived and the rioters were removed to the city lockup.

The Tate Creek group was organized by a group of Czecho-Slovaks who fled their native land when it was invaded by Nazi forces. On arrival in Canada they established a farm colony in the Peace River district.

BRITISH TROOPS HASTEN TO DEFENCE OF EGYPT

Axis Forces Drive Apparently Aimed At Suez Canal

No Attempt In London To Minimize The Seriousness Of Situation—British Have Strong Position At Mersa Matruh

London, April 15 (CP)— Thousands of British imperial troops released from the East African front were reported hastening to the defence of Egypt today in the drive with mechanized axis forces pushing from the west in a drive apparently aimed at the Suez Canal.

With the British garrison at Tobruk, Libya, besieged in by General Rommel and Italian units which already have reached the Egyptian outpost of Salum, there was no attempt here to minimize the seriousness of the situation.

Although public confidence in Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British middle east commander, was strong, most observers agreed that he is facing a more difficult task than the one he accomplished only a few months ago when he drove the Italians out of Egypt.

Possibility Egypt May Soon Declare War — Cabinet Holds Secret Session

(By The Canadian Press)

British troops have driven back a series of thrusts by Hitler's mechanized columns on the right flank of the British centre and left line, after the Allies withdrew to a deeper front in the centre.

The Greek high command reported the Germans advanced in the centre toward two towns 40 miles from Greece—Kosani and Florina —south of the Albanian and Yugoslav frontiers and 30 miles south of Florina.

Greek forces have withdrawn from the Servian (Kozani) sector in southeast Albania, the Greek high command said, "the enemy discovered the withdrawal 24 hours after it began and sought in vain to hinder it by pushing forward motorcyclists."

The London radio declared that "strong British reinforcements are now arriving on the front lines in Greece."

On the North African front, thousands of British and Imperial troops released from the East African front were reported speeding to the defence of Egypt, in a race with Axis mechanized columns driving into the ancient land of the Pharaohs from the Libyan desert.

BRITISH PLANES BOMB BRINDISI ROME REPORTS

Valona on the Albanian Side Also Attacked by Night Fighters

ISSUE COMMUNIQUE

Rome, April 15 (AP)— British planes bombed Brindisi, on the Italian side of the Adriatic, and Valona, on the Albanian side, last night, the Italian high Command reported today.

The daily communique claimed that Fascist columns in Yugoslavia, advancing from the north and from Zara, had occupied the railway centre of Zlin, about midway of the Adriatic coastline.

The Italians also reported their troops had occupied the Yugoslav port of Sibenik, southwest of Zlin, and confirmed a previous report they had reoccupied Corfoa, which the Greeks had held since Nov. 22.

The Greek High Command announced its troops had taken orders to withdraw from Corizza and said it was not until 24 hours later that the Italians discovered the move. The Greek command added the Italians tried to hinder the withdrawal with motorcycle troops of whom many were captured.

Pickets Patrol Surrounding Area Of London Hotel

London, Ont., April 15—(CP)— Pickets patrolled the area surrounding the hotel London today as the city's first hotel workers' strike got under way.

Union officials said this morning one hundred and twenty-six employes of the hotel had walked out on strike. Their aim: to have selected the six pickets who patrolled the hotel area and are ready to await arrival of a conciliation officer from the Department of Labor at Toronto.

The conciliation officer is expected this afternoon or tomorrow morning and union officials said he seems to be little likelihood of a settlement of the walkout. The management has made no statement nor any efforts to meet with the strikers, union officials said.

Striking employes are members of the Canadian Hotel Workers' Union and make up about 90 per cent of those employed at the hotel. Chambermaids, bellhops, waiters and other servers are included.

The dispute which ended in this strike began March 26 when hotel management refused to recognize the union or advance pay of employes to conform with a new wage scale. Workers seek increases amounting to $3 and $5 per week.

Two Accomplices Of Sing Sing Trio Admit Smuggling Guns Into Prison

White Plains, N.Y., April 15 (AP)—Two accomplices of the convict trio that crashed out of Sing Sing yesterday with a loss of four lives admitted early today their part in the dramatic break and were charged with first-degree murder.

District Attorney Elbert T. Gallagher said that William Wade, 32, and Edward Kiernan, 35, confessed smuggling three revolvers into the big gray prison nearly a month ago to under the cheeks of a milk delivery truck.

With these weapons, Joseph Riordan, Charles McGale and John Waters forced their way to temporary freedom early yesterday after killing a prison guard. Waters was captured this with the gun in a gun moll in Gossining, where a policeman also was slain.

Riordan and McGale escaped across the Hudson River but were captured a few hours later. Fourth was Wade, who died of a prisoner who died from shock.

All three would have made their getaway alone, Gallagher said, had not Wade and Kiernan by smuggling ammunition bungled further plans to assist in the escape by stepping into a beer tavern at a crucial moment.

After nine months, Gallagher said the pair decided the job had been in the making, and all went into action at that point. Wade and Kiernan, with two other outside accomplices who got away in another car, were to have picked up the fleeing trio as they raced past the railroad station where the threesome arrived, however, Wade and Kiernan were captured in "a couple of drinks."

The other two sides, whose identity police withheld, were being hunted today.

SOFIA IS RAIDED BY R.A.F. PLANES, FIRES STARTED

Storage Yards Blaze When Munition Trucks Are Blown Up

TERRIFIC DETONATION

Two Rows of Trucks, Believed to Have Contained Explosives, Are Blasted

Cairo, Egypt, April 15 (AP)— British planes raided Sofia, capital of German-occupied Bulgaria, the night of April 13-14 and started many fires in storage yards where munitions trucks were blown up, the Royal Air Force command announced today.

Long rows of trucks received direct hits and blew up with such a detonation that it was evident they must have contained explosives," a communique said.

The announcement told of other successful attacks by R.A.F. bombers on German convoys in the Balkans, with much damage to personnel and material.

FOUR MEN KILLED IN ARMED CLASH

Harlan County Miners in Kentucky Battle With Guards

Middlesboro, Ky., April 15—(AP) —Four men were killed, eight others were in hospital and more than 15 to 20 received medical treatment early today after gunfire broke out in southeast Kentucky soil coal field.

The dead:

C. W. Rhodes, 45, Middlesboro, President of the Port Edgo Coal Company at the mine.

Sam Evans, Middlesboro, a miner.

Hardman Coy Hensley, 25, whose shooting occurred on the Kentucky side of the Harlan-Bell boundary line near the mountain town and followed a concentration of miners from this county—Bell—and adjoining counties where union organizers have sought to stop all operations pending settlement of work contract, between United Mine Workers Congress of Industrial Organizations-United Mine Workers and Coal Operators of the Appalachian field.

Norwegian Navy Stages 'Extremely Successful' Raid In North Norway

New York, April 15 (AP).—Norwegian naval forces using one of the destroyers Britain obtained from the United States have made an "extremely successful" raid in Northern Norway, the Norwegian Telegram Bureau said today, quoting a message from the Norwegian Legation.

The bureau said the raid was carried out in agreement with the British Admiralty, which turned the former American warship over to the Norwegian navy.

"The raid had been carefully planned by Norwegian naval authorities a long time in advance," the announcement said.

The statement described this as the "last raid" made on Norway, and apparently referred to the one reported authoritatively in London yesterday to have been carried out Sunday.

This was the second—perhaps the third—allied landing in Norway in recent weeks.

The first was made March 4 when the British landed at Lofoten Island, destroyed oil tanks, sank 11 ships under German command, captured 225 prisoners and returned to Britain with 200 Norwegian recruits for the Allied cause.

Reuters News Agency yesterday quoted a Stockholm dispatch to the effect that a Norwegian ship, similarly acting under agreement with the British, made a raid Saturday night.

The German News Agency said in Berlin yesterday that the crew of a British destroyer landed Saturday night at a little Norwegian fishing village north of Tromsoe, burned a building and departed at dawn.

LATEST PROTEST LIKELY TO MEET PROMPT REFUSAL

Third Note Delivered by Italy Over Seizure of 28 Vessels

RELATIONS STRAINED

Washington, April 15 (AP)— Italy's latest protest against seizure of 28 of her ships in United States ports was expected today to meet with prompt and unqualified rejection.

Noting that the protest was based on a contention of illegality, informed persons recalled that the United States Government already has taken the position that American law fully justified its action in placing the ships under coast guard protection and bringing sabotage charges against most of their officers and crewmen.

GERMAN THRUSTS ON BRITISH RIGHT FLANK REPULSED

Mechanized Units Hurled Back by Defence Forces in Greece

NO OTHER CONTACT

Athens, April 15—(AP)—British army headquarters announced today that British and Imperial troops had repulsed several thrusts by German mechanized units on the right flank of the Allied defence line in Greece.

A brief communique said:

"On the right of the British and Imperial lines, thrusts by mechanized enemy mechanized troops were repulsed. Elsewhere there was contact with the enemy."

39th Casualty List Of RCAF Issued

Ottawa, Apr. 15 (CP)—The Royal Canadian Air Force's 39th casualty list of the war today listed nine men killed in flying accidents in Canada, one killed in a flying accident overseas and two others missing overseas.

The latest list brought to 308 the total number of dead and missing reported by the R.C.A.F. since the war began.

One man was listed as seriously injured in a flying accident and another as seriously ill, both in Canada.

TRAPPED GERMAN BATTLESHIPS AT BREST ATTACKED

R.A.F. Hammers Dock Area of Port for Four Hours

POOR VISIBILITY

Not Known Whether Axis Direct Hits Were Scored

London, April 15—(CP) — The Royal Air Force dropped heavy bombs today on or near the 26,000 - ton German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst in another attack last night on the German naval base at Brest, the Air Ministry announced today.

Hundreds of bombs were unloaded over the dock area of the port, a communique declared, in a four-hour assault.

Hits also were reported on power stations at Hazebrouck and Lille, in the Nazi-occupied Netherlands, and German supply depots were bombed and machine-gunned off Ostend.

The raid on Brest was the seventh in the last two weeks.

The Air Ministry said that poor visibility made it impossible to determine last night whether any direct hits were scored on the battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst.

Loss of one plane in the day and night attacks on German objectives was announced.

BRITISH CAPTURE GENERAL SANTINI

Italian Has Been Commanding Troops in Southern Abyssinia

Nairobi, Kenya Colony, April 15 (AP)—The capture of Gen. Santini "who commanded the troops in Southern Juba" was announced today in a British communique.

Santini was taken prisoner April 14.

The communique said British troops had reached Dolo, a town 106 miles southwest of Addis Ababa, while another column which bridged the Awash river moved south from Dama and occupied Asebi.

Material seized in Addis Ababa included about $10,000 ($44,500) worth of photographic equipment, the communique said.

BRITAIN SUFFERS LOSS OF CRUISER

5,450-Ton Bonaventure is Torpedoed While Escorting Convoy

London, April 15 (CP)—Loss of the 5,450-ton cruiser Bonaventure was announced today by the Admiralty. She was torpedoed while escorting a convoy, said the brief communique.

The light cruiser was completed shortly before the outbreak of war and carried 10 5.25-inch guns and one catapult. She had a speed of 32 knots and belonged to the Dido class.

ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

London, April 15 (CP)—Hon. R. J. Manion, former Canadian Conservative leader, arrived in England by Clipper today to undertake duties as Canadian Auxiliary War Services.

Greeks Ordered Back From Koritza Taken Last Nov. 22

No Indication Where New Line is Being Made—Opening Of Flanks Said To Be Cause Of Withdrawal

Athens, April 15 (AP)—Repeated German attacks on the British-held right flank of the newly reformed allied line in northern Greece have been repulsed, but the Nazis are advancing on the left after occupying Florina which had been the northernmost hinge of the old defence line, the British and Greek commands disclosed today.

The British command said that these Germans in their sector of the line, in the vicinity of Mount Olympus, "there was no contact with the enemy."

Near Ptolemais the Greeks were battling a slow German advance toward the newly-established allied positions. This was said to be the one which took Florina, since during the drive to fall back both in that area and in the Koritza region of Albania, to the west. The Germans were said to be driving toward Kozani and Servia, Greek towns 30 miles south of Florina.

(Reuters News Agency reported in an Athens dispatch to London that the Germans also were advancing toward Kilkoni in the area 20 miles south of Florina and seven the same distance north of Servia. Presumably the Germans now have passed this town.)

With the German and Italian lines joined in Yugoslavia, north of Greece, control of other arteries were opened for axis attacks in the Koritza area.

Reported Armored Units In Fight.

Athens, April 15 (AP)—Reports that Greek armored units are fought on plains in the vicinity of Ptolemais 30 miles south of the Yugoslav border.

A Greek general headquarters communique said German mechanized columns were advancing from Ptolemais toward Kozane, an important road junction about 40 miles south of the frontier, and Siatista, to the southwest.

(The German high command claimed capture of both Ptolemais and Kozani.)

The renewed assaults on the British line came apparently from the west in the plain—a drive southward toward Mount Olympus.

Some elements of the attacks were delivered by the same Hitler Mechanized division which drove the British forces inflicted severe losses in the Koritza area.

The centre of the British-Greek line which jutted northward from Mount Olympus to Pikeria and then slanted southwest to the Albanian coast has been withdrawn.

Plane Lands Safely On Tuscarora Reserve

Sanborn, N.Y., April 15 (AP)— A Royal Canadian Air Force plane was flown back to Ontario today after its pilot made a safe landing on a soggy wheat field on the Tuscarora Indian Reservation near here.

Lac. Frederick Wood of the Mount Hope training field said he was cast off of his course by a strong wind and brought his plane down, thinking he was on the Canadian side of the border.

Instead, he was greeted by curious Indians. A relief pilot returned the ship to Canada.

Formations Of Messerschmitts 109s Driven Back Several Times By R.A.F.

A South Coast Town, England, April 15, (CP).—Formations of German Messerschmitt 109s were driven back toward France several times by Royal Air Force fighter patrols today as air activity over the English Channel reached a bigger scale than had been seen in this area for some time.

Observers said they believed that R.A.F. patrols had made an offensive sweep over Northern France. A formation of fighters was seen leaving the English coast and later returning from the direction of Boulogne.

Using a high cloud cover, Nazi fighters attempted to cross the southeast coast at several points, only to be challenged promptly by R.A.F. pullouts.

The drone of aircraft engines frequently was in the ears of inhabitants along the coast. One R.A.F. pilot landed unhurt by parachute in a coast village and declared he had shot down a German plane in the air battle in the sea. Then, he said, he was set upon by three Nazi fighters and had to bail out of his machine, which crashed farther inland.

FIVE ESKIMOS NOW HELD ON MURDER CHARGES

Four Men and One Woman Taken by Mounted Police in Hinterland

THREE KILLED

Ottawa, April 15 (CP)—Five Eskimos have been arrested in connection with murders on Belcher Islands in Hudson Bay, The Canadian Press learned today from Royal Canadian Mounted Police sources.

The five are being held in connection with the murder of three "and perhaps more" children and adults—all Eskimos—the R.C.M.P. said.

The police added that four men and a woman are in custody.

Investigation into the crimes is continuing, but, because the homes of the Eskimos are so scattered the full inquiry into the flare-up of violence on the Belcher Islands which took at least three lives might take considerable time.

Three Killed

Police information received today confirmed that at first reported some 10 days or so ago, three Eskimos were killed. But authorities said their message indicated there may be more deaths reported when investigation is completed.

BOAT OWNERS GET THEIR CRAFT READY FOR ACTIVE SEASON

First signs of Spring activity on the Waterfront were noted today as boat owners prepared to get their craft ready for the season.

Scrapers appeared from boat-houses, as well as paint cans, but the main part of the inaugural preparations consisted of removing the winter sail from those boats which were left outside.

Many boat owners stated that the craft wintered exceedingly well with the lack of winter rains being a contributing factor. No boats have been launched in the harbor as yet.

The catch of muskrats this season is a trifle less than that of last year, according to local fur buyers. Dealers explain this fact by stating that the warm weather of the past week had the effect of causing the fur running and also because of low water levels in marshes and streams which in other years would be frozen over.

Prices quoted for hides, however, show a considerable increase over that of last season, with $2 and $3 the same cases, $2.26 each being offered for good pelts.

PRICE OF BUTTER DROPS THREE CENTS

The drop in the retail price of butter since last week will be welcome news to many local housewives who possibly may have been causing some mental worry in their efforts to make the kitchen supper balance. Late last week butter was retailing at 36c per pound, in local groceries and grocterias, but on Saturday the price dropped one cent a pound again on Monday a two cent drop came into effect with the new price now being 33c per pound.

Wholesale prices have also dropped accordingly with local creameries quoting 31c for No. 1 solids.

KINGSTON PLAYER WINS TOURNAMENT

Jack Traves of Kingston, retained the H. S. Collver Trophy, emblematic of the Eastern Ontario Checker Championship, for the third consecutive year by beating six opponents in the district checker tournament held at the Belleville Y.M.C.A. on Easter Monday.

Players represented the district from as far west as Port Hope and included all territory east to the Quebec border. A straight round robin series constituted the play with each contestant playing six games. Traves won four games and tied two to again win the title with James Livingston of Picton being second.

The result of the tournament was as follows: Jack Traves, Kingston, 20 points; James Livingston, Picton, 15 points, E. Morton, Cobourg, 14 points, C. Jones, Port Hope, 12 points, J. Johnston, Picton, 12 points, J. Robbins, Trenton, 6 points and H. Grimmon, Milford, 4 points.

Mr. W. B. Deacon, who has been confined to his home for several weeks with what is termed a flu attack, made an appearance in some time at his office yesterday. Mr. Deacon dropped in for a few minutes to greet the members of his staff, but is gradually improving in health although it is not expected he will return to active duty for some time.

WARM SPRING RAIN HASTENS PLANT GROWTH IN DISTRICT

The magic of Spring rains is the explanation for the rapid and countryside with its green garb. Since welcome rainfall poured down on the district last Sunday evening the magic brush of nature is clothing trees, forests, and shrubbery, as well as meadows, and fields and gardens with their vertical season apparel.

Reports from the surrounding countryside state that the rains have penetrated deep into the soil and have given the proper moisture to trees and bushes. A green carpet is showing against the drabness of dead winter grass on lawns and meadows, while early flowers are blossoming forth in many parts.

The brilliant shades of crocus are now appearing in many city gardens while in the woods mayflowers are beginning to poke green shoots above the forest carpet. Lilac bushes are heavy with bud, many of them showing signs of the purple coloring overnight.

From the rural districts, spring has practically arrived. Many farmers have begun breaking and in the higher places preparing the ground for seeding.

Obituary

LATE MRS. ESTELLA M. VANCE

The funeral of Mrs. Estella May Vance, wife of Hiram Vance, deceased, took place Murney Street, took yesterday afternoon at 2.30 from the residence of her son, Mr. Gerald Vance, 70 Murney Street. The service in the home was conducted by the Rev. A. D. P. Knox, assisted by the Rev. J. Ferrier, pastor of Holloway Street United Church. There were many friends present and the floral tributes were beautiful and many in number.

Interment was made in Belleville Cemetery; the service at the graveside was conducted by the Rev. A. D. P. Knox.

The bearers were Messrs. Jacob Mattis, Adam Palmer, Nelson Dilnard, Frank Pollwell, Byron Fredrick and Clarence Bowers.

The Fire Department was represented by ten members who acted as bearers.

The late Mrs. Vance is survived by her husband Mr. Hiram Vance, one son, Mr. Gerald Vance; one sister, Mrs. Samuel McFee, Belleville; two grandchildren, Lawrence and Allen Vance, Belleville.

JOSEPH GRAY

Joseph Cray died at his home, 178 Pinnacle Street, on Monday, April 14th. He was in failing health for some months.

The late Mr. Gray, who was in his 82nd. year, was born in Tyendinaga Township, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Gray. For fifty years he resided in Belleville and for a number of years was associated with Thomas' Church Parish.

Surviving are his wife, who prior to her marriage was Miss Mary Lavery; one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, Dickson's Landing, Quebec.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, the funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

LATE MRS. ANNA ACKERA

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Acerra, who died in Belleville General Hospital and widow of Antonio Acerra, took place this Tuesday morning from the residence of her son-in-law, Mrs. Orlando Pauline, 36 Johnson Street, to St. Michael's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Hinds, son, V.G.

Interment was made in St. James' cemetery; the service at the graveside was conducted by the Rev. Father Collins.

TELEGRAPHIST DESCRIBES LIFE IN ROYAL NAVY

HIS WIDE EXPERIENCE

Bacon and eggs on a British battleship of the line steaming along the gun-swept shrubbery of the Mediterranean in search of enemy ships may have its thrills but there is still a "wholesome side" to it, derived from the same fare in the family atmosphere at home in Belleville, says Telegraphist Gordon Gregory, a member of the crew of a British warship, who is now spending a well-deserved furlough with his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Gregory, Cemetery Street.

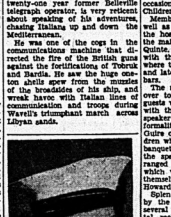
Chatting leisurely with-the-navals this week, the Italian fleet in Mussolini's self-styled "Mare Nostrum" has no monopoly on less quiet pastime of Gregory's ship for the past year. He stood at his action station high above the top turrets of his ship when the fleet, in a daring raid, blasted the port of Genoa.

Italians Caught Napping

"We caught 'em napping in that beginning raid," Gordon declares, "and there before they knew it and we were gone. It was a case of 'hit and return.'

"But in itself is a long speech for the young sailor who is the personification of modesty. Unassuming and yet with the dignity of the navy shining in his eyes, the telegraphist, operating the wireless telegraph operator, is very reticent about boasting of his adventures in chasing Italians up and down the Mediterranean.

He was one of the cogs in the communications machine that directed the fire of the British guns against the fortifications of Tobruk and later in the days when the huge cannon shells spew from the muzzles of the broadside of the battleship Gordon was with Italian lines of communication and troops during Wavell's triumphant march across Libyan sands.



Telegraphist Gordon Gregory, Royal Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gregory, Cemetery Street, who is spending a furlough with his parents.

He has seen the mystery that is Mediterranean, guarding pots of humanity. And he has held his breath as the tell-tale white wake of a torpedo foamed past his ship, "missing us by inches."

He has seen steel death rain from the skies, as bombers roared overhead, and "the Italian pilots fly so high that it is as impossible for them to hit their targets as it is for the 'targets' to get them."

A German dive-bomber hurtled out of the blue skies of the Mediterranean one morning. It dashed earth in a screaming tornado of sound. A minute later the bomber had been demolished and ended in the air. The bomb had landed six feet away from one of the ships. The gunners there calmly resumed their breakfast, as anti-aircraft guns drummed a crashing symphony in accompaniment.

Gregory speaks for the fact that the Italians believe in the idiom, "He who fights and runs away, lives to fight another day." In the exception that the Mussolini mariners merely run away, without bothering to fight.

Italian Ships Flee.

"We came within 50 miles of one of their fleets one day," he relates. "But the next word we had was they were steaming away from us and had put one hundred miles between us."

On another occasion his ship contacted two Italian cruisers which immediately turned about and ran as soon as the British ship scored a hit.

Fifteen hundred jolly Jack Tars or more, three from Newfoundland form the crew of his ship. Gordon joined the Royal Navy in June, 1939 and after his six months' training period in England was assigned to a warship. A brother, Ross, had past eighteen years of age is also with the Royal Navy and is stationed at Gibraltar.

In the Hammocks.

That comfortable bed that his mother had nicely arranged for him wasn't bad—but he thinks the hammocks of the navy are the best things in which to sleep in the world. "It feels (good) in the back is fine, he says. Bacon and eggs, liver, etc. for breakfast, from meals, vegetables for dinner, Good substantial food for the tars to rubdub upon.

Like the navy? A typical son of a former member of the finest navy on earth, wouldn't exchange his present job for anything one could offer. "I'm in the navy and proud of it, mate," he smiles.

Tall, leaned and bronzed by Mediterranean suns, the youthful telegraphist epitomizes the spirit and traditions that have made Britain the mistress of the seas. No wonder a proud father, himself decorated by the lore of the naval service, walks down the streets of the city with a worthy son of a worthy sire, both members of the "unsling kreed that made Old England's name".

Children Guests Of Rotary Display Exceptional Talent As Entertainers

Entering into the spirit of the affair with as much gusto and enjoyment as their young guests, members of the Belleville Rotary Club yesterday entertained under the navy shining in his eyes, the children and young people on the occasion of their annual Rotarian Children's Day.

Members of their own families as well as their little friends enjoyed the hospitality of the clubmen in the main dining room of the Bridge Quinte. The guests sat at tables with the flags of the British nations against the fortifications of Tobruk and later in the day had their hugo ice-cream shells spew from the muzzles of the broadside of the battleship Rotary Club with Italian lines of communication and troops during Wavell's triumphant march across Libyan sands.

The meeting was formally given over to the entertainment of the children with the chairman, Harold Cluite officially welcomed the children while at the conclusion of the banquet the thanks of the club for the sparkling entertainment rendered by Rotarian Joe Short and which was probably the finest number themselves, was voiced by Rotarian Howard Clarke.

Splendid talent was unearthed by the program committee and served with numerous, vocal, instrumental, recitation and short addresses on various subjects were given by the youthful artists.

Perhaps the outstanding features of the program which fairly scintillated with youthful ability and artistry were the short addresses given by young speakers. A remarkable tribute was paid to Their Majesties the King and Queen by young Jean Ross, while Thomas Mascaro, Jr., gave a brilliant dissertation on Winston Churchill in-

POLICE COURT

"If there had been another we could have termed this the hat trick," city commented Dr. C. Dodman, K.C., County Crown Attorney, when Leo Trenton woman appeared in city Police Court, before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C. today, on charging of stealing two hats.

"Shoplifting has become extremely prevalent in Belleville of late and is becoming a most serious problem for the police to cope with and I'm suggesting a full sentence in these cases," continued Col. Dodman after having conferred with Chief Kidd relative to the matter.

Being assured by the accused woman that they had never been in trouble before and pleading guilty, Magistrate Butler would refrain from visiting the full penalty upon her, Worship suspended sentence for a period of three months, upon payment of the costs of the court, which amounted to $13.00.

Four inebriates appeared before the Bench also a list of guilty were accepted in all cases. Two paid fines that amounting to $13.00, while the other two were given an extension of two weeks in which to pay the fines.

Aside from the apprehension of the quartette of inebriates, no other arrests were recorded on the city police blotter on Easter Monday.

MASTER SUPPORTS PRESENT FLAG FOR DOMINION

Murney C. Reynolds Delivers Address to Black Knights at Reception at Opening of Convention

MANY ATTEND

With one of the largest representations from Eastern Ontario in years attending the Annual Grand Chapter of Eastern Ontario opened its sessions in Belleville on Monday evening with Grand Master Murney C. Reynolds, of Pembroke, presiding. Mr. Reynolds delivered an inspirational address to the delegates, recounting the progress made during the past year, and referred briefly to the war urging the members to rally to the support of the Flag and Empire.

Many distinguished officials of the Order were present as the sessions got under way with the Grand Chapter being graced by the presence of Grand Master Murney C. Reynolds, Judge Black, of Winnipeg, and also by Grand Registrar of British Columbia, H. F. Lees, of Ottawa. The second oldest living Grand Past Master of Ontario East, William McMeechan of Queensboro, was present, as was Grand Master Hewitt White, of Alberta, now representing the Orange Insurance Association.

Business transacted during the opening session included a sympathy of the delegates toward the present International situation. This afternoon the reports of the various committees will be received while delegations will be received by the Grand Chapter, while the Orange session will get under way with the degree.

Grand Master Address

In his address to the officers and members of the Grand Black Chapter of Eastern Ontario, Grand Master Murney Reynolds said in part: "Another year has rolled by and we have been permitted by the Supreme Grand Master of the Universe to meet in Grand Chapter in the present day and age to confer degrees in great privilege and an honor as your Grand Master I extend to you and everyone my heartiest greetings and best social welcome.

"It is a great pleasure to meet once again with those with whom I have attended the Grand Chapter from year to year and giving the Royal Craft the best of our strikingly for the betterment of Masonry. I am sure the members are attending for the first time I extend the same hearty welcome and hope it will be such an inspiration that you will return to your lodges determined that the time spent here was not spent in vain.

Tribute Paid to Departed

Mr. Reynolds referred briefly to the memory of the members or the organization who had passed on during the year, claiming that such recognition and the expression of reverence for the departed members asserted its priority over business. "We are thankful for the sincere sympathy," stated Mr. Reynolds.

Referring briefly to the official organ of the Grand Chapter, Grand Master Reynolds urged that all members of the Black Institution should subscribe to the Craft Herald, less Protestant Advocate, in its 50th anniversary. The message stressed the length and breadth of the Dominion, "Which is enjoyed and used and that they would not be in position to put up battles as of old. In this hour of crisis we are in a mistaken. Britain will demonstrate to the world that she is the land of the Great World War of 1914-18 and that she will not be overcome by the enemy. She will demonstrate to the world that she is ruled by loyal men, who can wage a successful warfare to combat any foe," assured Mr. Reynolds.

In conclusion, Mr. Reynolds asserted that with the birthday of the Empire—One Flag—One King, the Grand Master urged the members when he said "Let us go forward with a smile on our lips and our heads held high, and with God's help we shall win," were indeed heartening.

CIRCUS ANIMALS SOLD FOR DEBT

Owner of Animals, William Schultz, an Austrian, Now Interned

Ottawa, April 15 (CP)—The confiscation of enemy property now is out of the circus business and, while official confirmation is lacking, not any official statement today, it seemed obvious that departmental authorities were relieved at no longer having to worry about performing animals.

Some animals, including two lions, seven braided ponies and a performing donkey, have been established at new training grounds, under a new owner, at Owen Sound, Ont.

Offices of the custodian of enemy property said final sale of the circus animals, formerly the property of Capt. William Schultz, an Australian who has been interned —was completed today.

The sale was made by an agent in the Maritimes and officials could not say exactly what animals were involved in the transactions which removed all the animals from government hands.

They were unwilling to discuss their period of responsibility for the animals but it is known that a bear escaped, an elephant died and there was considerable debt while the custodian of enemy property and his officials were for officio circus operators.

Marmora And District

Marmora — The Easter festival at St. Paul's Anglican Church was attended throughout by good congregations. Celebrations of Holy Communion were held at 8 a. m. and 11 a. m., the number of communicants being one hundred. At the later service Mrs. P. Gray sang "The Palms" and "Lift up your Heads, O Ye Gates of the Temple" while the offertory was taken. The rector, Lieut.-Com. A. B. Caldwell officiated at all services, delivering appropriate addresses. A children's service was held at 10 A. M. at which the Lenten mite box was brought in. The church was tastefully decorated with Easter-lilies and other choice blooms.

Services at St. Paul's on Good Friday were marked with good attendances. Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell officiated and at Litany and Anti-Communion discoursed on the seven sorrows from the story of Abraham and Isaac on Mt. Moriah. The child's sermon was on the "Calvary - Christ Before Us". The collection at both services was for the Jewish Missions of the church.

IRON SHIP AGROUND

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 16 (CP)—The 580-foot steamer Shenango, belonging to the Shenango Furnace Company, Pittsburgh, drydocked with a cargo of iron ore, is aground on a shoal in the St. Mary's River, above the Sault. The ship struck the shoal and the lighter T. F. Newman of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., have gone to the assistance and part of the cargo will be lightened. The vessel is aground in a heavy fog this morning.

THE ATTRACTION

The locals were having a Spitfire collection in the village, and Tom Smith was selling kisses to help the fund. Mary was very pretty, the other was very pretty. Yet the pretty one was all neglected, and Mary, Smith's favorite, was in the plain one.

"I said that vicar, "What's the big idea?"

"Well, 'Tis simple — the one they're all kissing has been eating onions!"

Deafness in Many Cases Not a Disease

SHOWS TREND OF U.S. OPINION

The action of the United States in guaranteeing protection of Greenland by the establishment of air and naval bases on the large island under the terms of an agreement signed by the Danish Minister in Washington proves that the Republic is alert to the menace which the Nazis have created and is fully aware that the German leaders totally lack principle. It is clear that world democracies are getting very close together and that the great branches of the English-speaking people stand together.

Yesterday Secretary of State Hull declared that the United States stands unchanged in her policy and that it will not be affected by the protest from Copenhagen.

Nearly a thousand years ago an effort was made to establish settlements in Greenland with naturally scant success on account of the nature of the climate. Developments did take place in fisheries and there has been some interest in the quest of iron and coal, but for nearly a millennium there has been little growth. Suddenly, however, with aviation making immense strides, Greenland finds herself in a strategic position for air and naval bases. Iceland, in the early days of the war about a year ago, assumed similar importance as Britain took over protection of Iceland and Canadian soldiers were sent there and the defences have been strengthened.

This new importance of Greenland, a great part of which lies under ice and snow, may result in a development in mining as well as in fisheries, besides the growth of air and naval establishments. At any rate Greenland is guarded against any visit by Huns.

EARLY SPRING CLEAN-UP

Mild and even warm weather has tempted many to take to the task of cleaning their premises.

Some windows which often would remain in position for some time yet have been removed.

The choruses of birds and frogs are heard in the land and there is every proof even if there should be a reversion to less mild weather as some are inclined to expect, that spring has come.

Surely in spite of a late Easter, it looks like an early spring.

HUN USE OF VIOLENCE

The Germans bombed Belgrade, an open and undefended city, and made it a mass of ruins, according to report.

Somehow the Nazis believed that this was a way of forcing the Yugoslavs to become friendly to the Huns and welcome them and cease their resistance in terror and that this terror would in time make them friends of the vandal Huns.

That is however, not the way such wanton wickedness impresses the Yugoslavs. It makes them fight more and more bitterly against the Germans.

Germans misunderstand every race but themselves. They think that other nations can be regimented like the Germans but the Germans have not found a race as servile as the Huns themselves. No nation with any courage and sense of democracy would have endured Hitler saddling them and riding them to destruction as he is doing with Axis powers.

Hitler cannot mould the races he attacks and make Germans out of them. Although could not sway the least of the nations under his domination. They are of different quality.

GERMAN LIES

The lie is one of the agencies of the Axis powers given most stress in Nazi propaganda. First the Huns declared the Yugoslavs were broken and their armies scattered. In fact the truth appears to be that the Yugoslav army is to a very large measure intact.

Then the Huns declared that Belgrade had been occupied by German troops days ago and now they are stating that it has just been occupied.

The truth is not in the Nazi and Fascist program. These people lie as willingly to their own people as they do to the rest of the world.

But the fact is that their lies are so manifest that they take in no one?

OURSELVES AND OTHERS . . .

BY

THE BUZZ SAW

When the winter days are over
And the sun's bright rays grow warm,
Is the time when neighbors gather—
To the woodyard on the farm;
From the north and south they muster,
From the east and from the west,
Dressed for work, all rough and ready,
Not in all their Sunday best.

For the work they have before them
Is to saw the big wood-pile,
Soon the saw is set and ready,
You can hear it buzz a mile;
Strong hands lift the crooked branches,
Skilled hands place the wood with care,
As it's put in covered places
Deft hands toss it here and there.

Time there is for jest and laughter,
And the country swain looks shy
Glancing toward the kitchen window
Where the maid is passing by;
And when they come in for dinner,
Still the youth has eyes for none
But the maid, who sweetly serves him
While the rest take in the fun.

But the older men no longer
Feel the urge of love's romance,
To the music of the buzz saw
Time they keep in lovely dance;
Then, when all the work is over,
And the wood-pile cut and split,
It's a joy to see the busy saw
Moving slowly down the line.

—Helen B. Anderson.

Toronto may have had its famous boardwalk parade on Easter, so might other places, but when it comes to colorful styles, ability to wear clothes and distinctive taste the boys and gals of this city need doff the chapeau to none.

While Sunday morning loomed sullen and with threat of continuous rain, Old Sol gave the young bloods and their gal-friends a chance to parade their toggery during the afternoon. And young Belleville jumped at the chance.

Blues were predominant. There were all shades and tones, with many a young gal wearing blending colors in coat and hat. There were the cute little blobs of flowers that sat upon one over one eye, while off-the-face effects were also popular. Tans were also popular with the femmes, as were coats of many colored check effect. Short jacquettes made of fur were seen while the young beauty wore a war-path red jacket and picture hat to match, the whole set off with a mink fur.

Nor was the Easter finery confined to the young bloods alone. Sober middle-age cavorted on the sidewalk or in the family chariots arrayed in their best. Light grey suits were worn by the not-so-tired business men while the Mrs. wore the newest thing in small hats and colorful coats or suits. The young Front Street cabalieros flaunted loud topcoats with various shades of green and browns appearing to be the most popular. A frisky young bull-pup, not to be outdone, wore a fancy blanket of blue and gold and was the envy of all the sirdales on the main stem.

As the master of the house smoked his pipe the old gardener was busy at his digging.

Suddenly the old chap straightened up with a jerk, seemed to think hard for a minute, then gave the spade a vicious kick.

"What's the trouble, Mac?" asked his employer.

"Weel, sir, ye mind that Annie who was maid here about 20 years ago?" replied Mac, angrily, "I was standing at the back door wi' her one nicht and she said she couldn't cauk; so I gied her my muffler. Whiles, she said she was still cauld, al I gied her my coat. An' it's just struck me that the lass wanted me to cuddle her. I'm that mad I didn' think of it before!"

A Scottish mother gave final advice to her evacuated son as he left a London station. "Don't forget what A tell't ye; clothes cost money, and ye've a long journey afore ye. Stand up off yer new trousers. Sit down off yer new shoes!"

No rock so hard but that a little wave may beat admission in a thousand years. —Tennyson.

THE GARDNER

A garden's made
With hoe and spade
And hours of toiling done.
This book or that
Has three good sides:
The wind, the rain, the sun.

But weeds are quick
In growth and thick
And man alert must be,
Or thistles set
Will smother all
The bloom he wished to see.

There's bit one spot
Of garden plot
Without man's loving care.
Sloop needs to hoe
And charm who so
And all to be blest.

The sun and rain
And wind in vain
The roots of things will stir,
Save alone of heart
Man does his part
A faithful gardener.

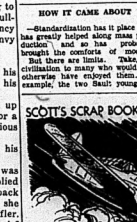
HOW IT CAME ABOUT

—Standardization has it place and has greatly helped along mass production and so has products brought the comforts of modern civilization to many who would not otherwise have enjoyed them. For example, the two Sault young ladies who looked so much alike that they were usually taken for twins. When, however, one observer remarked that in her case, a friend explained the situation.

"We," he said, "they are not twins. They just patronize the same beauty parlor".—Sault Ste. Marie Star.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT



Stewart Says—

Japan Not Ready To Try Hocking Panama Canal

By CHARLES-P. STEWART

Central Press Canadian Columnist

Washington—"As crazy an idea as there is in circulation in this country today is the suggestion that Japan, under present conditions, may try to do what the Panama Canal is next."

That nasty informant was Dr. Vicente Villamin. He's an eminent Filipino economist, lawyer and politician. He resides for the Manila press. For good and valid reasons he's been in the United States long enough to ing to prevent the Philippines from subsidizing into independence in 1944, as Uncle Sam originally had planned. If they do get their independence, he's convinced that Japan will have a try. From what he's told me, short order, and he'd a deal rather have 'em dependent on that on the Jap's kado. If anybody knows more about the Japs than he does, I'd like to see 'em. The United States is doing itself a favor by keeping Villamin's authority.

"More than anything else in creation," explains the doc, "what the Japs want is to have the Philippines fall like fruit out of the Pacific into the Atlantic. After the present conflict is over, if they do it, then look out for 'em to attempt cooking up the Panama Canal. The United States warships bottled up in the Western ocean. As far as possible.

"Don't see", continues our Filipino visitor, who also has specialized on Germany in connection with the Far East, "any Oriental alliance with Mikado and Herr Hitler really haven't a thing in common except their Axis compact.

"The Nazi naturally don't want war with the United States. Nor, Japan to Germany. Japs know that where. But they do want Japan to keep with Hitler. Japan's attitude that would force him to concentrate in the Japs' direction, thus diminishing him as an Atlantic oceanic factor.

Japan's Hope

"But Japan doesn't want war with Uncle Sammy, either. What they do want, and hope to get, is Nippon's attention from a lot of grabbing it's endeavoring to put across in Asia and the Pacific. But the Mikado surely does want Germany and the United States at war. That would leave the Japs comparatively free to deal alone with their Oriental and Australasian ambitions.

"That's the whole secret of the Jap-Axis alliance.

"Japan and Germany each aimed at enticing the United States into the shooting-gallery. Neither wants war with the United States — not while both be ruled by Hitler. Not into it.

"Jap-German economic aims clash, too.

"Germany, if it wins the war, hopes to get back into Asia on a big commercial scale. Also, on a territorial scale. It was well entrenched there before the last World War, but Japan took advantage of that conflict to chase the kaiser out of it.

"The Germans, provided they're victorious in this war, will certainly try to recover all they lost previously and a lot more. They don't won't pay a cent's worth of attention to the Japs' claim to the lands Japs know it.

"The Japs' scheme is to finish off all Occidental influence on their part of the globe, land and water — Germany's included.

"Herr Hitler talks about a 'new order.'

A Trifle One-Sided

"The Mikado talks about 'Pan-Asiatic co-operation.' That is, the rest of Asia's to provide the materials. Insular Japan hasn't the men. But the Japs don't propose to pay them. The Japs are to process the raw stuff. In other words, they're to look at the sun and scoop in 50 per cent. of the profits. The rest of Asia's to get the privilege of sun and drawers of water.

"What's more, Asiatics are afraid of is that we'll get nothing but the 'co,' with the Japs getting all the 'operation.'

"However, that's distinct from the question of war between the United States and Japan. Which Germany especially desires a German-American war, but Germany does not want to start it for Japan's benefit and to the detriment of the rest of Germany's benefit.

"It's a purely conflict of interests, but a mighty nice one from the American standpoint."

CHILDREN TO HELP

New arrangements for getting the assistance of school children in the planting and harvesting of the crop in Fife were approved at a meeting of Dunfermline District Nat ional Farmers' Union and Chamber of Agriculture of Scotland.

Mr. J. Arbuckle, Lower Lathrisk, reported that having attended a conference at Kirkcaldy of representatives of Fife Education Committee, teachers, and farmers.

It was suggested that the children, instead of having four weeks' holidays in the Summer and four in the Autumn, should have only three in the Summer, the remaining five weeks being taken during the potato gathering period in September and October. — Edinburgh Scotsman.

Hitler's "New Order" Is Tyranny, Old And Foul

Not only the war, but the kind of world that emerges when the stiff Americans to the danger which contronts all mankind. Axis rule not emerged. Tyrant Europe is a model of the sort of existence which the government of Hitler intended to improve on all people. That they aim at ruling the world, and not just Europe, has been underscored by Hitler and his followers so repeatedly that no doubt can remain. It should be clear by now that if the world which remains free wishes to escape the fate of the continent there can be no compromise.

Rumania furnishes the latest of many examples of what happens to a nation that falls before the Nazi revolution. The purge of old leaders, of men who were the intellectual lights of the nation, horrified every one. But this is but the natural by-product of totalitarianism.

For years the Nazis worked in Rumania through the Iron Guard, making their appeal to the young people—high school and college students. They did this, too, in Germany itself, realizing it was now hopeless to try to sell their quackery to mental adults. Now that the Iron Guard movement appears highly patriotic and nationalistic. In fact, as it has worked out, the Iron Guard is the chief instrument through which native groups of nationalistic aspirations are strangled in Rumania.

Thus the sound leadership which might lead Rumania back to orderly government is destroyed. Rumania can be more easily be dominated and led. The country can thus be forced into the Nazi mould, its people made to work solely for the greater glory of the Third Reich.

A similar system is followed wherever the Nazis win. In Poland the leadership was utterly destroyed. In the same zone, Populations which might give trouble to the Nazis are removed from their homes. Poles were put at forced labor in Germany. Jewish property was taken over by Germans brought from the Reich. Where the case of Alsace and Lorraine is another example of this forced exile for political reasons. The Czechs were the first to feel the sting of government by deportation.

It is the Nazi aim literally to remake Europe. If they carry out their plans there can be no possibility of a free nationality left in one place to cause trouble. It will be ruled by the Nazi master system of secret police the world has ever known.

And for the privilege of being trampled on by their new rulers the people of Europe must pay. Not only do the Nazis strip a conquered country of all valuables for export, but meet the cost of doing so against their victims.

The fate of France furnishes the most glaring example of how this is done. Not long ago the Germans were crying out to the world that they were crushed under the burden of reparations.

Many well-intentioned persons believed them and fell into the error—assiduously spread by the Germans—that all post-war European troubles stemmed from the Versailles treaty.

Facts, however, give the Nazis the lie. To pay for the German army of occupation France is asked 7,300,000,000 gold marks a year. Reparations, first charged in 1921, are 2,000,000,000 gold marks, rising in 11 years to a 6,000,000,000 annual payment. On these payments, never fully met by Germany, under the Dawes plan in 1,000,000,000 marks a year, rising after four years to 2,500,000,000 marks. Here again, the Germans stumbled and the rising plan was abandoned. Defined the annual assessment at 600,000,000 gold marks. Again it was paid came the depression, the moratorium and the abolition of reparations.

During the entire period of reparations payment paid only 19,000,000,000 both in cash and in kind. Meanwhile the total annual assessments against France, Belgium and Italy, which fought to-day for the rest of Europe. Not only about 100,000,000,000 gold marks, but for very practical reasons. What the Germans have done to France they intend to do to the remainder of the world if they can. Every source should be plain. Europe to-day is the shadow of what it was when not less the free people make it possible for those who are fighting this battle to win.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Addis Ababa Falls

Robert J. Casey Cables to the Chicago Daily News About the Campaign in Ethiopia

So they came into Addis Ababa, with heads up and guidons up and their step a-like and their officers' horses staggered hastily off into the bush and their bands played a brave tune.

Jap-German economic aims clash, too.

"Germany, if it wins the war, hopes to get back into Asia on a big commercial scale. Also, on a territorial scale. It was well entrenched there before the last World War, but Japan took advantage of that conflict to chase the kaiser out of it.

"The Germans, provided they're victorious in this war, will certainly try to recover all they lost previously and a lot more. They don't won't pay a cent's worth of attention to the Japs' claim to the lands Japs know it.

"The Japs' scheme is to finish off all Occidental influence on their part of the globe, land and water — Germany's included.

"Herr Hitler talks about a 'new order.'

A Trifle One-Sided

"The Mikado talks about 'Pan-Asiatic co-operation.' That is, the rest of Asia's to provide the materials. Insular Japan hasn't the men. But the Japs don't propose to pay them. The Japs are to process the raw stuff. In other words, they're to look at the sun and scoop in 50 per cent. of the profits. The rest of Asia's to get the privilege of sun and drawers of water.

"What's more, Asiatics are afraid of is that we'll get nothing but the 'co,' with the Japs getting all the 'operation.'

"However, that's distinct from the question of war between the United States and Japan. Which Germany especially desires a German-American war, but Germany does not want to start it for Japan's benefit and to the detriment of the rest of Germany's benefit.

"It's a purely conflict of interests, but a mighty nice one from the American standpoint."

CHILDREN TO HELP

New arrangements for getting the assistance of school children in the planting and harvesting of the crop in Fife were approved at a meeting of Dunfermline District National Farmers' Union and Chamber of Agriculture of Scotland.

Mr. J. Arbuckle, Lower Lathrisk, reported that having attended a conference at Kirkcaldy of representatives of Fife Education Committee, teachers, and farmers.

It was suggested that the children, instead of having four weeks' holidays in the Summer and four in the Autumn, should have only three in the Summer, the remaining five weeks being taken during the potato gathering period in September and October. — Edinburgh Scotsman.

STONE MOUNTAIN

Under the supervision of Borglum, the mountainside was prepared for the central group of figures, and a model of them was completed.

Several hundred carloads of granite were removed and in 1924 the work of carving executed by Borglum was unveiled.

But the temperamental sculptor and the Confederate Stone Mountain Memorial Association, which was financing the project, and in a fit of anger he destroyed all the models and plans.

In 1928 another American sculptor, Henry Augustin Lukeman (1871-1935) took over the task of completing the colossal sculptures on Stone Mountain in 1928.

Lukeman completed his job, in 1935, however, the work on the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial had to be suspended for lack of funds.

Those who promoted the project have never given up hope that the memorial may some day be completed according to the original conception and plans of Borglum.

Georgia is now in process of setting up a state park authority to take charge of the project using the Federal Works Agency to make available sufficient funds to finish the work begun by two great American sculptors.

Under the plan a colossal composition in granite was to be 200 feet high and 1,300 feet wide on the vertical northern face of the mountainside, with a herd of fire-eyed chiefs struggling for a chance to ride in front of Haile Selassie, the returning Negus Negusti. He who five years ago was but another bush and then a broken reed, was a year ago, didn't look any too good, once again appeared a miracle wrought by the dust-raked, parch-ed wonder-workers from South Africa.

It is only a couple or months ago that we can think back that he might one day see Addis Ababa fall again, as he has already seen Kenya riflemen are dusting off his throne for him. Tomorrow or next day he will come riding down the mountain in his palace, and Mussolini's empire in Africa will crash except by Italian tamperers who pay the bill for resettlement by Jews.

The Duke of Aosta, Mussolini's Viceroy and one of his forces in Ethiopia, has gone out of circulation, with his army presumably in the northward along the road to Desaye.

Lack of resistance at all points is taken officially to indicate the demoralization of the entire Italian command.

MURDER SAILS A TROOPSHIP

By A. W. O'Brien

CHAPTER VI.

The Murder of Tess

Automatically, the young Lieutenant shifted mental gears as the emergency gong sounded. Army discipline began to work—he had an official post to assume at Lifeboat Station 15 and everything else became secondary. Regretfully he shoved the revolver back into his pocket but the thought flashed through his mind that it didn't matter much because whoever had flashed the light would be swallowed up in the men flooding the decks.

Hurriedly yet unexcitedly, he threw a few things into his shoulder bag, slung on his gas mask, donned a lifebelt, stepped into his uniform trousers and dashed for the corridor.

Other officers were pouring from their cabins and Rollins marvelled at the general coolness. One would think that a lifeboat alarm in the dead of night aboard a troopship riding angry February waves was an everyday occurrence in the lives of these men.

At the exits Military Police were already stationed, repeating the same warning: . . .

"Show no light—or you step on deck!"

Each man whipped the heavy curtain behind him before he opened the door.

Outside, it was pitch black and cold spray filled the night. Murky figures hurried to their stations as they passed. Rollins walked quickly with both hands outstretched to prevent him from crashing headlong into others before he reached Lifeboat Station 15.

His Sergeant was only seconds behind and breathing heavily from the run upstairs with heavy equipment.

"What's up, sir?" he gasped, "I didn't feel any explosion and the ship's whistle isn't blowing the regulation blasts. . . ."

Rollins had been thinking along the same lines.

"Perhaps it's only a drill, Sergeant. Don't have the men climb into the boat yet—it's a bit rough with the ship heaving around and the spindrift and wind up. . . ."

"Any-body got a copy of his nuts?"

They stood there for a full half hour before the Adjutant, heavily clothed, came around.

"Dismiss the men, Lieutenant!" he ordered. "The Captain found the fault to sound the regular dismiss signal on the ship's whistle because it might alarm the other ships."

Before Rollins had a chance to ask him what it was all about the Adjutant had disappeared in the direction of the next Station. He turned to the men and shrugged in the darkness.

"You heard him, my hardies—on your way and pleasant dreams!" He smiled as he heard them shuffling off muttering complaints about drills—any O.C.'s and the army system in general. They had really enjoyed the bit of excitement but didn't want to show it.

Rollins returned to his cabin. Little groups of officers were gathered in the corridor discussing the speed to which their ship had reached the various Stations. The concensus of opinion was that the O.C. Troops had decided to spring the officers.

At alarm on the ship as a test before reaching submarine zone and to make it realistic had not even tipped off the officers.

There was no talk about rifle shots. Rollins didn't stop to chat but went directly into the cabin. From the folds of the sweater in the cupboard drawer, he extracted the bottle and poured himself a stiff shot of brandy. It sent a glow of warmth through him.

As he lighted a cigarette, Greg noticed on his wrist watch that it was a few minutes after one o'clock.

They had been on deck for about half an hour . . . a few minutes previously he had seen the light on the deck . . . that would make it about twenty-thirty . . . there was something familiar about that time . . . it seemed to always happen regularly at twelve-thirty in the morning.

Tonight—the unexplained lifeboat alarm.

Last night—the murder of Tess.

The night before—Rollins frowned—the flash of light on deck and found Joan there.

All of these incidents had happened about the same time and on the same deck. In two of the cases a light had been shown, in the other. . . .

Rollins jumped to his feet and paced the cabin floor. A startling thought had hit him—could Tess have been somebody flashing a light on deck and been murdered when he attempted to grapple with that person?

The brawn puzzle was taking form—that would explain the apparently inexplicable motive for the murder. After all, even if somebody was smoking illegally that individual would hardly murder an officer in order to avert being reported.

Again, Rollins brow crowded. The girl always entered the cabin—she had admitted to being responsible for the light on the first night. Rather, at least, she had admitted to smoking on deck. There could possibly have been, Rollins conceded, another person on deck flashing the light seen by the gunny and reported to him. When he rushed up he had found the girl, she was not flashing any light, in fact, she was not even carrying a lighted cigarette.

Still, the fact remained that about the same time every night something extraordinary appeared to happen around the same section "A" deck.

At long last, he had come upon a plan that might give him a chance to solve the mystery and lay Tess's killer to rest. It all depended on one detail and he intended to put himself straight on that detail immediately.

Throwing on his bathrobe, Rollins slipped out into the corridor again and walked to the first cross-passage. Turning into it and making his way towards the far side of the ship where Lieutenant Gilbert's cabin was located, he turned along the corridor running parallel to his own, some slight movement in the curtain sheltering a deck exit caught his eye.

Quick as a flash Rollins stooped, apparently to adjust his shoe lace while studying the curtain intently. It hung about two inches off the floor and even in the darkness he could see two shoes standing motionless.

Rollins waited until the ship swayed downwards. Lithely, he straightened and made a diving headlong at the spot in the curtain where the shoes were. There belonging to those feet should be.

It was a tackle the cockie of any rugby coach's heart. His arms scissored around the legs of the person briefly with a heave of his shoulder he turned over the struggling form and began to pummel with fists and rolled on top. With a single deft move Rollins grasped the struggling form through the folds of the curtain and pinned the arms down.

"Easy—you'll break it!" a voice groaned.

Rollins released his hold—it was Silver!

"What's the idea, Jake, playing hide-and-seek?" puffed Rollins.

The other rose slowly, carefully shaking an arm.

"Well, there's no doubt about what you're playing—and you play rough!"

A sudden silence fell upon them.

"Why were you hiding behind the curtain?" snapped Rollins.

Silver hesitated a second.

"I thought maybe you are prowling around this side of the ship at this hour!"

"That's easy, I was coming over to have a chat with you".

Silver laughed ostrich.

"Okay, Gregory, that settles it—I'll confess that I was limping and to give skulls and hide myself here in the hope of spotting anything unusual. You'll notice that the location is ideal for the purpose. I can see the exit on one across the cross-passage and to one you, my corridor—three of the four exits from this deck."

Rollins asked another question:

"But why choose this deck in particular . . ." his voice slowed to a deliberate tempo. "You were not watching for me by any chance, were you?"

Silver didn't answer the question. Instead he beckoned towards the cross-passage.

"Let's go along to your cabin and have that chat you wanted. I have a room mate in mine and I don't want to have our conversation overheard".

In the cabin, Rollins faced Silver squarely:

"How about answering the questions?"

"I will if . . ." Silver put emphasis on the word, "if you tell me whether you know anything about a light appearing on this side of the ship immediately before the lifeboat alarm was sounded?"

Rollins felt he water running down his spine but he deliberately stalled:

"Light? What do you mean?"

Silver was watching him like a hawk.

"I mean the light that comes from the side of a ship in the dead of night when a porthole is opened in a lighted cabin—one of the boys outs on the bridge spotted a beam like a searchlight cutting across the water and immediately thought we had been sighted by a submarine and shut."

In a flash it came back to Rollins and he concealed a sigh of relief.

"That was my doing all right—I plead guilty. I couldn't sleep and stuck my head through the porthole to get a breath of fresh air. When I pulled my head back into the cabin I switched on the light, forgetting about the opened porthole. I swung it shut."

Silver pressed again:

"Did you hear anything unusual between the time you shut the porthole and the moment the lifeboat alarm sounded?"

"Yes, I did", replied Rollins without hesitation, "two rifle shots. In fact, I was throwing on some clothes to hurry out on deck when the alarm sounded".

Silver nodded.

"You get a class ticket on these answers —from me, at least. You see, while everybody was on deck at the lifeboat alarm, a search of every vacant cabin was made for you. The light must have originated from you and the porthole in your bunk hole was the only one not clamped all the way around with the special rubber stripping. You evidently been closed in a hurry. Here, you only the space of a few seconds between the light being switched on and rifle shots above—I knew you couldn't have been the person shot at because you would not have had time to get from your cabin up to "A" Deck . . ."

"Thanks for the tender vote of confidence", commented Rollins dryly, "but what was the shooting all about?"

"A sentry spotted somebody on deck flashing a light and commanded the night wanderer to halt. The latter says he was at such distance away but, again following his deliberately laid plan, he made the wanderer beam running away. The second shot was fired as the light disappeared. I'm sure that the bullet imbedding itself in the wood, before it was knew his stuff—he pulled the alarm switch just inside the door. They've looked all over the ship like emergency lovers on trains. Anyway, by the time the search was completed the wanderer had disappeared and heads were beginning to pop out of cabin doors. That was that".

Rollins lighted a cigarette.

"But that still doesn't explain one thing", Rollins said.

"What?"

"Just why you were apparently resigned to the fact that you'd perhaps all night, behind that curtain. If I had been pulling something funny it's hardly likely that I would be slipping around corridors when I knew the whole ship was on the watch for something".

Silver shrugged.

"I was playing a hunch, thats all. You'll notice a stairway from 'A' Deck comes out a slight piece from where I was hiding".

"Well?"

"You'll boil if I tell you".

Rollins felt that a chill on his spine again. Every sense told him that he should remain calm at all costs.

"I won't boil—let's have it!"

Silver leaned forward.

"I had a wonderful hunch, Rollins, that nurse would be sneaking down stairs to see you. After all, you are alone in your cabin".

Rollins slashed a right cross that caught Silver squarely on the side of the face. He pitched sideways off the chair and landed on all fours, shaking his head like a downed fighter in the ring.

"Get up, rat!" snarled Rollins.

Silver came shakily to his feet, blood trickling from the side of his mouth.

The ship gave a bad lurch to starboard and Rollins went slightly off balance. Silver slipped into a crouch and rushed him. A hard left upper cut caught Rollins squarely on the chin. Silver saw stars right in the midriff and Rollins clinched.

"Break clean, Big Snoz!" Silver growled into the other's ear.

Rollins pushed him away, his face white with pain.

Silver waved in again to meet a sharp left jab. Then they were for a few seconds alone on the world. Above the groaning of the big ship's timbers came the thud of pounding fists and the muffled gasps of the fighting men.

A savage right to the heart dropped Rollins on one knee. Silver stepped back.

"Let's call it quits, Greg," he panted, "I didn't know you were so sweet on the girl or I would have phrased myself a little more delicately. You took a wrong implication —I was wondering if she was trying to fix him for confidence or not and thought I might overhear something. . . ."

Rollins rose slowly and sat on the end of his bed.

"Listen, Silver, there's no use to parry legal thrusts now—out with it!"

"Well, she has been reported three times for being on deck after 'lights out' . . ."

"Nothing serious about that—I suppose she just wanted some air".

Silver shrugged.

"Yes, that's possible. But she has also been seen on several occasions with binoculars studying the Morse messages sent by light flashes from the battle cruisers commanding the convoy".

He paused but Rollins said nothing.

"And, finally, another nurse told me this Tessar girl has been acting queerly. A stranger to all of them, she has kept to herself for the most part, and little bits of conversation they got out of her at the beginning of the trip led them to believe she knows very little about nursing. You seem to be her sole friend on board and. . . ."

Rollins looked down at his bleeding knuckles.

"And what?" he asked in dull tones.

"And I had hoped that you might be able to help me out. I have kept my findings from the O.C. because they are admittedly shallow, but there is a mystery to solve. What I wanted to know from you, Rollins, is whether she has ever given you any hint as to her background, why she has kept to herself, what she has been reporting those late jaunts on deck, where she comes from. . . ."

Rollins shook his head.

If he reported his opinion to the O.C. Troops that Tess was watching on deck and word would get around that Rollins was up to the murderer might be warned. Only one way possibility of catching him.

There was only one thing to do. The next night would find him hidden in a lifeboat close to that busy spot on "A" deck and either he'd get the murderer or the murderer would get him—this time the guns would be for keeps!

CANNIFTON W. A.

The monthly dinner meeting of the Canniffon Women's Association was held on Tuesday, April 8, with Mrs. W. I. Cole and Mrs. S. Bird as hostesses at the latter's home.

Several men who had gathered to see the year's supply of wood for the church were present for the noon meal, the receipts from which were $14.60.

One quilt was quilted and during the afternoon a business meeting was held.

The opening hymn was followed by prayer by Mrs. Empson and the Bible story in Scripture was read by Mrs. M. Benedict.

A letter of thanks for flowers sent at the time of their bereavement from Mrs. Boyd and family was read and a donation of $15 to the stewards was voted.

Mrs. Lloyd Bird and Mrs. Harford Twiddy contributed readings and the meeting was brought to a close with "An Easter Wish" by Mrs. Empson.

PLAINFIELD W. M. S.

The March meeting of the Plainfield W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. Rorke Palmer on March 20, twenty-twenty in the absence of the president, Mrs. Harry McCreary, Mrs. George McKenzie, first vice president, presided. The subject of the day's devotions was "Home and Children" and was in charge of Mrs. McKenzie. The theme hymn was read and a hymn was sung. Mrs. Bernice Moore read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. McKenzie gave a splendid paper on "The Christian Home for Children". Mrs. Harry Harrison led in prayer.

Following the roll call and transaction of business, Mrs. Frank Hodgson, third group leader, took charge and gave the lives of Miss Archibald of Trinidad and the Rev. Yokas, Meath, D. D., of India.

Mrs. Sharon Parks gave the treasurer's report and Mrs. R. Harrison reported on the hospital box work, following which Mrs. Fred Hall reported on the missionary from Trenton. Mrs. Will Sills and Mrs. H. Harrison favored with a duet. The meeting was closed with prayer by the Rev. G. McKenzie.

GILEAD W.M.S.

The April meeting of Gilead W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. Sharon Parks, president, opened with a hymn and the theme prayer. Mrs. Bluffins read the call to worship and Mrs. G. Leavens read the Scripture lesson and also an explanation on the lesson. Roll call was answered with a verse having hope as the key-word. The minutes were adopted as read by Mrs. W. Treverton. The Easter offering amounted to $6 and a few more envelopes will be coming in.

The treasurer reported $34.80 raised for the Dr. Barnardo fund. Florence Huffman took charge of the following program: An Easter message was read by Mrs. Balcanqual and sprigs an awakening in one's own life and the work of the soul. Mrs. Bluffins spoke on the spring awakening in nature. Mrs. W. Clare sang "Have You Been in the Garden with Jesus?" Mrs. Treverton gave a temperance reading. The Mizpah Benediction closed the meeting.

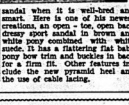
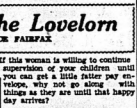
Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Salary Too Small For Family Needs If this woman is willing to continue supervision of your children until you can get a little better pay envelope, why not go along with things as they are until that happy day arrives?





Jackie Cooper, Benita Granville, Lana Reynolds and June Preisser in "Gallant Sons," a most unusual dramatic and romantic mystery, now on the Belle Theatre screen.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Will you please try to help me with some of your advice? I've been reading your column for years, and the thing I like about it is that you're not a sob-sister or a tear-jerker. Here's my story:

My wife, the mother of my six children, was found dead in our kitchen, overcome by gas poisoning. I feel confident it was a case of suicide, though the coroner gave a verdict of accidental death. She was going to have a baby at the time. Without my children and my mother all trying to make out on a salary of $30 a week, she could not face the future.

This happened over a year ago, and a friend of my wife's, who has been coming in to care for the children, is willing to marry me. In fact, she has suggested it. She is a splendid woman, 39 years of age. But in view of what has happened, I hesitate to accept this offer from her, which I feel has been prompted by her love of my children. She has no private income or ability to earn money.

Unhappy

I don't wonder that you hesitate over accepting this lady's generous offer, considering the tragic ending of your first marriage. If you marry this woman and have more children you would only be adding complications as to how you would fit assign into income. I'm sorry you didn't tell me what the sources of your salary are, as I might make some suggestions for getting a better pay envelope.

If you are a mechanic, the Government is paying good prices today for that type of work. Or you might study up in public libraries or night schools to acquire greater proficiency in a semi-professional job.

But taking every element into consideration, the affection of this woman for your children, the fact that she may care for you personally and that she would like to be married and have a home of her own, there is reason to doubt that she would succeed where your wife failed utterly.

I know that families of eight have managed to scrape along on a salary of $30 a week, but it requires financial wizardry to do that thing.

SAUNDERS—BAKER.

A pretty wedding took place at Christ Church at seven-thirty last evening when Emma Gertrude, daughter of Mr. John Baker and the late Mrs. Baker, became the bride of Frederick George Saunders, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Saunders. Rev. G. O. Wright officiated and wedding music was played by Mr. George Mayhew, organist of the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a Queen's blue ensemble with corsage of pink roses. She was attended by Miss Edna Botcher, as bridesmaid, wearing rose with corsage of red roses and white sweet peas. Mr. Ted Saunders, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Saunders left on a wedding trip to Toronto, the bride traveling in green with black accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Belleville.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday, April 15

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

UNDER planetary positions of force and energy this should be a day of initiative and enterprise in which there may be a very direct attack upon new projects as well as static situations. The mind will be keyed to high powers with quick insight as to the most dynamic methods for putting over important projects, and with personal skill and determination rather than thorough cooperation of others.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronter by a year in which there will be energy, purpose and resolution for pushing important matters to high goals of accomplishment. The forces and spirit of initiative will be spurred to direct and dynamic action, with the mentality quickened to grasp most progressive ways and means for attaining cherished ends.

A child born on this day should be bold, audacious and ambitious, with an unconquerable and determined spirit of success. This should manifest in a cultural, professional or executive career.

For Wednesday, April 16

A DAY to be up and doing with verve, zest and initiative in whatever direction the promptings and aspirations are most insistently sentient. This is likely to be the joys of a sentimental or emotional complexion, rather than the solid or practical. Although in practical lines there may be signs of promotion preferment, honors or other tokens from the hands of superiors or those in high place. Cultural and artistic ambitions may be gratified, but intimate affairs be alert to peculiar angles of intrigue or duplicity.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should be on the eve of a year of opportunity for material gain, with important and productive chain of events, involving the private as well as public life. There will be many favorable honors and promotion from those in prestige and power and also the realistic, intellectual and emotional urges may find most felicitous expression. It is a time for pushing the high ideals and cherished aspirations, but keep clear of possible entanglements of a peculiar or intriguing nature.

A child born on this day should have many artistic, literary and musical talents as well as practical creative traits. It will have an unusually amiable and lovable disposition and should attain position and happiness in its career.

Lamps of the mushroom type or other electrical appliances can be plugged into current outlets inserted at two opposite corners of a new card table.

Miss L. Foster Addresses S. A. Youth Group

Last night the young people of the Salvation Army were favoured with a very profitable address by Miss L. Foster, nurse at Belleville General Hospital.

Miss Foster spoke on the subject: "What Can I Do For God?" During her message, Miss Foster told a story of a boy called Origen, who, in order to serve his Lord learned verses of Scripture on pieces of paper and dropped them out of the window in the room where he was confined to his bed and in this way reached the heart of a great business man and won him for God. The speaker pointed out that all are not called to go on missionary fields, but each can serve God in various ways at home, "for knowing the Lord is loving and loving is doing."

During the evening Mrs. E. Veley favoured the group with two pianoforte solos and Miss Glenys Green rendered a pleasing vocal solo.

A Smart Button-Front Style

By ANNE ADAMS

Your favorite cotton frocks must serve a number of purposes. They must be smart enough and sturdy enough for indoor work or gardening and neat enough for running errands. Make them with this handy hood wear. In other words, Pattern 4615 is the answer to just what you need! It's a trim tailored style that conveniently buttons down the front and has a slenderizing panelled back. The curved, soft-cut side bodice sections give a flattering effect. BORACIC ACID AN ALL-ROUND AID IN HOME EMERGENCIES

Yesterday, in discussing the need for keeping the medicine chest up to date, I said that, filled with fresh medicines, I suggested iodine and rubbing alcohol as the first on the list of medicine chest necessities.

Continuing with the list of items the well managed medicine chest should have, I recommend a box of boracic acid powder often called boracic acid. Its uses are almost limitless. It is soothing to a wound and has a mild antiseptic effect. It is often helpful as a compress on a boil. It can be applied in liquid, wet, blister, or dry form. It is almost any irritation. It is invaluable in warm water solution treating sore or inflamed eyes or eyes irritated by smoke or dust. It is also a good dusting powder to use in a case of excessive perspiration. It gives relief in cases of painful piles. It is a helpful treatment for sunburn, for eczema, for poison ivy, for hives, in fact for almost any irritation.

Since burns are among the most common injuries in a home, I recommend that the medicine cabinet have tannic acid powder. Other treatments have been evolved for the treatment of burns, but tannic acid remained one of the best. If the burns are severe it is invaluable, particularly if there is to be some delay in the arrival of a doctor. The solution should be prepared as needed by dissolving four teaspoonfuls of the powder in a glass of water. Gauze should be soaked in this solution and held over the burned areas. This has the effect of tanning the raw parts and thereby forming a protective covering for them. A tube of a tannic acid jelly is a handy thing to have in the kitchen where burned hands and burned arms are so common. Baking soda is needed as much in the medicine chest as in the kitchen in many homes. It has almost as many uses as boric acid. Perhaps first and foremost it provides relief from indigestion when half a teaspoonful is taken in a glass of hot water. Like boric acid it is good in cases of excessive perspiration. It relieves the itching caused by insect bites, nettle rash and hives. It can be used like a talcum powder after a bath. It makes a soothing application for burns. It is a cheap and good mouth wash.

Mineral oil should be in every medicine cabinet. Buy a good, rather heavy grade made by some reputable drug firm. It keeps the intestines regulated without being habit-forming. It is valuable in preparing foods, too, because it is of pulled wool at 4,308,000 pounds, non-fattening. Persons who need to keep down weight or who are threatened with diabetes can use it as a substitute for vegetable oils in salad dressings and cooking.

TYENDINAGA EAST W.I.

The Tyendinaga East Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. J. Craig for their annual meeting on April 10th. A quilt was donated by Mrs. Craig and the last was pulled for the Red Cross.

The meeting opened by singing the Ode and repeating the Institute creed. Correspondence and bills were dealt with. The roll call was answered by paying of fees. Report of the year's work was given by Mrs. R. Tucker and the auditor's report by Mrs. D. Waddingham.

Mrs. A. Waddingham was re-elected President. The other officers are as follows: Mrs. C. J. Aker, first vice-president; Mrs. D. Windover, second vice-president; Mrs. H. Tucker, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. F. Husband, district director; Mrs. E. Waddingham, pianist; Mrs. R. Harvey, press reporter.

Flower committee: Mrs. E. Waddingham and Mrs. Roy McMath.

Mrs. M. Husband donated $1.00 for another quilt lining.

The meeting closed by singing "God Save the King" and a prayer by the hostess, after which lunch was served.

Canadian production of shorn wool last year has been officially estimated at 13,822,000 pounds and

Famous Empire Stories

By Lilian Leveridge

The Falkland Islands

Canada was lost to France, and the Union Jack replaced the French lilies on the banners of Quebec. It was a great loss.

The King and his wise French-man, Monsieur de Bougainville, who after pondering the matter very earnestly, advised a brilliant scheme by which this loss should be, in a measure at least, made good to his country. He remembered that there were large portions of the great Western World still unexplored and undaimed. There was a group of Islands somewhere off the south-east coast of South America. These had been first sighted by the English explorer, John Davis, in 1592, and at various times since then, by Hawkins and others. An English navigator, Mr. Strong, had in 1690 named the Islands which divides the two main islands Falkland Sound, after an English lord, of that name. About fifteen years before the fall of Quebec, Lord Anson, also an Englishman, had had during a famous voyage round the world visited at these Islands, and had suggested that a British coaling station and port of call might with advantage be established there. But the idea had never been followed up, so Bougainville thought it behoved why not take possession of these islands for France?

Having determined on this enterprise, he made known his project to the Government of France. The King and ministers approved, but no money was forthcoming, so Mr. Bougainville had two ships built at his own expense, and invited a certain adventurer gentleman, Don Pernety, to accompany him. Pernety accepted the invitation very gladly.

The two new ships were duly christened the Eagle and the Sphinx, and the expedition set out gaily from St. Malo on the 8th of September, 1763. There were on board a few Acadian families who were prepared to remain and form a settlement on the islands. There was also a Canadian, Mr. St. Simon, a very fine, enterprising young man, well-liked by everybody and especially approved by Pernety. He had spent many years among the Indians in the wilds of Canada, and was ready for any adventure that might turn up.

The voyage was a long and eventful one, for they landed at several South American ports. Then, on the last of January, they sighted the islands, which looked very green and inviting, after their over 100 days in the group, but only two, the more an East and West Falkland, are of any size.

The voyagers sailed along the north, looking for a good place to land, and on the 3rd of February entered a large deep harbour on the east. Two boats were put out from the ships, and seven men, including Mr. Bougainville and Mr. Pernety, went ashore.

It had been previously reported that these islands—now called by the French the Malouines because of this expedition having set out from St. Malo—were well wooded; but on closer view no trees were seen, nothing but long, thick grass and heritage. Large flocks of birds, such as bustards, wild geese, ducks and others unfamiliar, walked or flew close around them. These birds seemed very tame never having been approached before by human beings. The men shot some, and all the time they remained here never without a plentiful and varied supply of similar game. Penguins were especially numerous.

Some of the other men landed on a small island, where they found an immense number of strange animals, which were found to be seawolves, or sea-lions—huge, clumsy creatures living partly on land and partly in the water. It was easy to kill them with a club or stick, and hundreds of them were afterwards slaughtered in that way for the sake of the oil produced from their fat.

For a few days most of the people remained in the ships while small parties of men went ashore on exploring expeditions. One day Mr. St. Simon and a few other men set out on a special hunt for trees. It was a matter of great importance for if there were no wood, what were the settlers to use for fuel? Much to the general disappointment, however, no trees were discovered. What had at a distance looked like trees were found to be a sort of bulrush, or cornflag, as they were called.

Mr. Pernety thought that perhaps coal might be found, or more likely, since the ground was in many places springy underfoot on account of the many fibrous roots it contained, there might be turf that would burn. With this idea he set out to search for some. After digging for a while in likely-looking spots he found some which looked as if it might do; and took two or three squares of it to Mr. Bougainville.

That gentleman was, as Mr. Pernety says, "so anxious lest it should not prove the right kind of turf that he declared it his opinion that it was not", After testing it out, however, he was very glad to find this opinion a mistake. A few days later he himself found an abundance of excellent dry turf in another place. At the very important discovery he and the people who were to stay on the island were "transported with joy". It was no false hope, for until the present day turf, or peat, has been the main source of fuel.

After this, tents were set up and the settlers brought on shore. The men soon set to work to build substantial dwellings for them to live in. The live stock, some of them pretty sick and weak, were also landed and turned loose. With freedom and plenty of fresh, sweet grass, they recovered in a surprisingly short time.

One day at supper time Mr. St. Simon told of an immense section, or sea-wolf, nineteen feet long, which he had killed with a single lucky shot. He took an unbelieving little party to see it, and they found his story no exaggeration. He had led them to a creek where many tall corn-flags grew. Here he fired at a young sea-wolf and killed it. Mr. Pernety, who was of the party, says: "We immediately heard on all sides, from among these cornflags, cries resembling the grunting of hogs, the bellowing of bulls, the roaring of lions, succeeded by a sound like the blowing of the largest pipes of an organ."

While the sea-wolves were making all these alarming noises they kept their mouths very wide open. There were two people in the party who amused themselves by throwing into them large stones, which they swallowed, Mr. Pernety says, "as a cat does a mouthful of cherry".

Mr. Pernety and Mr. Simon were particularly interested in nature, and in their walks together they discovered several new plants, and observed many birds. There was at times it was very easy to get near them.

During the time the ships remained the men built a fort which, with much ceremony, was named Port Louis, after Louis XV. Shortly after this, on the 5th of April, all but the twenty-eight people who were to remain returned to France.

These were the earliest pioneers of the Falkland Islands. The settlers were left with livestock, tools, seeds, and provisions for two years. They lived very happily, and when, by the King's orders, the Eagle returned the following January, everybody was found to be in good health.

But their sojourn was fated to be brief. Spain wanted the islands, and the two countries came near going to war about it; but the dispute was settled by France giving up her claim on the payment by Spain of the sum of £94,000. Port Louis was then occupied by the Spaniards Port Soledad.

Before this, however, just about a year after the arrival of the first French from St. Malo, an English expedition commanded by the famous circumnavigator, Captain John Byron, sailed into a harbour on the north coast, which he called Port Egmont after the Earl of Egmont. At the same time he took possession of the whole group and gave them the name of Falkland Islands, England's claim being based on first discovery.

The Spaniards on the islands at this time did not discover the presence of their rivals for three years. Then there was trouble. As soon as possible they sent over a strong armed fleet of five ships and seized Port Egmont, compelling the garrison to return to England.

Of course the English deeply resented this insult to their country, and were hovered in the air, but was avoided by Spain giving up Port Egmont. The Spanish name for the archipelago of the Islands was a matter of dispute for the next thirty years, and the following January an English fleet sailed for the islands, and at Port Louis and took formal possession of all the Islands. Since then the British flag has been acknowledged British possession.

The Falkland Islands are the home of shepherds, mostly of Scottish descent, who rear sheep for the wool from these far-away islands helped to protect from the cold the British soldiers in the chilly trenches of France and Flanders.

British Retirement In Greece, Libya Is Part Of Plan

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington, April 15 (AP).—Word of a British retirement on the main fighting front in the Balkans shattered hopes in British that the battle for Greece is stabilized.

The extent and purpose of the withdrawal to new positions was not clear as this was written. There was also indication, however, that it was made in accordance with previous plans. Certainly, it was not forced by German or Italian successes in cracking important hinges of the defensive which the Allies are endeavoring to establish for the safeguarding of the Greek Peninsula from the Aegean to the Adriatic.

That the withdrawal would bring claims from the Nazis that their foes were giving up the struggle in Greece was to be expected. German press despatches were even further, stating that the R.E.F. already had started to leave the country. Since confirmation of this was not forthcoming, it remained to be seen whether the Allies were doing anything more than to contract their defensive front to conserve manpower and shorten communication lines in preparation for more furious German blows.

Churchill's Edict.

The British retirement in Greece, however, came at a time when Prime Minister Churchill's war management was under fire at home because of an increasingly grave situation in North Africa. Just how grave the peril to British control of the Suez Canal may be, due to the Nazi-Fascist push clear across Libya into Egypt, is not fully discernible. It seems clear, however, that British forces are ready to dig, or hour to hour, on both the Balkan and the North African fronts come under the stern rule announced to Parliament by Mr. Churchill last week.

He said then, speaking of the Libyan retreat, that neither British prestige nor home morale reasons would prevent that military necessity alone would determine. Despite a surprise Nazi-Fascist sweep across a British force at Tobruk in Libya, and its advance beyond the Libyan border into Egypt, there is nothing to prove that a movement to shift British forces back from Greece to the African storm centre is in prospect.

The British High Command appears still to be convinced that the Libyan-Egyptian campaign is a Nazi-Fascist diversion operation. That this is being sustained under extreme difficulties is indicated by British reports that gasoline and oil for its armored spearhead are being brought up by air.

Difficult Road Ahead.

There is still 700 miles of more difficult terrain ahead of the German-Italian advance guard at the Egyptian border before it is in contact with the old main British defence system at Matruh. It is a question whether the presumably light forces which sidestepped the British forces at Tobruk to reach the Egyptian border, or beyond, can rak a further drive possible while any formidable British units remain in its rear, as at Tobruk.

Both in Greece and North Africa progressive withdrawals behind ever shortening defense and communication lines may be visualized in Allied strategy. This has been attempted in North Africa, with ill success as yet, although wear and tear on the attackers is yet to be revealed. Now in Central and Southern Greece unfordable territory, provided Greek resistance to the Axis does not collapse. The completely water-girt Peloponnesus Peninsula, extreme southern Greece except for Crete, is almost as formidably protected from blitzkrieg attacks as Great Britain still is by the Channel.

Fearsome Yankee Bombers Get Jump On Rest Of Teams By Winning Season's Opener

Marius Russo Allows Only Three Hits in Defeating Senators 3-0

32,000 ATTEND

President Roosevelt Attends Game at Capital and Throws Out First Ball

By JUDSON BAILEY

Sixteen major league baseball machines were lined up today to go whirring into action before more than 200,000 fans—but even on opening day it was the old familiar story of chasing New York Yankees.

The Yankees bombers from the Bronx got a jump on the rest of the teams by swooping down on Washington yesterday and shellacking the Senators 3-0 in front of President Roosevelt and 32,000 other capital fans.

The way the Yanks took the lead in the American League before their rivals even had a chance to get started was something like the way they used to scare their foes into submission by batting around "home runs" into the stands and over the fences in batting practice before their games began.

They didn't even give Washington a chance during the contest. The ceremonies of Vice President Henry Wallace raising the flag and President Roosevelt throwing out the first ball barely had time before the Yanks had rolled out in front.

Red Rolfe, second man up in the ball game, singled. He was forced by Tommy Henrich, but the latter went all the way to second on a wild throw to first play and scooted quickly on a triple by Joe DiMaggio.

The Senators, as well as the spectators, were practically stunned by the seas of the Yankee and Marius Russo, slender sophomore southpaw, never had to worry. He held the Blue Nationals to three scattered singles and started two double play rallies, three double plays. In addition, the Yanks pinched each another run in the ninth on two doubles, one by Russo himself, and scored again in the sixth on two singles and a long fly.

The Senators were up against marvelous pitching, but they didn't show any signs they would be a hitting team anytime this year. And the very fact that the opposition was so without any keep other American League clubs from getting discouraged immediately.

The Yanks were due to open their home season tonight against the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Detroit Tigers, on the other hand, had to face the St. Louis Browns, "spoilers" of others season all last season and the Cleveland Indians ran into the always-dangerous Chicago White Sox in the other openers today.

St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds, western division King pins of the National League, clash today at Cincinnati, while the Brooklyn Dodgers, their arch rivals in the east, take on the hattrick lacking New York Giants.

The other openers included Pittsburgh at Chicago and Boston at Philadelphia in the National, and Washington at Boston in the American.

We doff our bowler to Lloyd McMaster of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, only sports writer in baseball capable of handling the "Nuts" on two doubles, one by Russo himself, and scored again in the sixth on two singles and a long fly.

The Senators were up against marvelous pitching, but they didn't show any signs they would be a hitting team anytime this year. And the very fact that the opposition was so without any keep other American League clubs from getting discouraged immediately.

The Yanks were due to open their home season tonight against the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Detroit Tigers, on the other hand, had to face the St. Louis Browns, "spoilers" of others season all last season and the Cleveland Indians ran into the always-dangerous Chicago White Sox in the other openers today.

St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds, western division King pins of the National League, clash today at Cincinnati, while the Brooklyn Dodgers, their arch rivals in the east, take on the hattrick lacking New York Giants.

The other openers included Pittsburgh at Chicago and Boston at Philadelphia in the National, and Washington at Boston in the American.

Millionaires Defeat Montreal Royals 8-3 to Win Right to Meet Regina

DURNAN IS HURT

By JACK MITCHELL

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, April 15 (CP)—For the first time since 1935 the banner of the Maritimes rode today into the final for the Dominion's senior hockey crown proudly by a fighting band of Sydney Millionaires who grew better as the going got tougher.

The Millionaires won their way into the finals with a final game against Regina Rangers, Western champions, by overpowering Montreal Royals, 8-3, here last night in the deciding game of their Eastern playoff. The victory was scored before a crowd of about 9,000.

Tonight, ever their victory, Sydney planned to leave today for the West in their chief quest that has kept them weeks away from home. The first game of their best-of-five final with Regina, who eliminated Lethbridge Maple Leafs to win the Western title, is scheduled for Saturday in Calgary.

Key figure in their concluding triumph over the Royals were four players trying for their second Cup victory in two years. They were defenceman Mel Snowdon, back in action after a long injury-siege and the slim forward trio of Bobby Walton, Dick Rowinski and Johnny McCreedy, all members of the champion Kirkland Lake Blue Devils of last season.

McCreedy banged two goals and two assists, Walton two goals and one assist, and Rowinski helped two times.

Jud Smail also bagged a brace of goals and Pete Prilla and Jack Atchison one each as the Millionaires scored a quick three-goal lead and spurted ahead again after the fighting Royals had scored three times. The three Montreal counters went to Johnny Mahaffy, Bonnie Purves and Jimmy Hagarty.

Goalie Bill Durnan of the Royals who had shut out Sydney for one of his team's two shutouts—a feat he duplicated in the final frame and forced to give way to substitute goalie Lloyd Deniset.

Winnipeg Rangers Take Game Lead

Saskatoon, April 15—(CP)—Winnipeg Rangers are one game away from the Western Canada Junior Hockey championship because of a brilliant goal by Centre Robinson with a pass from Left Winger Sam Pahoo in the final minute of the third period and give Rangers a 4-3 victory and a 2-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven western final.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had announced the sixth game would be played in Winnipeg if attendance at last night's game was unsatisfactory but after the game it was announced the series will be resumed here tomorrow as scheduled. A seventh game, if necessary, will be played in Winnipeg Friday.

BASKETBALL

Paced by Jean Sherry the Gradettes moved forward in the Ladies' Basketball League at the Y.M.C.A. last night by winning 27 to 19 over the Pirates.

In the early stages the count was rather even as the "Grads" only enjoyed a two point margin at the halfway mark, leading 8-6 when the rest period rolled around. The ultimate winner continued to dominate as Miller and Sherry outscored Offley in a last frame scoring rampage.

The line-ups: Pirates—Carrow, Clarke 4, Offley 11, Oglivie and Wonnacott 2. Gradettes—Miller 9, Peg Rowbotham 4, Del Rowbotham 2 and Jean Sherry 12.

DAVE CASTILLOUX AND MAX BERGER WIN IN TORONTO

Lightweight Champion of Canada Made Trois Quit in Eighth

BERGER GETS DECISION

Toronto, April 15—(CP) — Dave Castilloux of Montreal let the home today with another victory added to the list in his campaign for a shot at the lightweight boxing title. The Canadian champion last night earned a technical knockout over Victor Trotze of New York, the fight being stopped after two minutes and 35 seconds of the eighth when Trotze was taking a beating about the head and body. The other of the two main bouts on the card was also a Montreal victory, Maxie Berger getting an unanimous verdict over Manuel Villa, 11 of Mexico City in their 10 rounder, a crowd-pleaser through-out.

Berger was forced to hustle all the way to outpoint the rushing Mexican who built up points on his forcing tactics but lost several by landing low blows. The Montrealer was on the aggressive from the outset and for a time in the second round he had the Montreal-ite in difficulties, Villa coming back however to get the better of the frequent toe-to-toe exchanges. Castilloux didn't show any devastating punch but he had Trotze in trouble several times in the early seventh opened a cut over the New Yorker's eye. Trotze took out on this again in the eighth when the bout was stopped.

Edmonton Comets Win First One

Edmonton, April 15 (CP)—Edmonton Comets opened their bid for the Western Canada women's senior basketball championship by downing Vancouver U.B.C. 35-30 in the first game of a best-of-three series here last night. Second game will be played tonight.

Playing before a handful of fans, the teams were deadlocked 7-7 at the end of the first quarter. Comets forged out in front 17-13 in the second, widened the lead to 25-22 in the third and staved off a last minute rally by the visitors in the last quarter.

Little Lois Strachan led Edmonton sharp-shooters, scoring seven field goals for a total of 14 points. Rita Panasis was top scorer for Vancouver with 16.

WIN IN TWO STRAIGHT

Vancouver, April 15 (CP)—University of British Columbia Thunderbirds captured the Western Canadian men's senior basketball championship with two straight victories by defeating Winnipeg St. Andrew's 47-39 here but night. They won the first of the best-of-three series 43-21 here Saturday night.

PENETANG HURLER LIKELY TO STICK WITH ATHLETICS

Phil Marchildon Will be Used as Relief in "Lost Causes"

OPEN IN NEW YORK

New York, April 15 (CP)—Connie Mack's quicksilver Athletics opened the American League Baseball season here today against the New York Yankees. Some 50,000 fans are expected to see Red Ruffing, veteran right-hander, oppose the Athletics' southpaw, Dick Fowler.

There's little chance that Phil Marchildon, up from Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, will see action with the A's today but he will have plenty of opportunities of displaying his wares before the season is over, Mack figures on using him chiefly in "lost causes" and there probably will be many of those with a team that's rated about the poorest in the league.

Brought up to Philadelphia after the 1941 edition of the International League campaign last year, Marchildon is expected to survive the customary mid-May personnel pruning and remain with the A's throughout the season, Mack said Marchildon, a right-hander, "has speed but no control or finesse," but nevertheless has possibilities. He says he plans "using him in lost causes for experience."

Born in Penetanguishene, Ont., the 25-year-old hurler played his first ball there. He moved to Oshawa where he attracted the attention of scouts after a big year for the Leafs in 1939. He played part of that season with Cornwall in the Canadian-American League but returned the season with the Leafs.

With Carl Fischer, Marchildon was the mainstay of the Toronto pitching staff last year, a poor season for the Leafs who finished up in the cellar. He pitched 19 of the games for the Leafs and was credited with 13 victories against 6 defeats and losing 13 games.

He had an earned-run average of 3.18 and was third in the league in strikeouts with 125. Indicative of his occasional lack of control, Marchildon gave the most bases on balls.

On going to Philadelphia, he pitched in two games for the remainder of the American League, losing both of them.

GUNNAR BARLUND FINED $2,955.50

Illinois Boxing Commission Takes Firm Stand Against Suspicious Fights

Chicago, April 15 (AP)—Burdened with the stiffest fines ever imposed in Illinois boxing annals Gunnar Barlund, Finnish heavyweight, and his manager, Paul Damski, today were under a year's suspension as punishment for their Penn's unsatisfactory showing April 4 against Billy Conn, Pittsburgh heavyweight.

Sheldon Clark, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission, said his two associates voted yesterday to suspend Barlund's purse of $3,899.50, less $944 advanced the fighter before the bout. This amounted to a fine of $2,955.50 which will be turned over to the State Treasury.

Damski assumed blame for refusing to permit Barlund to continue because of a cut in his right eyelid, but the board ignored the verdict given by Dr. Frank Lagorio, Commission physician, that the cut was not of sufficient importance to warrant stopping the fight.

Damski appealed to Referee Barney Ross to stop the fight regardless of this difference of opinion. Damski would not let Barlund get out his stool at the start of the eighth round, thus giving Conn a technical knockout to the disappointment of 14,000 spectators.

C.A.H.A. TO DIVIDE NEARLY $3,000

Money to be Given Amateur Clubs Developing Players For Pro. Clubs

Calgary, April 15—(CP)—Nearly $3,000 will be divided among amateur clubs as their share of the preliminary payment from the National Hockey League under the new arrangement for compensation for developing players, it was decided here last night at the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The N.H.L. gave the money to the C.A.H.A. for disbursement as a special payment in the interim before the new agreement under which set payments are made whenever a player signs a professional contract comes into effect.

Delegates also adopted the reports of the Rules Committee, the committee which had been drawn up by a constitution for the recently-formed International Ice Hockey Association and of the branch presidents.

Payments will be made to amateur clubs in the near future for fifteen players who have turned professional in the last year and the names of the players will be kept over until full information is received on the committee handling the disbursements will know how they should be divided.

Prof. W. O. Hardy of Edmonton, chairman of the committee which developed the plan, reported there was no "hard and fast" rule about dividing the money for each player among the various clubs which developed him, but there would be a major portion paid to the junior or senior clubs with the remainder divided among amateur, midget and juvenile organizations.

The committee has the names of the organizations which developed the 15 players and was authorized by the meeting to pay them by division. Details of the other five must be ironed out before any of the money for them will be distributed. More than 24 players have been developed by clubs within the last year but under the N.H.L. rules only those in junior or senior clubs are considered in the deferred payment plan.

Payment for junior-age players was handled separately from the special interim cases.

Starting Sept. 12, 1941, the C.A.H.A. will receive $500 for every player who plays in the N.H.L. and $250 for every player who plays in minor professional hockey with an additional $500 for each player and if the player later graduates to the N.H.L.

Players for whom the special interim payments will be distributed are Bill Brydson, Blink Pinkbeiner, Len Haldorson, Ralph Bowman, Bill Summerhill, Alex Sloboddian, George Johnston, Dave Trottier, Jack Church, Bill Wycherley, Charlie Rayner, Bill Judas, Joey Johns, Ed Norris, Jr., and Bert and Alex Burton. Payment will be made by May 15 for the Brydson, Johns, Norris, Jr., McAtee and Jack Cain.

Another matter dealt by the convention provided that no professional team could sign players after Jan. 15 for that season and set up a rules committee comprised of W. A. Hewitt of Toronto, secretary-treasurer, Vic Johnson of Winnipeg and Alphonse Lalonde of Montreal.

Another approved motion gave the Toronto Granites permission to Cowns the same guarantee which had been adopted earlier in the day by the Allan Cup committee.

Quebec Vows Against

The two other resolutions were the only persons voting against adoption of the report of the committee drawing up a constitution for the I.I.H.A. No discussion was held in the meeting although the subject was discussed at length at a closed committee meeting of the I.I.H.A. annual meeting is scheduled for today.

The C.A.H.A. delegates also resumed open session today.

Wartime regulations providing that hockey clubs losing players to the armed services may obtain replacements within certain time limits were passed at the session this noon. They provide:

1. Players belonging to a club in the previous season and lost to the club prior to Sept. 15 must be replaced before Nov. 1.

2. Players belonging to a club in the previous season and lost to the club between Sept. 15 and Nov. 1 must be replaced before Dec. 1.

3. Players belonging to a club in the previous season and lost to the club after Dec. 1 will not be considered the "Flyers" would like nothing better than to get Bellamy in Belleville. Softball fans can prepare themselves for a vastly different season in 1941 now that the O.A.S.A. has adopted a larger playing diamond. Originally the recommendation was tabled at the annual O.A.S.A. meeting to be voted on for the consumption of senior softball only, but after due consideration the delegates at St. Catharines adopted the increased pitching distance and increased pitching distance and increased batting lines for all series, junior included. For many years Ontario softball enemies have been shooting the idea of enlarging the diamond, but until this year the Queen City mentors have been opposed by the provincial delegates to a whole. At St. Kitts Friday the smaller centres put up a right-about and supported the proposal, but for one year only as a trial measure.

Previously the pitching distance for softball has been 38 feet but in the future the softball hurlers will have to fire the old "snake-ball" from forty feet towards the batter, thus giving the batsmen a little advantage. However, this advantage is counter-acted by the fact that the base lines have been lengthened to 55 feet, five feet over the previous half-century. With the 55-foot base lines and the increased pitching distance, the infielders will be forced to retreat somewhat and a faster fielding game will result. President Harry Saldeman, newly-elected head of the O.A.S.A. at one time opposed the enlargement of the playing field, but at St. Catharines Friday Percy Barry coordinated and Harry Sutton, Vice-President of the Association, Harry Knox and Bert Bowes, the latter saying that he was now convinced the extended game would prove better and make a faster and better game all around. About the only phase to suffer a backslide will be the veteran pitchers like Johnnie Bowes, Jeanie Harris and Eddie Schrieder who have hurled the shorter distance so long they could almost locate the old pet plater by instinct and with accuracy.

Although the R.C.A.F. "Fliers" did pot, or rather have not affiliated with the Trenton softball League, it has been suggested locally that the boys from the airport would consider affiliating with the Belleville Softball Association, if given any encouragement. Art Cole, hard-hitting first baseman with the "Quinte" team, was talking to some of the Air Force boys after the city game and made a crack that Arthur L. was given to understand the "Fliers" would like nothing better than to get Bellamy in Belleville. (Secretary Harry Knox and Percy Glen Bowser, please note). Hec. Creighton, well known Toronto rugby official, in connection with the organization of sports at the Toronto Airport and is said to have given his consent to such an arrangement. However, the arrangement should be informed that all games have to be played in Belleville and they would be responsible for the collection of the gate receipts for their home games here. baseball experience. Anderson having played ball in the Meet-ford and Hamilton up around Toronto. Both are being counted on for service in the O.A.S.A. by the "plane-makers". Hamilton tells us he's planning for the first base slot and is really serious about the whole thing. With Tabby Gow, former Kingston outfielder, and Bobby Leslie both with the Reliance nine keen rivalry can be expected between the two local intermediate "A" entries in the City League. The Reliance already have signed Ted spencer and operate an enterplant softball league from which they hope to draft players as the season advances. Skipper Barclay makes no bones about the fact he was counting strongly on another recruit for his Corbys A.C. nine and will make his supreme effort to bring a young outfield title at least this year. Skipper Barclay has a wealth of new faces to present to Corbys A.C. outfield, both of whom are surprised at about eight miles from Belleville, he says.

Do you remember when New York Rangers, sparked by the two-goal performance of Frank Boucher, defeated Montreal Maroons 2-1 at Cleveland 12 years ago tonight to win the Stanley Cup. It was a hard and bitterly-fought game, 21 penalties being handed out including three majors. It was the first time the world's famous Maroons sweaters had been won by a United States team since Seattle took it in 1917.

Major league baseball will really push over the hump today as all fandom eyes greatly anticipate. Roosevelt actually put the summer pastime into action yesterday when he tossed out a brand new ball at Griffith Stadium, but unfortunately had been won by a United States team since Seattle took it in 1917.

Major league baseball will really push over the hump today as all fandom eyes greatly anticipate. Roosevelt actually put the summer pastime into action yesterday when he tossed out a brand new ball at Griffith Stadium, but unfortunately by the home town players could not accompany with the old apple in some degree of consistency with the result that the New York Yankees are leading the American League today with one win and no losses, while the Washington Senators, buried a three-hitter for the New Yorkers, remain in the cellar and are going to all-conceded, be content with a 0-and-1 double in the fifth to score Bill Dickey on Joe Gordon's single, a battery wild, as Russo pitched a shut-out. Joe Di Maggio gave warning to all pitchers in the league that he's around, a triple in the initial frame as the Yankee Clipper showed early signs of action again, despite the fact he's been troubled considerably with a six-hitter, which ain't peanuts in any man's league.

SPORT SPICE — The Sydney Millionaires finally disposed of the Montreal Royals to win the Eastern Canadian senior finals, but the Millionaires were defeated twice during the series to more than even the count of any amateur hockey. . . . Fortified with the services of young comer, Allan Cup experience, the Millionaires proved themselves real players and will be hard to beat in the finals, as the experts predicted many months ago — the "sin team that beats the Royals will be Allan Cup champions" and that's no passing fancy. . . . Hockey fans will hope that coming events cast their shadows before them and find that the Royal senior loss might have been bearing on the eastern senior final match tonight. . . . Ace Haunted Royal Johnston are flying to Toronto for their fifth and final game with the Oshawa Generals tonight. . . . Talked Lena Blackburne assembles some of baseball's greatest for the Toronto ball club in the same category again. . . . (That's us, all ever.)

But Mr. Hewitt said the Royals were taking a chartered plane to Toronto today and it learned they would be charged with the plane even though they might be unable to use it.

Impressive Easter Services At Stirling Churches

Easter season was observed in Stirling churches by services in all the major churches. At 11 a. m. on Good Friday a Solemn Liturgical Service was held in St. Paul's United Church for an impressive service conducted by the Rev. L. A. McLaverty, when nearly thirty new members were received into full communion. The impressive reception, which is a yearly rite of confirmation classes held throughout the Lenten season. Present to assist in this fine service was The Rev. H. Widdifield, M. A., President of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church, with the pastor. Miss Ester and Mr. R. E. Hulin, Secretary of the Board of Stewards received the new members with the right hand of fellowship. The group included about twenty who joined by the profession of faith and the remainder by letter from other churches. During the splendid service which concluded an inspiring sermon by Rev. H. W. Cliff, William Hamilton was received into fellowship from "Olivet to Calvary". Mr. G. G. Cline presided at the organ.

Special Good Friday services were held in Stirling Methodist Church, Rev. Leslie Harding presiding. Easter Sunday services on Sunday with a special Sacramental Service at St. Paul's United Church. A special children Easter Service in the afternoon at St. John's Anglican Church, at which also a special choral service of Easter music took place in the evening. The combined efforts of the choirs, that of St. John's, Rev. Harding and the sister parish in Frankford, together with the pastor's address, made a most impressive anthem "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead" a beautiful one. Choir A special Easter message by Rev. Harding was based on St. Corinthians 15, verse 20.

Plus music also featured the services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church where under the direction of Miss Gertrude Foster, Mus. B., a large choir offered four splendid anthems at the close of the morning service and arranged by Elsie Duncan Vale and Mrs. Arthur Duncan. A vocal solo by Arthur Duncan in the evening "Open the Gates of the Temple" was also given and with the fine Easter messages delivered at both services by Rev. T. H. W. Hall. Flowers of the Easter season adorned the altars for both services, decorations attended both services.

Insurance Policies Now Operative On Great Lakes

Toronto, April 15 —(CP)— Hundreds of vessels at scores of Great Lakes ports early today cast off their whips have held them fast during the winter and moved to join what observers of long experience said will be the busiest inland navigation year in all history.

Second waters of the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair which have hindered pre-season shipping for the past 10 days, also were expected to be relieved as the official opening date of the seven-month season approached.

April 15 is the day upon which all insurance policies, carried by the vessels lay up, end.

Because of the urgency of the war emergency, more than 100 large boats had been in service long before this date, however, because of conditions kept them from completing a full round-trip to the head of the lakes and return.

Not in all the many years of outstanding prosperity in the history of lake freighters have prospects of ships as rich as they will have all they can carry on every trip.

LATEST PROTEST

When coast guardsmen boarded the vessels they found that vital machinery had been deliberately damaged. The Rome government, in a note dated April 8, accepted a story Cordell Hull by the Italian ambassador, Alberto Tarchiani, yesterday, argued that this damage actually did not endanger the safety of the ship or the lives of the per-sons aboard, and that American law does not cover acts which such safety was endangered.

This was the reasoning which Rome was regarded here af but another is a long chain of events contributing to deteriorating Italian-friendly American-Italian relations.

Already an Italian court has sentenced Italy has recalled her Washington envoy, Count Ascanio di Alberto Lais. In response to a request from the United States government and in turn her requested the withdrawal of the Assistant United States military attache, Major William H. Bentley.

Relations between Italy and America are further since the start of the second World War. President Roosevelt's characterization of Mussolini's aggression against Greece as a "stab in the back" United States aid to Britain and pledges of aid to the Greek people further have added heavily to the strain.

The recent seizure of Italian and other antaramistic collcies and bottleships in United States ports has given rise to speculation here that Mussolini may be consider-ing:

1. Breaking off diplomatic relations with the United States.

2. Recalling Ambassador Colonna as a protest against what he regards a less-important official for charge of the Washington Embassy. This would not Italian relations in the same plane as German relations. Also it would emphasize Mussolini's wor-ried home come months ago.

3. In the event of further Washington circles that Mussolini would take such action only as a last resort.

12 AXIS PLANES

The German-Italian counter-offensive raised the possibility that Egypt, Britain's non-belligerent ally might soon declare war. In a secret session, the Egyptian Chamber of Deputies ratified an agreement reached between the government and British authorities. The nature of the agreement was not disclosed.

The vanguard of the Axis expeditionary force in North Africa was reported landing in Egypt's Red Sea port after capturing Salum, just inside the border from Libya.

Fighting there, the British garrison at Tobruk remained uncertain, but London officials said that between 200 and 300 German prisoners had been seized in a British counter-attack and that 12 Axis planes had been shot down over the Egyptian fortress.

Newest Canadian Hospital Receives Baptism Of Fire

By ROSS MUNRO

(Can. From War Correspondent)

Somewhere in England, April 15 —(CP)— The newest Canadian hospital in England is firmly established in its area, caring for Canadian and British troops and civilians brought in from bombed industrial centres.

Manned by a Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps unit recruited in Montreal, it ranks with the finest military hospitals in the country.

Already it has had its baptism of fire. Sunday, it was disclosed, it was decided without even a broken window when German night raiders swooped and loosed a number of incendiary bombs in the immediate vicinity.

The staff of the hospital carried on smoothly through the night. Had a dozen bombs exploded it would rocked the hospital buildings. Many of the casualties brought to the hospital from the city area.

The hospital is not as large or as well known as the Canadian hospitals in England but its work frequently is more exciting and it is proud to look after nearly any kind of wounded, war might bring to its doors.

The unit is unique in the R.C.A. M. C. in that it is a civilian team of doctors, ready at all times to go to any disaster area in certain area to give medical aid on the spot. They carry their surgical supplies for such expeditions are ready to be loaded.

The present team consists of: Maj. Campbell Gardiner, of Montreal; Capt. Norman Robertson, of Vancouver and Capt. George Raymond Lyon, of Montreal.

In rows of neat wood and metal huts, surrounded by gardens and nurses, helped by other ranks, keep watch in the wards with the orderly ry run of soldiers and civilian casualties. Besides surgery, it will be one of the most active base hospitals, with a capacity of many more to foreign soil this unit stands a good chance of being chosen to follow troops.

AT THE BELLE

"A GIRL, A GUY AND A GOB"

A girl, a guy and a gob of the navy, three-cornered romance of "A Girl, A Guy and a Gob" at the Belle Theatre screen, promise a swiftly-paced story for George Murphy, Virginia Weidler, Edmond O'Brien and Harold Lloyd's first production.

Based on a novel by the late Leo Grover James, deals hilariously with the adventures of a young photographer and a dignified young executive who is the girl's employer's nephew, when they meet they don't happy family, her dances, the gob, and the guy, and the complications of the sailor's misadventures, the exciting fun and the more serious romance he had ever known before that he met the girl. The story has promise that is all that is needed to promote the marriage of the girl and the guy.

But by the time the wedding bells are ringing there is going there is a new deal in hearts and the girl discovers that the guy she married is a sea of matrimony with her boss than with the sailor.

Murphy, of course out furnishes the uproarious conclusion to this riotous story, which was directed for the screen by Richard Wallace. In addition to the three principals, Cecilia Parker, Franklin Pangborn, George Cleveland, Mady Correll, Kathleen Howard and Phillip Terry-known players have important roles.

"Gallant Sons", Unusual.

Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville, Gene Reynolds and a host of other youngsters mingle thrills and comedy in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film "Gallant Sons", drama of a group of high school students who perform volunteer detective work to their curriculum. The new picture is the latest in the Andy Hardy series. Directed by George Seitz, of "Judge Hardy and Son" fame, it stars Lewis Stone, Fredrick and Ian Hunter providing the adult support. Jackie Cooper plays the two boys, close friends though their fathers are enemies. One of the boys is a newspaper reporter and the two boys band together with their pals to solve the case of a child kidnaper and clear the mystery. There's a musical cue, and with many narrow escapes, comical and ofcourse the youngsters get their details of the case and construct it in a school play, and trap the criminal during the performance. A real fight between Jackie and Gene, terse conversation, and adventure in a night club, a dramatic courtroom scene and a surprise climax are all among the highlights. Other juvenile players include June Preisser of "Babes on the Job" fame, Gene Reynolds of the Dead End Kids, William Tracy and Tommy Kelly.

The Belle News of the Day will be shown with the feature picture.

"Pot O' Gold"

Definitely one of the top-flight hits of the season, "Pot O' Gold", the feature attraction "Pot O' Gold" starring Jimmy Stewart and lovely Paulette Goddard, opens at the McCarthy today.

"Pot O' Gold," is a tuneful and melodious comedy featuring the famous music of Horatio Alger, Jr., and Scottish emigrants. French is spoken sometimes in the role of Goddard doing household house lass and Stewart as the lovesick, impoverished music store owner. Stewart plays the part of the nephew of the boarding house when he comes to town to claim his rich uncle.

The outcome of the story is that the uncle who advertises his untalented roots on a radio program in the hope that he can find Stewart and Jimmy, running his business, Stewart's program immediately rates the hated band as the feature attraction of the program and the uncle rushes back to the city only to find that his program has gone over in a big way and the resultant complications. The supporting cast but the right touch of romance to make the picture perfect. Surround Stewart and Goddard.

Also included on the program are the Bonnie Baker, Larry Marr and Curly in another of their musical comedies, "Swingtime in Nevada" and a feature reel "International Boogie" featuring the Dorothy Thompson and other prominent personalities discussing the war situation, etc., complete the program.

Lake Highlights Now In Operation

Point Traverse, April 15 — Duck Islands lighthouses are in operation for the season, Capt. Ed Bray and assistant keeper Ronald Sibley arrived at the island light for the week-end.

The Canadian lighthouse tender Grenville, under Captain Barry, left Toronto at the head of the lake. The U.S. lighthouse ship Amaranth is also placing lights and keepers at their respective stations.

The first upper-lake grain carrier of the season passed by here Saturday for the head of the lakes.

Fishermen have reported a large amount of floe ice far in the Georgian Bay, threatening to set their buoys on their nets, but there is no danger immediate. The ice is not dangerous to make it hazardous for any lake travel.

Heavy ice remains in South Bay waters and fishermen are awaiting warming off-land winds to start it moving into the lake.

An estimate of nearly half a million dollars for the Provincial stackberry at Canada's National Exhibition was given by local travel. Trout fingerlings will be planted in waters here at a later date.

BODY FOUND IN HARBOR

Hamilton, April 15—(CP)— The body of four-year-old Samuel Trefanenko was found in the harbor early today. The boy was reported missing yesterday after he had been playing with some other boys from Grapplers went to work and dredged the harbor most of the night.

The Gaspe Peninsula

The tour of the Gaspe Peninsula is one of the most fascinating travel experiences available in Canada. This famous scenic route, in fact, rivals Europe's most spectacular roads.

The charm of the Gaspe is compounded of many elements — the glorious sea, and rock bound scenery, the clear sunshine and lifegiving air, the fascinating history and pastoral country, exquisite sand and sea beaches, and above all the hospitable French-Canadian people noted for their courtesy, kindness, their ancient customs and habits, their legends, folk-songs and handicrafts. And, not least, for their fine cuisine! It is a land fascinating for Ontario visitors especially, inhabited by a friendly people who still live much as their forefathers did 400 years ago—but a land where tourists find the best of accommodation in Canada's best hotels, finest tourist-houses and road-cabins and camps.

Gaspe—that part of Quebec between the St. Lawrence and the sea—was visited by Jacques Cartier, "discovered" within the past few years, since the 500-mile belt highway around the coast was completed, but it is now one of North America's favourite tourist regions.

Gaspe's climate is ideal to those who try to escape the summer heat of southern Ontario; there is never any excessive heat, the air is invigorating, nights always cool. Hay fever is practically unknown in the region. The bathing, boating and deep-sea fishing are an exhilaration.

Gaspe's history, a principal industry, can be tried out by the tourist, for instance anywhere along his route he can persuade a fisherman to take him out in his boat to the fishing-grounds. Gaspe has 1,200 miles of navigable waters and pools in America; trout abound in many streams and there is plenty of game fish everywhere. The better hotels gladly arrange fishing trips by the day for sea-rivers, many having their own fishing-boats.

The Gaspesians are perhaps the most interesting folk in all Canada. They descend from hardy fisher-folk and farmers from Brittany in France and from Channel Islands, the United States, Acadia, Arcadians exiled from their own country, Scottish emigrants. French is spoken sometimes in the role of Goddard but English along the Bale des Chaleurs.

Unspoiled by civilization's encroachments, the Gaspesians have preserved to a remarkable extent the characteristics of their ancestors; they are notably happy and contented in their faith, of mind and routine of life. Their needs; they love their land, respect its traditions and their ways lives full of purpose and dignity. The hospitality of the Gaspesians make travel in the Gaspe a truly delightful experience.

The Gaspe Highway is a fine road, well-surfaced and kept in regular, is very safe and kept in good condition during the tourist season.

The Gaspe may easily be visited by motor-car, by bus, by train, by highway, or partly by rail; and there is frequent, fast freighted steamers from Montreal. Garages and filling stations are available at convenient points. Hotels and tourist-houses, cabins and camps, camps, cabins, bungalows and camping-grounds are located gloriously, with sea bathing and fishing everywhere at hand.

Gaspe's principal industry, our are: picturesque Gaspe Village, the first landing-place of explorer Jacques Cartier; the nearby sailing-ships at anchor in Gaspe Basin; Perce and its famous cleft rock; Percepied Bird Sanctuary; Bonaventure Island Bird Sanctuary; the fine and beaches of the Bale des Chaleurs; the beautiful wild Matapedia valley and the coast itself with its magnificent views and quaint, year-old fishing villages.

Descriptive booklets about the Gaspe are issued free by the Quebec Provincial Publicity Bureau.

AT THE CAPITOL

"I See You"

Just think only a few months ago the people of Canada, Stirling found the average Stirlingite complete ignorant of who he was. Now, by arrival of a new Pathe pictures sends crowds of happy people into theatres and makes all grown to laugh at George's latest songs and antics.

That reversal has been brought about by the release of "Let George Do It" both of which played at the Capitol Theatre where the Pathe News of the week "I See Ice" opened Sunday last. Another feature of the week about the R.A.F. and "Let George Do It" is the latest in Pathe intelligence. It both the star appeared as a dumb, friendly young man who is always getting into mischief and too dangerous for him. This latest film deals with that theme. It's here, a dumb and friendly as ever appears as a timid photographer's assistant in Manchester, by a strange series of events he finds himself an unwelcome third in a London taking action he has to take the initiative of their number the man of the duo, and the dumb guy is called to get him, but the girl remains friendly. There are some very thrilling moments adventures, and the put-upon hero ends up as the referee-at-a-crucial-moment in the frenzied hockey play-off.

There are various other people in the cast, including Garry March, playing a stooge-type columnist who still be remembered from both other Pathe pictures and Radio. George is really the whole show. For that reason, if there are any incomprehensible remarks in the Pathe-to-the Pornsby face, who don't appreciate the George Formby humour is advised to just look at the shorts. Others will find it very funny indeed. Second succession of laughs. A good dose of ships in the Pathe newsreel and a short account of Spring Fever.

Concluding this uproarious cycle-type is one of the popular crime stories in which a dog finds his own enlisted in the case. "Dogged" by Mary Roberts Rhinehart, a colorful mystery featuring Chubby and Stranger Than Fiction. Daily matinees are shown during the holidays.

Lucille Ball, with her two sweet hearts, Edmond O'Brien, at the gun and George Murphy as the gob, in the all-out laugh show, "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," now on the Belle Theatre screen.

MUST BE READY FOR POSSIBILITIES SAYS STIMSON

War Secretary Warns U.S. Is Facing "Dangerous Emergency" Which 'May be Very Prolonged'

ARMY AND DEFENCE

Washington, April 15 (AP).—War Secretary Henry Stimson said today that United States armed forces "must be prepared for the possibilities of war in many and varied terrains".

Testifying as the first witness before a new Senate Defence Investigating Committee, he analyzed the problem confronting the army in creating large forces "fully trained to operate in a war of movement", and added:

"Furthermore, our forces must be prepared for the possibilities of war in many and varied terrains, it being quite uncertain in what part of North or Central America, or even possibly other regions is ultimately may be necessary to use in the defence of this country and its possessions."

He solemnly warned that the United States is facing "a dangerous emergency" which "may be very prolonged".

Preparations To Meet Emergency.

Stimson indicated that in future preparations to meet this emergency the nation's civilian needs may be further coordinated to the military program to expedite production of war supplies.

He did not say just how long he thought the dangerous period might last but he declared that to meet whatever situation may arise the army is planning a program of training which will cover "many successive military units and many successive instalments of men, also which in the aggregate may last for five years." Presumably he referred to the training program under the selective service act which will be operative until 1945.

Paying tribute to spade work done by the Army General Staff and the War Department in getting the defence program into full swing, Stimson said: "We made possible the delivery of weapons and other equipment which by 12 months was ahead of the first Great War schedule.

"From this point forward," he added, "the chief responsibility for the speedy completion of the equipment will rest upon American industry."

Army Problems

In an exhaustive comparison of the army's problems existing from the current emergency with those which confronted it in 1917, Stimson said that the character of modern warfare was such that a nation should start preparation for it at least three to five years in advance. Germany began its preparation about seven years ago, he said, and also evolved "a new technique of diplomacy, a new form of propaganda, and finally new tactical methods based on new weapons."

"The thought and energies of the entire country were devoted to preparation for war," he went on. "In spite of repeated warnings, the democracies preferred not to compete with that preparation. As a result, in 1939 Germany was ready to move toward its objectives, first without force and, then, at the first show of opposition to her plans, with terrific violence.

Cites German Weapons, Method

"Germany disclosed to the world a quantity and variety of modern weapons and, second, a method of employing them which bare little or far achieved far-reaching results.

"Last year the War Department was faced with the necessity of acquiring in a short time munitions adequate to meet the munitions which Germany had spent seven years in producing."

Asserting that tank production is well under way and that anti-aircraft guns which fire heavy projectiles at "phenomenal" rates of speed also are now in production, Stimson said that by contrast, only one gun especially designed for anti-aircraft fire was finished in the U.S. by the time the 1918 Armistice was signed and not a single one of the 75,000 tanks ordered here was finished in time either for training at home or combat overseas.

Britain Ready To Equip Canadian Tank Brigade When It Comes Overseas

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

London, April 15 (CP Cable)—Lt.-Gen. Sir Wilfrid Lindsell, in charge of administration, home forces, indicated today that the war office is ready to equip the Canadian Tank Brigade when it crosses to England to join the Canadian corps.

The brigade is expected in this country this year. When asked by The Canadian Press, if it could get tanks quickly over here if it came without them, Gen. Lindsell said:

"Nearly we wouldn't supply the brigade with all its tanks the day after it arrives, but we certainly could equip the brigade. . .The Canadians would get tanks if they needed them."

He said priority is one of the questions which has to be taken into consideration which equipment is being distributed, since forces on the war fronts get the first call.

Sir Wilfrid, speaking to war correspondents, said the volume of army supplies is "quite satisfactory" and the scale of reserves complete.

"The officer, who left Dunkirk last June in a collapsing front, said the British Expeditionary Force lost more than a month's reserves when it was evacuated from France but that the "ultimate reserves" were still in England and the army which returned was re-equipped.

Regarding the food situation in Britain he said additional supplies from Canada would not place a burden on the army's food supplies. All the food requirements, in addition to gasoline and other every day needs of the Canadians, could be met.

"The more divisions of Canadians to arrive here the better," Gen. Lindsell declared.

22 Axis Planes Downed In Raids Against Tobruk

Cairo, April 15 (CP)—Twenty-two Axis planes were downed in raids against Tobruk, British-held Libyan port 90 miles west of the Egyptian frontier, it was announced here late today.

Heavy damage and many casualties were inflicted on axis forces, the communique added, in raids on airdromes and troop concentrations in Cirenaica (Eastern Libya).

TOBRUK MENACE TO NAZI LINES. LONDON'S VIEW

No Cause for Gloom Over Tobruk Say London Circles

London, April 15 (CP Cable) — Authoritative military quarters described as "fantastic" today German and Italian claims that vessels lying off Piraeus are waiting to take to Europe British and Imperial troops the Axis says are withdrawing from Greece.

"Obviously there is no truth whatever in such fantastic reports," it was said. A halt has been announced from Athens that fresh troops are being sent up to reinforce those already there," these quarters added.

"Undoubtedly the Germans would be very glad to hear that the British and imperial forces were about to leave Greece."

While the general situation in the Mediterranean is regarded here as serious, it is not considered grave.

"There are several satisfactory aspects," military quarters said.

These sources added that there is no cause for gloom over the position at Tobruk, Libya, "where our forces could fight their way out if they wanted to or could be evacuated by sea."

"Where they are, they represent a serious menace to the German flank on communications," it was added.

Unduly Pessimistic

Another informed British source said some observers were unduly pessimistic" in fearing for the safety of Tobruk. Capital, it was noted that British troops and equipment were being freed daily in East Africa for use elsewhere, troops in North Africa.

Reports were circulated to London newspapers that Lt.-Gen. Erwin Rommel had been appointed by the Nazi high command to attempt to rally the Greek commander, Gen. Port Said.

The Nazi party, sent by the Exchange Agency from Zurich, Switzerland, quoted Berlin military circles as saying that the Axis was convinced he could reach the Suez Canal before the end of May. From this it is thirwing his entire forces into battle in that area.

This report said that reinforcements were being sent to Libya from Sicily and that troops were being ferried to Libya from Italy.

"Political circles in Berlin claim that the success of the battle is of the greatest importance as its chief aim is not only to defend Libya, as everyone said, "but the oil pipelines of Palestine and the refineries there and thus solving the difficulties of German and Italian oil supplies."

Fire In Marsh Endangers Factory

Racing across the large areas of dried grass in the marsh east of the Bay Bridge, fire momentarily threatened the Defiance Aircraft and Tool Company this afternoon. Members of the Belleville Fire Department under Chief William Lynch started backfires to successfully offset the flames which swept rapidly over the tinder-like grass, in the direction of buildings at the rear of the plant.

Starting, it is believed, in the grassy areas in the vicinity of Zwick's Island, the flames leaped across the highway in the van of a strong westerly wind. Telephone poles and fence posts were quickly ignited, but firemen with extinguishers put out the blazes before any great damage was done.

The strong wind carried blazing embers over the entire area to the east of the highway starting intermittent fires. Firemen and citizens watched the flames demolish the tall grass, keeping the fire confined to the marshy areas.

Dense clouds of smoke obliterated the vision on the highway near the bridge, handicapping firefighters in their attempts to beat out the small fires which started in dangerous spots.

School Teachers Prominent In Midland Regiment

Ottawa, April 15—(CP)—There's a scholarly atmosphere around Lansdowne Park these days, where the Midland Regiment of Cobourg, Ont., is training under the leadership of four company commanders with a combined school - teaching experience of 50 years.

They are Majors R. S. Gamey, K. Hall, F. J. Bigelow and F. E. Lysell — each with more than ten years' school-teaching behind him.

Topping the list in point of experience is Maj. K. Hall, with a record of seventeen years as teacher and manual art instructor in public schools. Maj. Hall studied at Normal School in Peterborough, Ont., and Ontario Training College in Hamilton.

Maj. Gamey, who lives in Toronto, rates close behind with sixteen years of teaching. A graduate of the University of Toronto, Maj. Gamey enlisted as a private in 1916 and saw service in England and France with the 23rd Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery.

Maj. Bigelow, who commands C company of the regiment, taught science and physical training at Port Hope, Ont., High School for thirteen years before enlisting. He is a graduate of Queen's University in Kingston, Ont. Maj. Lysell, also teaching for thirteen years, is in charge of instruction at Oshawa, Ont.

In addition two of the regiment's combatant officers — Lieut. J. W. Mackintosh, Owen Sound, Ont., and Lieut. A. M. Wootton of London, Ont., are church ministers. Between them, they have served in the ministry for a total of twenty years.

Assistant Adjutant of the regiment is Lieut. H. R. S. Ryan of Newburgh, Ont., believed to have been the youngest mayor in Canada when elected at Port Hope in 1939.

TO INSPECT NEW FRONT

Berlin, April 15 (AP)—Fritz Todt, Minister of Munitions, who built the German Westwall, has gone to Poland with three of the closest collaborators for extensive inspection of Germany's eastern fortifications.

Todt's trip will take Todt along the German-Russian frontier from Orsha to Przemysl, Propaganda Ministry sources have been clipping this Eastwall ever since the new pact between Germany and Russia was agreed upon.

Evangelist Deplores Lack Of Bible Study In Public Schools

"The terrible situation existing in Europe because of the youth of Germany being drunk with the ideology of Nazism did not come about over night, but it is the result of the secular and christless teaching being systematically excluded from the youth of Germany for a period of years." So declared Mr. L. Honderick, Sunday School Specialist and Children's Evangelist, last night at Evangel Temple. Continuing in the same vein, the speaker said, "If we are to continue to enjoy the liberties that we enjoy under democracy, it will only be by preserving the foundations of Christianity in the fibre of our nations. We can only save democracy's generation by bringing Christ honoring Sunday Schools today."

Because of the unlucky mention of the fact that when the present public school system began, it was brought into being largely through the efforts of the early Puritans, and the Bible was the main text book for all studies. They emphasized the imperative need of reaching the non-church going children of today. Mr. Honderick said this tragic state of affairs is aggravated by the fact that the Bible is almost left out of the public schools, except in a few sections of the country. Those if children are not reached in the Sunday School with the Word of God, they will not be reached at all.

When dealing with the place of evangelism in the Sunday School, the speaker quoted the late Hon. John Wanamaker, who was Post Master General of the United States under President Wilson, and who was the superintendent of a large Sunday School in Philadelphia: "When you win an adult to Christ, you save a single soul, but when a child is converted, you save a multiplication table." Mr. Honderick told of how investigations have proven that seventy-five per cent of conversions take place between the ages of twelve and eighteen, with the apparently fact remains that eighty per cent of the children who go through Sunday School remain unconverted and are lost personally to live in sin and die Christless death and their lives of usefulness to humanity by spiritual apathy and ignorance of the Church are irreparably lost.

During the Children's Church service which preceded the main meeting, the evangelist gave an illustrated talk to the children that held the attention of the children breath-taking interest. Mr. Honderick used three candles to illustrate Matt. 5:14, "Let your light so shine before men." At the 7 o'clock Children's Church tonight he will give an illustrated talk on "The Gospel in the Nut Shell." All children and adults, and especially Sunday School officials and teachers, regardless of denominational affiliation, are invited to hear this outstanding Sunday School leader.

Fighting for Spiritual, Intellectual and Political Freedom

The four company commanders and adjutant was one time Canada's youngest mayor.

NAZI PRESS CLAIMS

Berlin, April 15 (AP)—The Nazi press claimed today that German bombers have sunk or damaged 110,000 tons of British transports and supply ships in the harbor of Piraeus, near Athens. The German radio also claimed the British forces were preparing to withdraw from Greece.

D.N.B., German news and propaganda agency, said 20,000 tons of transports had been sunk outright at Piraeus and at least 90,000 more tons of shipping severely damaged.

GOOD FRIDAY IN COVENTRY

On Good Friday evening, in a drizzling rain, a small group of men and women, including policemen and firemen who had not slept for three days, gathered in the ruins of Coventry cathedral for prayer. It was after a visitation by German bombers. A cross of charred wood stood over the improvised altar in the roofless building. The archdeacon told the bareheaded congregation: "In matters not when we die, only how we die." Coventry, a few months ago, was the object of one of the most merciless air raids of the war.

WALL STREET

New York, April 15 (AP) — Stocks moved up by market and rallied, after a stumbling start, and initial, after of fractions to a point or so were converted into advances of as much.

The war news was none too optimistic from the standpoint of Wall Street. The better labor outlook was helpful but whatever good news specially in the steel industry, brought the question of the company profits by affected if producers are unable to increase prices.

Among supported stocks were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, American Telephone, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse, Warner Bros. and Texas Corp.

In the copper group Duval and Lake Shore Mines and McIntyre showed gains. Canadian Pacific gained a trifle while Hiram Walker moved contrary to the trend, among bonds, lost 1-8 point.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, April 15 (CP) — Price tones improved at Toronto exchange this afternoon. Trading was light and the shares changed hands.

Nickel recorded a minor gain to 32 1-4 and its gold prices were up 10 to 5 for Chesterville, Falconbridge, Kerr-Addison and Upper Canada. Pickle Crow and San Antonio showed small declines.

Famy Player, Bell Telephone, Imperial Oil and International Petroleum were the only weak spots in industrials. Loews widened to a point or more for Consumers Gas and Steep Rock Iron.

A gain of 4 for Calgary Edmonton said a dime for Home Oil featured western oils.

Unconfirmed Nazi Report Says British Leaving Tobruk by Sea

Berlin, April 14 (AP)—D. N. B., German news and propaganda agency, claimed today that British troops at Tobruk, Libya, are withdrawing by sea.

Dive bombers were said to be attacking transports and other vessels near the harbor.

(There was no immediate comment from British sources on the latest reports said the British garrison at Tobruk was still fighting.)

The boys will be guests of prominent amity and good-will between the two provinces. Wednesday, here, the hopeful visitors will be guests of Toronto families.

C. I. O. ORGANIZES CLEANUP DRIVE ON PAY INCREASE

Seek to Line Up 600 Contracts for 10-Cent Hour Boost Already Granted by U.S.S.

HIGH STEEL COST

Pittsburgh, April 15—(AP)—The C.I.O. Steel Workers' Organizing Committee today opened a cleanup drive to gain in its 600-odd contracts the 10-cents-an-hour pay raise and other changes granted by the United States Steel Corporation.

Philip Murray, S.W.O.C., chairman and C.I.O. president, called first with a union committee upon Chairman H. Edgar Lewis of the corporation's finance committee. Crucible and Pittsburgh Steel were expected to be met later. Meanwhile, most of the other big steel companies stood in readiness for the raise.

Boost in the price of steel before the start of the third quarter July 1, is a possibility. Quotations and minor changes have been withheld so far.

Effective July 1, U.S. Steel officials disclosed the wage boost would add approximately $45,000,000 yearly operating costs — representing a big slice of the $82,000,000 cleared in 1940 before payment of dividends. In addition, demands of the United Mine Workers for increased pay may add between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000.

To cover all of this added cost the corporation's directors set a ton on the corporation's 23,000,000 tons of ingots produced during last year. Observers, however, do not expect the corporation to boost its rate.

A corresponding increase in the steel industry's average U.S. steel rate represents approximately 35.2 per cent, would boost the workers' pay envelopes $1.80 or more and mean a year if operations continue at the present rate of 98 per cent plus of capacity.

5 Nazi Dive Bombers Shot Down, Many Damaged In Raids On Piraeus

Athens, April 15 (AP)—German air forces made three attacks this morning on the harbor of Piraeus, the port for Athens, the Royal Air Force announced, and five dive bombers were shot down and "many others" severely damaged.

The communique said the attacks caused "slight damage to R.A.F. property".

Greek fighter planes were credited with shooting down the five planes, Junkers-88s. The R.A.F. lost no planes.

HEALTH WORKER PREVENTS ESCAPE

Blocks Way of Man Who is Fleeing Sheriff's Officer

Toronto, April 15 (CP)—A shortage of nurses in Ontario, about which Allan B. Parsons, being taken to trial on charge laid under Defence of Canada Regulations, was thrown into a department store door by Edward Cook, Health Department employee.

Parsons had kicked Sheriff's Officer Anthony Ryan out of an automobile in the City Hall courtyard, pulled out a screwdriver of the car and fled north through a covered driveway. Detective James Priest saw Parsons running and after him. Cook, seeing the two, recognized Priest and blocked Parsons' path.

Cook drew his revolver and both crashed into the doorway. The glass came down all over them. Detective Priest then lunged on Parsons.

Parsons was arrested last January after police seized a mobile radio transmitter which allegedly had been broadcasting anti-British propaganda. He was sentenced to six months for assaulting a constable and his trial on the other charge was to begin today.

March Ship Losses Total 400,000 Tons

London, April 15 (CP)—The Admiralty announced today it was getting lame totals of merchant shipping losses monthly in the future instead of each week.

(Heretofore, the Admiralty has issued a statement of shipping losses each Tuesday.)

It is authoritatively source said the April losses would be announced about mid-day.

British, Allied and neutral shipping loses in March, already announced, by enemy forces were approximately 400,000 tons.

This week's total of the losses in monthly totals "will make it more difficult for the enemy to deduce the proportion of these losses due to submarines, airplanes, raiders and mines."

It also would give the public more prompt information about the war situation and obviate big amendments which have been necessary in weekly totals because of the wide areas over which British ships sail, it was said.

It was explained further that a week's total of losses often had been tended to cause undue optimism and made people imagine that the battle of the Atlantic already had been won, while a week's loss of 100,000 or 300,000 tons tended to cause undue pessimism.

HUNGARIAN NEWS MAKES CLAIM

Says Hungary Took Military Action Against Yugoslavia Because the Latter Broke From Axis Co-operation

Budapest, Hungary, April 15 (AP). —The Hungarian News Agency claimed today that Hungary took military action against Yugoslavia because the new Yugoslav government had broken from the Axis pact of co-operation with Germany and Italy.

The statement added that Monday's Hungarian action dislocated Soviet Russia apparently was the object of the Axis pact. The statement flatly linked the Hungarian action with the signing of a pact between Yugoslavia with its program of axis co-operation, and the Soviet Union, the official statement last week criticizing the action was published in Hungarian press at first time.

Charges Air Attacks Made.

The Hungarian statement said: "The new Yugoslav government made no effort to protect the Hungarian territory and ordered its army to try to cross the Hungarian frontier.

"These air attacks killed many Hungarians and destroyed valuable property, and with these acts the Yugoslav government prejudiced our friendship.

"When on April 10 an Independent Croatia was proclaimed and the Yugoslav state ceased to exist, it was the duty of Hungary to see that Hungarian government to acquire the territories and property of Hungarians which were lost after the first Great War and to declare the Trianon peace treaty of Hungarians living there."

Request Conciliator In Oshawa Strike

Oshawa, Ont., April 15 —(CP)— A telegram endorsed by all trades unions in Oshawa today requesting "your influence in obtaining immediate services of chief conciliator to bring about settlement of the dispute between the Schofield Products Company and the Canadian Hosiery Workers Union was sent by Oshawa Trades Council to Mackenzie King last night.

The telegram, sent on behalf of the joint strike committees of the trade unions in this city, was signed by Harry Hatch, head of United Automobile Workers, chairman of the committee and Evelyn Hopkins, secretary.

The trades council endorsed the message adopted a schedule of picketing designed to bring every possible pressure to bear on the picketing the Schofield plant. The picketing began at 6 p.m. on strike demanding increased wages. Eighty workers are involved.

CANADIAN FLYER LANDS IN U. S.

Driven Off His Course by Stiff Wind Which Blew Without Injury to Himself or Plane

Niagara Falls, N.Y., April 15 (CP)—Aviator Lieut. Kenneth Ross Wood of the Royal Canadian Air Force, driven off his course by a stiff wind while on a training flight, landed on the Tuscarora Indian Reservation near here yesterday.

The Edmonton flier landed his two-place biplane without injury to himself or the plane in a field about 10 m. from the farm of Hamilton Mount Pleasant, a Reservation Indian. A crowd of Indians quickly surrounded the plane to welcome the pilot.

It was assumed Wood would be permitted to fly back to his field near Hamilton, Ont., as soon as arrangements are made with United States officials. On previous occasions Canadian flyers have had been forced down on American territory to clear with a warning and released in the way of their departure.

FOUR MEN KILLED

The bloodshed came with a blast of bullets on a road leading to the Fort Ridge Coal Company mine which is about one mile inside the Tennessee line.

Harrell said motorcades of miners assembled late last night and proceeded toward the mine, which has worked throughout the stoppage of the United Mine Workers in Harlan County subsequent to the expiration of the Appalachian contract April 1.

Miners have been on strike in four shot affrays in Harlan County on April 1 and 2 as union miner-picketing sought to enforce a stoppage of mining there. All Harlan mines since have suspended operations under a truce arrangement sponsored by Gov. Keen Johnson.

Deputy Sheriff C. C. Harmon of Claiborne County, Tennessee, said he was unable to determine at once what led to the shooting.

FIVE ESKIMOS

The manner of the slaying remained undetermined but the R. C. M. P. headquarters here said Eskimo legends reported the possibility that "evil spirits" might have killed the men and children—might be established as victims of the mysterious epidemic because of their failure to observe the usually peaceful people.

Because of the Arctic conditions it will be necessary for the R.C.M.P. to wait until the Hudson Islands ice head southwards in the immediate future, Ottawa officers said.

It was reported that the five persons in custody might be flown out to face murder charges or be held against them while investigations continue, it was learned in the islands.

So far only brief radio flashes have been received from the expedition sent into the North following the murders, it was learned today. The first three Eskimos were murdered "last February."

BRITISH PLANES

Reapture of Corinna would indicate that the Greeks had withdrawn from or been driven from the Vermion line down into eastern Albania during the winter campaigning.

(At the high tide of their counteroffensive at Albania the Greeks reported advances of more than 30 miles, north, past Pogradets and along the shores of Lake Ochrida, a thrust for the Skumbi Valley and—Corinna—and an attack on Tirana, capital of Albania.

Advance Is Checked

(The Greek capture of Corinna less than a month after the outbreak of the Greek-Italian war touched off a nation-wide celebration by the Greeks, who raised the cry of "on to Tirana!" and "on to Rome!")

Fanciful press dispatches from the front claimed these advances:

1. To the western shore of Lake Prasha, at the juncture of the Greek-Albanian-Yugoslav frontiers, threatening to cut off Greek troops caught between Prasha and Lake Ochrid;

2. Southeast from Corinna toward Bilishti (Bilishta) where the Albanian frontier from Greece on the east from Corinna to the headwaters of the Greek-British defence line.

(There was no confirmation of either claim.)

Earlier press dispatches from the front claimed the Yugoslav drive into Albania from the northeast was yesterday with the capture of more than 100 villages and large quantities of war material.

Il Messaggero said the Metsaglieri supported by armored units chased "Yugoslav regulars and irregulars who attempted to infiltrate Italian lines across the frontier."

AXIS FORCES DRIVE

This time, the Axis drive, with the British fleet—which played a big part in blasting Italian Fascist positions along the North African coast—will be directed at Greece, hampering attacks from Nazi dive bombers.

Strong at Mersa Matruh

From this distance, the British positions around Mersa Matruh, which Sir Archibald made into a defence position when the Italians threatened Egypt last fall, appeared the strongest barrier to the axis military drive.

The TGW, approximately 100 miles east of the Libyan frontier, terminus of a railroad leading to Alexandria, seem to be the farthest east.

The German-Italian threat to Alexandria and the Suez raised the possibility that Egypt, which has been non-belligerent, might find herself at war any day.

Other great developments in the middle east held great import for the British Empire, as the 200,000,000 followers of Islam spread over Europe, Africa and Asia. Already about 100,000,000 live under the British flag, and their loyalties are kept up in British hands struggle with the axis.

Court Moslem Favor

Germany has been courting Moslem favor, especially in the British mandated Syria and oil-rich Iran.

A pro-axis government was set up in the independent Arabian state which was a mandate of Britain from 1918 to 1932, and Germany has built up supplies which have an outlet at the port of Haifa, Palestine.

Such a development also would have a direct bearing on the Turkish security. British authorities said.

JAPANESE DENIES RUMOR OF AGGRESSIVE MOVE

Tokyo, April 15 (AP)—Koh Ishii, Japanese foreign office spokesman for information, said today there is no new Japanese aggressive movement in Tokyo that Japan intends an aggressive policy or naval, military or against Singapore.

Ishii said he was authorized by his government absolutely and flatly to deny that Japan intended to send an army or navy to war against or to Singapore."

Premier Prince Konoye already has stated that Japan's southward movement is designed to be entirely peaceful and economic," Ishii said. "This report (about Singapore) is entirely groundless and is the propaganda of war mongers."

GREEKS

Meanwhile fresh British and Greek forces poured into the new fighting area, strengthening the defence.

Greek troops who have been fighting in the mountains north of Corinna to the Albanian border were ready to meet the Nazi assault.

German troops reached the west, now are reaching terrain where the Greeks have had the advantage along narrow "death trap" gorges. Infantry must be used to storm the mountain sides as they have for tanks.

Thus far, German infantry trying to attack the Greeks in their native mountain strongholds have suffered considerable losses and been driven back into the valleys, informed sources said.

The shift was disclosed late last night in a Greek Army headquarters communique which did not indicate where the new stand was being made.

It declared Greek forces had been ordered back from the Corinna (Kortiza) region of Albania and that they had withdrawn to positions toward Kosane and Biatista.

Biatista is believed to be 10 miles south of the Albanian and Yugoslav border, east of Lake Ochrida, west of Pilorina, which was the northernmost hinge of the old Hellenic defences from Greece.

(Reuters news agency reported in dispatches from Athens that the Greeks also said German forces were moving against Monastir, a basket town near Topolani on the Greek-Yugoslav border.

Corinna, the Albanian stronghold which had been part of the western half of that front, was captured by the Greeks last Nov. 22, less than a month after the Italian invasion of Greece had been turned into headlong flight.

Harbor Attacked

One section of the harbor at Piraeus, port of Athens, was attacked this morning by five Nazi dive bombers, but were met by fire from the sea with the sun at their backs, the Greek-British high command said.

Earlier, clouds enveloped the Piraeus target area and guns aboard offshore destroyers flamed into action.

Some of the German craft showered fresh bombs on the magnetic mines along the coast while others were attacked by the destroyers.

It was Athens' fourth alarm of the day, especially since the first daylight attack. Despite scores of anti-aircraft shells bursting in the cloudless sky above the Acropolis, the Germans held to their course.

Reason For Evacuation

The communique announcing the Corinna evacuation was decided upon because of German concentration of southern Yugoslavia and opening of passes to the flanks and rear of the Greek forces.

"As a result of occupation of Kaimkalan, Yugoslav Monastir, forces and consequent opening of passes through which the Germans transfer to the flanks and rear," it said, "our army on the front in Albania has been forced, for operational reasons, to withdraw and occupy a position further south.

"The enemy discovered the withdrawal only many hours after it had been and sought in vain to hinder it by pushing forward armored units and being thrown down of them."

Elsewhere in Albania, the British Premier declared offensive actions were repulsed, and the Greeks reported "normal."

The High Command also reported that all was quiet on the front in the Ptolemais region in western Macedonia.

THE WAR TODAY

By GUY ROHADES
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

British reinforcements are rushing to Greece, Australian, New Zealand, African and Greek-Albanian fronts in the greatest drives of Greek, Italian troops, apparently seek-ing to end the war in a way it was not.

The British Middle East command was reported rushing reinforcements to the neighborhood of Greece by Monday, more than 100 miles west of Alexandria from which the first contingents already was launched against the Italians. Mr. Churchill, chief of British Empire campaign made a large force available for Greece but presumably there also were part of the African forces. Some of the troops are Aussies, perhaps the German propaganda broadcasts from Berlin and Rome that the Australians already have been withdrawn from Greece.

The chance that the story was nothing but a sheer lie was not ruled out.

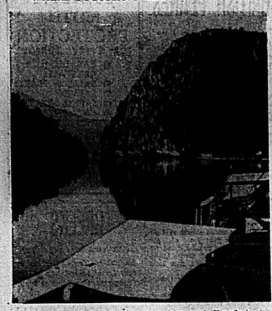
These stories apparently were designed both to confuse those not in possession of the facts and to create dissension in the ranks. The most extravagant said British forces were being withdrawn not only from Greek harbors but from open beaches, that the British command was facing a "double Dunkirk" in the Peloponnesus (Morea), where a British force is partly encircled.

A British communique, however, said the situation at Tobruk was unchanged and that the garrison was defending its perimeter.

In unofficial circles it was considered possible the British command might be moving some troops from Tobruk to other parts of the war front or that the Germans had confused the arrival of fresh troops with the withdrawal of withdrawal.

The chance that the story was nothing but a sheer lie was not ruled out.

WHERE YUGOSLAVS BLOCKED DANUBE



Picturesque as it may be, this narrowing of the Danube between two mountains occurs at a point where the river flows between Rumania, now in control of the Nazi army, and Yugoslavia, now defending herself from invasion. Yugoslavia sank several large barges, loaded with cement at this strategic point, thereby blocking traffic on the Danube.

POODLE LOSES LAW SUIT
Philadelphia, April 15 (AP).—Fluffy, 11-year-old French poodle, lost its $2,000 law suit in Judge Charles Sinkler's court today. Judge Sinkler made the claim for the dog under the will of Mrs. Linda Van Dyke Cameron, who bequeathed the amount in trust "for the care of my pet dogs which I may own at the time of my decease." Judge Sinkler held evidence indicated Tiny belonged to Mrs. Boyle, who had been Mrs. Cameron's maid.

GETS A WRONG START
White Plains, N.Y., April 15 (AP).—William Hamilton, 19, received a suspended sentence when he explained that he stole a 50c scoop writer from a community centre. He said he pawned it to pay his tuition at a police training school.

Error In Interpreting Barometric Readings Held Cause Of Crash

Chicago, April 15 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune, in a copyright article, today quoted Capt. Edgar Rickenbacker, President of Eastern Air Lines, as saying that an error in interpreting barometric readings radioed by the ground crew probably caused the crash of the lines' deepar plane at Atlanta, Ga., last week.

Rickenbacker was a passenger on the plane which crashed in the dense wood near the Atlanta airport, killing eight persons and injuring eight others.

2 SLIGHTLY HURT IN PLANE CRASH

R.C.A.F. Student Pilot and Civilian Flier Treated for Minor Injuries

Toronto, April 15 (CP)—An R. C. A. F. student pilot and a civilian flier were slightly injured in the crash of a Gypsy Moth air force plane three miles from Weston Airport yesterday afternoon. They were Clyde Thompson, 24, Brockville, timekeeper for Patterson and Hill Co., training instructors, and W. G. McGill, an AC2 from Pensacola, Fla., training as an R.C.A.F. instructor.

At hospital Thompson was treated for arm burns and leg wounds. McGill suffered only a broken tooth.

The plane fell into a field at Burgess Corners. Its engine was dislodged. Its wings folded back, and the landing gear sheared off, but it remained upright six up. Cause was unknown.

'Sweeps' Winning Used In Project Of Slum Clearance

Negro Winners Use $100,000 of Money Prize

Philadelphia, April 15 (AP)— A $2.50 investment in the Irish Sweepstakes has given a family on relief made possible the opening today of a $150,000 low rental housing project, first of its kind to be privately financed in the United States.

Negro winners of the prize with a ticket on the victorious Workman in 1939 used the money to help build the Frances Plaza apartments for members of their race, another development after the daughter who drew the top horse.

And now they have used for future; the couple was on hand to distributed date the administrator will proceed to distribute the said estate among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to such claims of which she shall then have notice.

Story Is Typical Of Enemy Propaganda

Belleville, April 15 (AP)—Nazi military and diplomatic sources denied today reports that Italy had made a secret request for an armistice as reported in Rome.

Rome, April 15 (AP)— Italian newspaper circles today circulated a Berlin report that Yugoslavia had asked for an armistice with the axis.

(Comment from Allied sources was not immediately available.)

London, April 15 (CP)—Informed sources in London described an axis report today that Yugoslavia is suing for an armistice as "a typical bit of Goebbels' propaganda" and added that "the latest information here gives no reason for any despondency about Yugoslavia."

These sources expressed the opinion the report was "probably put out to create alarm and despondency" among the Yugoslavs and their allies in the Balkans.

WOMAN CONCEDES FAIR TRIAL

Philadelphia, April 15 (AP).—Legal circles regarded as without precedent the action of Mrs. Josephine Bemudez who yesterday conceded she had a fair trial and withdrew a Supreme Court appeal from a death sentence assessed for the murder-slaying of her husband, a cousin. Her attorney said he would ask the Board of Pardons to the office of "Price Administration and Civilian Supply."

Little Benny's Note Book

I was reading Paul Peppy Among the Parashoot Troops when my mother came into the livingroom, saying, Benny, did you remember to stop in at the shoestore for my shoes? I remembered all right, but the trouble is I forgot again, I am sorry to say. Well, she said, provoking, you've got a memory like the proverbial sieve. I'll have to get you a memory course for you for Christmas next year. I wonder if you've forgotten anything else? I looked at my telephone messages she said.

I replied, I remember all of something but not quite, and I said, Mel the telephone rang after you went out, but I couldn't remember it was so long ago I can't remember what it was about.

You remember it was the telephone, for land sakes, she said, I said and I said, Yes mam, and she said, and you mischievously answered it dont you? and I said, Sure, and she said, Now please go into the livingroom and concentrate a little. Was it Mrs. Hewy? Was it Mrs. Hewy? she asked.

No mam, but it was a lady, I said, and mam said, Well that's something, we're getting somewhere very slowly. Go ahead, maybe we'll even thing for land sakes she said.

Then I said, Mrs. Judy O rocsalem, mam, it was a heck of a long while ago, I said, Hey, she said, Dont you dare say that Mrs. Jaggers Mrs. Libby couldn't get there, I said and I said mam dont you remember I always know any Mrs. Jaggers and Mrs. Libbys.

That's what I told her, ma, I told her there wasn't any Mrs. Jaggers here, and she said it must be the wrong number, and that's what it was, not a mistake, and here I went and remembered both names and I wasn't even sure about a number one, so how's that for a memory, she said of me.

How's this for a good slap? ma said.

BRITISH STAGE 'SUCCESSFUL ATTACK' IN LIBYA

ALLIED ARMY CONTACTS NAZIS ON WHOLE FRONT

German Reports British Leaving Greece Are Denied

German Penetration Of British-Greek Line Costs Nazis Heavily—Defence Line Almost Straight Across Greece

Cairo, Egypt, April 16 —(AP)—British forces "are now in contact with the enemy along the whole of our front" in Greece, British Middle East headquarters announced today.

London, April 16 —(CP)— Military circles said today German pressure in Greece is increasing.

They acknowledged there had been fierce attacks, but asserted there is "no truth whatever" in German reports that the British forces are leaving Greece.

Information reaching London indicates the situation in Yugoslavia frankly is bad, it was said, and the impression prevails that the Yugoslavs no longer have will or effect control over their armies.

It was believed, however, that the Yugoslavs would continue to fight as guerillas.

Oslo, Norway, acting military attache at the Greek legation in London, declared yesterday that several "weak and doomed" Greek forces set off in Eastern Macedonia after the Germans took Salonika — still holding out, although constantly harried and suffering heavy bombardment and dive-bombing attacks.

Blocked For Many Days

Leon said that an isolated but stubborn Greek force had "for many days blocked routes into eastern Macedonia, thus making possible rearm and smooth embarkation and transportation of substantial numbers of Greek troops from that area."

German "Tourists" Crowd Into Spain

Jersey City, N.J., April 16 (AP) —Travellers arriving today on the Lisbon clipper from Lisbon said German troops are ready to march into Spain and Portugal by a route intended to capture Gibraltar.

Passengers said they left six months or more in Portugal said: "Every fifth man was a German agent and every fourth person was a German soldier in civilian clothes."

They said a bottomless pit of German-offered money had occurred in the last two months.

DIMERITS $9,785 FROM DOG

Philadelphia, April 16 (AP)—Not that it was any surprise to Mrs. Blanche Schaffer when she received $9,789.50 from a dog named Chico. For five years she cared for the canine. As a result Judge Charles Sinaker awarded her the sum on custody proof of Chico's death. The money was set aside in trust at the direction of Mrs. Schaffer B. Pearse to care for her pet after her death in 1934. Mrs. Shrouds was a niece.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, April 16 (CP). — The weather is fair and cool in Ontario, and it has been fair and quite mild in the prairie provinces generally, but cooler weather has spread over the Maritimes with rain or snow occurring in many districts.

Duke Of Aosta Sends Envoy To British 'H. Q.' In Ethiopia

Apparently He May Endeavor to Negotiate Surrender

Cairo, Egypt, April 16 (AP)—It was announced officially here today that the Duke of Aosta, Italian Viceroy of Ethiopia, had sent an envoy (apparently to negotiate surrender) to the British headquarters in southern Ethiopia.

(Military circles in London said there were 46,000 Italians and 36,000 native troops fighting in Ethiopia.)

U. S. OFFERED FRENCH BASES BY VICE-CONSUL

Contends Vichy Gov't. Headed by Marshal Petain Only "Puppet State"

TELEGRAM SENT

San Francisco, April 16 (AP) — The United States government was offered the use of all French, naval and military bases in north and west Africa and Indo-China in a telegram French Vice-Consul Paul Bibby sent to President Roosevelt last night.

Bibby, who asserted he is the only legal representative of the French republic in this country, made the offer on what he regarded as similar ground to that which the Danish Minister, Henrik De Kauffman, gave the United States access to naval and air bases in Greenland last week.

Contending the Vichy government headed by Marshal Petain is a self-appointed "puppet state" controlled by the Germans, Bibby argued that Vichy has no authority to speak or act for the French people or Republic.

His telegram said:

"Considering some one must stand with right for helping continental France, and in view of the extreme gravity of the present hour and absolute necessity of keeping the French Empire intact, fear lest East and Far East . . . noting also the precedent established by the Greenland case, I offer to the United States absolute disposal of all north and west Africa and Indo-China bases . . .

"I am certain that the French Empire, Free French forces and chained French people at home . . . will enthusiastically welcome the answer any call made by the United States, notwithstanding the Petains, Weygands and Darlans."

Bibby said he is the only French diplomatic officer in the United States who has refused to give up the post to which he was appointed by the Republic. He said Marshal Petain had asked his resignation but that he had declined to give it.

Joe, The Crafty Crow, Steals Set Of Teeth Then Drops Loot In River

Paris, Ont., April 16—(CP)—Joe, a year-old female crow, really fell for something to crow about today after getting away with his most spectacular theft to date—a set of false teeth.

His particular specialty until yesterday—has been stealing windshield wipers from parked cars.

Yesterday he really outdid himself and stole the set of teeth, owned by a prominent local tumbler in the Penman's mill here. After nabbing his loot Joe headed for the Grand River, where, it is presumed, he dropped the teeth.

Joe has only been trapped once. He got into the laboratory at the High School and knocked himself out with chemical fumes. He was found, taken into the air and was his usual self before long.

Joe might have been overseas with the Royal Canadian Air Force, if the Air Force had accepted Shaw couldn't take a chance with Joe up to his tricks.

BRITISH, NAZIS SWAP AIR RAIDS, N. IRELAND HIT

British Authorities Claim Germans Lost 101 Aircraft in Night's Fighting

KIEL HARBOR RAIDED

Raid on Ireland "Vicious and Indiscriminate" and Casualties May be Heavy

London, April 16 (CP)—Royal Air Force bombers cleared across the Channel last night to blast at the harbor of Kiel and the Nazis launched savage aerial assaults on the north of Ireland and some parts of Scotland.

British authorities disclosed the Germans lost six aircraft but did not disclose their types nor mention any British losses.

(The Germans said British night raiders had dropped bombs at several points in Northern Germany, killing two persons, injuring others and destroying buildings. They claimed strong Nazi bomber formations had participated in the attack on Northern Ireland, effectively blasting "military" objectives.

A communique issued in Belfast said the German assault on Northern Ireland, lasting seven hours, was "vicious and indiscriminate" in some areas and expressed fear casualties would prove heavy. Damage to industrial premises and residential property was announced.

Depart From Usual Custom

It was the second successive air attack on Northern Ireland following by exactly one week a sharp assault in which nine persons were killed.

CAIRO TO UNDERGO FULL BLACKOUT

All Egyptian Cities Speed Air Raid Precaution Work and Order Rehearsals

Cairo, April 16 (AP)—The axis plunge across North Africa, placing enemy bombers within striking distance of the Nile, has prompted Egypt's municipal cities to speed air raids precaution works.

Cairo will undergo a full black-out and a test rehearsal on April 19, it was announced today.

The city escaped damage while the Italians were in Cyrenaica during the axis' retreat and the Nazis got it sacred to all Islam, containing the tomb of Saladin, most important and most sacred buildings and monuments, Mussolini attempted to make himself "protector of Islam."

Egyptian censorship have recovered from the first anxiety caused by the Germans and drive across the border and a feeling of confidence prevails. Egypt's stock exchange is an accurate barometer of public feeling, recovered sharply yesterday.

WORLD IS 'BEAUTIFUL'

Burlington, Vt., April 16—(AP)—The world is "beautiful" to Miss Eliza Barnard, 29. She has regained her sight for the first time since she was three months old.

Depending on sight, rather than hearing, she notes that it is "difficult" to walk and feels she will have to "learn all over again."

An operation — the 19th she has undergone in 14 years — restored her sight — restored the sight in one eye, though the other remains blind.

Says Germany Finds Her Troops In Balkans Will Have To Be Doubled

Turkish Radio Says Delay Will Result in Nazi Plans and Problem of Supply Being Acute —Ankara Officially Says No Non-Aggression Pact is Being Negotiated With Germany

Ankara, Turkey, April 15—(Delayed)—Unofficial quarters said today that no non-aggression pact is being negotiated with Germany. The Reply is made unanimously endorsed a secret statement of policy by Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu.

The Turkish radio said Germany is finding her troops insufficient for the Balkan campaign and therefore will have to double the number to 1,000,000. This, the radio said, will entail delay and also complicate the problem of supply.

R. A. F. Raids Valona, Blows Up 6,000-Ton Vessel, 7,000-Ton Ammunition Ship

Cairo, Egypt, April 16 (AP)—The Royal Air Force blew up a 6,000-ton munitions ship and a 7,000-ton ammunition vessel in a raid on Italian-held Valona harbor, Albania, on the night of April 14-15, the R.A.F. Middle East command announced today.

A communique also announced that the R.A.F. had cut a number of lines of communications in Yugoslavia by bombing the main railbridge over the Vardar River at Veles and had destroyed much transport on the Veles-Prilep road.

WORK IS STARTED ON 7 AIR BASES TO LINK YUKON

All Will be Completed This Summer, Ottawa Spokesman Says

PROJECTS IN ALASKA

Ottawa, April 16 (CP)—Coincident with the report from Washington that United States has embarked on air base and other defense projects in Alaska to cost more than $50,000,000, Transport Department officials here have been advised work on each of the seven airports connected with the Canada-Alaska highway in the Yukon has been started.

Men and gear for the ground at every site chosen for an airport across northern Canada from Edmonton to near the Alaska border," a department spokesman said today. "We are confident all the bases will be completed during the summer."

He said that with the completion of these seven bases, United States planes could cross the border at any point, connect with the Trans-Canada air route and use its beams and other facilities to Edmonton where they could continue on the Edmonton-Whitehorse route also provided with all modern facilities to take them into Alaska.

The Edmonton-Whitehorse route was decided upon following recommendations from the Canada-United States Joint Defence Committee and the bases are being built by the Transport Department.

2-Heavily-Laden Foe Coastal Vessels Attacked, Sinking

London—April 16 (CP)—The Air Ministry announced today that "three heavily laden enemy coastal vessels" off the northwest coast of France were attacked in daylight yesterday and two left sinking from direct hits.

"Aircraft of the same command made a low level attack on the (German) island of Borkum," the communique added. "Freighters lying off the island also was attacked and hit twice midships," said the communique.

Home Guardsmen Find Nazi Airman Caught in Parachute

A Northeastern Town, England, April 16—(CP)—Home Guardsmen emerging from their homes for duty at dawn today rubbed their eyes and beheld—a German airman caught in his parachute, dangling from a high tension wire tower.

Severely injured in the crash, the aviator told his captors he was a member of a bomber crew and that his three brothers had been simultaneously killed after their plane was brought down nearby.

SENATE RALLIES TO SHELVE MOTION AGAINST CONVOYS

Senate Leaders Barkley Assumed Vote Will Go Against Senator Tobey

ASKS TO APPEAR

Washington, April 16 (AP)—The United States administration rallied its forces on the Senate foreign relations Committee today to shelve a proposal by Senator Charles Tobey (Rep-New Hampshire) which would put Congress on record against using the Navy to convoy shipments of war supplies to Britain and other belligerent nations.

Preliminary polls of committee members showed a substantial majority and Senate Democratic leader Alben Barkley said he assumed "we will get down to reporting the resolution out for formal action." The proposal, not a Foreign Relations member, arranged to make a personal plea for favorable action.

The committee's deliberations on the Tobey proposal, at first apparently assumed added significance because President Roosevelt's statement at a press conference yesterday that he decided to let convoy ships travelling the world's sea lanes outside of protected areas become public record.

DEAD, INJURED STILL UNCOUNTED IN MEXICAN QUAKE

Thousands Rendered Homeless and Government Rushes Aid to Stricken Families

WORST IN HISTORY

Heavy Shocks Level Whole Rows of Buildings and Communications Crippled

Mexico City, April 16 — (AP)— Thousands were homeless and the dead and injured uncounted as government rushed aid to stricken districts today in an area in the wake of devastating shocks in Mexico's southern states, worst in history.

Communications were crippled and the full magnitude of the property destruction and human toll, especially in the more remote sections, was unknown. Reports from Colima, capital of Colima State, 270 miles west of Mexico City, appeared to be hardest hit of the towns able to communicate with the capital. Governor Francisco Cruz radioed that half of the 15,000 residents there had been killed, dead or injured.

Colima volcano, near Colima, erupted, Governor Cruz said, kindling forest fires that seriously menaced the shattered city.

Mexico City's sister city, Colima City sustained damages estimated unofficially at more than $1 million when heavy shocks levelled buildings and started a fire in the industrial area that levelled a square block.

THREE COLLIERIES OBSERVE STRIKE

Employees of Nine Other Coal Mines Continue Despite Union Appeal

Glace Bay, N.S., April 16 (CP)— With still worried Dominion Coal Division collieries observed a strike call early today, but employees of nine other mines worked despite an appeal from a group of Dominion Steel Workers of America members for a walkout at all 13 pits.

Some 1,200 men on the No. 12 pit and two at New Waterford walked out at midnight in response to the strike call, sent out from an unofficial convention of U.M.W. members in protest against the reported action of the U.M.W. district executive in signing a new wage agreement covering a board that arbitrated wage disputes.

The executive had not formally announced its stand on the board's findings, but one of its members said they had decided to accept them, at least insofar as they applied to the Dominion Coal Company. The pits called out are operated by Dominion Coal.

The No. 12 pit and the two New Nos. 12 and 16—were idle yesterday, as miners refused to cross picketing the strike call. They were ordered at midnight by No. 4 district U.M.W. executive.

The three employ a total of 2,400 men, but about 1,200 men had been summoned to participate in the strike, with the decision of the U.M.W. executive into submitting the wage recommendations of the district membership in a referendum.

HUNTZIGER SEES WEYGAND

Vichy, France, April 16 (AP). — After two days, censorship permitted disclosure today that Gen. Charles Huntziger, Minister of Defence, has been in North Africa to confer with Gen. Maxime Weygand on "military questions".

Fiercely Resisting Armored Forces Driving Eastward

Patrols In Ethiopia Rout Enemy And Capture Forts On Left Bank Of Blue Nile

London, April 16 (CP)—An official announcement today said British forces in North Africa had "successfully attacked the rear of German position in the Cyrenaica area on the Egyptian border."

Fort Capuzzo is a strong point in Libya, just across the border from Egypt, where British troops have been fiercely resisting Axis armored forces thrusting eastward.

A Ministry of Information statement said—

"It is learned in London that in Libya our forces have successfully attacked the rear of the enemy position in the Capuzzo area, where enemy vehicles were shelled and set on fire.

"In Ethiopia our patrols have routed the enemy at Sarbeda and Jebel, 30 miles southeast of Derba Madfera, and did the same at Fort Jebel on the left bank of the blue Nile in this sector.

"At the Adowa district (of Ethiopia), mechanized troops have encountered an enemy position in the Debarech area."

SIXTY OFFICERS FORCED TO FLEE IN NIGHT ATTIRE

Officers' Quarters at R.C.A.F. Training School, Dunnville, Gutted by Fire

OFFICER BURNED

Dunnville, Ont., April 16 (CP) — Sixty undetermined origin gutted the officers' quarters at the Royal Canadian Air Force No. 5 Service Flying Training School near here early today, forcing 60 men to flee in night attire and causing severe burns to P.O. J. A. Baldwin, 29, of Westmount, Que., who was overcome by smoke while attempting to retrieve some of his possessions.

Baldwin and the former Canadian doubles squash racquets champion and was one of the hospitalized leading tennis players a few years ago. He was given first aid at the school and rushed to the hospital at Hamilton, about 45 miles from here.

At hospital Dr. Miles G. Brown said Baldwin's condition was fair. He suffered second-degree burns and shock and did not inhale any poisonous until shortly after his admittance to hospital.

McNeil, after learning that Baldwin was in the burning building, climbed through a window and, "holding my breath" ran the few steps to Baldwin's room.

"He was lying in the centre of the floor," McNeil said. "On each side of the room was on fire."

HON. R. J. MANION NOW IN ENGLAND

Former Conservative Leader to Survey Auxiliary War Services

London, April 16—(CP)—Hon. R. J. Manion, former Canadian Conservative leader, in England to survey Canadian auxiliary war services, spent a whirlwind day yesterday meeting influential officials and renewing acquaintances.

Mr. Manion spent part of the day learning a uniform and conferring with Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, (ret. ed.) J. M. Hunter, auxiliary service officer at Canadian military headquarters.

He expects to remain in England for at least two months. The former Conservative leader who crossed by clipper, is reported to speak of holidays.

Rome Communique

Rome, April 16 —(AP)— The Italian High Command today claimed occupation of Yugoslavia's main naval base of Split and the capture of 6,000 prisoners from the Greeks.

Split, on Yugoslavia's Adriatic coast southeast of Zara, was said to have been taken after an advance of about 240 miles from the Italian-Yugoslavian border in the course of fighting April 6.

Italian forces which moved into Albania, 30 miles from Split, reached Tirana, continued their drive northward to the town toward the nearly Greek frontier, the High Command said.

LABOR MEMBER RETURNED

London, April 16 (CP Cable)— John Dugdale was returned to the House of Commons unopposed today as Labor member for West Bromwich, filling a vacancy caused by the retiring of the sitting Labor member, F. O. Roberts. The by-election was called in accordance with the wartime political truce.

Full Size Nazi-Fascist Army of 80,000 Men Faces British Forces In Libya

London, April 16 —(CP Cable)— British anti-Imperial forces in Libya are facing a "full size Nazi-Fascist army" with a total strength of between 70,000 and 80,000 men, a Daily Express military writer declared today.

He said an "authentic estimate" of enemy strength was two panzer divisions of 800 tanks and 1,200 vehicles with tractor-mounted guns and three motorized infantry division, probably 200 Italian tanks and an Italian motorized division, numerous supply units, and from 800 to 1,000 airplanes.

The two panzer divisions, he said, suggested that Axis strength is "not less than three, and possibly more, armored divisions."

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

GLENORA FERRY NOW OPERATING

The Glenora ferry resumed its operations of ferrying automobiles across the bay at Glenora over the weekend after the winter's inactivity and it is expected that it will operate on schedule from now on. There is considerable drift ice in the bay yet, but unless this piles up in the vicinity of the crossing it is unlikely to interfere with the operation of the ferry.

AWARDED CONTRACT FOR CONCRETE WORK

The McFarland Construction Company, Picton, has been awarded a contract for concrete work at the Mountain View Bombing and Gunnery School at a cost of $5,000, it has been announced from Ottawa. The training centre is rapidly nearing completion, already comprising a small town, with its rows of barracks, large brick hangars and other buildings. A new fence has been built to enclose the grounds. Members of the R.C.A.F. are expected to arrive at the centre in the near future.

STATION MEMBERS HAVE EARLY SWIM

The swimming season in the Bay of Quinte district received its official opening on Good Friday when several members of the R.A.F. station at the Picton airport took the holiday by going for a dip in East Lake. The day was observed as a holiday at the Picton Airport and this gave the members an opportunity to get out into the country and a group of fifteen hiked to Cherry Valley. Despite the fact that there was still ice in the lake, some of them went in swimming.

MACHINE-SHOP GRADS GO TO COLLINGWOOD

Eight graduates of the machine-shop division of the War Emergency classes at the Belleville Collegiate Institute have secured positions in a manufacturing plant in Collingwood. Included are Messrs. George Dalnard, Bruce Christie, H. S. Snider, Robert Forbes, G. W. Rose, M. Rutter, Clarence Carlton and Robert Bird.

Other graduates of the various divisions have been given positions in plants in the city and immediate district.

SEEK WHEREABOUTS OF MRS. B. SHARPE

In a message received today at the local provincial station, from Naples, New York, Belleville officers have asked to endeavor to establish the whereabouts of a Mrs., Beatrice Sharpe, reportedly living in this city. A friend of Mrs. Sharpe's, Milo Jones, residing in the New York State centre, recently passed away and friends not knowing Mrs. Sharpe's address are anxious to locate her and acquaint her with Mr. Jones' demise.

ALDERMAN OVERCOME BY WORDS OF PRAISE

Alderman Harry Rollins, chairman of the City Public Works Department, hung up the telephone receiver and sat back in his chair. Perspiration beaded his brow, His face was flushed. His eyes gleamed brightly as though he had just received a shock. He called for a glass of water and took it with a shaking hand.

"What is wrong?" someone asked him. "Did someone call you and find fault with the condition of the streets again?"

Alderman Rollins mopped his face. "No," he murmured weakly. "Someone just called and complimented me on the fine job the city is doing, cleaning up the streets."

SMALL BOY TAKES INVOLUNTARY DIP

The same curiosity that killed the proverbial cat was responsible for the first spill of the season in Victoria Park today. A small boy apparently looking for fish in the harbor near the entrance to the park, leaned a bit too far forward, lost his footing and stepped in the icy water. He scrambled out before a passerby could come to his rescue and raced homeward, shivering in his drenched garments.

Objective Reached In Services Drive

Belleville and Hastings County as a whole has joined the group of Dominion communities that have gone "over the top" in the War Service Organizations Campaign which is now drawing to a close.

Officials stated today that the city is "well inside its quota". The county has also attained its objective and the town of Trenton, while still needing a few hundred dollars is expected to reach its quota within a few days.

A complete statement regarding the amount subscribed in the district will be released within a few days, Secretary Joe Shortt said today.

In the meantime contributions are still coming in from private individuals and organizations. Yesterday a man handed Secretary Shortt a ten dollar bill asking that it be placed in the fund. "I guess the canvassers must have forgotten me" he smiled as he handed over the money.

The amount of contributions from the rural areas is steadily increasing and it is expected that a substantial amount, well over the allotted quota, will be on hand when the fund by the time the campaign is cleaned up.

Canvassing of the city is practically finished with only a few places left to be visited. A number of return calls are yet to be made and the entire drive campaign is expected to finish within a day or so.

Officials today were highly appreciative of the splendid response on the part of the city and county to the appeal for funds. They mentioned especially the fine gesture on the part of the rural residents in making voluntary contributions over and above that donated by the Patriotic Committees of the County Council.

Obituary

MRS. LAURA BOTTUM

Although she had been in failing health for some time, Mrs. Laura Bottum, beloved wife of William H. "Cap" Bottum, residence 39 Catherine Street, passed away suddenly at her home early this Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Bottum was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McIlmoyle, being born in Belleville 69 years ago next November, but for the past 41 years had resided in this city, where her pleasing personality and friendliness had endeared her to the hearts of many acquaintances. During her active years Mrs. Bottum actively supported as a member of Christ Church and after passing to be keenly felt among the parishioners.

Surviving to mourn her passing beside her husband are one son Bruce Bottum of this city, and one half-sister, Mrs. George Johnson of New Westminster, British Columbia.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in the paper.

LATE EDWARD DUNCAN (Deseronto)

Deseronto—Edward Duncan, well-known local resident died suddenly Monday evening at his home here. Death is believed to be due to the best of health for some time, he was stricken and died on the way. He was in Napanee returning home in the evening he died shortly.

The deceased, who was in his 76th year was born in Deseronto eight years from Napanee. He was an ex-member of the town council.

Surviving are his widow, the former Agnes Lucas, and one son Hugh Duncan of Deseronto, and two sisters, Mrs. Annie Duncan of Toronto and Mrs. James Hicks of Napanee. A daughter, Mrs. Reuben Young died less than a year ago.

The funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. James McAvoy of the United Church. Interment was in Riverside cemetery, Napanee.

MRS. CHARLES PAPINEAU (Napanee)

The death occurred Tuesday afternoon after an illness of only a few hours of Mrs. Charles Papineau who passed away at her home in Napanee following a heart attack. Although not enjoying the best of health for some months, Mrs. Papineau's passing came as a shock to her many friends and relatives.

The late Mrs. Papineau was formerly Miss Margaret Collins, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins of Moira. She made her home in Napanee following her marriage to Mr. Charles J. Papineau. Mrs. Papineau was a devout member of St. Patrick's Church, Napanee, and was identified with all parish societies to which she gave tirelessly of her time. She was a charter member and first president of the Napanee Branch of the Catholic Women's League.

Surviving to mourn her passing are her husband and one brother, Mr. Michael Doyle, Detroit, Mich., Miss Agnes Gallagher and Miss Kathryn Gallagher of this city are nieces of the late Mrs. Papineau.

MRS. MARGARET E. DOUGLAS (Huntingdon Township)

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Ellen Douglas, widow of Samuel Douglas, took place Tuesday afternoon, April 15th, from her residence in the 5th concession of Huntingdon Township. The service in the home and the graveside in White Oak Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. S. A. R. Delve, pastor of Trenton United Church, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Macdonald, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Roslin.

The bearers were Messrs. Roy Mills, John Green, Arthur Jones, Benjamin Brough, George Morgan and Sylvanus Mills.

The late Mrs. Douglas was a member of Frontier Lodge L.O.B.A. No. 531, Crookston, and the last rites of the order were conducted at the graveside by Mrs. Arthur Jones.

Women Accosted Near Bus Terminal

Wearing a handkerchief over the lower portion of his face as a mask, a man accosted two women who were waiting the city bus at the intersection of Yeomans and West Moira Streets last evening. The women, Mrs. B. Reddell and her daughter, of Sidney Township, escaped without incident and ran into the home of Garn Dobbs, nearby, where they informed the police.

Mrs. Reddell and her daughter were awaiting the city bus when suddenly the daughter saw a man emerge from behind a clump of bushes and stand momentarily watching the women. The daughter asked the masked man what he wanted and as he approached the women he is reported to have replied, "In a minute you'll know all about it."

Retreating into the street the two ladies made their way to Mr. Dobb's home where they were given shelter until the police arrived.

Constables Ellis and Taylor investigated and despite the fact that they scoured the immediate vicinity thoroughly no trace of the man was in evidence. On Saturday night last two men accosted a woman in Purdy Street and obtained $1.70 after ordering the woman to drop her purse. Before the masked man could approach the two women said male demands last night, they evaded him.

Ontario Schoolchildren Purchase $1,000,000 in Stamps in First Quarter

Ottawa, April 16 (CP)—Mrs. Mary Lindsay, in charge of promoting the sale of War Savings Stamps and certificates in Canadian schools announced today that schoolchildren purchased approximately $1,000,000 worth of stamps and certificates during the first three months of 1941.

She said that basing an estimate on the contribution of the Ontario schools, officials of the War Savings committee here believe Canada's approximately 2,000,000 schoolchildren will purchase an equally stamps and certificates worth about $3,000,000. It was estimated that each student would purchase on the average one War certificate each year.

The War Savings Committee announced that special penny banks will be provided to enable schoolchildren to maintain interest in their patriotic purchases during the summer holiday months. The plan is to have the children save during the summer and buy stamps or certificates when schools re-open in September.

Mrs. Lindsay said the school-children with which she has come in contact have liked "to feel they are playing a real part in the war," in which we are succeeding in making them realize that Canada can't possibly win the war," she said. "The teachers in the schools deserve much of the credit for the students' interest."

As part of the promotion in schools, Mrs. Lindsay announced that special stamp books will be issued to the exclusive use of children making stamp purchases in their schools. She said these special books will be colored attractively and will be available within a short time.

Grand Black Preceptory of Ontario East Concludes Session
GRAND MASTER HEARD
The concluding session of the one-fourth annual Grand Black Chapter for Eastern Ontario, held in the local I.O.L. rooms in Bellevue Hall, Saturday afternoon, was featured by an inspiring address by Grand Master of British America, James Black of Winnipeg. Election of officers for the coming year and the receiving of reports from the various committees was also included in the afternoon's program. Present at the meeting were Grand Masters, Grand Deputy Grand Masters, Grand Chaplains, Grand Secretary Grand Mistress, Mrs. Tyrick of Perth and Past Grand Masters Moore of Lindsay.

Mr. Black spoke at some length on the subject "The Training of Youth To-day" dealing with the advisability of the government training youths and young men for civilian occupations as well as those such as agriculture and mechanics, so that when returning from the fighting army at the conclusion of the war, will be absorbed without delay or dustry. He advocated that the government should provide for the cost of the training of youths ranging from 18-20 years so that they might be enabled to enter active service they would already have their occupational training and would then be able to go into industry when discharged. Mr. Black also spoke on the war situation.

From the results of the various committees' reports which were received during the afternoon, it showed that the institution of the Black Chapter of Eastern Ontario, was in a very prosperous condition.

Election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the choice of Master of British America, James Black of Winnipeg, and the installation very ably carried out by Past Grand Master V. A. Coleman of Kingston. The results of the election of officers were as follows: Immediate Past Grand Master; Murney C. Reynolds, Pusboro; Grand Master, Harry Gardiner Ashley Hall, Pusboro, W. Rose, Frankford; Grand Marshal; R. R. Brown, Oshawa; Grand Purshivant, Ernest Sweeney, Ottawa, and W. Lowery, Kingston; Grand Chaplain, Rev. H. Leitch, Pembroke and R. J. Clarke, Pusboro.

During the evening session the Belleville degree team exemplified the initiation degree on the class of candidates. The degree team was composed of the following: G. F. Reed, chairman; W. E. Tumson, Deseronto; Harry Coulter, Clayton Sullivan, Frank Lough, William Reynolds, R. J. Clarke and H. C. Reynolds.

Addresses complimentary to the manner in which the team carried out the initiation ceremonies were made by Past Grand Master Coleman; W. J. Armstrong, Editor of the "Sentinel," Toronto; J. A. Hoiden, Peterboro. The addresses were ably responded to by W. E. Tumson.

Half Of Factories In Quinte District Now In Production

The sweeping arrival of spring a week or so ago has boosted the dairy industry in the Bay of Quinte district with new ambitions and vigor and a campaign of house-cleaning by the factories during the 1941 season has been under way with practically every factory in the district either now in operation or considering starting operations in advance of the usual date.

Approximately one-half of the cheese factories operating cheese on the Belleville Cheese Board are now in operation, Mr. Fred Mallory, secretary-treasurer of the local cheese board, stated today. Tuesday evening, and indications were that others would fall in line soon.

The Belleville cheese board has been broadcasting the need for getting the cheese factories into operation at least two weeks earlier than usual in an annual essential food for the people of Great Britain. Nature is co-operating favorably this end by transforming April into Maytime, promising pasturage a week or so earlier than of other years and there is a general bustle along all fronts to get the factories in readiness.

Machinery dealers report a heavy demand for milking machines from farmers who have installed them are of labor. Farmers are apparently turning to the mechanical means of milking to offset the effects of this promised labor shortage.

In all probability the first meeting of the season to be held by the Belleville Cheese Board will take place on the first Thursday in May was the opinion forwarded by Secretary-Treasurer Fred Mallory.

Lawrence: The Mystery Man of Arabia.

One golden morning in October, 1916, Lurco men reting on their camels set out on a ong journey over the trackless desert sands of Arabia. That was one of the most wonderful journeys in human history. Beginning with these Bedouin travellers, it was to end two years later as a large and victorious army breaking up Turkish rule, and extending the beautiful city of Damascus as conquerors and liberators.

Two of the riders were Bedouins; that is, wandering Arabs. The other, though richly dressed as a Bedouin sheerlet, or prince, formed a striking contrast to his swarthy, black-bearded companions. He was a fair-haired, blue-eyed Englishman, tall, handsome and blue-eyed. In those severe English eyes, gazing far away with the blue and golden sunlight, a dream was ever present. He had always been a dreamer, this Oxford graduate, Thomas Edward Lawrence. Keenly interested in the East and its peoples, he had thought out a scheme by which this freedom-loving grace, already in revolt against their oppressors, might be freed from servitude. And now he was setting out to make his dream come true.

Some years ago at Oxford he had chosen for his graduating thesis the military architecture of the Crusaders. Already deeply interested in this theme and not satisfied with mere book lore, he went to Syria. There, wandering alone on the fringe of the Great Arabian Desert and over regions of Turkey, Palestine and other countries, he learned much of these lands, peoples and languages before he returned to Oxford to write his thesis.

When the War broke out in 1914 he tried to enlist as a fighting man, on account of his frail, boyish appearance and small stature — five foot three — was turned down as physically unfit. Afterwards he was given a position in the map department at Cairo, where his unusual knowledge and experience proved of real value. Later he became a leading member of the Secret Service.

The revolt in Arabia, long planned and prepared for by Hussein and Feisal, the Arab leaders, and Hussein, eldest living descendant of Mohammed, led by himself and his four sons, Ali, Abdullah, Feisal and Zeid, began in June, 1916. They were successful as a fighting force. Jeddah its port, Mecca and Medina are the two sacred cities of Mohammedans. Medina contains the tomb of Mohammed. For this reason, when the Turkish troops retired within its walls, Hussein ordered them bombarded, for he felt he should destroy the sacred tomb. Thus it remained for some time in the possession of the Turks. Reinforcements had been sent from Syria north to Medina, and an expedition was on its way to Mecca. Hussein and Jeddah to punish the revolutionists.

Such was the condition of affairs when Colonel Lawrence, having obtained from Headquarters at Cairo permission for a two-weeks holiday, came down the Red Sea to visit Hussein at Jeddah. Hussein permitted him to visit his son Feisal at his desert camp.

Having learned from the discussions how matters stood, Lawrence thought the thing out and made his plans. The Arabs were now in possession of the greater part of their country, with the important seaport of Jeddah. Medina, some small forts along the railway line and Hejaz between this city and Damascus. Hussein's followers were too few and too badly armed and supplied with supplies to overcome these enemies; but if the various Bedouin tribes, who for centuries had been at strife with one another, were united in a common cause, it might be done.

The Turks were entirely dependent for supplies and reinforcements on the railway and two small ports, Yenbo and Wejh, on the Red Sea for protection. If these ports could be taken, the railway cut the line of marching against Mecca might be compelled to return to Syria. This would then more would enable the bold leader of Arabs to gather a force sufficient for their defeat in other places.

Lawrence obtained permission to remain in Arabia and see what he could to help the rebellion along. Then with his two companions he set out on his mission. Even on the forbidden ground of Holy Arabia, though he did his best to hide the fact that he was a Christian he was detected as he went to the camp of Feisal, the best loved son of Hussein. They permitted him to wear the rich robes of a sheref; he spoke Arabic with scholarly fluency; he understood and sympathized with the people heart and soul. Therefore they listened to him, trusted him, and followed him as their leader. At once he began to camp fires, his voice, talking to them about their past greatness, their present misery and their future glory, thrilled them to ardent enthusiasm. Whole tribes, consisting of many thousands of men, were won over, and in a short time a company grew to a large, confident army.

While Lawrence was marching inland with this increasing army, headline for Yenbo, Feisal with all the followers he could muster went up along the coast toward the same point. But before they arrived the British war-ships had already destroyed the Turkish garrison. The combined armies made a great and triumphant entry into Yenbo. Feisal and Lawrence, both in pure white robes of honor, mounted camels in red, rode in front. They were followed by Bedouins with silken banners; musicians; and thousands of daily dressed men on camels, singing at the top of their voices.

Next army, supported by the British war-ships along the coast, continued its march to El Wejh, 200 miles to the north. This port, defended by 1,000 Turkish troops, was the Arabs' next goal. In the meantime, Abdullah and Zeid had also won successes further south, and the Turkish forces retired in a panic to their base of supplies at Medina.

Akaba, 300 miles farther north, an ancient historic seaport north of Aden and a very important military port, was Lawrence's next objective of attack. To reach it he did not take a direct route, but, wishing to keep the Turks in ignorance of his intentions, he went a roundabout way far into the interior. Sherees Nasir headed this force. Lawrence accompanying him as adviser, and of course in this indirect way he was the real leader. It was always Lawrence's way to make the natives believe themselves the leaders, while he, the brain and impulse of the whole army, kept himself in the background.

After a long march, with many adventures, and considerable fighting by blowing up of several miles of railway, Aqaba, a town and port and a bridge, the army, now increased by hundreds of the finest warriors, reached Akaba. The great victory of endurance of camels and Bedouins, their familiarity with the desert enabled them to perform what no army successfully and get away in safety.

The Turkish garrison with heavy guns and many massed behind, a solid Roman wall near Akaba. But to the amazement, the invaders of army marched right past them and on into the desert. But the Turks. No resistance was offered, but Lawrence and Nasir with difficulty restrained the wild Bedouins from massacring the bewildered and frightened people.

Now the magnificently far-reaching campaign of Lawrence's dream began to appear, and step by step was realized. With Akaba as his base he invaded southern Syria. He could easily, with the force at his disposal, have at once demolished the railway and driven the Turks northward. But this was Lawrence's method to threaten them so that large numbers would be sent south to defend Amman at Medina and other points, thus lessening the force available for use against Palestine. This fell out just as he planned.

Now, as Lawrence moved north on his conquering way, wherever he went he was in need of provisions he simply selected a suitable point and the Arabian army descended, carefully laid a charge of nitro-glycerine, lighted a electric wire and waited in hiding till a train came along. Then, just as the train, there was a terrific roar and the engine faded away.

Akaba, 1918. Usually a little fighting followed, but the Arabs were not interested in fighting and got what they wanted. Lawrence called this "the game of his favourite tulips"—and he planned seventy-nine in all., it was a tactful, successful game of his own ways that.

Because of his uncanny success and because he appeared and vanished like a ghost, so suddenly and mysteriously, Lawrence became known as the "mystery man". The Turks offered a price of £50,000 for him, dead or alive, but his foes never could get near enough to the prize of gold loyal to the end.

This is the story of a long and fascinating story, which ended happily with a glorious victory in 1918. The Turks were driven out of Arabia; the aged Hussein proclaimed himself King of the Hedjaz, and his son Feisal, King of Mesopotamia. Had it not been for Lawrence's timely co-operation with Allenby against the Turkish armies in Syria, it is believed, would not have come to an end so soon.

But the shy, blue-eyed English leader, proclaimed by Arabs as "El Arabia"—declined all the honours offered him—knighthood, a peerage, Cabinet rank, decorations etc.—and tried, not altogether successfully, to live his life as an Englishman. Though the people he had so valiantly served, still loved him, no longer could he work out their own destiny in their own way. He had become unanimously acclaimed as the leading spirit of them all.

Business Standards Subject Of Address By Laurie Lewis To Members Of Kiwanis Club

Luncheon Conducted by Chairman of Business Standards Committee

ELOCUTIONIST HEARD

An interesting and instructive address was given the members of the Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon on Tuesday, when Laurie Lewis, a former Alderman of this city and Past President of the Retail Merchants Association of Ontario spoke on Business Standards. The meeting was under the chairmanship of Business Standards of which Ross Silver is the chairman and the meeting was well attended. Ray Grant collected the fines with Bill Dougherty acting the community singing and Leo B. Riggs presiding at the piano. An added attraction at the luncheon was the presence of Mrs Beatrice Arbuckle who gave two splendid readings which were highly appreciated by the members.

Art Sills celebrated a Kiwania birthday at the luncheon and was fittingly introduced by Bruce Robbins and Ross Silver and Erick Pinkle were the prize winners of the awards given by the popular Kiwanian, The speaker of the day was introduced by Bernard Collins and Kiwanian appreciation was expressed by Fred Lewis. After thanking the club for the privilege of addressing them on such an important subject, Laurie Lewis stating the Club on choosing worthy Kiwanian for the speaker said in part:

"As I approach the subject on which I am too speak today, of high ideals admiration arises for the leaders of this movement. They are apparently through with the relentless fight and vast subjects of no material value to humanity. 1918. The Great War driven out of Arabia; the aged Hussein proclaimed himself King of the Hedjaz, and his son Feisal, King of Mesopotamia. Had it not been for Lawrence's timely co-operation with Allenby against the Turkish armies in Syria, it is believed, would not have come to an end so soon.

But the shy, blue-eyed English leader, proclaimed by Arabs as "El Arabia"—declined all the honours offered him—knighthood, a peerage, Cabinet rank, decorations etc.—and tried, not altogether successfully, to live his life as an Englishman. Mystery, adventure and romance abound in "Gallant Sons," featuring Jackie Cooper and Benita Granville, now at the Belle Theatre with George Brent and Lucille Ball in a very funny comedy. "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob."

Principle Too Readily Accepted

"Sadly enough, the principle of "the end justifies the means" in business, is often all too readily accepted with the inevitable breakdown of morality. Evidences of this is to be found in "Murder Lies Advertising"—downright false advertising — false bankruptcies — something for nothing schemes—premiums — trade-in rackets, etc. These we should not practice or tolerate unless we want the community to take us at our own value.

"Take False Advertising, this takes a variety of forms, and is provided against by a section of the Criminal Code, where the offender is liable to a fine of $200.00 or 6 months imprisonment, or both on conviction.

"The initiative for enforcing this legislation rests upon the business men themselves. Clearly the business men cannot rest with the police, who know nothing about the technicalities of business, and the only way would be to form a committee of Service Clubs and Women's Organizations named Advertising Committee, or Business Standards Committee, who would, when satisfied that an advertisement was false, misleading or deceptive, collect evidence and submit to the Crown Prosecutor for the necessary action, necessary to secure conviction and that before the matter could be related to the advantage of all concerned. These things take time, thought, and energy, but if Kiwanians are really interested in raising business standards for 1941, they will accept these responsibilities.

Not Troubled With Scheme

"Belleville has not been troubled much with the Fake Racketeer but they may appear any time and often. The system is a perpetual closing out sale which is very harmful to the legitimate trade and to a certain extent to the consumer. The object is the fleecing of the public by foisting upon them, almost worthless products. Our Provincial laws do not adequately cover this, and the Retail Merchants Association is desirous of securing legislation similar to the Provinces of British Columbia, and Alberta in this regard, where a license is granted for the purchase of stock of merchandise and is not returnable. It would help to check the chaotic condition the world finds itself in today, particularly, the business world.

Demoralizing System

"PREMIUMS. A very demoralizing system of merchandising and the name is a misnomer. Hundreds of these schemes are to be found at all times. If you don't believe it you know, "A Baby Carriage with a pound of Tea" Usually the only sound of the can stand on the corn feet in the matter of value — or have the cash to buy the goods — or hasn't the courage to honestly refuse to accept premiums for a fair basis.

"Then we should the distributor of garden seeds, at this time of year, find the Peat Products Co. a premium or food company giving away packets of seed to housewives purchasing a certain line of their products. Apart from the ethics of the matter, which is not to be overlighted one, for it produces ill will between the Retail Merchants, manufacturer and Retailer, but also between Retailer and Retailer. Competition in this classification has been unfairly invaded.

"Then we subscribe to greedy volume policies of manufacturers which are responsible for many of the lowest instincts of stupidity and avaricious greed.

"Something could be done about all these things if business would organize for responsibility and until business does, nothing will be done.

"If Kiwania really wants to do something big, let it be the raising of business standards, and see not just concerned with the passing of meaningless resolutions, there are scores of illustrations that could be given, but I prefer to take a blight through legitimate merchandising, and I would like to direct your attention to the case of a Belleville merchant who is dying at present practically giving away a coffee maker to purchasers of a new line of coffee, and in view the dinnerware recipes featured on Movie Dishes, which tends to stimulate the jaded appetites of that class of people who are always looking for something for nothing. Such practices, however, seriously indicate something fundamentally wrong with our system, and I would call and constitute a challenge to Service Clubs, who are interested in the welfare of their groups in our community.

Comparison Given

"Reasoning just a moment on the fundamental Economic Principle:

Let us take the 1c sale idea. Dots it not occur to anyone that it is only possible to sell 1c articles in the series of one, where the article in question carried a 200 per cent profit, or 200 per cent or that the product is not what it is represented to be.

"The exception in this case that proves the rule is the Woolworth's pressure, the 1c sale is reached to for the elimination of articles unsalable, or practically worthless.

"Can you reasonably buy a 35c bottle of hair oil for 10c

"Can you buy a quart of first grade paint for 65c?

You cannot.

"These are real offers, and not figments of my imagination.

"Think of the brazen backboneity of the trade-in trick, eliting one business from another, Kiwanians.

"At Christmas, a buyer went to a reputable store to buy a radio. The price was $138.00 was asked. Salesman suggested, during the remark "Of course that price is subject to trade-in, what have you in your present radio." "What would that be," Forty-five dollars." "Then you haven't seen it." "We will take it, sight unseen." The sale was closed at $104.00, plus an obsolete model not worth $5.00.

"Now, there would be no bulling as between distributor and consumer, if the latter would only exercise his countenance such business policies. We cannot expect a harmless suspicious consumer public to look upon us business with favor."

Must Have Full Need

"The Kiwania Club must have full the need for raising the standard of business practices, or why have a Kiwania Club. Let the 1941 Agenda. What then, do they mean to us? Why, of course, they are going to listen to speeches on the subject and just agree in principle, or are they going to put this out into practice.

"Accuracy and wisdom in working to raise the standards of business? If not, then I suggest that we cease to work on and suggestions of some of our committees delegated to the job.

"Two subjects are in my mind, and untouched by this address bearing upon scandalous injustices to the public, which should be subjected, but time will not allow. One of which is the vicious wholesaler and manufacturer to consumer racket. Which of us could cast the first stone in this matter? Do we care so long as it is not our bull that has been hit, with, what energy we take up the cudgels for ourselves, but will we, for our brothers.

"By way of conclusion, may I say, we cannot be held responsible for the actions of others, but we can take action to prevent practices which lower business standards, and demoralize the economic structure of the state. We can lend our influence to organization—act upon the recommendations of trade representations of manufacturers and Government, and forever the effort of trying to beat the game of cunning and trickery from the minds we are our brothers keepers."

SCIENTIST'S OPINION

A scientist who has been in Greenland on expeditions supports the attitude of the United States Government as to the importance of this island for air and naval bases which will be established by the United States for the protection of the island on behalf of Denmark and the guardianship of the Western Hemisphere under the agreement recently signed by the Danish Minister.

Prof. W. H. Hobbs made three university expeditions to Greenland from 1927 to 1929 and his opinion is that the climate of Greenland is on the whole not unfavorable for flying and that the island is well adapted for both naval and air bases. Prof. Hobbs states that on a filming expedition to the island conducted by one of Hitler's friends, the Commy attaches a careful study of landing fields and arranged for systematic weather observations on each of these fields for several years.

Professor Hobbs recalls that last October a German vessel with 50 armed "meteorologists" on board attempted to make a landing on the east coast but fortunately their vessel was captured by a Norwegian patrol ship.

BRITAIN'S GOOD NAME

What the British name means in the world is seen in Brazil for Brazilians have two phrases for integrity, wherever their language is spoken, "word of an Englishman" and "English time," the latter for a business agreement that must be kept to the minute or for a bond or note to be paid on an exact day, says the Montreal Star. The newspaper also points out that wherever Englishmen trade and engage in business this is the striking commendation of British dealings. Other phrases are trademarks the world over of honest, painstaking workmanship and first quality material, "Made in England," and "Scotch Woollens," "Irish Linens," steel products, stamped "Sheffield," "Birmingham," "Leeds," "Glasgow." Such are the stamp of supreme quality and reliability.

This reputation for thoroughness and honesty is a mark of the character of the British people who have expressed themselves in their workmanship and in their business and in all life's relations.

READING WAR NEWS

It is good advice to follow, that one should follow along the lines of the British and Allied official reports. These are reliable and should form the basis of one's opinion formed on the war.

On the other hand the German and Italian propaganda agencies are very active in their efforts to sow concern and anxiety such as they have done about Yugoslavia. Yesterday the Italian papers circulated a Berlin report about Yugoslavia which British sources described as "a typical piece of Goebbel's propaganda." London opinion was that the report was put out probably with the purpose of causing alarm and despondency among the Yugoslavs and their Allies in the Balkans.

British news is to be relied upon and extreme care taken in regard to reports emanating from Rome and Berlin sources. The enemy is used to the trickery of propaganda and to believe everything the enemy says through its agencies is what the enemy wants. The credulous person can easily become the victim of German and Italian propaganda.

British reports keep to the truth and help to maintain a proper sense of reality.

RED SEA ROUTE

The Red Sea route will be used to bring supplies to Yugoslavia, Greece and Britain in the Mediterranean, the President of the United States having decreed that a state of war having ceased to exist in the Red Sea, American shipping may take that course to the south end of the Suez Canal. This will mean that aid to the Allied nations will be able to reach its destination with a minimum of time and risk.

General Wavell, who charted the strategy of the British in the North African campaign and in the Balkans and General Wilson, who had direct command in Egypt and Libya, possess magic in their names which inspire confidence of ultimate victory.

OURSELVES AND OTHERS . . .

BY

News Item:—Russia and Japan sign neutrality pact.)

The Russian commissioner is seated on a samovar. Around the room are distributed his fourteen sons in a kneeling position. There is a blare of trumpets. Seventeen Cossacks, eight Russian wolfhounds, three ballet dancers bearing flocks of cherry blossoms enter. A singer croons "Poor Butterfly" and to the swishing of kimonos, silk pajamas and dishes of vodka, the great man from the East slowly walks into the room.

The fourteen sons slowly rise to their feet. The Great Man bows and speaks: "Greetings, Hon. Pal. Thanks for the compliment. This is indeed the Land of the Rising Sons."

"Your welcomesky," the Commy smirks, shaking two non-aggression pacts, a loveletter from the British Cabinet, and two cans of caviar from his beard.

"But, Hon. Pal," says the Great One. "How come there are only fourteen sons. I thought the Hon. Commish had fifteen."

"Yeah, so I did—but I caught him telling risque stories to the Imperial Ballet. He is now in the Far Eastern Boatmen working on a Mississippi steamboat."

"Well, let's get down to business. How about this you - ay - ay - me - and - I Ily - off - your - piece of paper."

"Quite so, quite so, Hon. Pal," comes back the Great One. He strokes his chin, wiggles his kimona and goes into a trance dreaming about the four Geishas at the beer-party in Tokyo the night before.

"You see, Hon. Pal, we licked the hopstuffing out of you several years ago, and you ain't been doin' so well since. And we're about that little war Stalin had a few months ago when you started to walk to the east.

"Listen, pal," growls the Commy, "that ain't funny."

"No," smiles the Great One in his kimona collar, "but it was Finny. Why the Hon. Finns bumped off so many Muscovites that this year's crop of Finnan haddies speak with a Siberian accent. Every Finn was a Mickey as far as your troops were concerned."

"In my illustrious country," the Great One continued, smirking at the cherry blossom corsage presented to him by the Mikado before he left, "a general who was guilty of such a mistake commits hari-kari."

The Commisar looked up. He reached for his hammer and sickle and started to play "The Japanese Sandman. "Listen, buddy, he grunted, "You ain't in your country, see. Here we can commit Harry Cary or any other pitcher star if we want to."

"There there," murmured the Great One, "don't fly off the hon. handle. Let's get down to the hon. business. We want our back door safe so we can turn our attention southward." He stretched to his full height of four-feet two, "Japan must expand."

The Commy grinned. "If Japan doesn't expand any more than that chest of yours you will be able to put her in a box-stall."

"However, that suits me. You lay off our northern borders and we'll lay off you. If those Yanks want to take a crack atcha then we'll stay out of the fight. Besides, Cousin Adolf is getting a bit snooty about me kicking because he wants to chisel my yields in the Ukraine. I might have to chastise him some of these days."

"You had better be careful, Hon. Pal," comes back the Great One. "The Hon. Adolf is a great thinker. Have we not been bothering the Brits and Americans in the Far East so that they can keep their minds off him. You be good boys here in Russia, and we'll not only lay off you but give you a couple of sheep ranches in Australia after the hon. war is finished. In fact we'll throw in a couple of beaches in Ball-Bali."

"It's a deal," agreed the Commisar. "We're pals then, unless you start something against us. Then it will be too bad for you."

"Forget that," commands the Great One, "Our agreement is satisfactory and as a favor I'll tell you a great secret." He looked about him. "Are we alone?" he asks.

The Commy's eyes gleamed with anticipation. "Yes," he strains through his beard, "What is it?"

The Great One put his finger on his lips, "The Yanks will win the world's series this year. Cherryo."

RECIPE FOR HAPPINESS

For happiness a recipe I'll name
If man could write it down,
Then would he be the property
Of every fool in town;
And every great and solemn sage
Who plies the world so grim,
Regardless of the cares of age,
Would light of heart become.

If happiness were like a cake,
Ingredients rightly mixed,
The time precise required to bake,
The heat of oven fixed,
Then every one who walks about
Bewildered by his care,
Perpetually perplexed by doubt,
A cherry smile would wear.

If happiness were something known
And true to law and rule,
And could be proved and plainly shown,
To children sent to school,
Or could be found at any time
At drug or notion store,
Then any child could buy a dime
Could always send for more,

But happiness eludes lies.
The hearts of men within,
Are subject to influences that rise
Above life's care and sin.
It can't be bored in gaudy dress
To stock a merchant's shelf;
For who can sell for happiness
Must find it for himself.

Birds Show No Fear Of Bombers

By Wentworth Day In the London Listener

Only a few years ago people were saying that birds would be scared out of the sky by aircraft and that half the migrants which come to us from abroad would probably change their habits. Actually the plain fact is that the average bird nowadays takes the air-liner noises of an aircraft. A few months ago I was on the top of the Downs, bombers in the south of England. Bombers, fighters and reconnaissance planes were coming and going every minute. It is a highly secret part of Dreamship Circus of the air.

Yet as we tasted across the grass in the wheatcheap great among one of the Coastal Command machines—its engines roaring like thunder, the magnificent birds flocked to get out of the way. They hovered up and down under the wheels so close that I thought they were going to be caught in the airscrew.

Thousands were walking about on the edges of the airfield and the hedgerows were alive and busily nested on it. In fact, just before the war started a pair of robbins nested in Percy Hordern's plane at Denham. The nest and eggs were left in Brighton for three days and the mother waited at the aerodrome and fed her mate when he came back.

Our pilots who are now flying in the Middle East will find, however, that the local eagles and kites in those parts of Arabia and Sinais are just as likely to attack their machines as they are to keep from it. In fact, the Air Ministry has already had to issue a warning all aviators to fly above kites and eagles as they invariably dive when attacked or scared. They have a nasty habit of diving on the tail-plane of an air current with their wings outstretched and then, by their manoeuvres from Moscow do indicate that all is not well with what aid she can to Turkey, the non-belligerent nation in the Balkans.

Naturally, she wants to be sure that if she becomes engaged in war in the west, Japan will not attack her in the east. But one—and no doubt whether the pact will release a single Japanese soldier from China, for the Japanese know that in the long run Russia will always be hostile. And the Japanese have plenty on their hands with China, as it is.

If Japan decides to move against the British, and eventually against American possessions in the Far East, it is her navy that will be involved. And in this Russia can do nothing to help or hinder and neither Hitler nor Mussolini can give Japan any aid. Hitler, of course, will tell Japan to enter the war immediately, but the pact with Russia will have very little influence one way or the other, upon whether she decides to do so. For Japan knows that Russia will be too preoccupied in the west, to be interested in her embroiling herself further with Japan.

* * *

On the other hand, the pact is a definite gain for Russia, for it means that Japan bows out of the Axis as far as Russia is concerned. This is important, would seem, a loss for Germany, which has every interest in keeping Russia very weak and occupied elsewhere than in the Middle East. But for the Far Eastern far as Singapore and the United States of America strongholds are concerned, I cannot see that it in any way alters the situation.

* * *

The German propaganda will do everything it can to endeavor to persuade the citizens of the United States that this pact constitutes a brand-new element that makes it inadvisable for the United States to increase assistance to Britain. I doubt whether the United States naval authorities will see it in this way. In naval defence the vital and immediate area is the Atlantic ocean, and the vital areas of this war are, for the United States, in the North Atlantic — West Africa, Dakar, the Cape Verde Islands and the Spanish Isles themselves, Japan by her pact has made a nominal and not long run; Japan in conjunction with a victorious Germany in possession of four fleets, or parts of four fleets, would be a terrific menace to the United States, because of this war, as a world problem, but it would be the outcome in the west. The Middle-East—Suez, the Red Sea, where the Japanese navy might make a conjunction with German troops will also be a vital area. The latest moves of the Japanese Government in the United States Government is fully aware of where the strategically important areas lie.

Saying It With Eggs

—The Glasgow man who has been fined for an attack on a tramway inspector with two eggs alles eggs which had cost him sixpence apiece—and a bit of a bother getting them", he told the magistrate, "is quite a waste of good ammunition in these days, though eggs were a popular weapon in electioneering days when they were cheaper.

Another unusual use for eggs which is not likely to be revived at present poses was mixing of them with mortar for building purposes. An example of a castle in Castle Carlo, and to this day the ladders point out yellow streaks in the pointings of the walls which they tell you, are the petrified strips of egg yolk mixed among the mortar more than three centuries ago.—Manchester Guardian.

Rural Blitzkrieg

London Correspondence of the San Francisco Argonaut

—Recently I fell among a mass incendiary attack in open country. If there were any reason for this attack it must have been to destroy fields and farmsteads. I should have been that the airmen had mistaken their positions and that they were over a town which was not very far away, or an aerdrome which was not much further away.

The incendiaries were spread over a wide area and the scene was picaresque. A pure white horse was rushing through the arrows of fire and flames—a ghost horse it seemed. People in attractive old-world costumes and after scrambling through barbed wire fences and falling into ditches, we were soon all busy putting out the fires. Much fun, but in a wily eye on the half-crazed horse.

In half an hour or so what had been a fantastically lighted rural area was now bathed in the quiet moonlight of a misty Surine-like evening. German airplanes continued overhead and we were ready for the customary follow-up of high explosives, but none arrived. So we went on our respected ways, content that we had done a bit of work, though some of us were slightly scratched by thorns and barbed wire without scratches to flesh and clothing.

Speaking Of Parrots

—In Philadelphia a parrot solved a serious early-morning bottleneck in one home simply by exclaiming, "Rosie, get out of the bathroom!"

In the Bronx, a fellow had to get his parrot to stop swearing whenever a bell rang the bird shouted, "Don't open the door, it's a snowman."

A dacent Irish furniture dealer, partnered at Bamberger's store in Newark, N.J., fools all the new customers who inquire about the bird. "Wait, please, I want to get on!" the parrot squawks. The New York Stock Exchange has a parrot that greet him every evening with "Hurry, hurry, Pop! I'm a bull, I'm a bull!"

A notable bird in California asks all male guests: "Who's your mother?" Out in New York, whenever he hears the cocktail shaker, shouts: "Hot weather!" And somewhere out West carefully counts his owner's drinks for him.

Mrs. Thomas V. Parrott likes to heckle Walter Damrosch on the radio, and one in Washington asks nothing better than to have the Guy Lombardo band on the air.—Winnipeg Tribune.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

The Russian—Japanese Pact

New York, April 16 — In order to understand the Russian-Japanese pact of non-aggression one must look at the history of Russia — as is Germany. It has steadily worked since the German defeat of Russia in 1918 to create a vast area of vital interest to the Soviet Union, without giving the Soviets any advance notice of its intentions. The zone into Bulgaria, after Hitler had openly disclaimed any intention to send troops there, a reprimand from Russia. The move into Yugoslavia brought scorn that amounted to a rail break. In the "friendship" between the Soviet Union and Nazi Germany. And the relations between Turkey and the Soviet Union, indicate that Russia's apprehensions are growing rapidly.

Furthermore, Stalin is perturbed by the constant penetration of Nazi agents—Ukrainian, White Russian, Prussian, and German industrial leaders—into the Soviet Union.

Stalin is not the least interested in defending the British, or in aiding "democracy." But he is vitally interested in defending the integrity of the Soviet Union. He wanted to keep control of the Balkans because he wanted to see Germany frustrated and Russian dominant there. Now the Germans are on the Black Sea, in Bulgaria, in Rumania, and are at the gates of Turkey. And for a year now the Germany must go through Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan to the canal by land. Furthermore Germany needs more oil, and must get it from Russia. All this is very disturbing indeed to the Soviet Union.

Every indication in the last weeks has been that Germany intended trouble on his western borders. The best informed people all seem certain that the Soviet Union will not enter the war against Germany, but is attacked. But official communications from Moscow do indicate that all is not well with what aid she can to Turkey, the non-belligerent nation in the Balkans.

Naturally, she wants to be sure that if she becomes engaged in war in the west, Japan will not attack her in the east. But one—and no doubt whether the pact will release a single Japanese soldier from China, for the Japanese know that in the long run Russia will always be hostile. THE PLAYFUL ANTELOPE

"Where the deer and the antelope play," is one of the most quoted lines in "Home on the Range."

Yet there is no true antelope native to America.

The animal popularly called the antelope in America is really a pronghorn and not actually an antelope but the sole member of a remarkable family of cud-chewing animals.

This interesting animal has no close relative on any other continent and consequently some of the characteristics of the giraffe, the camel, the deer and the true African antelope.

When Europeans first visited the West they found these beautiful, sprightly and fleet pronghorns in numbers on the prairies and plains and supposed them to be antelope.

But when zoologists came to classify the pronghorn they found it is so different from all other animals that they had to create a new family for it.

The pronghorn has hollow horns like the antelope and deer, but unlike the antelope it sheds its horns every year.

And unlike all deer except the reindeer the pronghorn has horns in both sexes.

The pronghorn is the only living animal that has pronged or bifurcated horns. Another distinction is the only hollow-horned animal that sheds its horns.

The pronghorn also differs from other cud-chewers in having no "dew-claws," or false hoofs.

It is the only ruminant with the horns directly above the eyes.

Here's another unique cut clean at the head, but those of the pronghorn fall as the result of degeneration at the base.

A pronghorn may have horns a foot long, but the females of the female are so imperceptible that naturalists have hardly authorities stated that the females of this species had no horns at all.

On a cold female pronghorn the horns cannot be detected; on a yearling they can easily be felt, while on an adult female they appear above the hair and occasionally reach a length of two or three inches.

At one time the pronghorned American antelope was so widely hunted that the species was threatened with extinction, but it is now sufficiently well protected by law to assure its preservation.

MURDER SAILS A TROOPSHIP

CHAPTER VII

"Life of Reilly"

In the strange way ships have of making friendships, passengers met yesterday as soon as today arrives, and this afternoon found the hands interlude of the previous night wiped off the conversation slate. Even the varied ideas about rifle shots had finished out of the topic spotlight. The weather had cleared and the convoy rode a heavy swell but the glorious sunshine made up for much of the distress caused by the rise and fall of "2" F". She was made of sturdy stock and still a youngster at sea, but no ship could ride evenly while zig-zagging in an after-storm swell.

After their long training grind in the snow-covered Canadian camps and realizing a seven trailing sixteen days ahead of them in England, the men were making the most of this "Life of Reilly" period of their military careers. They lounged on tops of covered hatches or on the decks fore and aft. They used their kitbells as pillows, while the men with the knitting and craft groups tucked sandbags under their backs, donned their shuffleboard, others were watching the soldiers' boxing exhibition being staged by a Y.M.C.A. instructor and various soldiers.

The fighting was pretty spotty due to the constant movement of the deck but everybody seemed to enjoy themselves. A rugged little destroyer kicked in close to "2" F" and officers and men could plainly be seen on various vantage points of the trusty weapon's decks through binoculars.

Life began at "0800 hrs". aboard the troopship—six o'clock to landlubbers. Hours sounded at that time and the men had to make their beds and fold their blankets. At 8.30 came the rations—orderlies drawing bread and butter. At seven and eight came the first and second sittings for breakfast were held. By 9.0 the mess had to be cleared and a one-hour cleaning period started.

Daily at 10.30 there was a general inspection. The Captain of the ship inspected with the "O.C. Troops" and a few senior officers toured the kitchens and personally sampled the various dishes on the day's menu. They carried search-lights with which to probe dark corners. Various messes and sections of the men's quarters were visited daily. At 11 o'clock the troops had a pint of beer per man. At 11.45 the orderly officer flew hunched sections—each table having a Mess Orderly who draws the quantity of bread and butter necessary for his table. At noon the first sitting was called.

At five o'clock each mess had chow another pint of beer. The "canteen" also began at that time. Between 5.30 and 7.30 dinner was served. At eight, the "Make Ready" order was issued. At 8.30, "Lights Out", all troops had to stop smoking and everyone except guards and police to go below. Fifteen minutes later the Field Officer and Orderly Officer made rounds. At 11 o'clock the lights had to be out in the Officers' Lounge. But soldiering is soldiering and the officers and men alike know how to shake around the o'clock hours. Should the ship be in violent infractions are committed, experienced commanders learn it's best for trouble to tolerate some things to a degree.

That day Lieutenant Gregory Rollins feeling entirely cheerful and refreshing, after a restful sleep. He felt in his heart that he would iron out the dirty wrinkle that Lady Luck had handed him in the Following a trip to Quebec and eastern points, the bride wearing her travelling a navy blue tailored suit with matching accessories, they will take up residence on Bleecker Avenue upon their return.

Unknown "Mike" Causes Amusement To Ruth Draper

An amusing incident happened in connection with a performance which Ruth Draper gave a couple of years ago at Suva in the Fiji Islands. It seems that, quite unknown to the star, a microphone had been placed in the foot-lights and her performance was being broadcast all over the Pacific. Buoyed to the fact that Miss Draper knew about the gaff a great deal during the presentation of her character sketches, she was often too far away from the "mike" for her voice to carry. It was not long then, before radiocall complaints began pouring in from the other islands and Suva Police as to who wanted to know why the artist's voice had faded and what was all wrong with the broadcasting station. Quite unaware of the interest she was causing such an unusual commotion over the Pacific's broad expanse, Miss Draper went placidly on to the conclusion of her program.

Incidentally, this was the first time that an attempt had been made to broadcast any kind of theatrical performance in that part of the world. Suva people are sure that Miss Draper's voice had ever been heard in the Fijis and that years ago last Christmas time when she did a radio sketch over "A Child's Christmas" at Ellis Island" for the Red Cross. Her third broadcast was on January 30th of this year, when she presented "Opening Night" from a New York to London tie-up over WMCA.

Ruth Draper is booked to appear for the Capitol Theatre on Tuesday evening, April 29th. Mail orders are now being accepted.

Noted South African Lecturer Tells Of The Development Of His Country

From the final lecture of the season on the Women's Canadian Club had the pleasure Tuesday evening of a visit from a distinguished citizen of South Africa, Bernard O. Schoneveld, F. F., a former Mayor of King Williamstown and at one time one of General Smuts' right-hand men in the Cape Province. Mr. Schoneveld, himself, has had a colorful career, fighting with the British forces against Smuts at fifteen in the Boer War, fighting with General Smuts in the Great War, he is a lawyer, historian, world traveller and parliamentarian. His influence as a speaker was exemplified when he spoke on "South Africa's Part," picturing his part of the Empire from its earliest days and setting his hearers the inspiring message of faith in the Empire and the Empire's cause.

The meeting was introduced by Mrs. G. G. Wright, Past President of the Women's Canadian Club who presided in the absence of the President, Mrs. C. E. Argue.

Witnesses Dramatic Scene

In his opening words, Mr. Schoneveld told of the dramatic scene in the House of Parliament, London, when the Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, made the declaration of war against Germany. Mr. Schoneveld had the privilege of being present in the House on that occasion when Chamberlain, betrayed by the archJudas, Hitler, brought the battle for peace from the domain of argument to the field of slaughter. On that Sabbath Day, the speaker recalled the dying words of the late King George VIth, "Now is the Empire?" To that question Hitler has given his response in each part of the Empire took up the challenge of the Mother Country and united in a solemn vow for the war with the enemy.

In 1914 South Africa played its important part in the work of the Allies by capturing German East Africa and German West Africa and sending 120,000 men to Flanders, Egypt, Palestine. Of these nine thousand were left on the battlefields, paying the supreme sacrifice in order to maintain the liberty that the Empire for all its members, an Empire not moulded by a dictator but the product of free men.

A Sage Ruler

In describing the development of South Africa, Mr. Schoneveld told of the great man, the colony's founder, Paul Kruger, a sage and God-fearing ruler, who passed his days by the Bible and rifled by his instances of his wise counsel were asked by the speaker. Paul Kruger was always ready to advise anyone in trouble. On one occasion two brothers came to him to ask how they might divide their farm so that neither benefitted. The old Dutchman answered: "Let the elder brother go back and divide the farm. Then let him allow the younger brother to take first choice of the two parts." Another time Kruger had been dividing property for the various churches. He gave each two and found that when the Jewish rabbi came for his share, he had been too generous and only had one plot left. The rabbi asked why he was given but one plot. Kruger answered, "That is only fair. You only believe in half the Bible."

Kruger, says the inroads of foreigners with the discovery of gold, feared that the simple happy life of his people would be endangered and tried to remedy the situation by forbidding the foreigners the vote. This laid the foundation of the Anglo-Boer War. At its close Kruger returned to Holland to die and his body there was brought back to his beloved country for a British destroyer. Kruger's last message was, "Take out of the past the good and forget the bad." Today his home is preserved as a museum and his memory honored by those who were once his foes.

Friendly Act

The generous act of the British Government in appointing as first Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, General Smuts who fought so gallantly against them, added a most glorious page in a glorious history.

The speaker told the early pollitical history and development of the colony under Smuts and his successors. Hertzog's act in advocating "neutrality" brought about a crisis and he is now in the shade. South Africa is with the Empire to this war and is playing a vital part in keeping the port of Capetown open.

"The news of war today may be discouraging," said the speaker, "but remember that it is the long pull that counts. Hitler may be a sprinter and make a flashing start but Britain is a miler. With Uncle Sam and John Bull we have a brotherhood and with all of us pulling our weight one hundred per cent the victory will be ours. Let us be worthy of the task of restoring inspiration to the world, of the despondent and hope to the oppressed."

A vote of thanks of the club for this brilliant address was ably conveyed by Mrs. Wright. Mrs. Wright also, called the attention of the members to the approaching Red Cross mobile canteen. This collection is made each year to an appeal by the War Emergency Club of the Canadian Women's Club in London, England. The need for such equipment is acute and while keenly appreciating all the help Canada has given, the London members asked if the Girls in Canada might not like to assist in the buying of such canteens. The matter is at office at once responded and it is felt that the Canadian Girls throughout Canada will be glad to join in this effort to provide comforts to the fighting men.

SOME OF THE TROUBLES THAT ACCOMPANY SORE THROATS
Sore throats are always troublesome, sometimes very dangerous conditions and there are more of them this time of the year when so many children suffer from attacks of the common cold.
When a child gets a bad throat, then some of the throat structures become swollen and inflamed by the infection; sometimes all the throat structures become involved, the tonsils, the adenoids, the larynx and in some cases chronic inflammation sets in. This inflammation of the throat, however, may be only secondary to a nose infection and when this is the case, we can't expect the throat to clear up until the source of the infection has been cleared up.
Influenza such as was epidemic this winter and is common even now, often spreads from the throat pipe and the lungs. When the inflammation is confined to the tonsils, we know it as tonsillitis. In a few of these cases little white "nails" form in the small cavities of the tonsils. As they are dislodged they are either swallowed or expectorated. They are caused partly by particles of food clinging there and partly by discharge from the cavities located in the tonsils at all times and in increased quantities when these organs become inflamed.
Sometimes the inflammation is confined to the pharynx, which is the cavity into which the mouth and nose lead just above the windpipe and the food gullet. This type of inflammation is known as pharyngitis. I have known highly strung, nervous people come to me complaining that they had a "throat" feeling at the back of the throat. Usually, they are suffering from pharyngitis.
When the larynx, or windpipe is inflamed, we call it laryngitis. In bad cases, the vocal cords are inflamed and may even become temporarily paralyzed. That is generally what is wrong when a person loses his voice. Excessive shouting such as you indulge in when you are at a fast game of football game may effect the larynx and cause laryngitis. I imagine it must be a fairly common ailment with European Soccer fans.
This inflammation may work its way down the windpipe to the bronchial tubes and the lungs, causing bronchitis and pneumonia. In severe, a lung infection may work itself up through the windpipe and the throat and thus keep inflaming the throat structures as it passes along.
Measles comes with the general congestion of a cold; it certainly inflames fairly quickly. If it results from an infection in the lungs, it may long on after the primary source of the infection is cured.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

COUNCIL RESELLS CITY PROPERTY TO ORIGINAL BUYER

Dr. Jack Marshall Acting for Mrs. Keffer, Explains Situation to Members

OTHER BUSINESS

A recommendation to repossess a piece of property purchased by Mrs. Gaffer from the city some time and one half years ago followed by a motion to sell the property to the purchaser was the highlight of the regular session of the city Council held on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Gaffer intends to construct on the property on Bleecker Avenue a modern home and work had already commenced before the action by the City Council. Before the council started their business, ex-Alderman Dr. Jack Marshall appeared before the meeting asking that Mrs. Gaffer be allowed to proceed to construct a house on the property, and that an extension of time be given her to complete the structure.

Dr. Marshall explained that the house had not been erected before the limit of time had expired as required, stating that Mrs. Gaffer was some distance from the scene, was had ill health and her home had been started and death had visited the home of her husband in the period proposed home. The speaker explained that the house had been paid on the property since it was in possession of Mrs. Gaffer and it was in order to complete the contract providing the council granted an extension of time. Ald. Clapp moved that Dr. Marshall for and on Mrs. Gaffer be allowed to proceed and the council granted the extension to Dr. Marshall. Chairman of the Special Property Committee explained his action in repossessing the property at the expiration of the time limit of the contract with the city.

Alderman States Position

Ald. Marshall stated that he had a conversation with Dr. Marshall and explained that it was the intention of the committee to repossess the property at the expiration of the Corporation at the expiration of the time limit which was April 13th, but in the face of that warning Dr. Marshall had secured a building permit. "Under the contract," said Ald. Thomas Marshall, "should the property automatically came back to the city on April 13th because Mrs. Gaffer had not completed her part of the contract by erecting a house. This property was purchased from Mrs. Anne Yanover, who purchased it from the city. Mr. Yanover was given her equity of $150 by Mrs. Gaffer and I understand Mr. Gaffer was given two years to complete the house after the contract was let."

Ald. Rollins: "The council wants to be fair about this matter and give everyone a fair deal. I would like to ask the Chairman of Special Property has received any offers other than this property?"

Ald. Marshall: "Not to my knowledge."

Ald. Rollins: "Would it not be a good idea," Dr. Marshall to the first chance to purchase this property for the difference between what he paid and what is offered?"

Ald. Marshall: "Did Dr. Marshall come to the council about this matter a month ago there would be a different aspect on the matter."

Ald. Armstrong: "A transaction is a transaction and Dr. Marshall must have been interested in the location or he would not have come over the obligation of Mrs. Yanover. The property has been taken out by Dr. Marshall and a house will be erected for more than $3,000 and I am not afraid of Mayor Marshall to continue with the property at its present bargain."

Against Extension

Ald. Clarke: "I am personally against granting an extension to anyone buying property from the city although Dr. Marshall and I are good friends. There is an agreement entered into by every purchaser and Dr. Marshall has had plenty of time to build a house and I think the property should revert back to the city in the same way."

Ald. Polwell: "Every one should be decided on individual merits and I am certain in favor of allowing Dr. Marshall to proceed with his plans.

Ald. Hutter: "This is a case that is a little different from others that have come up and certainly Dr. Marshall has explained why the house was not completed in the time of the contract and I think he should be given a chance as agent for Mrs. Gaffer to complete his original plans."

Ald. Hughes: "I do not agree with Ald. Rollins that we should snitch another $100 out of Dr. Marshall. Had the house not miscarried the house would have been erected in the proposed time."

Ald. Wotten introduced a recommendation that the council decide the matter should come up under the heading of new business. Agreed upon and in the motion passed Dr. Marshall was given the property for repayment of one dollar with taxes for this year and to have house completed by the 31st of December. Aldermen Marshall, Clarke and Lyford voted against the motion.

New Parking Law

A new parking arrangement will be in effect in the coming Summer according to a recommendation adopted with the Chairman of Public Works opposing the new plan. It was decided to have parallel parking on the west side of Front Street north from Bridge St. to the Upper Bridge and angle parking on the east side in the same area with parallel parking on both sides of Front St. south of Bridge St. to Dundas St. next year the system will be changed with parallel parking on the east side of Front St. from Bridge St. north to the Upper Bridge and angle parking on the west side in that area with the parking remaining the same south of Bridge St. on Front St. There was no discussion on the matter but it is expected there will be some arguments when the by-law comes up for amendment.

William Mattis a member of the Belleville Fire Department will be notified "that the records of the City Hall show that in the past the retiring age under the by-law governing the Fire Department and unless he can produce evidence to the contrary within two months from this date he automatically ceases to be a member of the brigade."

Accept Offer For Lot

A recommendation by the Fire Chief to purchase two fog nozzles was cancelled. The offer of L. M. Sharpe of $30 for a lot on Purdy Mill Street was accepted. The usual clauses that he erect a certain type of dwelling and pay the taxes from stop signs will be erected — approved. Permission for Fire Prevention St. crossing Memorial park so as to divert the traffic around the Memorial Park. A grant of $150 was given to the Holstein Breeders' Association, Toronto, on recommendation of the Chairman of Finance, Competition, of City Property was appointed to investigate the report of Robertson Construction Co. Ltd. and that and report back to the council re-garding it. Such suggestions that have been adopted; that suggestions that in their opinion could be adopted to the advantage and for the protection of the Corporation; that the Chairman of the Special Property Committee explained his action in repossessing the property at the expiration of the time limit of the contract with the city.

Aldermen States Position

Ald. Marshall stated that he had a conversation with Dr. Marshall and explained that it was the intention of the committee to repossess the property at the expiration of the Corporation at the expiration of the time limit which was April 13th, but in the face of that warning Dr. Marshall had secured a building permit. "Under the contract," said Ald. Thomas Marshall, "should the property automatically came back to the city on April 13th because Mrs. Gaffer had not completed her part of the contract by erecting a house. This property was purchased from Mrs. Anne Yanover, who purchased it from the city. Mr. Yanover was given her equity of $150 by Mrs. Gaffer and I understand Mr. Gaffer was given two years to complete the house after the contract was let."

Ald. Rollins: "The council wants to be fair about this matter and give everyone a fair deal. I would like to ask the Chairman of Special Property has received any offers other than this property?"

Ald. Marshall: "Not to my knowledge."

Ald. Rollins: "Would it not be a good idea," Dr. Marshall to the first chance to purchase this property for the difference between what he paid and what is offered?"

Ald. Marshall: "Did Dr. Marshall come to the council about this matter a month ago there would be a different aspect on the matter."

Ald. Armstrong: "A transaction is a transaction and Dr. Marshall must have been interested in the location or he would not have come over the obligation of Mrs. Yanover. The property has been taken out by Dr. Marshall and a house will be erected for more than $3,000 and I am not afraid of Mayor Marshall to continue with the property at its present bargain."

Against Extension

Ald. Clarke: "I am personally against granting an extension to anyone buying property from the city although Dr. Marshall and I are good friends. There is an agreement entered into by every purchaser and Dr. Marshall has had plenty of time to build a house and I think the property should revert back to the city in the same way."

Ald. Polwell: "Every one should be decided on individual merits and I am certain in favor of allowing Dr. Marshall to proceed with his plans.

Ald. Hutter: "This is a case that is a little different from others that have come up and certainly Dr. Marshall has explained why the house was not completed in the time of the contract and I think he should be given a chance as agent for Mrs. Gaffer to complete his original plans."

Ald. Hughes: "I do not agree with Ald. Rollins that we should snitch another $100 out of Dr. Marshall. Had the house not miscarried the house would have been erected in the proposed time."

Ald. Wotten introduced a recommendation that the council decide the matter should come up under the heading of new business. Agreed upon and in the motion passed Dr. Marshall was given the property for repayment of one dollar with taxes for this year and to have house completed by the 31st of December. Aldermen Marshall, Clarke and Lyford voted against the motion.

New Parking Law

A new parking arrangement will be in effect in the coming Summer according to a recommendation adopted with the Chairman of Public Works opposing the new plan. It was decided to have parallel parking on the west side of Front Street north from Bridge St. to the Upper Bridge and angle parking on the east side in the same area with parallel parking on both sides of Front St. south of Bridge St. to Dundas St. next year the system will be changed with parallel parking on the east side of Front St. from Bridge St. north to the Upper Bridge and angle parking on the west side in that area with the parking remaining the same south of Bridge St. on Front St. There was no discussion on the matter but it is expected there will be some arguments when the by-law comes up for amendment.

Greek Mountains Aid To Allies On Shorter Front

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington, April 16 (AP).—Recurrent and unverified reports that Yugoslavia had accepted Axis-Italian terms added new shadows to a Balkan picture that was already dark and forbidding.

If it proves true, grave added danger threatens Greece, Britain and Greek troops. It would release additional Axis forces for use elsewhere to better southward into Greece. Complete Yugoslav collapse also will weight already Greek determination to continue the fight and confront British forces in Greece with the desperate necessity of seeking escape by sea.

Informed sources in London termed the report that Yugoslavia is asking for an armistice as a typical bit of Goebbels' propaganda. These sources said latest information in London "gives no indication that the alleged action by Yugoslavia."

Even without such rumors of internal Yugoslav capitulation, the British-Greek plight along a shrunken front in the mountains and coastline from the Aegean to the Adriatic was an unenviable one and still concealed the actual Allied deployment as the secondary Balkan scene. But it was clear that the allied centre had been forced back forty miles from the Greek frontier and die hinge at Florina.

The hinge was wed with each other in asserting that Nazi and Fascist generals had abandoned the virtually parallel Greek valleys running southward from the vicinity of Florina. Mussolini's armies in the border region to Kosane and Servia in the north and Nazi troops in Bulgaria on the west.

The announced Italian recapture of Koritsa, important crossroads bastion of the Greek line protecting Albania, was reported to the Adriatic, south of Valona. The Italians said they had reached the Klisura-Tepelene Gorge, vital link on Southern Albania.

Despite all these adverse reports, London reported increased optimism in British military circles as to the situation in Greece. The Nazi high hand was difficult to discern, aside from advices that Italian troops in Albania apparently have managed to check the Nazis' fighting front perhaps 100 miles.

The indicated withdrawal from Florina apparently was part of an original allied defence wedge to an inner mountain position to effect the Gulf of Salonika near Mt. Olympus in the Aegean coastal area, which would achieve that reduction of front. Even Berlin reports indicate a withdrawal movement of more than rear-guard skirmishes with advancing Germans over Mountain Obstacles.

It is also clear that the new allied front is still supported by steep mountain terrain and keyed to naval bases, which afford ready obstacles to mechanized attack. London reported earlier today that what these can be held to bar Nazi-Fascist penetration into the great valleys of Central Greece.

In North Africa, continued British advances in the Axis rear and encirclement by axis mechanized units were reported in London as the most hopeful prospect. As this is written no word of deeper axis penetration into Egypt had come for nearly four hours or more. The initial thrust of the Axis armies in the waning or the Tobruk stand of the Australians, Germans threatened the Axis supply lines, may have forced at least a temporary halt.

Brighton Man Given 3-Months Term For Theft Of Silverware From RCAF

Trenton — (Special) — Pleading guilty to a charge of theft of silverware from the Royal Canadian Air Force Station, Sidney Stringer, 36, of Brighton, was sentenced to three months in the County Jail by Magistrate H. W. Butler here yesterday. The silverware was valued at approximately $125.00.

Stringer, a civilian employee on the air station, had apparently been under observation by the air force police for some time and a search of his home was made last week, a number of teaspoons and tablespoons seized by the officers were identified as the property of the air force.

At the time of the search, the accused claimed that the silverware had been purchased from a Toronto second hand house, but correspondence with the mail order house revealed that spoons of that particular design were not handled by the firm.

Stringer pleaded guilty when he appeared in court yesterday. Pleading guilty, Stringer told the court he was in straits and a large quantity of small articles had been stolen from the station.

Acting on information received by the city police and Crown Attorney H. D. Carscallen, the accused was arrested on a charge of theft of silverware from the station.

Magistrate Butler also stated that thefts of this kind must be stopped.

Nearing Objective

The Trenton War Services Campaign is rapidly nearing its objective of $6,000 and it is expected that within a few days it will go over the top in keeping with the drives in other parts of the County. According to members of the War Services Committee the response of Trenton residents to the campaign has been exceptionally good. Never before has this town been asked for as much as they are for this campaign and the residents have responded accordingly.

Pays Five P. C. Bonus

A five per cent bonus payable by the employees every three months until further notice has been announced by the directors and officers of the Benedict-Proctor Mfg. Co., Ltd., of Trenton. This bonus is paid on the basis of government figures relating to the increased cost of living and also conforms to recent announced recommendations relating to wage increases to munition workers.

Approximately 175 employees of the company will benefit by this bonus. The company is manufactured silver-plated hollowware for over 30 years in Canada and maintains branch offices and representatives from coast to coast.

Allies' Action In Balkans Thwarts Hitler's Conquest by Diplomatic Means

New York, April 16 (CP)—Hitler can be expected to make every effort, "by diplomatic attacks on shipping and indiscriminate night bombing, to smash the centre of resistance," Count Carlo Sforza, Italian Ambassador to the United States, said here last night.

Axis successes in the Balkans and Greece, Sforza said, have caused "grave repercussions," but the Axis campaigns given in his honor by the English Speaking Union, "could have thwarted Hitler's hopes for further conquest by military means and have prevented the conclusion of the Russo-Japanese and Great Britain herself—"in the only theatre which could be decisive."

In the Balkans, he said, "the situation is still far from clear, but it is evident that the Axis armies, moving in overwhelming strength, are not fighting to win themselves, have had, as they were bound to have, a large measure of initial success."

He said British forces in Africa are "deliberately weakened" to rush aid to Yugoslavia and Greece, adding it "necessary to withdraw in Libya to new positions, and there is no doubt that great loss in doing so, we have made the enemy pay heavily for his advance."

Now the Axis armies in Africa are "facing the problem of extended lines of supply"—Hitler is faced with resistance he did not expect and "failing" in Greece, and also with "all the expenditure of time and the interruption of vital economic supplies that this involves."

The Axis must reckon finally, he said, with other and vaster forces, "united and inexorable purpose" of the democracies when finally set upon a course of action; the "hatred" of tyranny is "permanent" and the heavy hand of sea power, which is "all on the side of the democracies," in the end will play the largest part in "definitely pulling down the pillars of the Nazi temple."

THE WAR TODAY

By GUY BROADEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

British and Greek forces, apparently regrouped after long withdrawal, face the force of a Nazi mechanized attack, seen to be more than matched a more easily tenable line than the one they held before.

It is now the running roughly northwest from Mount Olympus across Greece to the Albanian border, stretching southwesterly almost at right angle to the trending of the Albanian port of Chimara where it faces the Italians.

The German radio and press, apparently interpreting the British and Greek establishment of a new and more strategic line as a British "rout" crowed loudly and said great hordes of their twin assaults launched from Bulgaria and the Rhodi Pass had penetrated 6 miles inside Greek territory.

Should these spearheads converge upon they would bite off a small piece of Macedonia, and they would penetrate further without fanning out they could drive a wedge into Greece, possibly squeezing the Greeks defenders southward or into the Gulf of Salonika and cut off Greek troops southward or toward the Albanian border.

Some of the German glee, however, appeared to be based on a false interpretation, improperly or intended, of British ship movements along Greek coasts. Today Germans started claiming yesterday that British troops were being embarked for an evacuation of Greece and that they were sunk or driven off that actually British reinforcements were being rushed to Greece and disembarked at strategic points Eddie, put out the fire in the downstairs room where the children were sleeping, but were unable to save the two little cats, who suffered serious burns. YOUNG BRITONS OPEN CONVENTION

Enlistments Into Armed Forces Affect Membership Days Grand Master Duncan

Being held in conjunction with the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Ontario which concluded its session in the city last evening, the annual convention of the Canadian Young Britons of Ontario East opened in the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday evening with the delegates being welcomed to the city by Grand Master James S. Duncan of Oshawa.

In his report the Grand Master gave a very comprehensive review of the activities of Young Britons during 1940-41, particularly stressing the effects which enlistments into the armed forces had affected in the membership. He felt very proud of the patriotic and loyal spirit which prevailed in the city and out on active service, he said. Up until the first of the year, approximately 1,000 members and members in Ontario East had enlisted in the Forces of the New America trade before the war. The losers were both in Belleville and Trenton.

Other sources said a Nazi raider, probably the converted Norwegian motorship Scheer, had sunk the 10,061-ton French passenger liner Emmermissaire Ramel, apparently being operated by the Vichy Ministry of Shipping, in the Indian Ocean.

Maritime circles also disclosed that the 8,000-ton Norwegian motorship Jaederen, 6,869 tons, had been torpedoed and sunk in the mid-Atlantic recently.

Renamed the J. B. White and flying the British flag, the vessel was under the War Shipping Commission's laid-up ships until purchased December to the Atlantic Transportation Company of Canada for $285,000. She was last reported as being in Mobile, Ala., on Feb. 1 for an East Coast-Canada port.

Cheese Holdings For '41 Limited To Those Of 1940

Ottawa, April 16 —(CP)— Controlled cheese stocks and factory holdings in 1941 shall not exceed those of 1940 in order that all cheese produced in Canada may be ready for export was announced today by the Dairy Products Board.

The order, the third to be issued in three months, provides that all cheese dealers and manufacturers cannot, hold, without authority of the Board, more than 1,000 pounds of cheese on May 1, 1941, than on the same date in 1940.

Any excess quantity held on that date must be tendered to the Board for export to the United Kingdom Ministry of Food.

Agricultural department officials said that the order was similar to that issued in March and April.

Canada expects to ship 112,000,000 pounds or more of cheese to the United Kingdom this year and every effort is being made to see all possible supplies are available for shipment, officials said.

Somewhere in England, April 16 (CP).—Twenty-four years ago Pte. Albert Groulx of Verdun, Que., was having a drink in a Paris cafe while on leave from the Canadian Army. He was approached by a French lieutenant sipping champagne.

They struck up a conversation and the Frenchman asked the French-Canadian if he had relatives in France. The family, including the father, a veteran of the 1870 war, had always stayed there all his leave. He did not see his family again before returning to Canada.

A few weeks ago, the man from Verdun, Pte. Albert Groulx from Verdun in peacetime his own home along I'm Pte. Groulx with a battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment, found the uniform of the Free French forces, finding a French-speaking soldier at the bar, talked with him, discovered

They had a drink and Groulx told the general of his French friends of by this time was dead. He had not the last name but my friend the lieutenant was called 'Paule Emil'," he said.

"Why I'm your Paul Emil, Albert," the general answered, and after all these tremendous years we meet again.

At this same unit, a joint drum-head service was held recently, "It was Presbyterian, Roman Catholic and some of Granby, Que., the Roman Catholic padre, a priest we know as one as "Father Bill", each performing the ceremony as attended by the patients, officers and nurses of both denominations.

Legends are growing about Polish fliers with the Royal Air Force. A Canadian pilot tells a classic:

One Polish pilot was a Polish pilot assigned to a training school was ordered to fly a Blenheim bomber with bombs, to a nearby airdrome. He took off and for hours didn't report back at the new field. At last he glided into the drome, out of gas. Stepping from the plane he was asked why things were: "Boulogne, eh, she burn me down."

IRON WORKERS WALK OUT

Halifax, April 16 (CP)—Two hundred and fifty iron workers, skilled and unskilled, walked out of the Halifax Shipyards, Limited, plant today in protest against a company refusal to meet their demands for increased wages.

The company is engaged in war work and has a total working force of about 1,000 men.

BRITISH LINER, NORTHERN PRINCE REPORTED SUNK

Action Takes Place in North Atlantic But All the Crew Reported Saved New York Marine Circles

BUILT IN 1929

New York, April 16—(AP)—Marine circles said today that the British motorship passenger liner Northern Prince, 10,917 tons, had been sunk about eight days ago in the North Atlantic and that the crew was rescued.

The same sources said a sister ship, the 10,926-ton Eastern Prince, had been severely damaged in an English port during an air raid.

A third sister ship, the Western Prince, 10,926 tons, was torpedoed in the North Atlantic on Dec. 16 with a loss of 16 lives while en route from New York to Britain.

Furness, Withy and Company operated four Prince line ships in the New York-Britain and New York-America trade before the war. The liners were built in 1929.

BELFAST BOMBED IN HEAVY RAID

Hundreds of Working Class Houses Shattered in Four - Hour Attack, Many Persons Killed

Belfast, Northern Ireland, April 16 (CP)—The first air force swept across northern Ireland Tuesday in a hands last night leaving a wide path of fire and destruction through Belfast and smaller towns and even hamlets north of the air counties.

A tour of the worst of Belfast's bombed areas showed that hundreds of working class homes had been shattered in the four-hour raid. Many persons were killed in a direct hit on a bomb shelter.

Several hospitals and churches and newspaper plants were hit by high explosives which fell also on residential and shopping areas, according to an official communique.

Churchill Visits Belfast

Commenting on the aftermath of the raids, the communique said: "The recruiting offices are besieged this morning."

The raiders came over in waves, dropping flares which the ground defences machine-gunned. At one time the whole city was light up with flares and fires of fire.

So extensive were the fires that Belfast and Dublin, capital of Eire, neutral Eire's capital, sent fire engines to aid the fighters in the north.

JOCKEY ADMITS PULLING MOUNTS

Willis Ward Claims He Was Paid $4,000 in Year for Fixing Races

Los Angeles, April 16 (AP)—Willis Ward, Negro ex-football and ex-jockey, told a Superior Court jury he pulled four mounts in one year in order to "get enough" for season but his fifth horse won decisively in his effort to lose.

Testifying in the trial of five men on charges of conspiracy, Ward declared he received $200 for each race he kept his horse from winning after he had been paid approximately $4,000 for fixing races for Hollywood Park and Santa Anita tracks in 1939.

In one seven-horse race at Del Mar on Aug. 18, Ward testified, every rider but one was fixed, and the horse ridden by the honest jockey won.

On trial are Barnard and William Einstoss, Benjamin Chapman, L. W. Kivel and Sol Greenberg.

1,000 Skilled War Workers Weekly Aim of Schedule

Toronto, April 16 —(CP)— Technical schools in Canada have established a schedule requiring them to turn out 1,000 skilled workers for war industry weekly, R. M. McLaughlin, director of training classes at Toronto's Dansforth Technical School, said today.

In an address to the Separate School section of the Ontario Educational Association, he said that the rate was 550 trained workers a week at the beginning of the war to 950.

The latest rate is sufficient for the present, he said, but by June schools will be expanding faster than the school schedule.

CAHA CONCLUDES LENGTHY SESSION

Player Jack Forsey Must Pay $25 to Baltimore Club for Expenses Incurred

Calgary, April 16 (CP)—The men who manage Canada's amateur hockey—now a major business with an annual turnover of more than $1,000,000—have reviewed the administration for the past year and laid plans for next year's operation.

The 27th annual convention of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association which concluded yesterday made no radical changes but it handled in the past four days numerous matters calculated to improve the administration of the Dominion's largest sport.

Major items decided by the convention included revision of regulations to speed up and clarify transfer of players and to provide that replacement of players lost through enlistments are made within certain time limits.

The most controversial debate of the open sessions arose out of a resolution that Jack Forsey, a Calgary product, should reimburse the Baltimore club of the Eastern United States Amateur League for $25 spent by the club in scouting and signing him.

Forsey signed an agreement last fall to play for Baltimore but soon after signed with the Cornwall (Ont.) club. After many protests and counter-protests he was allowed to play with Cornwall this season. All the delegates agreed with the testimony that Forsey had not received any advances from Baltimore but the club had incurred expenses in signing him.

The convention finally adopted a motion that Forsey should be forced to pay the nominal sum of $25 to the Baltimore club.

Decisions of Convention

Other important decisions of the convention were that:

Prefile must through playoffs in excess of the $30,000 budget should be split up with 75 per cent going to senior and junior clubs on a basis of the number of games each played in the playoffs and 25 per cent to war charities.

Managers or coaching who go on the ice without permission of the referee or strike an official will be automatically suspended and the case decided by branch officials. Officials are authorized to rule that such suspended managers or coaches cannot enter rinks.

Nearly $2,000 is to be divided among senior, junior, juvenile, midget and bantam clubs according to their share in developing 20 players signed by professional clubs in the last year.

The finance committee will study a request that travelling and hotel allowances for teams in playoffs be increased and that special grants be given to both visiting and home teams for each playoff game in which they participate.

For the 1941-42 season the 53-inch maximum for length of sticks would be continued.

Hart Trophy Given To Bill Cowley

Boston, April 16—(CP)—Bill Cowley, Boston Bruins' centre, last night was awarded the Dr. David A. Hart Trophy for the most valuable player to his club. The Lady Byng Trophy, awarded to the most sportsmanslike player, was given for the second year to Boston Winsman Bobby Bauer.

Frank Calder, President of the National Hockey League, announced the awards at a Bruins victory dinner at which the Stanley Cup was presented to the champions.

Calder said Aubrey (Dit) Clapper, Bruins' captain and flyfranus Appa, Toronto centre, were close second and third, respectively, for the Hart Trophy.

Cowley this year was named to the Canadian Press all-star N.H.L. team while Bauer made the alternate team.

Montreal Royals Overcome Handicaps To Win Eastern Junior Title From Oshawa

Take Four-Goal Lead but Generals Battle Back to Tie Only to Lose 7-4

RITCHIE STARS

Montreal Arrives Only Hour Before Game Time Chartered Plane

By ROBERT CLARKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, April 16 (CP)—Unless all the signs have been switched to point in the wrong direction, it seemed logical today to tie the tag on "team of destiny"—to Montreal Royals as a tribute to their ability in overcoming a baffle of handicaps to win the Eastern Canadian junior hockey title.

One of their first qualifications is that with a 7-4 victory here last night over Oshawa Generals they became the first team from Quebec province ever to reach the final for the Memorial Cup, which went into play in 1918. On top of that, however, they brushed aside sickness and injuries and the fact that they had to play all five games of their best-of-five series with the Generals on foreign ice.

The player who did the most to take the steam out of the Generals' chances of the Memorial Cup for the past two seasons, was goalie Ross Ritchie. The 19-year-old net-minder wasn't beaten by an easy goal in the entire series and last night he rose to the heights to hold the Generals to four goals.

Two of those goals went to defenceman Franks Nicolls of the Generals. Nicolls also helped in his team's other two scores by Ron Nelson and Ken Hooke and ran a close second to Ritchie for star honors.

For Royals, Farmer and Jack Carragher each scored two while Grant Morrison, Jack Southwick and Ken Mosdell got the others.

Pile up 4-0 Lead

Royals had piled up a 4-0 lead by the five-minute mark in the second period when goalie Ritchie struck. Defenceman Bruce Ward caught his skate in a cut just as Gordon Schrader of the Generals crashed through the Royals defence and limped off the ice with a badly strained ankle. Ward's loss—he made only two brief appearances after that—decimated red Royals and the Generals ran in four straight goals to tie the score.

The Montrealers pulled themselves together late in the period to score while the Generals were shorthanded and then put the game away in the final session when Farmer got his second tally halfway through the frame. The goal ragher marked up his second score in the final minute.

Royals arrived in Toronto by plane from Montreal only an hour and a half before game time. Coach Lorne White revealed that the trip took an hour longer than expected because the plane bucked a 65-mile-an-hour head wind. He said that not only Farmer and Ward did not suffer from "plane sickness" due to the bumpy trip. Royals took the same plane back to Montreal a few hours after the game.

Spectators Given A Better Break

New York, April 16 (AP)—For the first time in the 43 years that college crews have been racing on the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie, spectators will know what is going on during the entire four miles.

It's all due to Asa Bushnell, who started rowing followers a few years ago when he built a grandstand at the finish of Princeton's Lake Carnegie course and managed to make rowink pay some of its expenses. He took over the management of the Poughkeepsie Regatta thi year when the Intercollegiate Rowing Association joined the Central Office for Eastern Intercollegiate Athletics.

Bushnell's plan is simple—to arrange a short-wave radio hookup by which spectators along the shore and on the observation train can be kept informed about the positions of the crews and any decisions made by the judges. Details have not been fully worked out yet, but Bushnell already has decided that all boathouses will be linked with the committee boat, the judges' boat and the announcer station ain so that any rulings by the officials and results of the races can be transmitted immediately to all parts of the course. It is likely that the progress of the race also will be broadcast from various points to the spectators. The press ously had to depend upon what they could see and on signals from the bridge aamile from the finish line.

OTTAWA, LONDON IN FINAL ROUND FOR CAGE TITLE

Ottawa Romped to 44-25 Win Over Hamilton, While London Beat St. Catharines 22-19

SMART CONTESTS

Toronto, April 16 (CP)—Ottawa Lisgar Collegiate and London Central Collegiate entered the final round of the Ontario Secondary Schools Association basketball championships with victories in the semi-finals here last night.

Ottawa romped to a 44-25 win over Hamilton Cathedral High School and London edged out a 22-19 victory over St. Catharines Collegiate Vocational School. Ottawa and London will meet tonight to decide the new champion after Hamilton and St. Catharines clash in a consolation game.

Shooting for the title they lost last year to Windsor-Walkerville, Ottawa flashed an outstanding passing and shooting attack to run away from Hamilton in the second half. They never were behind once but in the first half Hamilton came from behind three times to tie the score.

Good and Art Mackey topped the scorers with Gordon sinking three field goals and three foul shots for nine points and Art four field goals and four free shots for 12. Barkley followed Gordon closely with four field goals for eight points. Kennedy led the Hamilton players with six points compiled from three field goals.

In the other game London moved out on top for good soon after the start of the second half. St. Catharines entered the half trailing 12-10 and they increased their lead to four points when Reynard Daniels sank a close shot after two minutes had gone by.

Benny Lalichi then sank two field goals to tie the score and after Daniels once more had set St. Catharines in front again with a field goal, he combined with Bill Gauld to give London the lead which they never relinquished. He sank a foul shot to make the count 16-15 and Gauld put them on top 17-16 with a field goal.

Daniels sparked St. Catharines' attack and was high scorer of both teams with 12 points obtained from six field goals. Galichia was the spearhead of London's plays and ended up with seven points.

With a torrid race on for the major league leadership as the Recreation Alleys league bowlers corner the market, a modified lecture on the "maple knocking" phenomenon in the United States alley bowling is a big business. It is conservatively estimated that over sixteen million persons are ardent bowlers in the U.S.A. with increased numbers lining up the game annually. However, bowling activity in Canada is practically confined to the ten pin style with a heavy ball as large and heavy as a prize-winner watermelon. Ten pin bowling was popular in Canada some years ago but the game has given over to the five-pin game, as played across the Dominion to such a degree that a Canadian Bowling Congress for both ladies and men is being fostered. There are something like 50,000 alleys in the U.S.A. and the American Bowling Congress has 14,213 sanctioned leagues, made up of 132,116 teams, aside from the women's leagues boasting of some 100,000 players.

The Dutch are credited with starting the bowling game, but in the 1840 era bowling was so pronounced that the "nine-pin" game was virtually outlawed. In British history Admiral Drake members are reputed with the traditional game prior to the wrecking of the Spanish Armada. In 1845 the ten-pin bowling was introduced on alleys and in 1895 the A.B.C. was formed. In Canada sports are frequently copied from the Yankees, who strangely enough Canadians drift to the five-pin game and adopted the present five-pin match, which is now the popular industrially below the 45th parallel, although the American game is steadily on their own game. The five-pin game necessitates fewer pins and can be completed in much more rapidly. American sporting authorities have endeavoured to interest their clientele in the more abbreviated game solely from a monetary angle, but it "just ain't dice," as the Yankee trundlers consider the Canadian five-pin game sinks into insignificance as the alley minerallies down the smooth alleys.

Of course no two bowling alleys are alike and a good bowler studies his alleys before attempting to play. Harry Vartipapa, of New York, is considered an authority on bowling and hands out the "don'ts" to disciples of the game, which read as follows:

Don't use too much speed.

Don't grip the ball too tightly.

Don't throw away a spare because you thought you were entitled to a strike.

Don't get discouraged; you can't learn.

Don't deliver the ball with the right foot in front.

Don't start your delivery with a jerky motion; fast, then slow or five steps.

Don't ever yourself; take it easy; a slow accurate ball is better than a swift wild one.

Don't expect a strike every time you hit the head pin.

Of all the changes of rules and amendments to the playing code as enacted by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association now in session at Calgary, the new "line change" rule is the most puzzling one of the rink will meet with most approval. Under the new amended rules for next year the amended rules say—"when play is in a defensive zone all attacking player, outside the blue line, may reach across the line and play the puck without causing an offside." Fans should not confuse this rule, however, as the change does not indicate that players may pick up the puck at the defensive zone, an attacking player may carry it back into the defence zone without committing an offside. However, it is quite clear now that all an attacking player has to do is merely stand outside of the defensive zone and either step or pick up the odd loose rubber by reaching his stick across the blue line without leaving the play. The new rule should halt much of the present-day blue-line whistle tootin'.

Do you remember when George (Twinkletoes) Selkirk, picked to succeed baseball's mightiest hitter, Babe Ruth, made his debut with the New Yankees an auspicious one by slashing out a clean single in his first time at bat at New York six years ago today. Selkirk, who comes from Huntsville, Ont., still is with the Yankees.

Although hockey is still with us, ardent golfers have been on the fairways a long time. Belleville Golf and Country Club, "Doc" Stobie was one of the first to make the rounds at the Bay of Quinte Club last week. The earliest golf has been played locally in years, except one mild winter when golf was played on New Year's Day. With the deeper gullies at the Belleville Golf, the members have been forced to confine their efforts to approaches and driving on the higher levels, but at the Country Club Bill Little has played the entire round.

When the champion Kingston "Combines" arrived home last Saturday by train, the band and thousands of ardent supporters were at hand in the Kingston station to welcome the champs. Bill Walshe, Kingston scribe, mildly described the return of the champions thusly: "Mayor Stewart expressed the sympathies of the city to the Combines while hundreds of Kingston residents cheered the players when they paraded down Princess Street and at the City Hall where they were officially honored and introduced. It had been many years since Kingston showed a group of boys returning with a championship. Mayor Stewart promised that the celebration on Saturday was only a start."

SPORT SPICE — Imagine both Philadelphia ball clubs in the first division at the major leagues at the same time. Strange, but this true directly after opening day in the majors. With the exception of the Detroit at St. Louis game, everything went off in apple pie manner to push off the 1941 season. . . . Connie Mack is keeping Phil Marchildon, another of Ontario's gifts to major league ball, as a relief pitcher. . . . "Phil will be used chiefly in key cause," says Mister Mack, which means he'll get a lotta experience at any rate. .

FLOATING MINE SCARES NEW ENGLANDERS

A floating mine bobbing 50 yards offshore of Winthrop beach brought hundreds of spectators and the spreading of alarm that a serious explosion was imminent. Army officials dispatched a detail of soldiers quickly to the scene, policing the area, the coast-guard was called and little boys who were pelting the mine with stones were quickly routed. Eventually a large "E" was discerned on the mine, with report that the mine was a "dud" from nearby Fort Banks, and was one of a number of practice mines which had broken loose from it's moorings. ABOVE photo shows soldier from Fort Banks perched atop mine when caught "high and dry" by incoming tide after mine had been brought to shore by coast-guardsmen.

Burrs

Mrs. Herb Brason in company with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Carmrite, Salem, visited Mr. and Mrs. Earl Caughey and Dorothy of Crofton on Monday night. The occasion was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Caughey's second wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Blanch Boyd has returned to her home at Allisonville after spending the winter at Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Van Cott and Mrs. Eric Edwards spent Monday afternoon, with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wood.

Mr. Ralph Parliament, Belleville, visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Collar, Burrs.

The Good Friday evening communion service held at the church was both interesting and helpful. The pastor, Rev. W. J. Parsons was assisted in the service by Rev. Gifford, Consecon, who read the lesson and Rev. Adams, Ameliasburg, who led in prayer. Rev. Parsons chose his lesson from Matthew 27, speaking on four of the miracles that immediately followed the Crucifixion of Christ, namely "darkness covered the land," "the veil of the temple was rent in twain," "an earthquake," and "many graves were opened and many bodies of the saints which slept arose." Rev. Gifford spoke briefly on the need for humility, drawing his lesson from our Lord's example in washing the feet of the disciples. He stated "that the sacred sacrament meant taking an oath of allegiance to a king," so he suggested those who were about to join in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper renew the oath of allegiance in their hearts and lives to our Lord and Saviour. This was a closed service and members here were joined by members from Mt. Pleasant, Bowmans and Melville.

Mrs. Peter W. Bovay has returned to her home at Crofton after spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Murray Parks and Mr. Parks.

Easter was observed at an afternoon service at the church on Sunday, a pleasing feature of the service being the baptismal ceremony for Barbara Jean Duncan, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Duncan.

This neighborhood learned with regret of the passing of the late Mrs. Jas. D. Nonon, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hanson Huff, Picton, on Saturday. Sympathy is extended to relatives.

Several young people were in attendance at the dance sponsored by Ameliasburg teachers in aid of the B.W.&O. Hall, Picton, on Monday evening.

Hillier Township Sunday School Convention was held at Wellington United Church, Tuesday afternoon and evening. Rev. M. Lavery, Stirling, was guest speaker as O.S. S.C. representative.

Mr. Bob Elgie, Toronto, is spending the Easter holiday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hubbs and daughters, Mountain View, were Easter guests at the home of Mrs. G. McHenry's.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brooks, May and Glenn, were recent Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Brooks, Mount Pleasant.

Douglas and Ronald Burr visited Sunday on Don Lands, Melville, who is convalescing from flu. Friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Earl Anderson and Miss Lillian Anderson were Saturday evening callers at Mrs. Ross Burr's.

Messrs. Will and Floyd Adams, Wellington, were at Mr. Ross Burr's roofing Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brooks, May and Glenn, were Saturday supper Green and family, Centre.

Mr. William Way, Mountain View, called at Mr. Ross Burr's Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Webb, Corbyville, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burkitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Everet Harns and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burkitt attended the funeral of Mr. Ernest Burkitt, 4th Sidney on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brooks and Glenn were Easter Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brooks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison, Niagara Falls, are spending a few days visiting friends and relatives here.

Corporal Thomas McCann, Ottawa, spent the week end at his home here.

Mr. Barry Gawley, Niagara Falls, is spending a few days at the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gawley.

Miss Stella Cross, Deloro, was a Sunday guest of her sister, Mrs. Percy Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dafoe and little son, also Mrs. Fred Stuckey, visited last Friday with relatives at Pennyrod. Mrs. Stuckey is remaining there for a few weeks.

A number of neighbors enjoyed themselves at a party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Armstrong on Wednesday evening last.

Mr. George Kelly, Kingston, spent the ten hour on Friday with his brother, Mr. Charlie Kelly.

Mr. German Johnson, Cordova, also Mr. Burness Johnson, Peterboro, spent the dinner hour on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kelly.

Marmora

Mr. and Mrs. E. Berry and daughter, Carol Ann, of Woodstock were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Wells on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Marett and son Frank visited Mrs. Marett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Davern in Peterboro for Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin of Niagara Falls, N.Y., are relatives here over the week end.

Miss Vera Bonter of Matheson is spending the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonter.

Mr. C. H. Buskard spent the Easter week end with his family in Toronto.

Miss Thelma Holland of Campbellford spent Easter Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Holland.

Mrs. Jack McInnyn underwent an operation in Belleville General Hospital on Sunday evening.

Miss Annie Knox Reg. N., of Peterboro, spent Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Knox.

Mr. Walter Hawara of Peterboro spent Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hawara.

Easter guests of Mrs. James Booth were Mr. and Mrs. W. Alcock of Trenton, Mr. Ormond Alcock and Miss Myrtle Bezzo of Goderich.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Holland and young son spent the Easter week end at Eldorado with Mrs. Holland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pigden.

Miss Gladys Booth of Campbellford spent Easter Sunday at the home here.

Mrs. A. Walters, who has been spending some months in Toronto, returned on Saturday to reside with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Gray.

Bright and well attended Easter services were held at St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday, Rev. W. F. Fletcher delivered inspiring messages at both services. In the morning the choir rendered an anthem and Mrs. P. Fletcher contributed a solo. Five were received into the membership of the church and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. The church was prettily decorated with Easter choice blooms.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was exter hungry at dinner, partly on account of having chicken and dumplings, and I was starving myself up this fer the last week or two, and partly on account of having company in, because I never know where that came from some other day.

Yes fer Peet sake, consideration in all things is the watchword of all civilized people, pop said, and ma said, No matter what you're doing, whether it's eating or sleeping or exercising or even reading, consideration is bad for you.

That's right, consideration in exter direction, too little or too much, and that reminds me of the peculiar case of my 2 friends, Jack Barnes and Barney Jacks, pop said. I went to see them both in the hospitin where they occupied adjoining beds in the same ward and for the same reason. They had both exaggerated their sum total of daily activity, one on the slow side and the other on the fast side. Jack Barnes, in his 162d under a desk the first thing after breakfin and never took them out again till supper time. Barney Jacks on the other hand was never happy unless he was taking some form of exercise. Every day of his life he played a set of tennis and 36 notrs of golf. He walked before breakfist, swam before lunch, played ping pong before dinner and snored and gritted his teeth all the time he slept. And here they both were, side by side on their hospitlis cots with high blood pressure and gay spirits, riding temperature and falling arches, tightening of the joints and loosening of the will power, and spots in front of their eyes and rashes behind their ears. So that's the kind of thing that's caused by either extreme of exaggeration, pop said.

New-Make Cheese Prices Edge Higher

Toronto — New-make cheese prices edged up under prevailing light offerings on the Toronto open produce market yesterday. Butter remained steady and unchanged, and the trend turned easy in eggs as demand declined.

Fairly good demand for current-make cheese was limited mainly to the wholesale market. New large parcelfined strengthened to 16 cents a pound.

Uncertainty over the question of unlimited buying by the Toronto market in a quiet and unsettled conditions. Prices of the Canadian product again reduced quotations without causing any change in order. Closing sales on No. 1 grade Ontario creamery solids were 30½ cents a pound, with further supplies available at this level not being moved. The small volume of business transacted earlier in the day was made at 30 cents a pound as cents a pound. Otherwise offerings were neglected. Prints to be retail trade were adjusted in line with solids, top grades being cut 2 cents to 22½ cents a pound.

Although receipts were not heavy, the fresh grades showed slight accumulation on the egg market as demand still lagged. No significant changes occurred in prices, but the undertone of the market was easier.

Montreal Produce

TWO POLICEMEN CONVICTED OF COMMON ASSAULT

Former Members of Parry Sound Force Accused of Using Unnecessary Force on Prisoner

HAD GOOD RECORD

Parry Sound, Ont., April 16 (CP) —Charges of assault causing actual bodily harm were reduced to charges of common assault, here last night when Judge A. B. Curry convicted Martin Leang and Martin Felhaver of Parry Sound- in connection with injuries suffered by John Morton of nearby Nobel, Ont., after his arrest last March 8.

Felhaver, former constable of the Parry Sound police force, was fined $100 and costs or three months' imprisonment while Leang, former chief constable was fined $50 when convicted. Sentence was passed by Judge Curry. The trial started yesterday.

Both men had resigned from the force after charges were laid by Morton, who was taken to hospital from the Parry Sound jail a few hours after his arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct in a Parry Sound restaurant.

In his summing-up, Judge Curry said he believed the injuries which resulted in Morton staying two days in hospital were as a result of a struggle in the back of the police car between Leang and Morton, and said in earlier evidence that he was in the back seat with Morton while Felhaver drove automobile.

Only Prisoner Hurt

Judge Curry said the case rested on one point in the criminal code whether the force used was unnecessary force in pursuance of their duties. He said he believed the evidence of the police officers, who told of Morton's struggles and violence when arrested, but that they had been good police officers in pursuing their duties.

The point of whether the officers had used unnecessary force was the decision to the jury by the Crown Prosecutor, E. D. Wilkinson, Crown Attorney for Parry Sound, and C. E. Facer of Sudbury. Mr. Wilkinson said neither should have been used, because no one but Morton was hurt during the struggle. Mr. Facer argued that the men had the legal right to use such force as was necessary to overcome resistance to arrest.

In evidence given yesterday Leang said that Morton's face was bleeding when they reached the jail, and that he thought this was did not use his fists. Felhaver testified that Morton struck him with his fist in the stomach and that he had fought back in self-defence.

Other witnesses yesterday said the police officers had struck Morton as he repeatedly while taking him to jail. One said Morton had been unconscious on the afternoon of March 8.

CABINET CHANGES ARE MENTIONED

Name of Minister of Transport, Cardin, Most Prominently Noted at Ottawa

Ottawa, April 16 —(CP)— With parliament adjourned for the Easter recess and spring's first warm days of sunshine, the Government Hill has turned back to the perennial subject of cabinet shuffles. The name of Transport Minister Cardin is receiving the most attention.

Mention of reports that ill-health may keep Mr. Cardin from active duty made in the Ottawa Journal today. The paper said there was "every probability that when it becomes necessary for Premier Mackenzie King to deal with one change in his ministry there will be one or two others to follow in the anticipated cabinet reorganization."

It had been known here for some time that Mr. Cardin, who also is Minister of Public Works and Import portfolios, has been in poor health. During the recent alitting of parliament he was frequently absent, his desk for a time because of illness.

Named in conjecture as a possible successor to the transport minister should he retire from the cabinet is Col. Thomas Vien (Lib. Outremont), speaker of the House of Commons.

Alberta Minister Michaud has for some time been the subject of retirement rumors and publicity suggestions, he would receive an appointment to the judiciary at New Carlisle, Bonaventure Hill (Lib. Charlotte) has been mentioned as a possible successor to continue New Brunswick cabinet representation.

Recently there were reports that Hon. J. G. Gardiner would resign quiet one or other of his portfolios —agriculture and war services—but inquiries elicited nothing official that tended to confirm these suggestions for the immediate future.

Says Soviet Aid Will Continue For Chinese

Chungking, China, April 16 (AP). —It was tellably disclosed today that Moscow had informed the Central Chinese Government that Soviet aid to China is being continued.

Alleged Iron Guard Plot Is Discovered

Bucharest, Rumania, April 16 — (AP)—Premier Ion Antonescu announced the discovery today of an alleged Iron Guard plot to murder him and members of his cabinet.

Antonescu, it was disclosed, told his cabinet yesterday that the guardsmen were planned to take place on Wednesday, Friday, the Easter holidays of the Orthodox Church this coming weekend.

The premier said that Rumanian authorities were now rounding up the plotters.

Antonescu declined to disclose the names of the suspects until a court martial convenes, but he said they were members of the "death squad" of the outlawed Iron Guards.

The killing of a Bucharest bookseller a few days ago that brutally described as a preliminary in the assassination plot.

After a court martial had imposed death sentences on the 21-year-old waiter and a 22-year-old clerk in that case, they were shot last night. Antonescu refused them pleas for pardon.

He also informed the cabinet that a military court at Galati had sentenced to death and then executed for hiding 19 revolvers. Another pair of church officers is also awaiting "gruesome outrages" during the January revolt of the Iron Guard have been given death sentences by a Bucharest military court.

FORCED TO DRIVE BANDIT AROUND

Motorist in Evening Clothes Made to Go to Hamilton Under Duress

Hamilton, April 16 (CP)—With a pistol pressed into his ribs, Ian Duncan, Toronto, was forced to drive by a bandit last night for three hours before he was released on the mountain top.

Duncan, motoring evening dress, encountered the thug as he stopped at a lights through heavy traffic in Toronto to buy cigarettes. He returned to his auto and was driving to a date had with a girl when the bandit slipped into the rear seat and forced him to drop. Ignoring the thug up and ordered him to "drive around."

Warned against any outcry or attempt to carry out suspicions, Duncan drove around Toronto streets on a considerable time.

Next he was ordered to go out on Queen Elizabeth way and with the revolver pressed into his side, the enlips journey, he made the 40-mile trip through heavy week-end traffic. In Hamilton he was ordered to, ward the mountain and then the bandit left him.

"Don't bother me or I'll shoot," barked the gunman as he stepped from the machine.

It was believed the gunman may have committed a crime in the Toronto area and was attempting by this means of getting out of the city.

Condition Of Dr. Dafoe Good After Operation

Toronto, April 16—(CP)—Condition of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, physician to the Dionne quintuplets, was reported as "very satisfactory" today by the hospital where a major operation here yesterday.

His brother, Dr. William Dafoe of Toronto, said Dr. Dafoe's personal physician would be absent from his practice for "at least one month. His place there is being taken by Dr. John Kyles of North Bay, Ont.

Nazi Long-Range Guns On French Coast Fire Across Strait

Dover, England Town in England, April 16 — (CP) — Nazi long-range guns on the French coast fired shells across the Strait to Dover this afternoon for the first time in more than two weeks. The day was brilliantly clear.

The shelling came just before 1 o'clock and single shells landed in two different areas at intervals of two minutes without doing much damage. Dover's shell fire warning did not sound until 1:30 p.m. and after the first guns opened the attack continued spasmodically.

GANGSTERS SLAY ITALIAN EDITOR IN CHICAGO LOOP

John F. Arena Probably Slain Because of Editorials Against Fifth Columnists

ANONYMOUS CALLERS

Chicago, April 16 (AP)—John F. Arena, 43, editor of an Italian language newspaper, was shot to death on a northside street last night after leaving a movie with a girl companion.

Police Capt. Patrick O'Connell expressed the belief today that Arena was killed because of his editorials against fifth columnists here.

He was editor and publisher of L'Italia, a triweekly.

Arena, who claimed noble birth, recently concluded an editorial campaign against what he termed "fifth column" activities of persons of Italian birth or descent here.

His wife, Dorothy, 32, told the police that he had received anonymous telephone threats from anonymous callers who warned him to "stop writing" or face the consequences.

The slayer accosted Arena as he was about to enter his parked car with Miss Eleanor Herrmeyer, 17, who was also called attention to a flat tire and when Arena stopped to the front of the car he was shot. Miss Herrmeyer, who was escaped in an automobile driven by an accomplice.

Miss Herrmeyer, a dramatic soprano, described herself as a protege of the slain man. She said that he had helped her with music and voice studies.

Miss Herrmeyer told the police that she was in Arena's office two months ago when he received a telephone call in which the caller warned he hung up, she said, he commented: "I'll have to get a bodyguard for a guest."

Arena explained, she said, that Italian consul Dunadio, who had left the country after he announced he was relinquishing his title of Marchese.

Washington—(AP) — The House Committee on Unamerican Activities announced today that John Arena, Chicago newspaper editor, had supplied information to the committee on Fascist activities in the United States a few hours before he was shot to death last night.

The committee also made public the text of a telegram from Arena, dated "Christmas Eve—Year," demanding that the Federal Bureau of Investigation probe committee witnesses and informers.

DEAD, INJURED

The temblor, which began with violent shocks after two minutes in Colima, tapering off in a series of lesser shocks apparently centered in the historic earthquake centre of Chilpancingo, 200 miles southeast of Mexico City on the Pacific Coast resort town of Acapulco.

Destruction was total. Undetermined numbers of casualties were reported.

Guadalajara, capital of the state of Jalisco state and Mexico's second largest city, 200 miles northwest on Pacific Coast port; and a dozen other cities and villages reported, as did seat as Maltrata in Vera Cruz State which borders on the Gulf of Mexico.

(The Master of the United States steamship Ohio reported yesterday by wireless that his ship, when off Manzanillo, Mexico, shuddered in the quake and that a tremendous column of flame was seen to mushroom from the land.)

Forests All on Fire

First reports from Colima said numerous aerial operations yesterday the city had been razed and that the capital was "in the throes of a roaring mass of flames." A radio message from an operator of a demolished Colima radio amateur sending from Colima said at least 50 persons were dead.

President Manuel Avila Camacho ordered army troops, doctors and nurses to leave for Colima by automobile during the night. Three squadrons of military planes were landed with medicines, supplies and food for a dawn take-off.

No fatalities and only a few injuries were reported in Mexico City where the quake lasted only thirty seconds. Most of the capital's residents poured into the streets where panic-stricken throngs filled the sidewalks to pray while windows rattled and bricks rained around them.

The Secretary Excelsior Building, where the Associated Press offices are located, swayed so violently that water sloshed into the streets from storage tanks on its roof.

Many Die in Ruins

Guadalajara, April 16 (AP)—Railway passengers, from the quake-stricken city of Colima reported today that a considerable number of persons died in ruins of buildings in that city; many were injured, and lack of medical treatment would increase the death toll.

Ashes from erupting Colima volcano were showering the city, they said.

The passengers arrived here early this morning after a slow trip over damaged tracks from Colima, some 125 miles away.

GERMAN REPORTS

"When these numbers are revealed," he added, "there will cause amazement and relief."

He asserted that the speedy capture of eastern Thrace, through the advance on Xanthe, was not a military feat because the area was not defended.

The general of the main Greek forces, he said, began early in March to withdraw his troops. The attack came (Sunday, April 6) Greek troops and the bulk of the Yugoslav forces.

The attacks declared that Greece had planned to defend Germany even in the event of Yugoslav capitulation to axis demands and had concentrated her main forces in its central Macedonia.

After the Yugoslav Coup D'Etat March 27—with a friendly Yugoslav army covering the Vardar valley route into Greece—Greek divisions were withdrawn, thus strengthen the defence of eastern Macedonia, he said, and "this transfer, though dictated by logic, proved fatal."

Open Corridor to Nazis

Athens, April 16 (AP)— Fighting was general along the English front in Greece today, British sources said, but there was no report of mechanized thrusts the German had not reported earlier. The British Greek defences for the battle which is expected to rage here, strengthen the peninsula.

Authoritative sources said the Nazis by where had overrobot the main defence positions in the Rupel Mountains, Bulgarian units carried them to the western outskirts of Nigrita, 30 miles from Greece's 4,000 feet high to a corridor of easier terrain to the coast.

Greek general headquarters said Greek troops in western Macedonia reach to the Albanian frontier on the new defence positions.

Greeks Destroy Bases

Before the Greeks retired, headquarters said, they inflicted heavy losses on the advancing German forces.

Growing reinforcements of men and material were reported in position in the new defence line, where the Greeks and British Commonwealth attacks extremely hazardous.

The new axis offensive appeared to be directed down the central Vardar valley, Greek sources said, in contact with the Allied forces to the east and the Greek forces in Albania.

Situation Called Serious

Military circles called the situation in Libya "serious," but asserted there was "no immediate threat to Egypt."

In Ethiopia, they said, 40,000 Italians and 36,000 natives loyal to the Italians were concentrated in the Desalu, Gondar and Jimma areas.

In the Desalu area, they said, there were 10,000 Italians and 12,000 natives, while in the Gondar region there were 8,000 Italians and 9,000 natives and in the Jimma area, 32,000 Italians and 15,000 natives.

Obala, 290 miles up the coast from Massawa, captured Italian Somaliland capital, military circles reported, has garrisons of 1,000 British forces and patrol aircraft are while the fighting at Cerde, 200 miles north of Obala.

Military circles said there had no reason to doubt the accuracy of a daily sketch report from Ethiopia quoting the British radio that Lt. Allan commander-in-chief had sent representatives by plane to interview the British commander at Khartum.

However, they said they had no confirmation of the report. The London correspondent said the Duke requested safe conduct for the plane Tuesday that British army officers were awaiting when the plane arrived.

Diredawa is on the Addis Ababa railway east of the capital.

BRITISH, NAZIS

Departing from their usual procedure, the Nazi raiders who attacked England last night flamed out to sea coastal, instead of concentrating on a single town.

One of the areas hit was the big northwest coast port of Liverpool, where a number of fleeing people were killed and injured and bombs destroyed many workmen's homes.

Assaults on a northeast coastal area also were reported.

London had its first night alarm in 24 hours. Guns roared in anti-aircraft batteries neared into action several times, but there was no reports of bombs falling in the city.

Informed sources said the British forces which attacked Kiel was a strong one.

A majority of the returning pilots reported they had "got one" and that they had dropped their bombs," and the attack was characterized as successful.

Renew Raid on Kiel

The R.A.F. Bomber Command, headquarters of Kiel, German naval base, last night and early today renewed its attack with fire on shipbuilding yards and fires were started. The R.A.F. announced objective of operations against "targets in northwestern Germany."

Along the German - occupied French coast, the R.A.F. report that seaplanes in cloudy skies to hurl bombs on docks at Boulogne, on the Atlantic Coast. This attack by night capped offensive operations over England and northern France during the daylight.

Two more were missing from the night operations and three from the daylight operations. Three German fighters and a bomber were destroyed in connection with the offensive operations.

New York Stock Exchange President Enters U.S. Army

New York, April 16 (AP)—An industrious young man put his last licks yesterday as a Wall Street boy paying $40,000 a year, then planned to rise early in the morning to go through the preliminary routine of becoming a soldier at $21 a month.

His final day on the job before he reports for military training, William McChesney Martin, Jr., 34-year-old President of the New York Stock Exchange, mixed farewells from friends and calculates with a busy round of work.

Just before dawn he will be at the post he held for nearly three years as the youngest president of the Exchange, he attended a meeting of a special committee considering the choice of a successor president and, further reform of the Exchange administration.

Long before the Exchange opens for business each morning, he expects to be at a selective service station in mid-Manhattan for examination and instructions in answer to a call for military training.

Woman Being Held Without Serious Charge

Zeballos, B.C., April 16 (CP)—A woman being held by Provincial Police at this Vancouver Island mining settlement, pending completion investigation, will report that a 16-months-old child was given a spoonful of lye to eat.

The child, Keith Moyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Moyer, is under care of a physician who said he would survive. No charge was laid yesterday against the woman, Mrs. Moyer's neighbor, whose name is being withheld.

Mrs. Jean Murray, another neighbor, said she found the baby Keith Moyer screaming as his five-year-old sister, Sheryl, fed him lyme by the hand. Sheryl told Mrs. Murray immediately called a doctor.

ATTACK UNJUSTIFIED

Washington, April 16 — (AP) — President Roosevelt declared today that Hungary had attacked Yugoslavia "without justification" and expressed belief a state of war existed between the two countries.

AXIS CONVOY WIPED OUT IN MEDITERRANEAN
NAZI ATTACKERS MET WITH MURDEROUS FIRE

Three Destroyers, Five Cargo Ships Sent To Bottom

Blockading Squadron Of Royal Navy Choking Supply Line Of Axis

BRITISH SHIP LOST

London, April 17 —(CP)—Striking hard on the North African front, where an Axis army menaces Egypt, the Royal Navy has been shelling German and Italian troops near Salum while 800 miles west a blockading squadron sought to choke off the vital supply line between Sicily and Tripoli.

The Admiralty announced last night, that blockading squadron had "intercepted and annihilated" an entire convoy of three Italian destroyers and five cargo ships carrying mechanized equipment, munitions "and possibly troops across the 90-mile stretch of water.

Crew Reported To Have Left Ship

Toronto, April 17 (CP)—The Canadian Seamen's Union reported today that the crew of the Valley Camp Coal Company's vessel Valley Camp left her at Sarnia, Ont., last night and joined C.S.U. strikers.

The coal company is one of the five firms against which the C. S. U. has called a strike to enforce demands for an agreement. The Valley Camp put into Prescott early this week to unload her coal cargo. After her first crew quit a second crew was signed on and it was this second group who quit last night.

C.S.U. officials reported that the strike situation was still unchanged with five Great Lakes shipping firms holding out against them.

LOUVAIN LIBRARY DESTROYED

New York, April 17 (AP)— Only "twisted and molten girders" remained of the rebuilt library of the University of Louvain, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler has learned in a letter from E. Van Cauwenbergh, the university librarian.

Dr. Butler, President of Columbia University, announced today that the Belgian Librarian informed him "the library was nearly completely gutted by fire, and the thousand books were saved and all the most precious are gone."

Reconstructed after the first Great War, the Louvain institution was in the path of the German blitzkrieg last spring.

Doctors Strive To Save Eyesight Of Indian Boy

Toronto, April 17 (CP)— Doctors worked today to save the eyesight of Charles Warren, eleven-old Indian boy, brought to hospital here after a dangerous journey across the heaving ice of Lake Simcoe.

The boy suffered a wound near the eye with the pitchfork in some unknown manner while playing near his home on Georgina Island out in Lake Simcoe Tuesday. Next day his mother, Mrs. Fred Warren, and two other Indians, Leslie McCue and William Scelbe, started out in a rowboat and made the fourmile journey to the mainland in five hours.

When they struck huge ice floes, the two men carried the boat shoulder-high with the mother and the boy in it. Sometimes they broke through and were often up to their waists in water.

The child's condition is satisfactory but doctors could not say whether his eyesight would be impaired.

War Not Side Show But A Showdown Says N. Y. Lawyer

Montreal, April 17 (CP)— Lawrence Hunt, New York lawyer, told members of the Canadian Club yesterday that "within the next few months, we, the people of the United States, will take our rightful final place—in the front line of the battle for freedom."

Speaking at a luncheon meeting, Mr. Hunt said the United States already was in the battle behind the lines. "We know that this war is not a side show but a showdown and America is now pledged to final and total victory over Hitler and his Nazis."

Referring to the question of war aims, Mr. Hunt said it ought to be remembered that next to Germany and Italy, Canada and America is now pledged to final and total victory over Hitler and his Nazis."

Terrific Raid Tests Nerves Of News Men In London As Bombs Fall Near

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

London, April 17 —(AP)—If my heart would just stop beating so fast for a few minutes, perhaps I could write this story.

Outside the window sounds like 50,000 bumble bees.

There's an ear-splitting wham from across the street—a 20-foot door comes down. All the doors along both sides of the street are open. The locks were cracked by the force of the blast.

Sounds like 80 guns just went off at once nearby. This old house just shook like a dog after a swim.

My roommate and co-worker, Tom Yarbrough, decides to don his helmet and go out to see what's happening.

London, April 17 —(CP Cable)— Find us a house in a nice part of town in a sound-proof room.

In most of London's millions, The Canadian Press Staff went to work today red-eyed due to sleep lost in the noisiest and fiercest night of air raids in this war.

Bombs fell around them and the vibration and eternal roar of the German planes made the booming of the anti-aircraft a barrage. The ground quivered too often with falling bombs. If there was a hill, it was broken by air raid wardens whistling and wisecracking in a station below our window while waiting a call.

Communique Says "Reports Show Casualties Heavy And Considerable Damage"

FIVE RAIDERS DOWNED

London, April 17 —(CP) —Crowded morgues, packed hospitals and blocks of smouldering wreckage and broken buildings disclosed today the devastating extent of the worst air raid which London have loosed upon this battered capital.

Nazi planes crowded the skies of London for seven last night and early today, dumping thousands of incendiaries and high explosives all over the sprawling city.

(The German High Command described the raid as "reprisal for the English destruction of the cultural and historic centre of Berlin on April 9.")

British At Tobruk Take 25 Axis Officers And 767 Men

Cairo, Egypt, April 17 (AP)— British troops defending Tobruk, Libya, yesterday captured 25 Axis officers and 767 men and killed more than 200 in bitter fighting, British General Headquarters announced today.

Officers said 20 tankers were destroyed.

Sir Miles Lampson, British Ambassador, communicated the news to the Egyptian Premier.

Authorities said German casualties in dead, wounded and prisoners are now more than 1,500 in the desert campaign, while the total number of tanks destroyed is about 36. British losses were reported to be light.

The first German prisoners have reached the Nile Valley and have been sent to camps.

The communique said a British patrol "successfully penetrated an enemy position south and east of Acroma of Tobruk" and captured seven Italian officers and 139 men in one phase of the fighting.

An attack on Tobruk was repulsed with artillery fire, it said.

There was still considerable patrol activity in the area around Sollum, Egypt, the communique added. It reported further advances by the troops moving on to Dessie, Ethiopia, and said prisoners in Addis Ababa now total 5,000 Italians and 4,000 of the Colonial troops.

Salvos Seen to Burst on Tanks

London, April 17 (CP)—The Admiralty announced today "an extremely successful naval bombardment of Port Capuzzo in the Bardia area" of Libya in which many salvos were seen to burst on a concentration of about 100 Axis tanks and other vehicles.

The announcement clarified reports from Cairo, Egypt, yesterday which indicated the Port, which lies in Libya not far from the Egyptian frontier, had changed hands several times and possibly is being held by British troops.

Cairo, Egypt, April 17 (AP)— British General Headquarters announced today that "enemy pressure all along our front" in Greece "is increasing."

Successful Defense by British

The communique also said the British forces were successfully defending Tobruk, Libya, against Axis troops and had captured many officers and men in operations there.

LEASE-LEND AID FOR CANADA SAID UNDER DISCUSSION

King and Roosevelt Confer at Washington on Matters of Vital Importance

SEVERAL DAYS VISIT

Washington April 17—(AP.—The advisability of supplying war materials to Canada on a lease-lend basis the war defending Canada's vital resources was believed in usually well-informed quarters today to be a primary topic for discussion between Prime Minister Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt and other American officials.

Other matters which were expected to figure in the conference included measures to safeguard the St. Lawrence waterway and the work of the joint United States-Canadian Defense Board, established after the Prime Ministers' last previous meeting with the President last year.

Canada's war effort—apparent leader, who came here after his annual physical check-up at Johns-Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, sailed at the White House late yesterday.

He said he expected to see Mr. Roosevelt again and call on State Secretary Cordell Hull during his brief visit, which will last several days.

With regard to the possibility of lease-lend aid, Mr. Mackenzie King recalled that the Dominion, next to Britain, has been the biggest buyer of war supplies in the United States and that so far has made its purchases here on a cash-and-carry basis.

Predict Trade Pact Over Turkish Tobacco By Turkey, Germany

Istanbul, Turkey, April 16, (Delayed)—(AP)—Turkish newspapers reported today that Germany and Turkey are on the verge of concluding a new trade agreement involving the purchase of Turkish tobacco to Germany.

It also was reported from Ankara that Italy and Turkey had recently negotiated a commercial agreement by Mr. Roosevelt. In announcing it last night, Henderson said it is designed to increase increases resulting from wage rises granted this week by thirty-three of the industry.

An increase in prices now, Henderson asserted, "might touch off a general increase in the cost of living and start the country off on the road to price inflation."

At the same time, he made it clear that upward adjustments might be permitted in the future if a thorough study of prices and costs in the industry indicated they were necessary.

JOS. M. SCHENCK GUILTY OF INCOME TAX EVASION

Mult - Millionaire and Movie Magnate Face Possible Prison Term of 10 Years and Fines of $20,000

MOSKOWITZ GUILTY

New York, April 17 (AP)—Multi-millionaire Joseph M. Schenck was convicted early today of income tax evasion. In 1935 and 1936 and faces possible imprisonment for 10 years and fines of $20,000.

A federal court jury deliberated 10 hours to find the movie magnate guilty on two of four counts, and Schenck's co-defendant, Joseph Moskowitz, Schenck's eastern representative, was convicted on the 1936 tax charge and acquitted on the other three counts.

Schenck, board chairman of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, was accused of evading $412,000 in taxes during 1935-36-37, while his defense was he had overpaid by $165,000.

MAY TEST ORDER ON PRICE CONTROL

Steel Industry Leaders Study Order Fixing Prices of Steel and Iron in United States

Washington, April 17 (AP) — Steel industry leaders were reported today to be studying the possibility of President Roosevelt's price control authority because of an United States administration order freezing steel and iron prices.

The order, fixing prices at the level of the first quarter of this year, was issued by Leon Henderson, recently named price administrator by Mr. Roosevelt. In announcing it last night, Henderson said it was designed to prevent increases resulting from wage rises granted this week by thirty-three of the industry.

An increase in prices now, Henderson asserted, "might touch off a general increase in the cost of living and start the country off on the road to price inflation."

At the same time, he made it clear that upward adjustments might be permitted in the future if a thorough study of prices and costs in the industry indicated they were necessary.

BREMEN SINGLED OUT FOR ASSAULT BY RAF BOMBERS

Wilhelmshaven, Cuxhaven And Weservmunde Also Heavily Attacked

BREST BOMBED AGAIN

London, April 17 —(CP) —Royal Air Force bombers singled out Bremen for their heaviest assaults last night, and also attacked Wilhelmshaven, Cuxhaven and Wesermunde, the Air Ministry announced today.

The Nazi naval base at Brest, on the occupied French coast, also was bombed again.

Thick haze made it difficult to observe the full effect of the bombing, fires were seen to be spreading in many parts of Bremen, a communique said.

In daylight yesterday, the Ministry added, the island of Helgoland was attacked by bombers.

One bomber and three fighters were reported missing after the night's operations and one plane was reported missing from patrol yesterday.

LORD AND LADY STAMP KILLED BY ENEMY ACTION

Economic Adviser to British Government Co-ordinating Work of Ministers

KNOWN IN CANADA

London, April 17 (CP)—Lord and Lady Stamp were killed "by enemy action" during the night as London underwent its worst air raid of the war, it was reported today.

Lord Stamp's body was recovered but rescuing still were searching for that of Lady Stamp.

Lord Stamp, Hon. W. Carpenter Stamp, who had been staying with his parents, is also feared to have lost his life.

Three or four members of the household staff are believed to have been killed.

Lord Stamp's wife and children are living in Cornwall.

Lord Stamp was the government's economic adviser as head of a committee co-ordinating the work of government ministries.

Lord Stamp, widely known economist, was a director of the bank of the first Baron Stamp in 1938. He was the father of 13 years old Lord Stamp.

Lord Stamp was well known in Canada. He held honorary degrees from McGill University, the University of Saskatchewan, and the Western Ontario and McMaster Universities. He was a director of Canadian grain futures inquiry.

He was born in London, Midland and Scottish Railway, Britain's largest transport organization, and was governor of the Bank of England.

When he was elevated to the peerage he was known as Sir Josiah Stamp.

Lady Stamp was President of the National Free Church Women's Council, Governor of University College, Aberstwyth, Wales. She was married to Lord Stamp in 1916.

TO ADD $3,500,000,000 Of New Taxes Demanded In U. S. Next Year

Washington, April 17 —(AP)— Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau announced today that the United States administration and both Democratic and Republican congressional leaders had agreed to ask $3,500,000,000 of new taxes to be raised in the next year.

British-Greek Line Holding Steadfast Nazi Losses Severe

German Drive Apparently Aimed At Encircling Mt. Olympus Forts

HEAVY FIGHTING

Athens, Greece, April 17 —(AP)—Wave of German Stukas hammered with the power of long-range artillery at the Greek-British mountain line in northern Greece today as the Nazis advanced in a critical battle toward Kalabaka, gateway to the lowlands of Thessaly.

The Germans also were pounding at the eastern entrance to Metsovo Pass, which leads westward through the mountains by a backdoor route to Ioannina, capital of Epirus, from which the Italians were turned back in their first attacks last November.

(A British communique said German pressure was increasing all along the British front.)

The Germans already were some 70 miles deep in Northern Greece and were driving toward Kalabaka in the centre, in an effort to reach the important railway junction of Larisa to the southeast, and to the British forces defending their Mount Olympus positions on the Gulf of Salonika.

Allied artillery and machine guns, thickly studding the steep slopes, were pouring fire into the German infantry and tanks, which surged forward beneath the waves of Stukas. German casualties were heavy.

Greek newspapers reported that the bayonet-skilled Greeks were like a check rein on Germans in any hand-to-hand combat that developed in the war of machines.

For the first time in a week Greece had 24 hours without an Axis air raid alarm as the Nazis brought all their air power to bear on the battle zone.

The Nazis were reported hurling new mechanized reserves at the centre of the Allied line and sa-

Nelson's Prayer Before Trafalgar Quoted By Cardinal

Toronto, April 17 (CP)—Rededicating Canada to the same qualities Nelson's prayer before the battle of the Nile, at the conclusion of his address today before the Empire and Canadian Clubs of Toronto.

The prayer:

"May the great God, whom we worship, grant to our country, and for the benefit of Europe in general, a great and glorious victory; and may no misconduct in anyone tarnish it, and may humanity after victory be the predominant feature in the British fleet. For myself, individually, I commit my life to Him who made me, and may His blessing alight upon my endeavours for serving my country faithfully. To Him I resign myself and the just cause which is entrusted to me to defend. Amen, Amen, Amen."

Nazis Two Divisions In Two Days

Athens, April 17 (AP)—An observer returning this evening from the Mount Olympus front declared the mass infantry and tank attacks south of Servia had cost the German "two divisions in casualties in two days."

Despite terrific losses the Germans were attacking ceaselessly, this observer said. He declared that the invaders were "throwing men away by the thousands" in an attempt to crash into the Thessaly Plain.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

REEVE OF MAYO GOING TO RETIRE

Mr. Ernest Brownson of Hermon, Ontario, reeve of Mayo Township for many years and one of Hastings County Council's youngest wardens, has decided to retire from municipal life and for the first time in many years he is not a member of his township council this year.

The ex-warden's intention of retiring will be a serious loss to Hastings County municipal affairs as he is one of the best-posted men on such matters in the county. The ex-warden's intention of retiring from municipal life was conveyed by Mr. Brownson on Monday to his mother, who resides in Trenton.

POLICE SEARCHING FOR MISSING GIRL

Belleville police authorities have been asked to assist in the locating of 14-year-old Doris May Cooney, 14 Dundas St., who left her home on Tuesday and has not been heard of since. At first the child's parents were of the opinion she might have left to visit relatives in Toronto, but such was not the case, police were later informed. The girl was described as having been wearing a green skirt and brown jacket when she left home on Tuesday.

AIRMEN ENTERTAIN 150 LADY MEMBERS OF HOSPITALITY CLUBS

Airmen of the Royal Canadian Air Force base at Trenton, proved themselves real hosts last night, when they had as their guests at an "At Home" held in the Airmen's Mess, one hundred and fifty young ladies, members of the Belleville Hospitality Club, St. Michael's Children of Mary and the Trenton Hospitality Club.

Delightful music was furnished by the Air Force orchestra while a number of spot and special dances added a variety to the program. Luncheon was served by the hosts at midnight and dancing resumed until one o'clock.

Transportation by buses was provided by the hosts for their guests in Belleville and Trenton.

428 DOG LICENCES HAVE BEEN SOLD

Sergeant Arthur Booth of the city police department, revealed a total of 428 dog licences had been sold in Belleville this far this year.

Last year a total of 727 dog tags were sold in Belleville and the number to date is in advance to that of the corresponding period last year," revealed Sergeant Booth today as he added the response for the sale of dog licences is being met quite favorably by city dog owners in 1941.

MRS. R. R. GULLIVER MEETS HER NEPHEW FOR FIRST TIME

The war has been responsible for bringing at least one English family to Belleville closer together when Corporal S. Tyrrell, R.A.F., recently arrived from England to spend leave in the home of Mrs. R. R. Gulliver at 245 Station Street during the few holidays. It was the first time she had seen her nephew in years.

She readily recognized him from photographs received from Bognor Regis, England, where Mr. Tyrrell has been in Canada for the past 23 years, and Corporal Tyrrell's first visit since she has seen since leaving the Mother Country.

STOKER LESLIE SMITH HOME ON FURLOUGH

Former well-known employee of the Hotel Quinte, Leslie E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Smith, Yeoman Street, and now a stoker, first class, in the Navy, is home on furlough.

Born in Leicester, England, Stoker Smith has been in Canada for some twenty years and joined the navy last November after trying unsuccessfully to enter the Royal Canadian Air Force, He has been at sea several times in various Canadian destroyers and patrol boats and relates some sparkling stories of life aboard a Canadian warship.

His father is a veteran of the last war, Stoker Smith married Miss Florence Knott of this city some years ago and has one son.

FOUR SAILORS LEAVE FOR BERTHS ON BOATS

A number of district sailors who will man the Great Lakes freighters this summer left the city yesterday for various inland ports to fill out their ships. The men were mostly members of the deck crew, engine room staffs having been on board for some weeks.

Among the departing sailors were Bob Irvine and Tom Thompson of Bloomfield, John Smith and Alex Pearson of the city who today joined their ship the "Blue Water" at Montreal.

J. W. E. LAZENBY JOINS THE R.C.A.F.

According to information released today by officers of the R. C. A. F. recruiting centre at London, Ont., among recruits enlisted recently is J. W. E. Lazenby, 81 Station St., Belleville, who has been accepted by the force as a pilot or observer.

Missing Dog Found Stranded On Waupoos Island Since January

Point Traverse, April 16.—The disappearance of a valuable police dog from the home of Mr. Desmond Hunter, Waupoos Island, in mid January and belonging to Fy. Beck, Odlate School there, has been solved by the two caretakers of the Main Duck Island, Mr. Ray Lancaster, who visited the Ducks during the winter, arrived at the mainland and reports a large, vicious appearing police dog roaming the place, and efforts to capture the dog have failed.

The dog crossed to the Ducks over the ice during the winter and has been running at large since its arrival there.

Bearing the description of the lost dog, five men will leave to capture it tomorrow if weather favorable weather permits a crossing from here.

The dog will have to be removed from the island as a large band of sheep and other wild deer are kept there. It allowed to roam at will the dog would become a killer, in the opinion of the men who will go for the animal.

ORANGE LODGES OF EAST ONTARIO OPEN CONVENTION

Delegates Welcomed by Mayor C. E. Thompson at First Session

REPORTS GIVEN

Delegates from every district in Eastern Ontario convened in Belleville on Wednesday for the first day's sessions of the annual convention of the Orange Order which is being held in the city hall auditorium. The opening of the Orange Lodge meeting marked the culmination of the Grand Black Chapter which was concluded on Monday evening, the morning session's program being highlighted by the address of Grand Master C. C. Hudson of Ottawa.

Mr. Hudson gave a very comprehensive resume of the early history of the Orange Order, giving a brief outline of its foundations and sketching the development of the organization until the present time. In connection with the founding of the Orange Order, the speaker referred to Belleville men who were instrumental in the founding of the order in this locality and after one of whom the local lodge is named, namely, Ogle Robert Gowan. Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Past Grand Master of the Orange Lodge of British America, and one of its founders, was also a Belleville man.

The success of the Red Cross drive put on by the Order was referred to by the speaker, he stating that the objective of $10,000 was easily oversubscribed by the members. He also referred to the war effort and to the number of enlistments from the ranks of the various Orders in the Eastern Ontario jurisdiction. The patriotism shown by these men in offering themselves for the active service was a splendid thing, stated Mr. Hudson, and he predicted that the number of enlistments from the ranks of the Order would be a great, if not greater, than that of the last Great War.

The reports of D. J. Sutherland of Ottawa, Grand Secretary, and of J. W. Wood of Ottawa, Grand Treasurer, completed the morning's business. The former stated the financial standing of the Order in the Eastern Ontario jurisdiction was in splendid condition, it was reported by Mr. Wood.

Session Extended

At the outset of the afternoon's session, Mayor Clarence E. Thompson extended his official welcome to the visiting delegates. The welcome of the county lodges was tendered by Mr. Francis John, County Master of Prince Edward County and Juvenile Lodges of South Hastings. As far as is known by the members of the Order this is the first time in this jurisdiction at least that a Southern Grand Lodge has been County Master in South Hastings.

Deputy Grand Master of Orange Province of Ontario, Frank Bradfield of Ottawa, extended the greetings of this organization to the visiting delegates of the Orange Order, with a address of welcome being given on behalf of the W. Orange Lodges by Lt. Col. F. W. Kidd of Brockville.

Grand Master of Grand Orange Lodge of British America extended greetings on behalf of the Grand Lodge and spoke on conditions prevailing throughout the entire jurisdiction, also of the splendid war efforts of members in enlistments and to the Canadian Red Cross drive.

He referred briefly in behalf of the Insurance Department of the Orange Order, of which he is head, and also had many complimentary remarks for the official publication of the Order, "The Sentinel".

Grand Secretary of Grand Lodge of British America, Mr. Leflar Bond of Toronto, expressed his sincere appreciation of being able to renew acquaintances in attending the session and spoke of the splendid leadership of the Order under the Eastern Ontario Jurisdiction.

Sunday Meeting

One of the outstanding features of the afternoon session was the fact which assuredly will not be matched at any convention in Canada, was the introduction of two pairs of father, son and grandson trios, all of whom are members of the same lodge. The six members presented to the delegates were Messrs. Jonathan, Clifford and Leon Wilson and Henry, Harry and Lorne Carter of Foxboro Lodge, father, son and grandson respectively.

The various committees were selected by the striking committee composed of six Past Grand Masters. These committees, will report on all correspondence, finance, petitions, appeals, suspensions, expenditures, returns and resolutions presenting their reports at Thursday's session, at which officials for the ensuing year will be elected.

A very interesting, extensive and detailed report of the Insurance Department was given by Right Worshipful Rodney White, General Agent of Orange Insurance, which concluded the afternoon's program with members adjourning for the open meeting to be held in the city hall in the evening.

YOUNG BRITONS ELECT OFFICERS

F. T. Bradfield, Ottawa, Elected Grand Master at Closing Session

The concluding session of the fourteenth annual convention of Orange Young Britons of Eastern Ontario was held in the local L.O.L. rooms on Wednesday at which the election of officers for the ensuing year and the work of the various committees was received.

Delegates were received from the other orders of the Orange Body including Grand Mistress of L.O.B.A. of British America, Mrs. Wasterly, who was introduced and with Mrs. Lindsay, Secretary of the L.O.B.A. for Ontario East. These two ladies extended fraternal greetings to the Young Britons, to which W. A. Chambers replied very fittingly.

Sir Knight Andrews extended fraternal greetings from the Royal Black Preceptory of Ontario East while Mr. Armstrong, editor of the Orange "sentinel" also spoke briefly. Mr. Noakes replied to Mr. Armstrong on behalf of the Lodge in session. The presentation of the Past Master's Jewel to Gordon C. Shaw was performed by Mrs. Noakes, with the recipient making a very fitting reply.

A resolution was passed at the meeting affirming the loyalty of the Young Britons to the Sovereigns and to the Government of Canada. Another which the meeting was exceptionally good considering the distance which many of the delegates had to travel.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Grand Master, F. T. Bradfield, Ottawa; Deputy Grand Master, C. G. Kilfoyle, Smith's Falls; Junior Deputy Grand Master, T. P. Hackett, Ottawa; Chaplain, W. A. Chambers, Manotick; Secretary, D. H. Hill, Ottawa; Treasurer J. Birch, Billings Bridge; Grand Orator, F. M. Stoodley, Winchester; Director of Ceremonies, H. Joynt, Domville; Dep. Secretary, G. Rixon, Vernon; Dep. Treas. G. Purcell, Ottawa; Dep. Orators, R. Davis, Kilmaura, J. A. Hughes, Ottawa; Auditors, J. M. Robertson, Westboro, H. Stinson, Smith's Falls; Immediate Past Grand Master, J. S. Duncan, Ottawa.

Red Cross Workers At Shannonville Arrange Dance

Shannonville—A successful Easter dance was held in the Orange Hall on Monday evening, under the auspices of the local Red Cross Auxiliary. Dancing was enjoyed until morning. During the evening addresses were given on the War Savings Campaign by Mr. P. C. MacLaughlin and Mr. Davidson who were introduced by Dr. H. E. Eckardt. The proceeds taken at the door were $40.00 clear. A ticket was drawn on a quilt the lucky winner being Miss Helen Thompson, Belleville. The proceeds from the sale of tickets to go to the Telegram's Belleville War Victims' Fund were $30.80.

Illustrated Talk On Algeria Given By Mrs. Lehman

The afternoon and evening auxiliary of the W.M.S. of Tabernacle Church held a Joint Easter thankoffering meeting on Wednesday, April 16th, in the Sunday School room of the church. About 30 p.m. a large representation of members and a number of guests were present and the meeting was arranged table to partake of a delicious supper served by the ladies of the afternoon auxiliary.

Mrs. H. W. Frost, President of the afternoon auxiliary, presided during the programme period which began with an Easter hymn and prayer by Rev. D. T. McClintock. A worship service on the theme of traditional greeting in many of the older Christian countries on Easter morning, "Christ is Risen," and the reply "He is Risen Indeed," was used. This included Easter hymns, scripture reading, prayer and prayer. The ladies assisting were Miss Rachel Wilson, Mrs. W. J. Wilson of the evening auxiliary. A duet "He Lives," beautifully rendered by Mrs. Cornell and Miss Jess Smith, was accompanied by Miss Cornell.

Miss Ethel Norton introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Lehman, recently returned from Algeria in West Africa, who gave a synopsis of the work in which she and her husband have been engaged for five years. Mrs. Lehman made her address more realistic with the use of lantern slides showing different aspects of the lives of the people among whom she had been working —their little farms, huts, their household utensils and primitive methods of preparing food; their illnesses, the malady in unsanitary living, their fear of evil spirits and their reluctance to accept the white man's religion. Africa is called the "dark continent," which is doubly true when one considers the darkness of evil and superstition as well as deep forest and black skin.

Women in Canada have much for which to be thankful when comparisons are drawn between living conditions here and those of the hundreds-bearing women of Africa.

Mrs. Frosts thanked Mrs. Lehman for the most interesting address and the meeting closed with the hymn "In Christ There is no East or West" and the Mizpah benediction.

Obituary.

LATE JOSEPH GRAY

The funeral of Joseph Gray, late residence 178 East Moira Street, took place Wednesday afternoon, April 16th, from the Belleville Funeral Home, Funeral Home, Campbell Street. A brief service in the chapel was conducted by the Rev. Rural Dean A. Beauchamp Payne. Rector of St. Thomas' St. Thomas. At the close of the service the funeral party proceeded to St. Paul's Anglican Church in Roslin where the burial office was conducted by the Rector, Ven. Archdeacon F. G. Scott, who said also the committal prayers at the graveside in Roslin Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. Donald Alexander, Ed. Howe, John Newell, Reg. Rose, Everett Vance and Fred Mott.

ERNEST BURKITT.

(Sidney Township)

(Contributed)

Ernest Burkitt died at his home in the 4th concession of Sidney Township, on Friday, April 11th, after a brief illness.

The late Mr. Burkitt, who was in his 51st year, was born in Rawdon Township, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Burkitt. Thirty years ago he took up residence in Sidney Township and was engaged in farming. In the community he was highly respected and in religion he was a member of Trinity Anglican Church at Frankford.

Surviving him are his wife; four brothers, Mr. George Burkitt, Mr. John Burkitt, both of Belleville; Mr. Thomas Burkitt, Frankford and Mr. Arthur Burkitt, Rawdon Township; three sisters, Mrs. Robert Mundy, Rawdon Township; Mrs. Alex. Bush, Sidney Township and Miss Katherine Burkitt, Woodstock, Ontario.

The funeral took place from the residence of his brother, Mr. George Burkitt, Sidney Township on Monday afternoon, April 14. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. Hastings assisted by the Rev. J. F. Lane.

Interment was made in Frankford Cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. George Burkitt, Jr., Percy Burkitt, Thomas Burkitt, Arthur Burkitt, all brothers of the deceased and Messrs. Alex. Bush, Alex. Burkitt, Albert Bush and Mr. Robert Mumby.

POLICE BLOTTER

Women transients and panhandlers are a nuisance in Canada, but it became necessary for Belleville police to apprehend two women who gave their names as Florence McAuley and Mrs. Zachapelle, Toronto, on College St., following complaints received from residents, who said these two women were panhandling in that vicinity and generally making a nuisance of themselves.

Detective Fred Dowsett picked up a radio broadcast over CJR, Belleville police radio frequency, while conducting another investigation. He hastened to College St. in the same cruiser and apprehended the two girls. They gave their address as Toronto. Out after being questioned by Chief Kidd the pair were instructed to leave the city.

Other police activities have been rather quiet in and around police circles for the past few days, when no arrests were reported.

Famous Empire Stories

By Lilian Leveridge

XLVII.

THE DOMINIONS IN THE GREAT WAR

In previous chapters we have read from time to time how the British Empire was built up; how the separate countries and islands were, through wars and struggles or by peaceful measures, brought into union with the Mother country and became a part of her great family. Britain, for the most part, had governed her large and widely scattered household wisely and well, to the advantage of every separate member. Each went its own way in peace, secure under the British flag, assisted by Britain in many important and expensive enterprises, guided in things concerning its relation with the Empire, but left to manage its own affairs.

Suddenly, in 1914, new and undreamed-of conditions arose. The mother was in trouble, yes, actually in danger, and needed the assistance of her far-away sons. What would they do about it?

Britain for many, many years had been, not only the Mother of this large family of countries, but the friend of other nations to which she was not actually related. Real friendship means, not only mutual advantage, but also responsibility. We haven't much respect for those who are merely "fair-weather friends." Belgium was the friend of Britain's friends, and these two countries were in danger. A great war had broken out among the countries of Europe. One being linked in friendship or necessity with another, at the Great Powers were drawn into the conflict.

What the quarrel was about, and all the causes that led to it, we need not consider just now. It is enough to remember that England felt in honor bound to go with her army, to the assistance of her ally Belgium and France—and, in fact, to maintain the cause of world freedom. Germany, it appeared, was at the bottom of the whole unhappy affair, and had long planned in secret to increase her power and dominion by means of the sword, was thoroughly prepared for war. But England was not; and unaided there seemed a chance that she might be beaten in the fight; that Germany, having subdued her other foes, would turn on England and win the coveted blaack ringdove as a prize. This, we know, was Germany's great ambition. What would become of the British Empire then? Though such a possibility was perhaps remote, or at least not greatly feared at first, it was at least certain that the young manhood of England would be sacrificed in the near future, and that the people at home would be faced with grief and suffering.

Let us look into the pages of the not far distant past and see what of all, how Canada met the crisis. Comparatively few in the country had any forewarning of the great disaster that was pending. To most people the news that England was on the brink of war came like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky. There were a few who said, "What has that to do with us? This is England's quarrel; let her fight it out! Germany isn't likely to set foot on our shores." But the loyal, sorely, larger-souled and more far-seeing, said, "When Britain is at war Canada is at war. Her enemies are ours."

Canada's response to England's call was no half-hearted affair. In fact, she did not wait to be asked for aid. From the Atlantic to the Pacific men were eager to offer themselves for service overseas. On the 1st of August, before war had been actually declared, the Government—General sent a message to England that in a war, Canada would need be to put forth every effort for the safety and ho-or of the Empire. Australia, New Zealand, India, South Africa and others of the overseas dominions sent similar messages, King George gratefully accepted these offers, and expressed his appreciation of the loyal support of his far-away people.

There was no waiting in idleness. A training camp was within a few weeks constructed at Valcartier, in Quebec, and here the raw recruits who so readily offered themselves received military instruction in daily drill. On the 22nd of September the First Contingent of 22,000 men sailed quietly down the St. Lawrence, and were conveyed to England in British battleships. They were warmly welcomed by the English people, and on Salisbury Plain received further training before they were sent on to France and Flanders.

Meanwhile a Second Contingent was in training at Valcartier and other centres. Before the war was ended Canada sent over no less than 500,000 men, besides many well-trained nurses. In addition to this, gifts of money, food and other supplies were freely given. After the first harvest, 1,000,000 bags of flour, valued at $3,000,000 were sent to England and received with great thankfulness. A message from the Imperial Government said: "We can never forget the generosity and thoughtfulness of this gift and the patriotism from which it springs."

How did our soldiers behave in France and Flanders? And what did they accomplish? That, after all, is the question of main importance; but the answer is one of which we may well be proud. The first Canadians in action were the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry Regiment, more generally know as the "Princess Pats." Early in January, 1915, they were on the field, and soon won a reputation for staunch courage and ability. By the end of the war there were not more than twenty-five of the Red Diment left alive.

Other Canadian divisions soon followed, and they played a part, sometimes great and always highly successful, in many of the heaviest engagement of the war. Ypres, St. Julien, Passchendale Ridge, Vimy Ridge, the Somme, St. Eloi, Sanctuary Wood, Festubert, Courcelette, Amiens, Mona, Cambrai—the names of these famous battle scenes will from henceforth always recall the thought of Canadian heroism. In describing the battle of Vimy Ridge an eye-witness said: "Nothing could keep the Canadians back! When one company was wiped out another was sent up to take its place."

In a Special Order to the Canadian Corps at the close of the war, General Sir Arthur Currie thus addressed the troops: "During four long years, concious of the righteousness of your cause, you have fought many battles and endured great hardships, and now your mighty efforts are rewarded; your fallen comrades are avenged. You have demonstrated on the battle-field your superior courage and your unconquerable energy. By the will of God you have won, won, won . . . Supported by the immortal stand at the Second Battle of Ypres, you fittingly closed, by the capture of Mons, your fighting record in which every battle you fought is a resplendent page in history."

The response of Canada to the call of the Motherland may be taken as a fair sample of that of the other parts of the Empire. A First Contingent of 20,000 from Australia and 7,000 from New Zealand set out on the 1st of November, and on the way over an Australian battleship, the Sydney, engaged in battle and completely destroyed that notorious German raider, the Emden. The Australian Contingent continued their training near Cairo in Egypt and before long they were fighting the Turks at the Suez Canal and winning undying, glory in the Gallipoli campaign. More and more men were trained and sent over as the war went on. They were a splendid type, and contributed largely toward the final victory.

Early in the war India sent a First Contingent of 70,000 men. These were splendid fighters, but it was soon found that they could not stand the climate of France and Flanders, so they were engaged chiefly in the war operations on the Dardanelles, Egypt and Africa. Before the close of the war India had contributed nearly a million men.

In Africa the Germans expected to win an easy victory, but, as elsewhere, they were disappointed. The British colonies fought with the utmost courage and loyalty, and not only held their own against German invasion but materially enlarged British territory in Africa.

Newfoundland played a very creditable part. Even the small, far-away islands of the South Seas, Fiji, and others—sent their quota of heroes. The thousands of men all over the face of the earth who so willingly and gladly took up arms in the war shall be no more.

Let us close our story with these stirring lines by A. St. John Adcock:

Let Britain in an hour of need her rallying beak sound—
Her sons reath Australasian skies, on far Canadian ground,
By India's streams, or Africa's, shall be there, where'er they roam.
And, drawn from all the ends of earth with kindling thoughts of home
Shall arm and answer to the call and come where duty tours
To stand beside us in the name that's theirs as well as ours.

Side by side shall sire and son
Hold the Empire they have won;
We're brothers now and Britons all until the fight is done.

ROYAL NAVY TAKES PART

The Royal Navy which took part in the British operations which resulted in a series of British victories against the Italians along the North African coast is reported by the Admiralty to have been rendering very effective service against the Axis operations along the Libyan coast. These Italian - German "operations are being constantly and successfully harassed by bombardment from His Majesty's ships."

The Royal Navy, the British Army and the Royal Air Force have not been incurred on their work in the Mediterranean Sea in the past four months, as well as in other areas as the war records show. These three branches of the service have been co-ordinated in a remarkable degree and with great efficiency.

Britain, an empire, which stretches around the world, needs these three great services for her protection. The Axis powers can never hope to have the three branches of their services reach such uniform efficiency as the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force and the British army can show.

REPULSE HITLER'S GUARDS

Months ago Mussolini sent his Centaur division into action against the Greeks and what little was left of the Centaurs was proof of the prowess of the Greeks in spite of the vaunted greatness of the Fascist corps.

Now a German division, Hitler's own division, has been in action in the Balkans against the British, and gave the enemy such a trouncing that Hitler's own withdrew. Anything that Hitler likes reveals his weakness. He wanted his bodyguard for size and glory for he would pick and pack power, so men of strength and stature were selected for his corps, men somewhat like the giant guards of Frederick the Great, whom Hitler admires and no doubt envies.

This mechanized Hitler corps had taken part in the outrage on Holland and had been stationed in Rumania of late. With war in the Balkans opening, Hitler had to try out his own division. But the so-called "flower" of the German guards failed to stand up to the British and the tyrant Hitler's guards were repulsed with heavy losses.

No doubt the Nazi storm troops smart with the blow as likewise Adolf Hitler, who is of a kind to take it as a personal insult to have had his guards or Liebstandart defeated. But British troops do not fear to meet the Germans or any corps however favored by Adolf Hitler.

THIS SPRING WEATHER

The fine weather which marked the days before Easter and which still continues will be long remembered as among the most lovely spring days on record. Usually a late Easter is taken as the sign of according to the adage but this year the coming of spring was mild and genial. It did lack rain, but it brought delightful weather.

This unusual weather has given a spur to the growth in nature. It is true that it did shorten the sap season but it also brought along the crocuses which were never more appealing in their beauty than this spring and it has helped the grass in a brief space of time to take on all the depth of green. Trees are budding and spring flowers are coming up.

Mother Nature has her own charms. And the charms she has brought this spring are charms which have pleased every heart. Winter, which has been long-drawn out, steadily slipped away leaving a few lingering traces of snow in hidden places and spring came quietly, bringing with her everything that pleases and delights. Her coming is like an unexpected gift from a friend.

"They are your inspiration," said Crown Prince Olaf to Norwegian fliers at the service of anniversary of the invasion of Norway held at Camp Little Norway recently. He was speaking of the Norwegians who fell in the two-months battle of Norway last year. "In our hearts they still live. Our countrymen in Norway are at this moment thinking of you and looking to you to help rid them of the oppressor."

That is the spirit of the nations whose territory the Nazis control. It is the attitude of the free races who will not be left subject to Hitler's power.

GONE ALOFT

(It is pointed out that restrictions on the sale of silk, in order that it may be used for barrage balloons and other military purposes, apply not only to stockings but to all garments for both sexes, from silk ties to underwear. In Canada, there is a gradual restriction on the use of silk in hosiery in order to conserve exchange.)

Whenas in silk the barrage goes
(Forgive a touch of Herrick),
How odd to think that Julia's hose
Go sailing up in shapes like those
To regions atmospheric!

Above the roofs, aloft in space,
The monster soars, well padded;
It fills, I know, a useful place,
But rather lacks the lustrous grace
That Julia's legs embodied.

And, mark you, when from field or croft
It dares the wind-borne rockings,
It bears full many a garment soft
There's rather more that's gone aloft
Than simply Julia's stockings.

How strange the booty and how droll
When up the monster flickers;
Under revised, A.A. control
Rides Sister Susie's camisole
And possibly her knickers.

Aye, worse than that is writ on high
In war's new drifting dramas;
For there suspended in the sky
Hank Cousin Ernest's old school tie
And Uncle Ned's pyjamas.

—Lucio in Manchester Guardian.

FASHION HINTS FOR THE PORTLY

Madame, don't wear a tiny hat—
You're too stout for the likes of that;
Wear no ruffle, plume nor frill,
Lest you look a daffy-dill.

In vivid colors, gay and bright
Believe me you will look a fright.
Be your age and be your size.
She who neglects this is not wise.

Here's another tip, profound,
Shun the stripes that goeth 'round.
I hope and pray you'll not be led
To buy a gown when it is red. —R.M.H.

History repeats itself. So said someone. Perhaps he was right. Here are a few excerpts from the history of an era of a century ago which may have a bearing upon the present conflict, thanks to the Chicago News.

France falls, and we hear of the perils to the Western Hemisphere:

"The continent is now subdued. The whole of it, Russia excepted, has fallen before the arms of one nation; and that nation is our implacable enemy. To see so many of the works of centuries swept down, one upon another, like the pines of America yielding to the force of the hurricane, to contemplate this picture the heart sickens within one." — Not President Roosevelt in 1940, but William Cobbett on December 4, 1806.

From London comes news of Britain's preparations to resist invasion:

"The rumor of an imminent invasion seemed to be confirmed here yesterday, and even confirmed. . . . It is now said that the attack will fall upon the coast of Essex and Norfolk. . . . All the troops are in movement. . . . The regulars are concentrated at the points exposed to the greatest danger. . . . Attention is still being paid to the possible projects of the enemy in Ireland. . . . —Not the London Times in 1940, but the London Post of October 11, 1803.

We read a short time ago the speech of a leader addressing his troops from a balcony on the eve of war:

"Soldiers, I lead you into the world's most fertile plains. Rich provinces and large towns shall lie at your feet; it is there you will find honor, fame and riches, Soldiers of the Italian army, will you fail in bravery and persistence?". Not Mussolini in 1940, but Napoleon to his troops on March 27, 1796.

So you see, Europe has been through all this before, and Britain has faced the same old problems before and emerged triumphant.

At a meeting of the Bay Bridge Company the sale of the bridge was completed and the deed handed to the proper authorities representing the Province of Ontario; the sale of the structure dating from April 1st, and the adjustments between the Bridge Company and the purchasers were made on April 1st. The Province's share, namely $35,000 of the purchase price was paid over on Saturday; the sum of $20,000 of Prince Edward County's share was paid over today and the balance of the $30,000 of Belleville's share within 5 per cent interest from April 1st and payable within a year from that date was satisfactorily arranged. The Province has the right to collect tolls or a rental from the present Lease, Mr. Joshua Eedds, whose lease extensively expires on July 1st of this year. Tolls will be abolished as soon as possible.

Little Jack Horner is thumbing his pie.
Happy and youthful as ever are they,
Very much older and weathered am I.

Though grandpa must do as the doctor commands,
The nursery children are little folk still.

Little Boy Blue at the noon of the day
Sleeps as of old by his tossed-up hay.
And just as they were in the years far away.

Italians As Prisoners

By Edward Ward in the London Listener

Most of the 140,000 Italian prisoners taken in Libya are in camps, but some of the lucky ones are living with Libyan Jews. I was talking the other day to an Australian major who is in charge of a transport repair unit. He had a lot of captured stuff with him, and as he decided to get hold of some prisoners who understood their way round machines. He's not looking for him now, and he says they are the best workers he has ever had.

The first day they worked very hard and he knocked off one of the five o'clock. A spokesman of the gang came up to him in a great state. Wasn't the major satisfied with their work? Yes, the major was very satisfied, but what were they being knocked off work so early for? The major said that after starting early in the morning and working hard all day, five o'clock seemed a reasonable time to him. The Italians just didn't understand it; they said that they'd had to work from early in the morning until dark in Libya, and when they were so tired they could hardly see to screw a nut on. And then they were told me that one of the officers in his brigade was of a considerate turn of mind. He decided to get a choir organized which could sing to the men as they screwed the nuts. He finally picked eight Italians who, he was told, were a kind of violinist. The first concert they gave there was almost a riot. Some of the members of the choir, who were also singers, were not at all keen on being first; but anyway, now they're a regular feature of the evening's work. There are between times they do odd jobs and sing to themselves.

Some British officers told me that after the battle of Bir Hacheim they thought they'd like to get hold of a good cook, so they sent out the order, and captured Italian officer on the subject. The officer was allowed to go with his brother officers, and a terrific argument ensued, at the end of which they thought that the idea of asking for an Italian cook was a bad one. Instead they had not at all. The argument was entirely on the relative merits of Leonardo, Marco and Leonardo which would be the most suitable. He got Leonardo, and he turned out to be a first-class chef. He presented them with a small hotel on Lake Como. They kept him supplied with wine, oil, and fat, and then with much regret on both sides he had to go back to the prisoners' cage.

All these prisoners were only too delighted to be taken, and anything approaching their peacetime occupations, and it is said made the Italian general who had charge of Anzaldo made a white sail. He said with biting scorn in his voice, that the British seemed to think that the ambition of every Italian was to be waiters and hotel keepers. It was true that many Italians were, but it wasn't so far off the mark.

CHECKING UP ON SINKINGS

There's one convincing reason why British reports of shipping losses are likely to be far more accurate than German claims of sinkings. — Hamilton Spectator-Herald.

Lloyd's of London insures British merchant ships. It bases the premiums on losses. It has kept the premiums down since the war began are 3,171,273 tons, and many more since, 4,000,000 tons.

If Germany is right, Lloyd's is doing itself out of two-thirds of the premiums it should be charging on marine insurance.

We don't believe it.—Minneapolis Star Journal.

FRENCH FISHERMEN

Sir:— I should like to point out that the French families living in the neighborhood of Dunkirk although they were fisher-folk in their own country, are not looked on as evacuees of the British Government and are not employed in fishing.

There are a number of Bretons and others from Boulogne, who are fishing in Cornwall and doing very well. They are all skilled fishers and expert at their craft. The International Committee of Relief to Refugees in Great Britain helped to equip their boats with money given by the Americans, and they are escaping from France just like those who came over in 1914 as refugees to bring over their gear. The International Committee has numerous houses for them along the coast so that the wives and children can join them. For months in London, have been able to join their husbands.

ANNE CRAWSHAW, Chairman, International Committee for War Refugees in Great Britain.

How Ships Are Saved To Sail Again

By TAFFRAIL
Distinguished British writer on naval affairs

At a time like this every ship kept running helps directly to win the war.

The value to the nation of those ships saved which would otherwise be lost cannot be measured by any known standard. Those men are worth far more than their weight in gold.

During a recent visit to a naval base I happened to meet the chief salvage officer of the area whom I'd known long before the war. He and his men were then working for a private salvage firm; but when hostilities came they were taken over by the Admiralty.

Nowadays they labor fro the public good, and thousands of pounds have been saved to the country by their efforts.

The wildest weather does not deter the salvors. Their services have been available day and night ever since the outbreak of war.

Up till the end of last year they have dealt successfully with 180 ships that have been saved through the ordinary hazards of navigation, or have been damaged by bombs, torpedoes, mines, fire or collision. I cannot describe in detail their successful efforts, but here are a few.

A destroyer damaged in collision brought into harbor with her upper deck within nine inches of the water. A patch measuring 40 by 19 was fitted by divers under water, and the ship was towed to a repair port. She is now back in service.

A large mercantile vessel was bombed and set on fire. Two salvage ships were sent out into the harbor that fire partially under before taking her in tow. Then the fire broke out again raging furiously for three days. Despite the drastic step of beaching the ship and repeatedly flooding her with water, they successfully extinguished the flames. The vessel was only two years old and had cost £750,000 to build. Her cargo was worth another £500,000. The total damage to ship and cargo did not exceed £150,000, so the representative saving of over one million. But for the help given she must have been lost.

Another ship, severely damaged by enemy action, was towed into harbor with a heavy list to port. Inboard was a swash, five feet deep, and her deck and divers set to work to patch or plug all the main holes, discharge oil and ballast valves, together with the bomb hole and one of the starboard holes. The compartments were then pumped dry, and 15 days after being beached the ship was refloated and towed away for repairs.

A large tanker worth £500,000 was torpedoed, and later bombed, shelled and machine-gunned by aircraft while in a helpless condition.

Racing to the spot the salvage ship found her with six tanks, the engine-room and all the after compartments flooded. The after deck was nearly awash, and her forces could well up. She seemed likely to founder, so pumps were put on board and the ship kept afloat for four days while divers went below and patched the bomb damage. The damaged compartments were then pumped dry, steering gear and auxiliary pumps put into working order, and the ship towed into port by tugs.

But for the salvage people she, too, must have been written off as a total loss.

Two destroyers had the misfortune to run ashore on a rocky coast in thick weather at the top of high water Spring tides.

When the tide fell, both ships were high and dry, and in a very exposed and dangerous position. Neither ship was seriously damaged, but not so the chief salvage officer.

He put his men to work with a transporter wire to the shore and removed over 400 depth charges, one of the ships—guns, torpedo-tubes, ammunition, stores, engines—that they could remove. Other men set to work patching the damaged bottom. In spite of the severe gales blowing directly on shore, which piled up huge breakers over both vessels, they were eventually salved, and the first, which suffered least, the second, which was further up on the rocks, in three weeks time.

Once or twice, when she was practically afloat, she was refloated, one ship had to be reflooded to keep her in position.

Ingenuity, dogged persistence, patches, pumps and engineroom staff saved the two vessels, and enabled them to be towed away for repairs.

Modern destroyers cost about £350,000 each.

There is nothing to which these salvage men cannot turn their hands. The more impossible a job seems, the more they seem to like it.

These are the unknown men who, without hesitation, are helping to foil the enemy—both those who direct and organize, and those who quietly carry on with their work in the face of almost unbelievable risks and difficulties.

Cars That Run Up Hill!

Can a motorcar climb a grade—even a steep one—for miles and miles, one any longer; at least officially in the state of New Jersey, a stretch of road between Hamburg and Mount Hope Freedom has been supposed to be exempt from the law of gravitation. Motorists were fond of showing the curiosity to friends. They would release their brakes and shut off power; yet the car would continue to move steadily upward.

Reports of this mysterious performance spread far and wide, and many tourists visited the scene to see for themselves. Explanations are ingenious and impressive. The favorite theory is that because the road surface lay masses of magnetic ore, "defective, which kind of attraction for the metal in a motor car to cause it to move forward without visible agency.

Now comes science, which seems to delight in destroying our illusions. In this case it is the science of physics. In theory, but removes the hill bodily. The State Department of Conservation and Development's topographic engineer has carefully surveyed the highway between Morristown and Mount Freedom, and found that it is not a grade at all, but a parallel incline. The road in reality slopes slightly downward enough to keep a keg of intricated vehicle gently rolling.

We suppose it is still all right to have faith in the superior potency of new jersey applejack which converts the steepest hills into level plains. But there is not the slightest doubt that injured in abstainers are among believers in the fallacy. The delight of their testimony may even offset the verdict of official science.—New York Herald Tribune.

U-BOATS AND D Q-SHIPS

It is customary to refer to German submarines as U-boats.

U-boat is simply the anglicized spelling of German "U-boot."

U-boot is an abbreviation of German "Unterseeboot." literally meaning "undersea boat."

The difference in capitalization of the names in Englishman and English is owing to the fact that all nouns are capitalized in German.

During the Great War of 1914-1918, German and Austro-Hungarian submarines were designated by the letter U followed by a number, as U-12, U-28 and U-200.

From this circumstance German submarines in general came to be popularly called U-boats.

After the outbreak of the present war, R. B. Bernays announced at the Narragansett racetrack that he would ask the Secretary of the Admiralty to change the name of his horse "U-boat" to "one of less sinister implications."

During the first World War the British met the German U-boat menace partially with their mystery ships known as Q-boats or Q-ships and anti-submarine mystery ships were so called from the classification letter Q used by the British navy for such vessels.

The use of Q-ships against U-boats comprises one of the most exciting chapters in the story of sea warfare.

Obsolete merchantmen of all types, including sailing and motor driven vessels, were equipped with guns and depth charges concealed behind dummy decks and life-boats.

The Q-boats and ships were manned by naval officers and naval personnel disguised as seamen.

These mystery ships roved the danger zones ostensibly bent on the purpose of decoying enemy submarines into attacking them.

The trifled crews enticed the enemy within range even by pretending to be abandoning ship when summoned to do so.

At an opportune moment the attacking submarine would open fire upon the attacking submarine.

Although the Q-ships suffered many losses at the hands, they accounted for many of the 312 German U-boats sunk by the British during the war.

The Germans refer to such anti-submarine mystery ships as "U-boat traps."

Last year the commander of the Nazi U-boat fleet instructed his submarine captains to attack without warning any vessel they suspected as being a U-boat trap.

This action was based on the German theory that Q-ships were flying the flags of neutral ships,

MELROSE W.M.S.

The Melrose W.M.S. held their Easter thank-offering service in the church Easter Sunday night. The service was opened with quiet music played by Mrs. E. M. Badgley. The President, Mrs. John McFarlane took charge of the service.

The President, then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. P. L. Stinger of Napanee, President of the Belleville W.M.S. Presbyterial, who delighted forth a very interesting Easter message. The service closed with a hymn and the Misprah benediction.

Reception Service Held At Foxboro United Church

Foxboro—Easter Services in the United Church began with a special Good Friday Service at 8 p.m. when a reception service was held and seven new members were publicly received. These were Mrs. Fred Dingle, Lance Corp. Carter and Misses Myrtle Hubbel, Verna Sherry, Mary Hollinger, Elinor Shaner and Reta Christie. After the Ritual or the Reception Service had been followed by reception to the Order of the United Church of Canada the new members were welcomed by the elders extending the right hand of fellowship. The Minister, Rev. E. M. Cook, gave comments upon passages from St. John leading up to the Passion of our Lord and then dwelt more fully upon the significance of the crucifixion and the meaning of the new life in Christ which the believer enters upon. The choir sang in a most appropriate manner, there was a good congregation, and the complete service expressive and interpretive of the meaning of Good Friday. As the service of feature was the symbols of Christian life and service which were placed on the Communion table. These were the Communion Cup, the Offering Plates, the Bible open, flowers to symbolize the resurrection and behind all the Cross. Easter Day services in the three churches on Foxboro charge were in keeping with the day and were arranged and carried through under the auspices of the co-operation of the W.M.S. in each church respectively.

Special music present at each church, by far the largest that has been sung in the Sunday School Service of Worship, "The Triumph of Easter" was rendered in the Methodist Church by Mrs. R. B. Fralick, Mrs. R. B. Fralick led the worship and Mrs. Fred Lindenfield and Mrs. F. Campbell.

The Anglican People's choir under the leadership of Miss Allison Vanalstine rendered the service of praise and rendered two appropriate numbers.

At Holloway a similar order was followed with Mrs. Don Rose presiding assisted by Mrs. Ed. Mc. Hellwell presided assisted by Mrs. C. O. Hall. Mrs. W. S. Tummon, Mrs. W. Hodgens, Mrs. S. C. Ost, Mrs. W. Thompson. Mrs. Ed. Priest and a W.M.S. choir. At each of these services Rev. E. M. Cook gave an address on "Larger Dimensions of Life" based on Col. 3: 1-2. Certain discoveries, experiences or happenings come into life and henceforth life is not the same, it is lived on a higher plane, on larger dimensions. Resurrection is one of these. By it Christ opened up larger dimensions for the soul. Our goal is the heaven not the earth. All services were begun with a processional "The Church's One Foundation" and closed with a recessional "Lo! He Comes with Clouds Descending". The ending of worship "Hallelujah! Come Lord, Come", and thus ended a most inspiring Easter Day.

These Easter Services climaxed a series of services which began at the Mid-week Lenten Services, began a series of expositions of some of the fundamental doctrines of the Christian Faith headed with the thought "Does it matter what a man believes?" "As a man thinketh—so is he". This was supplemented by regular addresses in the Sunday School. Besides these received this Easter season were two new members received by certificate during this Conference Year.

Mrs. Helen Ketcheson, River Valley, Presented With Gloves, Umbrella

On Tuesday evening about forty friends and members of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Donovan River Valley, to bid farewell to Mrs. Ketcheson who has been a resident here for the past eight years. While not taking very active part in the work of the Institute or the W.M.S., Mrs. Ketcheson was a valued member of both groups and always a willing and generous contributor to every worthy cause.

After an evening spent in games and music, Mr. Ralph Donovan asked the gathering to come to order and briefly explained the object of the meeting. He then called on Mrs. Mary Wood who read the address signed on behalf of the Institute by Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Ambrose Babcock. R. Carr, R. Coombs.

Mrs. Ketcheson was presented with a purse from the Institute and with handkerchiefs and gloves to match from the community.

Mrs. Ketcheson feelingly thanked her friends for their kindness and very heartily invited everyone to call and see her in her new home.

A very generous lunch of sandwiches, cake and coffee was served by the ladies and the gathering broke up with all wishing Mrs. Ketcheson a very pleasant future.

MURDER SAILS A TROOPSHIP

By A. W. O'Brien

CHAPTER VIII,

Thrilled to the Core

"Warships on the horizon!"

From mouth to mouth shortly after daybreak next day—fourth morning at sea—the cry crept excitedly through "T" 2's Officers and men rushed the rails at the starboard side and on the other troopships nearby the same excitement was evident.

Mere tors as yet in the distant b:c clearly outlined against the skyline painted scarlet by the rising sun was a large flotilla of low-slung warships coming from the southeast.

No alarm was felt among the troops because the warships escorting the passenger liners and freighters were not making any move in the direction of the newcomers—this must be the allied rendezvous point where a heavy naval force from the Royal Navy bolsters the already large escort and allows a number of Royal Canadian Navy warships to return to home patrol.

Every man with binoculars was surrounded by others wetting "for a peek" but within an hour the naked eye could discern many flying spectacularly from either side of the ships and as they approached full speed ahead.

It was still chilly but the day was clear and the ocean only mildly troublesome. The convoy was now three hours ahead of Montreal time—would be five within a few days.

Soon the ocean seethed alive with Men-o'-War. Destroyers and slick submarine chasers were fanning out in a giant circle around the convoy while the tremendous fact had come from Canada edged in closer to the crowded vessels. The troops could watch every step of the new formation and were thrilled to the core.

Every inch of ocean for an amazing radius was now under the watchful eyes of threatening guns, ominous depth charges and keen boors built to ram any submarine unfortunate enough to pop up within striking distance.

Gone, too, were the meticulous regulations one met among steam craft in civil sailing. Position, once established, was evidently assigned to patrol the far side of the convoy took a short cut—probably on a course that would chisel cleanly through the liners and freighters, a reckless line of navigation from the civilian outlook. But the astonishingly nimble, even in a rolling sea, and swerved with all the grace of a speedboat, expected that the sailor estimated that she was doing about 45 land miles per hour. Actually she could actually turn in her own length if the necessity should arise.

In addition, via the grapevine route but entirely authentic course, it was claimed that a major portion of the Grand Fleet was already in the offing, under the horizon forming a protective screen for the convoy.

Aboard "T" 2" there was an unbelievable silence. Lieutenant Mallory murder the night before. Medical Officer and two sentries who had been on the landings of the tragedy were summoned before Colonel Stephenson within a half hour after Rollins had taken the girl into custody and ordered under severe penalty, to keep absolute silence about the happening "until the ship in which he convenes upon arrival at our destination."

"I have a definite purpose behind that order," he said curtly and I know you are all soldiers enough to realize that the situation warrants such unusual procedure. I have had Lieutenant Silver's body stored away in refrigeration while the prisoner will be kept in guarded solitude. The Medical Officer will announce in the morning that two suspected cases of diphtheria have been discovered and the patients—it will soon get out that Silver and Nurse Davaar are missing—have been placed under quarantine. To make it all the more convincing, the McCoal Officer's assistants will make a brief examination of every man aboard tomorrow. The announcement will be made in the afternoon that no alarm need be felt that the disease—if it existed—had not spread but that, as an extreme caution, both parties would be kept in quarantine until the ship docks. The Matron, who will work under my orders, will be the only person allowed into Nurse Davaar's cabin. That is all, except a word of warning—you must not discuss this matter even among yourselves."

In the morning, Rollins brought a written statement to the Colonel. It was complete to the minutest detail. The C.O., read it carefully.

"My compliments to you, Mr. Rollins," he said, "on your excellent work in bringing this investigation to a successful close. Without your initiative it is entirely probable that it would have remained a mystery."

Rollins was obviously taken aback.

"But, Sir, I deliberately...."

"I know what you are going to say, Rollins," interrupted the Colonel, "but neither you nor I have the least doubt about your motives and while you may have been led temporarily astray by urges not uncommon to young officers, you vindicated yourself by acting like an officer conscious of his duty when the crisis came—and at the risk of your life. For that reason, I am not willing to have the service of a capable subaltern, even for the few weeks demanded by Court Martial procedure, while we have need of his services in training activities. After all, there is a war on and commanding officers are allowed some discretionary powers not unofficially of course."

Rollins broke the silence that followed the Colonel's fait words:

"Thank you, Sir, and I do appreciate your generosity. But, under no conditions would I wish to for any consideration at any service I may have rendered. If it is possible, please do not mention my name in any special role. You see, Sir...." He paused, perplexingly near breaking, "I feel enough like a Judas as it is and although the evidence against Nurse Davaar seems absolutely...."

The Colonel stood up, his hard face melting into surprisingly soft lines. He took Rollins' arm gently and escorted him towards the door.

"This is a cruel world, my boy, especially for the young. Don't make it crueler by sickening your heart by undeserved self-extinction, or an unfortunate amour. We have a big job ahead of us—you and I—and that's all that must concern us, Lieutenant Rollins."

Aboard the battle cruiser commanding the convoy, Captain Leedcourt, V.C., R.N., was forgoing a "sidebeard," as he stood on the bridge reading a decoded message flashed a few minutes before from one of the newly arrived destroyers. His face lighted with pleasure as he read the name at the bottom of the signal.

"Reply, also in code because the party to whom it is directed is sailing incognito, to the effect that I extend my compliments and shall raise a toast to his success."

The convoy would carry on—along the fairly serious route—and invite the enemy attack, but.... Captain Leedcourt beamed and whisked the silk handkerchief from a cuff as he read with obvious satisfaction....the wonderful encounter major opposition unhindered by accompanying troopships.

The plan called for "T 1" and "T 3" to proceed together with the freighters and the newly arrived Royal Navy Flotilla along the starboard route, while "T 2" and "T 4" it was explained, carried no troops, only cargo. They were to deliberately put to sea to serve as decoys in this manoeuvre.

That night as soon after sunset as Captain Leedcourt deemed advisable, he and his staff, his mine troop-carrying liners drop from the main convoy and together with his original escorting force veer off into a northerly route.

A fast destroyer, acquainted with this route, would bring fresh orders when the time came to return to the original course.

"It is obvious," Leedcourt commented, "that the Admiral plans to draw the enemy attack, beat them into submission and then have the troopships sail right through the scene of the battle—a possible after the engagement working on the belief that all-out assault by the strikes twice in the same spot—in this case, Gibraltar—is rarely if ever severely blunted at the edges after the....."

Midshipmanli rapped on the Captain's door and stepped inside, saluting smartly.

"Beg your pardon, Sir, there's one of the signal carriers accompanied by a battle cruiser off the starboard bow, approaching from the southeast."

Captain Leedcourt, V.C., sniffed delightedly.

"Getting rather crowded out there—Admiral's getting unbecomingly cautious in his waning years."

Al Milnar's Season Debut Indicates He's Ready to Show Critics Had Him Guessed Wrong

Cleveland Southpaw Hurls Two-Hitter Against Chicago In Opening Start YANKEES BEATEN

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

For reasons that never have been clear, a lot of people in baseball do not think Albert Joseph (Happy) Milnar is a first rate pitcher, although he won 18 games for Cleveland Indians last year.

His critics have pointed out that although he was a tremendous success in the Southern Association, he was no great shakes with Milwaukee in the American Association or with Cleveland in two seasons preceding 1940.

It looks now as if the 27-year-old southpaw may be able to convince the skeptics that his steady, effective effort last year was his real gait and that his two seasons with New Orleans, where he won a total of 46 games and lost 18, were no fluke.

Allowed Two Singles

Milnar shut out Chicago White Sox 6-0 on two singles yesterday. He was superb. The hits he gave came in succession in the fifth inning after two were out and only one other Chicago batter got on base in the whole game.

Other flag hopefuls in both leagues were treated as roughly yesterday as they had been on opening day.

Cincinnati Reds were cut down again by St. Louis Cardinals, 4-2 with Mort Cooper besting Johnny Vander Meer. Cooper gave only five hits and fanned seven. Vander Meer gave seven and struck out eight, but also walked six.

Brooklyn was bumped a second time by New York Giants 3-1 in another pitching duel between Harry Gumbert and Kirby Higbe.

Keep Slugging Bee

New York Yankees dropped a slugging affair to Philadelphia Athletics 10-7. Five runs were bunched in a big sixth inning. Nelson Potter plodded the whole route for the A's, yielding 9 hits. The circling round-trippers by Twink Selkirk and Joe DiMaggio, who also had two doubles and a single.

Detroit's American League champion Tigers made a delayed start at St. Louis and were beaten 8-1 by Washington, just as they had been on opening day last year. Elden Auker mussled the Tigers with four hits, while the Browns tore into Buck Newsom and Dizzy Trout for 14 and crowded seven runs into the eighth inning.

Boston Red Sox made their second straight from Washington Senators 8-1 but had to go 12 innings to do it.

Billy Conn Frets At Delay In Louis Bout

Pittsburgh, April 17—(AP)—The maddest guy in the fistic world today is Billy Conn—mad because his figures the lush heavyweight title is right within his grasp and yet no word from Promoter Mike Jacobs that his fight with Joe Louis is "on."

Jacobs had said the scrap would be held in June but now, for reasons best known to himself, he wants it postponed to July, which rubbed the fur the wrong way on both Conn and his manager, Johnny Ray. Johnny says June would be the better month from the financial angle. Conn would be at his peak then and might suffer from the month's delay—if the fight is postponed.

"Wouldn't you be sore?" declared Conn, pointing out he retired undefeated as lightweight champion and hasn't been beaten in the heavyweight division.

"This fight is all I've lived for, all I've ever wanted."

Many sports experts think the slim 175-pound dancing master of the ring would be mismatched against the 200-pound heavyweight champion, but Conn is among the group contending that a good man weighing 175 can take on anyone, no matter how big.

Ottawa Collegiate Basketball Squad Wins Ont. Laurels

Toronto, April 17—(CP)—Ottawa Lisgar Collegiate ended a two-year quest for the Ontario Secondary Schools Association Basketball title here last night, defeating a strong London Central C.I. league team 28-15 in the final round of the two-day tournament that brought together district winners from Ottawa, London, Hamilton and St. Catharines.

Led by Art Mackey whose brilliant floor play was one of his team's features, Ottawa staged a sparkling offensive in the last half after being down for most of the first to outplay London and forge into a commanding lead.

Lisgars' victory brought them the title which Windsor-Walkerville have taken three times. It was put up for competition for the province's district winners five years ago. Lisgar failed in their attempt to wrest the crown from Windsor last year.

Northern Teams of International League Will Make Round Before Opening at Home

GOOD WEATHER

New York, April 17—(AP)—If the best wave which got the major leagues off to a good start Tuesday can hold out a little longer, the "little brothers" of the International League will break open their 36th consecutive season today.

As always, the "southern" club will do the entertaining first, with Jersey City welcoming Rochester, Newark playing host to Montreal, Baltimore receiving Toronto and Syracuse engaging Buffalo. Each of the four "northern" teams will make the rounds of the southern parks before they go back for their home openers May 1.

Providing Old Sol co-operates, a total of about 20,000 spectators is anticipated by the club owners with more than half of them scheduled to look in at Roosevelt Stadium, the home of the Jersey Giants.

Mayor Frank Hague has declared the annual ball-bolder for the occasion and a new minor league attendance record may be established. The present record of 50,-329 paid admissions was set there last year.

Four managerships will make their debut. Tony Cuccinello has replaced Bert Niehoff at the helm of the Jersey Giants and will fill in at second base. Al Vincent, up from Beaumont of the Texas League, directs Buffalo Bisons, Benny Borgmann holds the reins on Syracuse Chiefs and Lena Blackburne will be in charge of Toronto Leafs, who finished in the cellar last year under Tony Lazzeri.

SASKATOON JRS. BEAT WINNIPEG TO EVEN SERIES

Win by 10-2; Six of the Goals Are Scored With Rangers a Man Short

PLAY ON FRIDAY

Saskatoon, April 17 (CP)—A fast-blazing Saskatoon junior hockey team is determined not to give up without a terrific struggle its bid for a Memorial Cup junior hockey title.

Quakers defied general opinion last night as they swamped Winnipeg Rangers 10-2 to deadlock the best-of-seven western final at three games each and force a sudden-death game at Winnipeg tomorrow night. One of the smallest playoff crowds in modern Saskatoon hockey history, less than 2,000 saw the Quakers' final home appearance.

Penalties played a large part in Rangers' downfall as they sought to end the series in six games and qualify for the Dominion final with Montreal Royals. Six of Quakers' goals were scored while Rangers were a man short.

Mike Shabaga led Saskatoon goal-getters with three while Layne, who missed the last game because of bronchial trouble, had two and Eddie Waiton, Ken Ullyot, Tony Lewick, Harry Watson and Keith Allen one each. Defenceman Bill Schmidt and winger Dave Living-stone had three assists each and Ed Watson, Ullyot and Bill Sloboda one each. Les Hickey scored both Winnipeg goals.

Outstanding performer in the Rangers' losing cause was their tall goalie, Hal Thompson, whose work was up to the sensational variety in every period.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Dick Siebert, Athletics — Hit two homers, and a single to lead onslaught against Yankees.

Eddie Rommel, Browns—Held Tigers to four hits.

Pete Fox, Red Sox — Hit three singles, one of them driving home winning run in 13th inning against Senators.

Al Milnar, Indians — Shut out White Sox with two singles.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, April 17—(CP) — As thousands cheer dogs, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker mending so nicely, He may attend the Indianapolis 500-mile race but no crutches. Aldo Spoldi, an Italian, will be fighting for British when he hooks up with Chalky Wright in a relief fund bout, May 1. . . . Some New York golf clubs are considering using girl caddies to augment the shortage of boys called in the draft.

Wacky baseball day:

Mrs. John J. McGraw went to see the Yankees instead of the Giants . . . The ump bends at the Dodger opening got into such a loud argument over which should play the National Anthem, they finally had to play it on a record via the public address system. . . . Lady fan called Ehlete Field and told 'em if Dixie Walker wasn't going to : : in there, she'd be darned if she went.

Busy man's newspaper:

Lolling on the beach at San Juan, Leo Nora is giving the natives that old mahoskus about going down there to train for Joe Louis. When and if, we take it. . . . New York's sandlot baseballers have presented Lou Gehrig with a scroll containing more than 300 signatures. . . . Jimmy McLarnin is a big and-brilliant ring career" without getting a scrambled ear, but he wears glasses while golfing so he won't get his hands calloused. . . . The Ewell columns say Grover Cleveland Alexander has been signed to coach a semi-pro team Tommy Dorsey, the band leader, is organizing.

ITALY'S SNEAK THIEF

The spread of clinics-acquired American slang among schoolboys is illustrated by this "howler". In the pre-Christmas examination in class of evacuated Cockney boys at a school in the West was asked what was understood by the expression "the heel of Italy".

One boy wrote: "Mussolini is the heel of Italy".

TOUGH EATING

After Christmas dinner in a barrack room the cookhouze orderly appeared.

"Where's tie puddin' cloth?" he asked.

"Cloth?" echoed one of the men. "What cloth?"

"The cloth the puddin' was done up in", replied the orderly.

A gasp went round the room.

"Lummy" said one of the soldiers, "I thought that poddin' was tough!"

CALLING 'EM
Between the Lines
with Ken J. Colling

The one person in the world who knows whether Jack Dempsey punched hardest or not Joe Louis won't tell.

He is Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion in 1932, who is willing and eager to discuss every other boxing subject as long as the cash registers keep jingling in the space-loan tavern he conducts on a stone's throw from the Boston Gardens.

Sharkey scored knockout punches from both Dempsey and Louis, but evades any talk on this particular point.

"Louis will be taken one of these days, but not by any of the heavyweights around these days," Sharkey predicts. "Joe is a great puncher, but a very lucky one. He was born just at the right time. If he had been around with Dempsey, Tunney, Risko and dozens of others who were active with me, he never would have moved out of the preliminary class." Sharkey openly stated recently.

The "Garrulous Gob" of boxing's golden age days is now a highly successful business man and is proud of the fact he has "got a head for his business.

Fortish but fat, Sharkey still says he can be did when he was at his peak. "Weight never bothered me," he boasts. "and don't forget, I took off a total of 1,200 pounds when I was campaigning and I'm not letting any unnecessary pounds creep up on me. Exercise is not loafing," assured the Boston Gob.

As far as Sharkey is concerned, Sharkey probably is better fixed than he was when his earning capacity was the greatest, simply because he made sound investments, trusts and annuities, which have matured at a good profit, while his tavern is a paying proposition also.

The Italian Navy has an exclusive section of Boston but he still here, because "I guess I shouldn't I, after all the game was good to me," he readily admits.

Do you remember when Winnipeg Maroons eliminated one of the most spectacular Memorial Cup series in history five years ago today at Toronto? . . . Jimmy Whitewashed Copper Cliff Redmen 7-0. Each of the first three games in the best-of-five series was decided by a lone goal. Redmen taking the first in overtime 4-3 and Monarchs the next two 6-5 and 3-2. Monarchs also won the cup the previous year.

Did you know—Buck Newsom of the Tigers, hasn't pitched in batting practice for six years. He claims a pitcher can't put any "stuff" on the ball and wants to know how a fellow can protect himself on the mound. . . . If I got a broken leg or arm, I'm through. So none of that batting practice pitching for me," says Big Buck . . . Jewel Ens and Hank Gowdy, Cincinnati catchers, have identical birthday, both were born on August 24th.

Peterboro Fred Craig is pondering a sport crack made in the Kingston Whig-Standard by sheet Scribe Bill Wakabe penned a passing remark relative to the organizing of a senior baseball club in Kingston. "Could be we'll procure a suitable group," writes the letter-head scribe, "but answer is decidedly simple Friend Fred—get the 'Jays and the pick of the Ottawa Valley district and such places as Perth, Smith's Falls, Brockville et all"

Jack Quinn and Harold Buck are back home in Kingston employed by the aluminum Company after completing the playing season employed by the Kingston Empire League in the war years. . . . Seems all that is necessary in Kingston is to import one pitcher and baseball is again secure in the Limestone City.

By taking a leaf from the Kingston baseball book and sponsoring a junior baseball league in Belleville for the duration local service clubs would be doing a real service to the community.

Saskatoon evened the Western Canada Junior finals at three games each by beating Regina last night. These two clubs meet in a seventh and final game Friday, the winner coming east prepared to meet Montreal Royals in the first Memorial Cup final game at Toronto on Monday. Incidentally, Montreal Royals eliminated Oshawa Generals it marked the first time in the history of Junior Dominion finals, that a Quebec team has advanced even into the final round.

It is expected that Vallie Eaves and Dewey Williams will compete for Toronto Maple Leafs' battery when Lena Blackburne's charges get off the International League bid at Baltimore today. Eddie Morgan, former St. Paul outfielder, is expected to bolster the Leafs' attacking powers and give Eric Tipton "a run for the circle's leading hitter. It is expected a crowd of 5,000 will watch "Fire-ball-artist" Floyd Stromme face the Leafs on the Orioles' line-up. Incidentally Bob Seeds, former Giant, is with the Maryland Club this year.

SPORT HASH — Lotta strange names at the top of the major ball standings today even the lowly Browns, who won't be so low this year, had little or no respect for the league champion Tigers. . . . And the world champion Cincinnati Reds are safely perched in the cellar slot, but one swallow doesn't make a summer, 'tis argued. . . . A total of 28,964 persons attended the various attractions at the Ottawa Auditorium during the season of 1940-41, a record for any year since the arena was built in 1924. . . . Euston carried off most of the N.H.L. honours this year, won the league, the Stanley Cup and a lota prestige. . . . Now Bill Cook has the David Hart Trophy and Bobby Bauer the Lady Byng Cup to make Art Ross quite happy about the whole thing. . . . We heard Aubrey (Dit) Clapper, of the Bruins, is to be the guest speaker at a community banquet in Tweed. . . .

Ottawa Valley Towns To Form Ball Loop

Hull, Quebec, April 17—(CP)—Invitations to a number of Ottawa Valley towns to participate in a new senior baseball league have been sent out and officials of teams in the towns favor the idea, Alderman Eugene Decosse said last night.

Decosse, one of the promoters of the new league, said invitations have been sent teams from Hull, Ottawa, Buckingham, Que., Carleton Place, Smiths Falls and Perth, Ont.

The City of Hull has granted permission to build a baseball park and fix up the diamond at the old Park Hotel here. Work on the field has begun.

EXERCISE

"You should take more exercise," said the doctor.

"Thas more exercise!" exclaimed the patient. "Why, I'm out seven nights running".

NATIONAL UNITY APPEAL IS MADE BY VILLENEUVE

Cardinal Puts Stress on Prayer and Says Ideals for Which British People Went to War Are 'Pleasing to God'

Toronto, April 17 (CP) — Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve explained today the French-Canadian view of confederation and appealed to pro-Canadians to do their share in promoting national unity at a moment Canada is engaged with the other nations of the Empire in the battle for "priceless ideals."

The Cardinal, only Prince of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada, in his address in English to the Empire Club ...aid Canadian Civis of Toronto, told all Canadians just as all the other peoples of the Empire, share the advantages, materially some ideals of social and international justice, human and human dignity."

Those ideals of "righteousness, honor, peace and freedom" for which the British peoples went to war "cannot be pleasing to God," he said. "And we may confidently leave their triumph in His almighty hands."

"But, I repeat—may I put the stress on prayer," he added.

Necessity of Religion in Education

He stressed the necessity of religion in education," expressing regret that viewpoint was not "generally shared by many peoples nowadays with whom religion is a private luxury which should have no part in education."

The Cardinal praised the "example of courage set by the British people," and said they were "unsurpassed in any conflict in the past."

Temperance in Wartime

The Cardinal stressed temperance in wartime and expressed the hope that "for the sake of our country and of the Empire all will fully realize that abstinence will power-fully aid us to win the war."

"Efficiency is the demand of the hour and alcohol is the enemy of efficiency," he said.

He warned against the "Germanic" work introduced in the countries they wish to conquer including our own."

Patriotism Positive Law of Christ's Religion

He termed patriotism a "positive law" of the "religion of Christ," adding "there is no perfect Christian who is not also a perfect patriot."

"The compliment you are paying me today," declared Cardinal Villeneuve at the start of his address, "I regard as a token and significant symbol of Canadian unity, and a very happy means of promoting that good feeling and co-operation between the two great provinces upon which national unity so much depends."

Answers 'Ridiculous Rumor'

"You would perhaps wish to know my own beloved country's future," he said. "May I repeat what I publicly said once very long ago. I was led to speak on the subject because there were rumors current in Province of Quebec, that the French Canadians were contemplating the establishment of a separate state in their province, and the dominant influence of that separatist movement was the Catholic church under the leadership of the late Archbishop Bishop of Quebec.

"Not much notice was taken of this mischievous gossip in Quebec, no remarkable attention attached to the importance to it, but unfortunately, it seems to have aroused attention of a few minds of some English-speaking Canadians, that I would myself of a favorable occasion to put an end to such ridiculous rumors.

Never Wished Quebec Clerical or Separate State

"Addressing a large Catholic and Protestant gathering, I said: 'Here or did I with that the province of Quebec should become either a clerical or separate state. The church in no way admits that patriotism should be a local isolation, that it should be confined to one village, town or province; no, it should extend to the whole of Canada and should be accompanied by a world feeling of charity to our sovereign King George VI."

SPECIAL MEETING OF COUNCIL CALLED

A special meeting of the city council will be held on Friday evening at which time members of the Public Utilities Commission will appear with reports and expenditures at the local gas plant. It is understood the Commissioners will explain in detail to members of the council the needed expenditures at this plant.

FIRE INTERRUPTS EUCHRE, BRIDGE GIVEN BY FIREMEN

Volunteer Firemen Forced to Leave Party to Put Out Blaze

OTHER ITEMS

Trenton, April 17 — Fire interrupted the Trenton volunteer firemen's euchre and bridge party last night which was being held to raise funds for the Bellefair "Red Victims' Fund."

The firemen were forced to leave the party shortly before eleven o'clock and rush to the scene. A frame house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. R. Lott on South George St. had caught fire and the flames there were spreading rapidly by the time the firemen arrived.

Lashed by a high wind the fire raged through the roof of the house, the other section of the house and caused much damage. They were brought under control. Mr. Lott first noticed dense smoke pouring into his room and he immediately set the rest of the family and herded them outside.

The firemen returned to the fire hall but the euchre party had to be abandoned. In spite of the fact that the party was held in aid of the fund in an effort to make the party a success and draw a big crowd, they were happy when they counted the proceeds to find they had $126.

Installation of Officers for the Coming Year

Installation of officers for the coming year will be held next week by Trenton Lodge, No. 1183, Orange Order of Canada. The officers will serve another term as members of the Lodge, with W. J. P. Bruyea as Vice-Governor; G. D. Cowle, Chaplain; T. Hennessy, Asst.-Sec.-Treas.; J. E. Kennedy, Asst.-Sec.-Treas.; H. Allison, Treasurer; S. Ovelle, Director of Ceremonies; E. Farrar, Trustees: O. Weese, Auditor; and W. Wright, Tyler.

Bowlers to Take Part

Several bowlers from Trenton will take part in the fifteenth annual five-pin bowling tournament at Belleville, which will open in Trenton, on April 26.

The tournament is held each year, sponsored by the Ontario Bowling Association.

Doubles and teams take part in the tournament.

Some of those who will take part are James Henry, Horace Ormshaw, Douglas Kinner, Clarence Widdup and Edward Hicks.

The Trenton troop company of Girl Guides will hold a sales campaign on May 2 and 3 for the purpose of obtaining revenue to buy additional uniforms for the girls and wool for the war work of the company. The guides knit many articles for the Red Cross Society, of-home children in Britain.

Mrs. Ross Thrasher, Chief Guide, of the Trenton Company and Miss Catherine Thrasher, Assistant Guide, will organize and direct the sales campaign.

CANADA DONATES 2 MILLION DOLLARS TO VARIOUS FUNDS

Money Used to Aid Bomb-Battered Civilians and Purchase Airplanes

ANONYMOUS DONORS

By HAROLD FAIR

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, April 17 (CP)—A Canadian flood of mercy gold has poured more than $2,000,000 into Britain's aid bomb-battered civilians and help build airplanes to return the Nazi air blows.

Reports released today on their country's own war effort Canadians have sent larger and larger donations to two great British funds that established during the winter. Mine Lord Mayor of London, Lord Mayor Lord Beaverbrook, Spitfire fund.

From Canada has come $752,621 of the £10,400,000 sent to the Lord Mayor up to March 31, and Canadians donated $1,630,661 of the $47,563,902 in the aircraft purchase fund at that date. Contributions to the Lord Mayor's Fund are pouring in from Canada every day and the staff of 100 from 80 to 50 in Mansion House to handle contributions. Countless thousands of raid victims have been helped by the fund and 66 aid fd immediately a town has been raided.

Anonymous Donation of $40,000

The Toronto Telegram British War Victims Fund has contributed approximately $450,000 to top the list of Canada's leading donors. In a list reading like a Canadian geography table, with the chain of good samaritans stretching from coast to coast, the largest anonymous donation was $40,500 from "a Canadian."

The fund has received about 650 distinct contributions from Canada and note must be by each authority include collections from individuals to the total it is finally larger than that.

Here are some chased on approximate conversion from sterling): Guelph Mercury, $9,035; "L. Cathcarines and Stratford, $6,500; Peterborough, $8,100 and Kawas $12,000.

J. W. McConnell, publisher of the Montreal Star, led the list of Canadian contributors to the aircraft fund with $1,000,000.

Beaverbrook announced the planes bought would constitute "McConnell's squadron."

Other contributors included: Sir Herbert Holt, $250,000; Imperial Tobacco Daughters of the Empire, $100,000; Windsor, Cut., and Windsor, Berkshire, $36,000.

Performing Dogs Feature Opening Spring Festival

"Hans, the Wonder Dog," a highly intelligent German Shepherd practically brought down the house at St. Michael's Academy auditorium Wednesday night in a stage show that featured the opening night of the annual three - day Spring Festival.

The well-trained animal not only delighted the large crowd with his canine mathematics, and leaps through flaming hoops, but no mention the saving of a doll from a burning building, but also assisted "Hugo," handsome Shepherd dog belonging to Monsignor J. P. Hinchey, in making his stage debut. "Hugo" showed no stage fright and went through his performance like a veteran.

Other top dogs headlined the performance the other acts were of high calibre. Comedian Jimmy Mine Ethel Smith's fine voice was heard in the Tyrolean Yodel Song of Jack Green and Ronnie Moorman in a sparkling duet with the latter playing a solo in another part of the program.

The dances of Bonnie Scotland were demonstrated in a clever fashion by a group of children, while tap and other dances were interpreted by pupils under the Patricia School for the Deaf. Dolores Mae Gregg and Betty Jones two sinne mines played a clarinet duet while Mr. Arthur Eraare and Miss Jean Hinchey showed ability on piano accordeons. Harold Barrett, Bernard Hinchey and Jack Green rounded out a well-chosen program.

The Top-Hatters orchestra brought up the curtain for the show and presented tuneful melodies for the dancing that culminated the first night's festival.

Miss Harris Wins Door Prize

Following the stage show the crowd thronged about the stage bingo and other games where handsome prizes were awarded to the lucky winners. Miss Catherine Harris, Bailey Lodge, No. 2203, and was awarded the five dollar door prize.

A large crowd took advantage of the super carnival held in the evening by members of the Catholic Women's League, under the direction of Mrs. J. Wm. Butler.

The festival, which continues today and Friday will be under the direction of General Chairman Frank Donnelon, with George Lee acting as assistant chairman. Allan Bird is in charge of entertainment. The treasurer is George Hinchey and Mrs. E. McQuaid Maurice Callaghan is in charge of the bingo games with Mrs. Hinchey being under the direction of Jack McVeigh and V. McIntyre.

Refreshments are booked after by Thomas Fleury who is assisted by Jim Gowans and W. Royal. Maurice Callaghan is stage manager for the affair and he is assisted by Mr. Rollins and C. George.

Canadian Soldiers Killed In Night-Long Terror Of Nazi Attack On London

By LOUIS HUNTER

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, April 17 (CP) Cable — Some Canadian soldiers were killed and others injured in the heaviest attack on the worst raid this teeming capital of the Empire has yet endured.

One was killed in London and others in the estimate of one sprawling town which was subjected to an almost endless pounding from the German raiders.

Names of the Canadian victims were not disclosed because next of kin have yet to be advised by the Department of National Defence in Ottawa.

At least one Canadian soldier was injured in a service club where a number of servicemen were sheltering from the storm of bombs. The club suffered a direct hit. Rescuers have been digging for hours in the debris to release some believed trapped. It is not known if any of them are Canadians.

Soldier Killed in Club

The bomb tore across the side of the building and sent the occupants flying. Some fell into the sleeping, hurtling into the basement. A Canadian soldier fell 40 feet but escaped with bruises. Others less injured were treated by first-aid workers.

A Canadian who escaped by the skin of his teeth from the club described the incident in matter "because I don't want my mother to worry."

"I'm a Canadian pal of his, who was sleeping nearby, is missing. Canadian Shattered

When the soldier who escaped went to bed he folded his clothes beside him and slept in his underclothing. The whine of a bomb awakened him. When it hit the building he ran bare-foot through the streets and went to a ministry building where he was given clothes by a pair of wardens air raids precautions overalls and a porter's great coat.

Then he met Douglas Amaron, of The Canadian Press, and Amaron took him to his home, gave him hot drinks and food, and put him to bed.

British military law prohibits disclosure for the present of deaths in such instances, but the number was small.

Britain Became Great Because Of Freedom Of Her People

The principles and beliefs of the Orange Order pertaining to the controversial Separate School question and its desire for the continuance of the freedom of worship in the British Empire were convincingly exhibited by able orators to an open meeting held in the various Orange Grand Lodges in the Eastern Province Inspection, at the city hall last evening.

Grand Master of Ontario West Orange Lodges, Cecil Armstrong spoke at some length on the subject of the freedom of the subjects of the British Empire, stating that Britain became great because of the freedom of her people. Continuing he said that it was beneficial for the originators of the Confederation Act to guarantee the right of whom had made it possible that this patriotic meeting be held here tonight."

Mr. L. M. Saunders, Grand Organizer for Ontario East, gave his listeners a very comprehensive outline of the history of the Separate School issue choosing as his subject for his address, "The School Situation in Ontario."

Mr. H. B. Pyfferly acted as chairman for the evening's program while the address of welcome from the Belleville District Association to the delegates of the visiting Orange Lodges was given by Mr. Semple of Bridge Street United Church. Interspersed with the evening's program was provided by Miss Bernice Abbott and the Albert School Boys' Band, under the direction of Alf. Cooper.

3-VEHICLE CRASH AT INTERSECTION

Said by police to have failed to observe the traffic light caution sign at the North Front and College Street intersection, a collision occurred yesterday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock between a car driven by Mrs. Ruby Rollo, resident of Bridge Street and Mrs. Gerald Bubbs' motorcycle at the College Street corner.

Considerable property damage resulted to Mr. Bartlett's motor car in particular.

Berlin Communique

Berlin, April 17 (AP)—The German high command claimed today that Nazi troops in Greece have forced Australian troops across the Aliakmon River in a drive aimed at the east flank of the British-Greek defence line.

The Germans claimed they were taking many prisoners in the advance, which they said has carried them from Servia to the Aliakmon from the frontier in this sector, west northwest of Mt. Olympus.

Earlier reports said Nazis had come to grips with the British Expeditionary Force north of Mt. Olympus in an engagement which military authorities said might develop into a battle.

Canadian Red Cross In London Aids Folk In Bombed Areas

Toronto, April 17 (CP)— Canadian Red Cross headquarters today reported cables from London have described the aid extended by the organization to bomb-battered areas after last night's German air raid.

The cable, from Miss C. M. Scott, Red Cross overseas commissioner, said that food and clothing to the value of 10 Red Cross to 1,000 persons left homeless in a single London district. Also 1,200 blankets were rushed into the bombed areas.

Maj. Scott said 8,000 garments were distributed during the morning.

Women Of The Moose

A meeting of interest was held in the Moose Auditorium by the Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter 435, on Tuesday evening. Mrs. E. Jeffers, Senior Regent, presided. Miss Mary Doran, read the favorable proceeds of the speaking competition. Mrs. E. White gave the membership report. Mrs. L. Lawrence, Mrs. Ida Sherry reported on 120 magazines and newspapers and 4 sets of encyclopedias also local papers sent to military stations. The publicity report was given by Mrs. E. McGinness. The Sunshine prize donated by Mrs. M. Ashmore went to Mrs. T. white. Mrs. E. McGinness gave the quarterly report on sewing and making garments for evacuees, the material is furnished by the Red Cross. Mrs. Lawrence returned to them to send overseas. Mrs. G. Hitch of the ritual committee will supervise a picture contest in the near future. A five cent tea and home cooked goods were played. The winners at the table were, Mrs. Ida Sherry, Mrs. E. White, 2nd and Mrs. H. Allen captured the consolation prize. First prize in the rummy game went to Mrs. J. Chapman and Mrs. Lawrence.

Mrs. L. Woodacre, chairman of home-cooking, invited the members to supper. The table was most attractive with home-baked food and homemade candies; the novel decorations were individual flower pots for each guest, these were homemade of colored cellophane, holding small flowers filled with little pastel coloured Easter eggs.

Home-making and recipes were discussed much in keeping with the Chapter's program of interest which appeals to every woman. Much credit to the entertainment committee for the pleasant evening's entertainment.

County Court

Eleven charges of infractions of the Highway Traffic Act were heard in Thursday's County Police Court held at the County Court House by Magistrate A. Butler, K.C., eight of which were charges of the driving while under the influence of liquor, two charges of violating the Ontario Temperance Act and one charge of violating the Provincial Constables Act.

Four teen-aged Scarnonville boys appeared in Magistrate's Court held before His Worship charged with breaking and entering the Town Hall at Shannonville with the intent to commit the indictable offence of theft.

The quartette of boys pleaded guilty and sentence was reserved for one week in order to give T. D. Heaton, Children's Aid Society Inspector an opportunity to investigate the case. The charges were preferred against the Constable R. S. Patterson, who told the court today the four boys had broken into the kitchen at the Shannonville Town Hall during the progress of a dance last Monday and stolen a quantity of "hot dogs." Two of the boys, it is alleged, crawled through a window.

Constable Patterson, who is also chief of police, told the court that the lads had been convicted of chicken stealing previously.

Much Hinges On Allied-German Battle In Greece

(By KIRKE L./SIMPSON)

Washington, April 17 (AP)— The German and Italian Axis and Nazi-Fascist war machine are reported locked in a death grapple on a 150-mile front as this is written.

On the outcome of this battle may rest the fate of Greece, and of the British Army which is bearing the brunt of the German attack. Yet Allied failure to stem the assault on that ill-defined front would not necessarily mean the end of the battle of Greece. There are even shorter defence lines southward, waterguarded on both flanks, upon which the Allies could rally yet again.

One such line is 100 miles or so south of the great bend of the Vistritza River, the apparent focal point of the drive in Upper Central Greece. It is scarcely twenty-five miles, as the crow flies, across at that narrow waistline, from the Aegean Sea, and the Ionian Sea apear inland from east and west respectively to behind the German mechanized might. A front drawn there would protect Athens, and would be the battle front in half for the Allies.

There is historic precedent for a Greek stand there, between the Gulf of Arta on the west and the Gulf of Atalnta on the east. Thermopylae Pass, where the Spartan King, Leonidas, with 300 men, once held off a Persian host invading army, would be ite eastern anchor.

Strategy Rests With Greeks

Nevertheless, failure of the Allies to halt their foes in this present battle would mean surrender of all Greece north the side wings, and. Only a narrow strip of Southern Greece, around the Peloponnesian Peninsula, itself a water-guarded last refuge, would then be left them.

It follows, then, that the Allies will not withdraw unless if they fail to halt German columns lunging down from the Vistritza River toward the great bend of the Vistritza and from the Albanian front from the west toward the same point. It would bring the British Expeditionary Force to the better alternative of fighting on in Greece against all odds, or of attempting a withdrawal virtually certain to be accompanied by terrific losses in men, ships and battle gear.

It appears inescapable that such a withdrawal by the British Army and British High Command, can not be made exclusively on military grounds. It must depend largely on what the Greeks do. If they decide to fight on to the bitter end, British deser-

THE WAR TODAY

By GUY ROHADES

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The swift raid of the war has left London and Britain generally angrier, more grief-stricken and more thoroughly wrecked, but no more inclined to give in to the Nazis than hitherto.

A number of Canadian troops were included in last night's air raid casualties and Lord and Lady Stamp of Shortlands, killed in the raid, are familiar figure in Canada where he had served as chairman of investigating committees, was economic adviser to the government.

Cab drivers, the men who see and gauge most street phenomena agreed that the raid was more vigorous and more consistently sustained than they had seen before.

For eight hours German aircraft gave London its worst taste of the war in a raid which the Germans claimed was a "reprisal for the English destruction of the cultural and historic centre of Berlin on April 9."

Casualties in the raid were believed high, but not as high as they might have been, for the fire brigade started to fall on theatrical districts and other places of public resort close to, or after, normal closing hours.

At least one legitimate theatre and two movie houses in the London area were wrecked, but the curtain was rung down at 6:45 and the number of casualties in the immediate vicinity was not disclosed.

Sirocco Fans Fires

The sirocco, which has been blowing a gale for two days, fanned the fires started by the incendiaries and the flames spread with terrific speed.

Fire fighters from all over the city and from the suburbs were rushed to the scene, but many of the fires got out of control and burned themselves out.

Hitler might rest content for the moment with the results the British forces out of their last foothold on the European Continent. There are intimations from Berlin that the next phase of the war, if that is to be established, might revert to diplomatic pressure on Turkey to line up with Britain.

With British prestige at the low ebb a complete rout in Greece would mean, the Nazi dream of an open road toward an unresisting Turkey toward east and vitally needed oil resources would not be fantastic.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto April 17.—(CP)—Prices developed a firm tone in the early hours of the stock market today but offerings were light and only 52,000 shares changed hands in the first three hours. The industrial and both mining indices were narrowly higher at noon.

Strong spots in the industrial section included National Steel Car, Bell Telephone, Dominion Foundries and Steels, Canadian Oil. Paney Farmer was lower by 1-4 at 21 3-4.

Kerr - Addison, East Malartic, MacLeod-Cockshutt Gold were all posted moderate gains and in the base metal list the industrial spruce Oreille were gainers.

Western oils showed little change. Home Oil fimited 4 cents to $1.65 and Calgary-Edmonton eased off a cent to 1.12.

WALL STREET

New York, April 17 (AP)— The stock market, with the exception of steels, today contested with some success what the financial scene considered a generally "bad news" budget.

Daily declines ranged from fractions to more than a point. These were late reduced or converted into modest advances.

War developments were far from the listing of speculative contents, brokers said.

Among outstand stocks were N.Y. Central, Pennsylvania, American Telephone, American Smelting, Sears Roebuck and Union Carbide.

Under water most of the time were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Allied Chemical, Kennecott and United Aircraft.

Canadian Pacific and International Nickel slipped small fractions. Other Canadian issues were either inactive or unchanged.

Decline In Butter Appears At End

Toronto, April 17.—The decline in butter appeared to have reached bottom on the Toronto open produce market yesterday as prices recovered from opening weakness to close at previous levels. Creamery prints to a better tone in late dealings.

Revived buying in the afternoon gave a firmer undertone to the butter market. Sellers offered the first-grade creamery prints early in the day at the reduced price of 29c a pound without being able to move supplies very readily. Later, however, demand crept into the market and offerings of fresh butter were absorbed, and before the close No. 1 solids sold at 29½c a pound, with some points holding out for even higher levels. Creamery prints to the retail trade were adjusted downward in line with recent declines in the wholesale market. Eggs graded traded at 31c to 31½c a pound.

The egg market also showed an improved tone after experiencing quiet trading in the morning session. Fresh receipts arrived in enough volume to satisfy local requirements and prices generally remained in both sections of trading. Meniscal Produce.

Again the old house shudders and shakes and the light dim and slowly become bright again. For a half hour, maybe more at the outside, then Yarbrough returns.

He has good luck to look for myself.

I wade through crunching glass to the window and to the next corner. Flames are shooting high in the air.

Then comes a bomb whistle—and the only possible protection in sight is a stone fence.

I flatten myself against it and, for a second, a strange feeling comes over me. The post has four sides. Where will the bomb strike?

Too late now, the bomb has already struck.

Amongst splashed in the street as I hot-foot it for a doorway. Made it! Whoever it was a voice asks "Where you from?"

"The United States," I replied.

"Come in and get some real coffee," said a stout, middle-aged man lug a tin hat. "2 was born in New York."

Coffee never tasted better.

TERRIFIC RAID

Louis Hunter, however, did their best to seek slumber so they could be fresh for the morning. Hunter gave the old sheep-counting game a new slant by tabling the number of bombs heard falling. When it reached 100 we were still unable to sleep. We gave it up for the second time in three hours.

Everyone in our big block was equally restless after a long respite from heavy raids. The top-floor roof-spotters who generally keep a lonely vigil watching for incendiaries had plenty of company as people watched for fire. But none started long as the bombs kept coming nearer.

When the blaze started in our district Hunter decided to investigate. He and a friend, I heard were: "Boy, if you want to see a fire go outside."

Quebec Cheese Bonus Set At Two Cents

Quebec, April 17 (CP)—The bonus which Quebec Province will grant to factories manufacturing cheese production will be a straight two cents a pound, Hon. Oscar Bonsmilar to that which the Ontario Government has announced it will pay to Ontario farmers.

(Premier Godbout announced the bonus yesterday. At that time, The Canadian Press erroneously reported that it would be 2 1-2 cents a pound.)

The two-cent premium will make it possible for Quebec producers to receive 19 cents a pound for cheese exported to Britain. Under the present agreement with Britain, the price at present is 17 cents a pound to which is added .8 cents from the Dominion Treasury.

Quebec factories made 94 qualifies for an additional two-cent bonus on the basis of 1940 production, while a one-cent bonus is paid on 1939 production.

Dig In Debris For Wounded

Firemen and rescue workers dug in the debris throughout the morning to bring out dead and injured. Among the places where casualties were believed heaviest was a hospital where a number of were nearby. At least seven other hospitals were damaged.

A London theatre was wrecked and two motion picture houses smashed, but the raid came after most patrons had left. In west central London a bomb crashed by an apartment house, pinning a number of tenants under concrete. Another high explosive bomb fell in a tenement courtyard, wrecking a nurses shelter.

Traffic was delayed by debris in the streets and thousands had to walk to work this morning, over piles and piles of rubble which told a story.

One raiding plane brought down in the night exploded in a residential garden and set fire to three houses.

12-Foot Craters Made by Bombs

A big bomb dropped on a 15-foot crater in a west end square and the blast was felt for miles away, spilling across the thoroughfare. Two barmaids and the bartender were injured in a public house. In other west end street was torn up by four craters. Surrounding buildings were shaken lop-sided.

Lord Kemsley, one of the government's economic adviser, and Lady Stamp were among the victims of the bombardment.

West end cab drivers, tough veterans of the last war, said that it undoubtedly was the worst of the lot and everyone on the streets could be heard the comment: "It was worse than last September."

Fire Chief Was just as long a most last autumn and as intense as Coventry in the May 26 to 16 raid here. The autumn attacks were sometimes heavier, but this one practically continuous. There were more places in the air defence army agreed that more and heavier bombs were dropped.

Fire from the top of a tall west end apartment building the whole of London could be seen to be burning in the raid. Against the background of a glowing sky the fire-fighters in Civil Defence uniforms stood out silhouette blocked with orange and red patches of flame.

Heavy billows of smoke rose and hid the fire from view, but it reddened the sky. It could have been a picture of Coventry as it was in the worse.

Then after daylight weary A.R.P. workers in grim overalls toiled in free the trapped victims. It was a task that involved in many cases that of battered London town, with shattered homes standing up and weeping while waiting for news of relatives.

"Many Burned to Death

One of the most heart-breaking scenes in the vicinity of tragedy was around the debris of a big workers' tenement where many were burned to death. An unknown number of people had been killed and guifed the building after a direct hit.

Here were many mothers and wives waiting, waiting and hoping. Some were weeping, others with their heads when two bodies were carried out. Then a long treatment where eight persons were still trapped but were told it was not safe to move them because of the debris of the wreckage. Then in the west end was bombed, blasted and burned. Daylight revealed the Buckingham Palace area to be indescribable sight of shattered glass, broken bricks, twisted metal, piles of rubble and pavements, skew of piled blocked by huge craters of masonry.

Splintered Buildings Seen

It was not unusual to look streets and narrow lanes blanketed by fine dust from shattered frames of buildings, broken bricks, and cement and mortar and wonder if it crushed to snowy powder under the feet. Many thoroughfares were were forced to detour owing to obstructions. Some people found it quicker to walk but for others transportation was uncertain and fuels were scarce.

Hundreds of workers paused to inspect the damage to St. Paul's but not seen anything like it before. It was difficult to appreciate fully the violence of the raid because the damage was so heavy and widespread.

There was little left of many shop fronts, some displaying goods which were the pride of the west end. Many of the big stores had their one important thoroughfare sales girls came out from behind counters to inspect remnants of the broken windows and swept them to the already glass-covered pavements.

Back of Theatred Sliced Away

Back of one theatre was an inside a theatre that had already been a bomb victim, a charwoman, clearing away the debris, found another objectious of the destruction around her. Part of the theatre had been neatly sliced away by a bomb. Strangely enough, pictures still adorned offices no longer inhabitable. They hung askew, cracked, and twisted streams of water pour through windows and doorways of buildings in the area.

At least one ingenious employer set to work on the sidewalk and conducted business over a bonfire. It was a cutting one that was which stood by and watched and joked.

Numerous stories were told of women operating groups to aid the heroic firefighters in their nightlong task. Women worked pluckily in streets and gardens and even broke into unoccupied buildings, to tackle fire bombs.

In one basement shelter buried under the wreckage of a building, where number of people gathered were still alive, hot drinks and cakes, were passed through a hole in the debris.

Built in Bed

A man and wife sleeping, when a bomb dropped were blown to the street. They were still in bed when they landed on the sidewalk and were taken to hospital suffering from shock.

Across it all ill it is still the Fleet Street spirit who exemplifies the typical spirit of this battered city. A newspaper office in a one new-sie displayed the following: "Navy Has Had Good Week — but we ain't sunk yet—Hitler and his mob can't do it."

Death struck air raid service men in all parts of the city. Members of Civil Defence were killed by a bomb which exploded directly in front of them as they were on road to the scene of a previous blast.

Firemen high on a ladder pouring water into a blazing building were killed when a bomb in the foot of the ladder. Fire fire watchers were killed by a hit on a church.

Warden Also Casualty

There was no sleep even in the second air raid warning. The whole city vibrated. In one big hotel the guests were nearly evident slump-thump of bombs continued.

The first warning was sounded at 5:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. E.D.T.) the wail of ambulances in the streets carrying the casualties and the hoarse shouts of firemen and rescuers and school teachers smoke - shrouded, debris - filled streets.

Londoners, seasoned by eight months of bombing, said the attacks of last night were savage since the "all-out" raids began last August and September. Many Canadians here for the Royal Air Force's devastating attack on Berlin on April 9.

A government communique this morning said that the attack was "severe and sustained" and added that "nearly reports show that considerable damage was done."

Flames Lit Up City

Bombers and combat planes—on and off duty—rushed to their posts —participated in the attack, dropping thousands of high explosive and incendiaries to delayed action explosives and missiles of the Civil Defence.

Official sources said the Germans had all their resources in the London raid that it was possible to have put up.

"They just couldn't have had more planes or more, if they had been any more over London," one said.

The first ones reared in about 8:30 p.m. at the beginning, the radio announced that the Germans had dropped 75 to 100 bomb bursts in their aerial attack, but that it was timed out because unexpected bombs.

Fire Chief Also Casualty

A slight interruption of communications between the Canadian Press and London Bureau of The Can. indicated a time bomb forced evacuation of the building in which the office. The staff had been in new quarters since the Germans set the building, in which The Canadian Press had its offices, damaged by fire in the Dec. 30 attack.

Among the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System announced in New York that their London offices had been wrecked by bombs. Their staffs were safe. The B.B.C. studios had been bombed out and the secret, but not the staff.

At dawn, the streets—littered with broken glass, shattered masonry, furniture and clothing—were filled with dozens of families forced to flee by the bombs. Many were carrying their belongings to building before fire-fighters had put out the flames.

Five Raiders Shot Down

Five German raiders were shot down by anti-aircraft fire and three by R.A.F. fighters, it was announced. Six fell in the sea, two were captured and taken to a police station had to be hustled off to another when a crowd set out to lynch one of the first.

Another unofficially reported killed in one direct hit on a London shelter. Many persons were buried under the debris of the building.

One of the casualties was Edward Ward, Canadian correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, who was killed in a bomb blast. He suffered cuts on the face, and died. Ward, who was born in the west end, shrugged his shoulders.

Moskowitz, who faces a possible jail sentence and maximum $10,000 fine, also was red-faced and worried in his eyes.

Judge Grover Moscowitz set April 24 as the date for sentencing and fining of any defence motions.

The 12-hour charge, which the jury caused to be re-read late last night, the Judge declared that "this case is important to the government, because the income tax laws must be enforced."

Both men left the court without comment.

Thus ended the seven-week trial during which the Hollywood magnate had testified that he was not

OTTAWA MAYOR WOULD INSTITUTE CONSCRIPTION

Thinks It Is Up to Government to Enforce Conscription

Ottawa, April 17 (CP)— Mayor Stanley Lewis of Ottawa told the annual dinner of the 43rd Regimental Association here last night that it is "up to the government" to institute conscription for active service.

"If any want to bring the morale of the people up and increase war loans now is the time to step in and bring in conscription," he said. He referred to an advertisement appearing in the Ottawa papers Tuesday asking for 10 volunteers for service overseas with the Ordnance Store Company, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps as a "crime."

"The government has failed in getting these men and that is by appealing voluntarily to patriotism," he said.

Lt.-Col. C. S. MacFarlane, Officer Commanding the second battalion, Canadian Grenadier Guards overseas, a reserve army unit, said the army "definitely needs men who are willing to take active service with ever they are called."

Col. George A. Wells, principal Protestant Chaplain of the Canadian forces, suggested that Canadian newspapers should print daily editorial summaries of the progress of the war, in an optimistic vein.

"I'd rather be an optimist and be wrong than be a pessimist and be right," he said.

KEEP REGULAR WITHOUT "DOSING"

Try the "Better Way" for More Than Temporary Relief

LONDON, Canada: Doctors will tell you constipation is caused often by lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet. "Dosing" constipation gives only temporary relief. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN supplies the proper kind of "bulk" to help you keep regular. It's delicious, too. Eat it every day, as a cereal or in crisp muffins, and drink plenty of water. But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like purgatives. It takes time. At your grocer's, in the red-and-green tins. Individual serving packages at restaurants. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

A jury foreman Emerson Hemphill announced the verdict and the financial pioneer slumped back in his chair and, burying his face with red, shrugged his shoulders.

industry—a man loved by everyone —like to his friends and for to the government," by defence counsel Harold Corbin.

Moskowitz—fraud." by United States Attorney Mathias Correa.

Will Hays, "Movie industry censor" head, charles Chaplin and other film personages testified the reputations of Schenck and Moskowitz were above reproach.

Testimony produced records showing that Schenck had claimed in his returns large deductible losses; that he neglected to report income and that he claimed as "business expenses" free-handed expenditures on women and parties given in Hollywood, New York and Europe.

other at the right flank based on the slopes of fabled Mt. Olympus.

On the left flank, the announcement that the first column had entered the upper valley of the Aliakmon River, near Grevena, some 80 miles south of the Yugoslav frontier, and was trying to advance toward Kozani, in the foothold of the Plains of Thessaly.

The second column, pushing forward from Kastoria, 25 miles northeast of Grevena, also crossed the Aliakmon and entered the Greek High Command said, in a drive apparently aimed at the rear of the Mt. Olympus fortifications.

British reinforcements and heavy fighting was in progress in several sectors of the Greek mountain battlefront across the Greek peninsula, and the Allies were reported moving reinforcements into the Greek German thrusts.

The R.A.F. Office in London, however, declared it had no confirmation of the statements of the German quarters—that the Allied line had been pierced south of Mt. Olympus.

Kalabaka, the immediate objective of the Germans on the central front, is about 30 miles south of the Italian defence line's northern terminus of a railway to Athens.

The Italians have built a fort of Mt. Olympus, a branch line connecting Kalabaka with Elassona, 13 miles below Kalabaka.

On the Albanian front, the Greek High Command said, Italian troops in Epeirus, the area south of Klisura (Koritza) have gained control of the Klisura Mavri gorge (apparently a pass) and the village.

The Ministry of Home Security reported that the number of German warplanes had bombed numerous localities behind the lines, but minimized both damage and casualties.

THREE DESTROYERS

Greek warplanes, striking off the coast near the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, were reported engaged with "constantly and successfully" bombarding dispersal points and troops fighting with Imperial forces at Salum, Fort Capuzzo and Tobruk.

Great emphasis was placed today on the arming of merchant vessels off Sicily. Two of the ships announced as destroyed were medium-sea vessels laden with motorized equipment, the Admiralty said; one was of 3,000 tons, "probably transports," were blown up; and the fifth, a 5,000-ton merchantman, came "blew up with a terrific explosion."

The Italian destroyers sent to the bottom included the 1,628-ton Luca Tarlei, and two smaller destroyers not mentioned by name.

During the action, which occurred Tuesday night, the Admiralty said, British destroyer Mohawk was also torpedoed, but was towed to port, the crew (normally 190 men), including the commander, were rescued, the Admiralty said.

Whether the axis convoy was intercepted by mines or torpedoes was not specified, and there was no information on the fate of the men aboard the ships.

Regular checkups on gas masks are the order of the day in London. These office workers line up to pass through a gas chamber on a mobile gas van. British expect that Nazi planes may unloose gas bombs in a prelude to attempted invasion.

RECTAL SORENESS and PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, get quick relief treatment and run the risk of letting this trouble become more chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and that relief treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose the Pile Package of Hem-Roid from J. S. McKeown or any druggist is offered on a money back guarantee. Hem-Roid is not expensive, is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a tried remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

50,000 DEAD ESTIMATED NAZI LOSSES IN GREECE

Greeks Move Back But British Army Holds Mt. Olympus

For Six Days British Troops Hurl Back Repeated Waves Of Nazi Infantry

Athens, April 18 —(CP)— At least two divisions of German troops, supported by upwards of 1,000 planes, hammered at the Allied defence lines in Greece today, meeting with particularly stubborn resistance in the vicinity of Kalabak on the hard-pressed central front.

On the east flank the Germans were reported exerting relentless pressure on British forces holding positions on the slopes of Mt. Olympus under terrific aerial bombardment.

On the opposite flank German troops driving down along the Greek-Albanian border confronted the Greeks with a new danger which threatened to force their complete withdrawal from Albania.

An authoritative Greek spokesman said early today that increased power of German troops" had forced the Greeks to withdraw.

"The situation," he added, "is developing unfavourably."

"Heavy losses and regret regarding the military situation is justified. The struggle against two Empires which was imposed on us by Germany could not last indefinitely."

5,900,000 Pounds Of Aluminum Owned By France

New York, April 18 (AP) — The aluminum corporation of America is seeking to buy 5,900,000 pounds of aluminum the French government bought for its aircraft and munitions plants before Germany conquered France.

The aluminum, needed in the American aircraft industry and in the shape of pressed rods and sheets, is in warehouses in Manhattan and Detroit, as well as on the French Line pier here and on railroad cars at Staten Island.

It was learned that the aluminum company immediately upon discovering the "forgotten" metal, made offers which were rejected by the Vichy government. But negotiations on the sale has been snagged by judgments obtained by various persons, including some in the Canadian government, all declaring claims on properties of France.

ITALIANS ADMIT LOSS OF CONVOY

Up Until Last Night High Command Branded British Report as False

Rome, April 18—(AP)—The Italian High Command acknowledged today that British naval units had sunk two steamships and a torpedo-boat in an attack on an Italian supply convoy bound for North Africa.

Several other ships in the convoy and two other torpedo-boats were reported damaged.

"The British Admiralty announced annihilation of an Italian convoy off Sicily Tuesday night, sinking five merchant ships and three destroyers.

"Only last night the Italian News and Propaganda Agency, Stefani, had branded as false this announcement as false.)

A communique declared that the British Admiralty announcement was sunk during the engagement and claimed that other units of a strong attacking force of cruisers and destroyers were "probably damaged."

The British Admiralty acknowledged the loss of the Mohawk.)

AMERICAN-MADE PATROL BOMBERS NOW AT SINGAPORE

Greeted By RAF Pilots As They Roar In After Trans-Pacific Flight

MADE IN SAN DIEGO

Singapore, April 18 — (AP) — American - made patrol bombers — the same as the latest additions to the United States Navy — roared in here today after a trans-Pacific flight.

They were greeted by squadrons of Royal Air Force pilots in Brewster-Buffalo fighters which, authorities announced, were in the air within 24 hours of their uncrating.

American-built Lockheed Hudsons also roared aboard to meet the big patrol bombers completing their epic journey across the China Sea to join British and Australian patrols charged with protecting Britain's eastern defences.

HALF-MILLION CIVILIANS WANTED AS RAID SPOTTERS

U.S. Army Issues Call for Volunteers to Man Air Raid Spotting System

TO INCLUDE WOMEN

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The United States army called today for a half million civilians, including a man an air raid spotting system, calculated a series of watch defence moves which reflected the grave attitude of government officials toward the mounting war crisis abroad.

Women as well as men were expected to be accepted in the air raid precaution network which Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, said "is the first preparedness for a possible emergency."

The House Military Affairs and New York worried side by side with male volunteers when a test of such a spotting service was made last January.

Checked by British System

Lt.-Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the army's general headquarters air force at times explained the operation of the program, aided by officers who have checked the operations of the British Air Raids Precautions Service under war conditions.

Four ships have turned back for another defence move, to the raid-stricken city of Belgrade and Malta. They were the first dismatched under the Balkan Pact of 1934. The R.S. Robin Doncaster already has been delivered to Britain at Salonika; the S.S. Almeria Lykes, S.S. Exemplar and S.S. Delphinian were reported in process of delivery. Manned entirely by British officers and men, they sail under the red ensign.

No One Comments On Latest Raid As London Crowds Buy Daffodils

London, April 18 (CP)—Battered by Wednesday night's worst air raid of the war, the central and west end of London blossomed today with a new crop of daffodils and "business as usual" signs.

The only shops not open were those ravaged by bomb and fire.

Many streets closed to traffic yesterday were open today, with the movement of all kinds of vehicles brisk.

Carpenters and joiners were everywhere through the blasted districts, fitting sheets of plywood to damaged shops, and some of the more optimistic proprietors were having full plate glass windows installed.

While smoke clouds still hung over the great city the daffodil season started, causing considerable excitement.

At one market retailers elbowed one another from dawn to mid-day, each crying the "business" sign: "Daffodils per. Unexploded bomb."

"Business as usual" said one weary salesman. "Why, it's excellent. Good as last year, I would say."

Sidestepping wreckage, hundreds of Londoners paused to buy bunches of daffodils and narcissus. Crowds paid to attend the annual daffodil exhibition and gaze at prize specimens.

In an hour spent at the exhibit a reporter did not hear even a single comment on the latest raid.

London Bomb Victims Cheered By Headlines 'RAF Hits Back at Berlin'

By LOUIS HUNTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, April 18 (CP). — Bomb scars linking her heaving breast like bravery awards, a proud London carried on today the grim task of shaking the dust of the most wanton air bombardment of the war and was cheered by screaming newspaper headlines: "R.A.F. hits back at Berlin".

Thousands of rescue workers, fire fighters and other civil defence personnel continued the seemingly impossible undertaking of healing the wicked wounds in the body of the great sprawling metropolis. It will be a long time before some of the wounds inflicted in the indiscriminate, incessant bombing are healed and it is doubtful if the full story will ever be told to be told.

Make Quick Recovery.

London made a quick recovery from the raid that left three vast tons upon tons of debris from the shattered buildings littering the city streets, delaying pedestrians bound for work and necessitating the re-routing of buses.

Here and there heaps of ruins were still smouldering. Pathetic scenes abound, with bedraggled men, women and children, some bandaged, poking the debris of their homes in an attempt to recover belongings.

Some were silent and more pathetic sights where 100 rescue workers still were fine-combing the ruins of a four-storey block of apartments in one London working class district. So far the bodies of two men and two women have been recovered. Seven of eleven persons removed from the debris are alive.

A dog barking in the debris attracted the attention of rescuers, who found the animal beside the body of its master.

Death Toll Heavy.

A search continued among the wreckage of another block of workers' flats for victims still trapped. The death toll is expected to be heavy. A number of dead was found and others injured when rescuers within a few hours and the search went on ceaselessly.

Tunnelling under the debris of buildings were 200 or 400 persons lived, rescue workers so far have not located anyone and it is feared there is little likelihood of anyone still trapped being rescued alive.

41 Cadets Selected From Ranks Of Overseas Units Now Lieutenants

By ROSS MUNRO
(Canadian Press War Correspondent)

Somewhere in England, April 18 (CP).—Presenting lieutenant commissions to 41 cadets, one officer of the Canadian army overseas, members of the first graduating class, officer cadet training unit, Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum said: "We need the blood like young officers in the Canadian army and I express the hope you have the spirit of the Canada that has put us all here."

The cadets, now all lieutenants, were selected from the ranks of overseas regiments as officer material. M. J. Heffernan of Windsor, Ont., was among them.

Among the new lieutenants were the following: W. A. Dalrymple, Fredericton, N.B.A.F.; Boreham, F. W. Cooke, A. B. MacGregor, E. J. R. Ryall and J. A. Woodhouse, Toronto; R. Chisholm, Hamilton; C. Trendall, Kitchener, Ont.; G. Bell, Montreal, and J. T. S. Huyton, London, Ont.

WILL BOMB ROME IF ATHENS OR CAIRO ATTACKED

British Gov't. Says Italians Are Prepared to Drop "Captured British Bombs on Vatican City"

GOV'T. ADAMANT

London, April 18 (CP)—The British Government warned today it would consider "systematic bombing of Rome" if either Athens or Cairo, Egypt, is attacked.

The Government said the Italians are prepared to drop "captured British bombs upon Vatican City" should Rome be raided by the R. A. F.

The announcement came from 10 Downing Street following a visit by Prime Minister.

It added that in case the bombing of Rome starts "it will continue, as convenient, to the end of the war."

The greatest care will be taken not to bomb Vatican City, the statement continued, and then described as "quite characteristic trick" the Italian plan to use British bombs on Vatican City.

Cairo radio broadcast religious shrines sacred to the Moslem world.

It previously had been reported that an agreement had been reached to avoid bombing of Rome and Athens because of their ancient monuments.

76 REPORTED KILLED AT BREST

Vichy, France, April 18—(CP)—The French Information office here claimed today that 76 persons were killed and 50 wounded in a recent Royal Air Force bombardment of Brest.

The information office said the bombing was "the most terrible British raid" but made no particulars of the material damage were reported.

(The German belligerents Scharnhorst and Gneisenau have been sheltering at Brest.)

10,000 BELGRADE CITIZENS KILLED BY NAZI BOMBERS

AP Writer Saw Hundreds of Bodies Lying In Debris of Homes

JUST A MASSACRE

(Editor's Note: — Robert St John, American press correspondent stationed in Belgrade when the German army struck Yugoslavia, sent the story of the dispatch since the Palm Sunday invasion of paralyzing blows by the Nazi war machine.)

By ROBERT ST. JOHN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Somewhere in Montenegro with the remnants of the Yugoslav army —(Via Athens, Greece, via London —(Delayed) Mass German air attacks that killed at least 10,000 persons in Belgrade alone and turned Yugoslavia's principal cities into smoking shambles struck the paralyzing blows opening the Balkan war.

Men, women and children lay by the hundreds in the debris of their homes after the unrelated Palm bombing attacks on cities.

Belgrade, capital ordered by their government not to clog the roads by air flight, joined with the military as refugees did in France, set to flee on their threshold, if necessary, and die in the fight.

FIRST NAVY CASUALTY LIST

Ottawa, April 18 (CP)—The Royal Canadian Navy today issued casualty list of the war, today reporting the deaths of five men killed in action and the death of a sixth from wounds received in action.

All were serving in H.M.S. Bonaventure, which the Admiralty recently announced had sunk in convoy work.

The navy report brought the list of dead and missing reported by the Canadian navy since war started to 327.

PORTSMOUTH PORT PRINCIPAL TARGET OF NAZI RAIDERS

Damage Not Severe And Casualties Light Says Communique

2 ALARMS IN LONDON

Portsmouth, England, April 18 —(CP)— German planes bombed this important south coast naval base for several hours during the night.

A communique of raiders took part in the attack, which was the heaviest of the night in Britain.

The German planes began coming over shortly after dark and kept up the assault for several hours.

High explosives did damage in various parts of the city, but authorities said casualties were remarkably light.

Crashes Into Church

One heavy high explosive bomb crashed into a church hall from which many persons had hastened to safer shelter just a few minutes previously.

The only casualty in this incident was an air raid precautions warden. He was picking up a bomb to hurl, on the edge of a bomb crater which was rapidly filling with water.

Knudsen Not Afraid Of Productive Capacity Of The United States

Washington, April 18 (AP)—William S. Knudsen testified yesterday that "when we get going," the United States will have a greater productive capacity than "any two countries in Europe you can mention."

The United States defence production co-director made the statement to the senate military affairs investigating Committee when asked by Chairman Harry Truman (Dem., Missouri), whether the United States could equal the production of Germany.

"We've got much more productive power than that, Knudsen replied. "We've got more than any two countries in Europe that you can mention. There is no comparison there."

"You think we could supply the whole world with armaments, do you?" Knudsen was asked.

"I don't know about the whole world," Knudsen said, "but we can take on any two of them after we get started."

British Warships' African Columns Slows Up Drive

Cairo, Egypt, April 18 (AP)—Desert-wise British troops, supported by the bombs of the Royal Air Force and the guns of the Mediterranean fleet, have inflicted the worst beating suffered by Axis units in mechanized and bayonet fighting on the North African front, according to today's Middle East communique.

Besides numerous Axis men and vehicles destroyed in clashes at Derna and Gabala, Italian and the Egyptian border outpost Salum.

Backing them up were units of the Mediterranean fleet which pumped tons of shells at Derna and Benghazi and rest of Salum in a bombardment started 48 hours ago when Italian troops crashed with a big part in putting the brake on the "Axis push across North Africa.

Attack On Axis Ships Driven Off

In the skies, British and Australian airmen reported a damaging "harassment" attack against the Germans and Italians.

On the sprawling East - African front, the British command said that its forces were in contact with the Italians 14 miles south of Desse, in Northwest Ethiopia and that South-east Northwest Addis Ababa and other Ethiopian sectors were advance of our troops also is making progress.

A General Gradisci was taken prisoner and hurried to an Axis Ababa hospital for treatment of wounds received after he had been left behind by the fleeing Italians.

(A General Eugenio Graziol is the Italian Body Commander-in-Chief Africa. He saw service in Italy's African campaign in 1896, the Italian-Turkish war of 1911-12 and the First Great War, having won high decorations in the last.)

Numerous other prisoners were captured, the High Command reported, in the African operations, which appeared heading toward a climax.

New Type of Bomb Used By Attackers For First Time

Burst Across Targets In Heart Of Berlin With Heavy Damage

London, April 18 —(CP)— The Royal Air Force, striking back in swift and fiery answer to Wednesday night's heaviest Nazi raid on London, pounded the heart of Berlin overnight with new and powerful "superbombs" in its biggest assault thus upon the German capital, the Air Ministry announced today.

"Very substantial damage" was inflicted, the Air Ministry declared.

"It will remind the Germans that the R.A.F. still is able to reach Berlin," London sources said of the Berlin assault.

Herbert Morrison, home secretary, told London defence workers some of the new-type high explosives were carried to Berlin by the new four-engined Short-Stirling bomber which is capable of carrying several tons of bombs and reportedly is the most powerful in use by any air force in the world.

Details of the Stirl-Stirling are secret, but it is known to have a long range, high speed and particularly strong defence weapons. It has not been heretofore used in attacks on German-occupied territory.

BROKEN AXLE CAUSE OF WRECK

C.P.R. Master Mechanic Testifies He Found Defect in the Axle

Winchester, Ont., April 18 (CP)— A broken axle "in which there was supposed to be a flaw" caused a wreck which killed three Canadian Pacific railwaymen at nearby Interman station March 21, a coroner's jury decided yesterday at an inquest into the tragedy.

R. C. Carlisle, Canadian Pacific master mechanic, told the jury he had examined the axle of a freight car which had been derailed, pending the latter half of the train plunging into a passing passenger train in front of the station.

"I found there had been a defect in it, a small flaw in the material," he said, "it might have been a flaw occurring in the foundry or the pouring. We have no way of detecting a flaw of this type."

A. E. Crate of Smith Falls, Ont., conductor on the freight train, said the axle had been sheared off near the centre."

Engineer F. Plato and fireman Wallace Plunkett, both of Smith's Falls, testified when the derailed freight cars overturned the engine of the passenger train, sending it crashing into the station. William Maxwell, C.P.R. section foreman from nearby Maxwell, Ont., died from burns suffered when he was trapped in the station.

HALIFAX VISITED BY FREAK STORM

City "Blacked Out" for Short Time When Lightning Built Electric Line

Halifax, April 18 —(CP)— A freak electric storm, first of the season here, struck Halifax shortly before last night and damaged the city's power supply system, demolished theatre crowds scurried for taxis and the street car service was disrupted by the temporary power failure.

The power failure was believed caused when lightning struck the main transmission line entering the city. A bolt struck a 15-inch water pipe, damaging the underground plant and wrecked a section of pipe buried five feet below the ground.

Child Found Dead, Head Caught in Farm Automobile

Listowel, Ont., April 18—(CP)— With his head caught between the steering wheel and top of the car of an automobile, the body of four-year-old Robert Ross Pelker, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pelker, was found last evening at the rear of his home after he had been missing for some time.

It is believed that the child climbed up on the spare tire of the car and put his head into the party opened window when his feet slipped and he was left hanging by the head. Drowning of the body was made by some of the neighbors who returned to his father that the child was asleep.

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

MRS. ROY BLAKELY WINNER OF QUILT

Mrs. Roy Blakely, 94 Moira St., East, was the winner of a lovely quilt raffled off at the conclusion of the euchre and dance staged in the Ajaima Hall under the auspices of the Bonnie Juvenile Orange Lodge following the closing session of the 14th annual convention of the Orange Young Britons on Wednesday evening.

An orchestra composed of members of newly organized Belleville Junior Orange Lodge supplied the music for the fraternal dance, which was attended by a goodly number of the visiting delegates of the Orange convention held here this week. Three prizes for euchre honors were also presented.

FOUR FIRE ALARMS ANSWERED BY BRIGADE

Two alarms for chimney fires and the same number of grass fires have constituted the activities of the local fire department during the past two days. On Wednesday three alarms were answered, these being for a chimney blaze at the residence of J. T. Hurst, 38 Strachan Street and for two grass fires at diverse points. On Good Friday the brigade was called to 36 Cedar St., the residence of Mrs. Robt. Birdie for a chimney fire. No damage resulted from any of the blazes, it was reported.

NORTHERN LAKES FREE OF ICE

Steel rods and other fishing tackle belonging to local nimrods can now come out of winter storage, with the owners having no surface they will not be rushing the season for according to reports from the north country and the county, lakes in that district are now entirely free of their winter's ice. Ice in Salmon Lake disappeared on Sunday last week, while it is reported that Loon Lake, in the Apsley district is also clear of ice.

For northern lakes in Hastings County to be free of ice at this time of year establishes somewhat of a record, as it is usually late up. In the memory of residents of Limerick township, the breakup of ice in Salmon Lake is one of the earliest in years.

TAG DAY TO AID WAR SUPPLY FUND.

In response to Churchill's "Give us the tools and we will finish the job" message, the Belleville Chapter No. 55, O.E.S. Patriotic Committee, are making an appeal to the citizens of Belleville Saturday, April 19th., in the form of a tag day. The net proceeds of the day will be contributed to Lord Beaverbrook's War Supply Fund. The public of Belleville which has been generous to worthy calls with all patriotic projects, is asked to make a generous response as possible to this appeal, the success of which will be one step further in attaining world peace.

Physical Director Of Albert College To Proceed Overseas

Dr. Bert Howard, Principal of Albert College today announced that N. A. "Pete" Beach, Director of Health and Recreation for the College, has been granted leave of absence for the duration of the war, to enable him to accept a position with the Y.M.C.A. War Service Staff on active service. Mr. Beach is expected to proceed overseas "some time this month" to take the place of a Y.M.C.A. supervisor who is returning to Canada.

During the past five years Mr. Beach has been on the faculty of Albert College. Previous to coming to Belleville he was on the staff of the London Y.M.C.A. first as Assistant Physical Director and later as Secretary of Boys' Work. During the summer months, he spent his time in Boys' Camp activities; being successively director of the City of London Fresh Air Camp, London Y.M.C.A's Silver Beach Camp, and on the Kingston Y.M.C.A's R-K-Y Camp, Mr. Beach also spent from time last summer assisting with the program of the Belleville Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp at Moira Lake.

Worked 8 Years in Toronto

Following public and secondary school education in Toronto, Mr. Beach spent eight years in the employ of a Toronto concern, then enrolled at the University of Western Ontario where he majored in psychology and philosophy. While at college he was active in extra-curricular activities, being President of his Freshman year, a member of the Student Administrative Assembly, and President of the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Movement. In athletics he held Ontario Y.M.C.A. championships in track at distances from one half to two miles while a member of West End Y.M.C.A. of Toronto where he was President of both Track and Field Club and Basketball Club. Again, at University he was a member of the Senior Rugby team, and as a member of the wrestling team won the Intercollegiate title.

Mr. Beach is at present Vice-President of the Bay of Quinte Central Ontario Secondary School Association.

POLICE COURT

"What's the matter here? I know that fight as a former magistrate and I might add that I've seen the appearances of a kangaroo court," was the remark answered to the name of George W. Massey, and who gave Edmonton, Alta., as his address, when he appeared before Magistrate J. R. Deroche, K.C., as he asked City Police Court on a charge of vagrancy, which resulted in his being in custody pending a mental examination by Dr. Doyle, Provincial Psychiatrist. Massey was arrested on Pinnacle Street late yesterday as the result of causing a disturbance on private property.

"Apparently this man is not normal," suggested Crown Attorney R. B. Donnan, K.C., as he asked the court to hold Massey for mental examination.

"You're not a psychiatrist, how can you judge me?" shouted Massey as he added he had been examined in Toronto and liberated earlier in the week.

"I know my legal rights," Massey persisted to shout and protest, as he was led away to the cell block below the court room by Detective Fred Izard, both commodities caused considerable excitement in the court, where serenity usually prevails.

Four Are Charged

After tranquility had been restored, four women appeared on charges of intoxication the following pleas of guilty the conventional fine of ten dollars and costs was imposed in each incident. Two of the women were under 21 years of age and were held by order of His Worship in an effort to ascertain where they had procured the intoxicants.

Charges of Theft Preferred

Three member of the Trenton Air Force appeared on charges of the theft of two watches, taken last night from off the counter at the Royal United Cigar Store, Restitution was made and a six months suspended sentence given each man upon the payment of the costs which amounted to $6.05 each.

"I am instructed these men successfully graduated in their classes yesterday and following the conventional procedure became slightly intoxicated to celebrate the occasion. I think liquor can be attributed the cause of their actions," Crown Attorney Donnan assured the court.

Two juvenile cases, held in camera, concluded the court.

OFFICERS NAMED FOR GRAND LODGE IN LAST SESSION

C. W. Hudson of Haliburton Elected Grand Master of Orange Lodge for Ontario East

TWO RESOLUTIONS

Mr. C. W. Hudson of Haliburton, Ontario, was elected Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Eastern Ontario for the year 1941-42 at the closing session of the 82nd annual convention held in the city hall auditorium on Thursday afternoon.

The presentation of the various committee reports, the election of officers and the passing of resolutions comprised the entire day's schedule of business. In the absence of Grand Master Orange Order in the Eastern Ontario jurisdiction, due to recent accompanying re-affirming their stand against the spreading of bilingualism in Canada, and also exploring the action of the Federal Government in condoning the unofficial use of the French language in the provincial house. They also expressed their satisfaction and disappointment at the failure of the Federal Government to throw their full weight of this Dominion behind Great Britain in the present war.

Officers Elected

The officers elected for the Grand Orange Lodge for Eastern Ontario for the ensuing year were:

Grand Master, C. W. Hudson, Haliburton; Deputy Grand Master, Creighton Devitt, Burketon; Junior Deputy Grand Master, John Dawson, Ottawa; Grand Chaplain, Rev. Canon Bedford Berratry, D. D., Sutherland, Ottawa; Grand Treasurer, C. H. Hall, Hanson; Grand Secretary, Neil Porter, Orono; Grand Marshal, J. M. Carl, Stirling; Deputy Grand Marshal, Arthur Mc-Donald, Pontiac Heights; Deputy Grand Marshal, Ernest Perfect, Pembroke.

Following are the two major resolutions passed at the concluding session:

"That we, the members of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, in session assembled, do hereby reaffirm our stand against the spreading of bilingualism in Canada, and particularly deplore the action of the Federal Government in condoning the use and aiding the unnecessary and unjustifiable use of the French language in the Province by means of the radio, official documents and publications, the appointment of bilingual officials, the literature issued on behalf of the War Savings drive in which French is given precedence over the English language.

Second Resolution

That we, the members of this Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, in session assembled in Belleville, April 17, 1941, do hereby express our deep disappointment and found disappointment at the failure of the Federal Government to throw the full weight of this Dominion behind Great Britain in her struggle for democracy, freedom, civilization and Christianity. That we are conscious, from our own resources. The first was an Irish jig, the dancers wearing attractive green costumes and the second revealed them in evening attire as darkies in "The Old Plantation" setting. The clutching excelled themselves in these dances, and Dorothy Lynch also was heard in a very well rendered recitation and in both she greatly enjoyed.

Mona the Wonder Dog, performing incredible tricks and tests at the direction of Carl Bradley, was a feature of the evening's performance. Hugo, the parish pet, also made a brilliant appearance on the stage and proved a fine actor. Hans a clever and humorous dog understood and followed his master's commands in a manner that amazed the audience. Adding variety to the programme was the solo time clogging by Mr. Frank Walsh and Mr. Bill Levesque who also accompanied Mr. Tommy Bowerman on the piano and his fine step dancing. This number proved a decided hit.

Exhibition Given

A number of members of the academy in Mr. Jack Doran's physical training classes gave an exhibition of tumbling and pyramid building. They went through the various feats in effortless style and each got a hand with well deserved applause.

Miss Bernice Saunders, soprano, was a guest artist last evening and her solos were enjoyed by every charming manner.

At the conclusion of the program the visitors enjoyed the games. The drawing for the door prize resulted in five dollars being won by Jon McCormick. The lucky ticket for the cash award was held by Mrs. P. J. Lynch.

Dancing to music by the Top Hatters brought to a close the second evening of the Festival, a completely new stage performance will be presented tonight, the closing evening of the festival.

GIBBARD FURNITURE CO. RESUMES WORK UNDER NEW OWNER

The Gibbard Furniture Shops Ltd., of Napanee, well known in this district for a number of years, resumed operations this week after suspension of business for some months.

Acquired by Mr. Jack McPherson, the company and plant have been completely reorganized, with modern equipment added and necessary alterations made.

The present management intends to manufacture furniture of the same high quality as has always been associated with the name "Gibbard" and will feature Canadian hardwoods which at the present time are rapidly gaining in favor. Occasional tables and veneer types of furniture will be made.

SPRING FESTIVAL AT ST. MICHAEL'S PROVES POPULAR

Auditorium Filled to Capacity to Enjoy Varied Program Arranged

SPLENDID SUPPER

The second evening of the Spring Festival held by St. Michael's Parish Thursday proved a tremendous success. The spacious auditorium was filled to capacity to enjoy the splendid talent numbers greatly enjoyed the varied program presented by the festival committee.

Attendance at the supper served by members of the C.W.L. in the women's League was very large and the appetizing food, which made up the menu were a tribute to the skill of the ladies of the parish. Following supper games engaged the attention of those present and valuable prizes were won by lucky winners. Games were also played after the stage program.

Under the direction of Allan Meagher, with Harold Carey acting as master of ceremonies in his usual capable manner, the stage performance of high standard was presented for the delight of the audience and Mr. Meagher met with merited applause. The intention of the stage committee to bring to you, produce in the three nights' entertainments the best talent in the community and those attending have had the pleasure of being entertained by the outstanding talent of the city.

Varied Musical Program

Opening the program last evening was the accordion band, under direction of Mr. Arthur Snare and Miss Betty Snare, whose numbers received the acclaim of Wednesday evening's audience. Dorothy Lefler, Mary Pigeon, Mafalda Pigeon and Mr. Snare were in their selections the band members proved themselves splendid performers and their numbers greatly augmented the program in spirited style.

Four small dancers in kilts charmed with their Highland dancing, in the manner of professionals. They were Misses Helen and Cathleen East, in another stage set, Kathryn Barrett, Mrs. Grant acted as accompanist. John Bond and Ted Doyle members of St. Michael's band gave a cornet duet, that was a tribute to their skill and training. Barbara and Ronnie Donavon, pupils of Allan Meagher, also are favourites with Belleville audiences, presented two dance numbers. The

Greater Production Of Milk Needed To Help Out Britain

Stirling, (Special)—Addressing a large gathering of Northumberland milk producers at Hoards' Station Cheese Factory, Wm. Newman, vice-chairman of the Ontario Farm Products Board, made a personal appeal for greater production of raw milk to be turned into food for Britain. "This isn't Canada's contribution," he declared, "it's Canada's duty. We listen to the news each day with our hearts in our boots. The seriousness of it. Hitler and his murderous gang have gained much headway in the past year. They have taken everything in their stride. Germany has become a power of destruction rolling forward and crushing everything in its path. Only the grace of God and the English Channel has saved the British Isles from his land forces. And plenty of the Grace of God, for I believe God is with us" continued the speaker with deep feeling.

Canada's Farmers Called Up for Duty

"The Britishers on those tight little islands are fighting our defence as an Empire. They suffer hardships beyond compare not for their themselves but for us. The British Empire shall remain and that depends us here. Each one's determination to carry on is revealed in the new agricultural developments. Britain is using all available land for the growing of foodstuff. Big stables of thoroughbred horses, kennels of racing dogs, etc., have all been given up, concentrating on developing dairy cattle for milk production.

Planned Pasture Production Needed

"Canada is asked to produce dairy products on a stage never before attained. Britain needs all we can send her. Already she is cutting to come from the Central Ontario district. We are asked for a ten per cent increase in production. Is cheese the thing? No, we've got it? Not through increased herds; there is no time for that. The thing is more efficient feeding and care of the animals we have and an increased flow of raw milk. Previously this district has been shipping a small percentage of Britain's dairy needs. Australia and New Zealand supplied the way. But with Japan threatening action in the high seas the output of these countries may be greatly hampered. Canada is expected to fill the gap.

"No two farmers are faced with identical problems in the production and for that reason this great task will have to be largely solved by study and planning. The pasture problem is an important factor and a well managed growth of pasture and a general building of grass pasture will pay the highest dividends to the dairy farmer. Care of the herds and cleanliness in the handling of milk will increase the flow and raise the standard of quality.

Mr. Newman urged the speaker, addressing the young ladies present, "get on the overalls, get out in the field, farm boys and girls, men and women. All must roll up their sleeves and work to maintain the freedom from fear of the tyrant that has already swept over Europe. They'll do their share over in Britain. They must give up because they know we are behind them with all the energy we have."

Ian McLeod Speaks Briefly

The meeting was held in the interest of the provincial-wide campaign for greater milk production at the cheese factory at Stirling. Mr. Earl McAdam, President of the company, acted as chairman for the evening and in addition to Mr. Newman's fine address speeches were delivered by Mr. Ian McLeod, B.S.A., local representative of the Provincial Department of Agriculture for the county of Northumberland in which he set forth many helpful facts of agricultural interest. Others present were Mr. E. J. Pyear, President of the Milk Producers' Association for the County of Hastings, and Mr. J. A. Murray, dairy instructor for Northumberland County.

Entertainment Good

Interesting musical numbers, readings and comedy sketches made up the remainder of the fine program with Mrs. W. Dunnick, Mr. A. Foster and Mr. Arthur Duncan each contributing one or more numbers that were well received. The ladies served refreshments at the end and wound up with a fine period of social fellowship.

In athletics he held Ontario Y.M.C.A. championships in track at distances from one half to two miles while a member of West End Y.M.C.A. of Toronto where he was President of both Track and Field Club and Basketball Club. Again, at University he was a member of the Senior Rugby team, and as a member of the wrestling team won the Intercollegiate title.

Mr. Beach is at present Vice-President of the Bay of Quinte Central Ontario Secondary School Association.

POLICE COURT

"What's the matter here? I know that fight as a former magistrate and I might add that I've seen the appearances of a kangaroo court," was the remark answered to the name of George W. Massey, and who gave Edmonton, Alta., as his address, when he appeared before Magistrate J. R. Deroche, K.C., as he asked City Police Court on a charge of vagrancy, which resulted in his being in custody pending a mental examination by Dr. Doyle, Provincial Psychiatrist. Massey was arrested on Pinnacle Street late yesterday as the result of causing a disturbance on private property.

"Apparently this man is not normal," suggested Crown Attorney R. B. Donnan, K.C., as he asked the court to hold Massey for mental examination.

"You're not a psychiatrist, how can you judge me?" shouted Massey as he added he had been examined in Toronto and liberated earlier in the week.

"I know my legal rights," Massey persisted to shout and protest, as he was led away to the cell block below the court room by Detective Fred Izard, both commodities caused considerable excitement in the court, where serenity usually prevails.

Four Are Charged

After tranquility had been restored, four women appeared on charges of intoxication the following pleas of guilty the conventional fine of ten dollars and costs was imposed in each incident. Two of the women were under 21 years of age and were held by order of His Worship in an effort to ascertain where they had procured the intoxicants.

Charges of Theft Preferred

Three member of the Trenton Air Force appeared on charges of the theft of two watches, taken last night from off the counter at the Royal United Cigar Store, Restitution was made and a six months suspended sentence given each man upon the payment of the costs which amounted to $6.05 each.

"I am instructed these men successfully graduated in their classes yesterday and following the conventional procedure became slightly intoxicated to celebrate the occasion. I think liquor can be attributed the cause of their actions," Crown Attorney Donnan assured the court.

Two juvenile cases, held in camera, concluded the court.

POLICE BLOTTER

Belleville police apprehended two alleged deserters from the C.A.S.F. and turned the pair over to the Service Police at the R.C.A.F. base at Trenton yesterday. The men will later be returned to their respective units.

A fourteen-year-old Belleville lad, who has been missing from her home since last Tuesday night, was taken into custody last night by and detained at the police station. Today the little girl was arraigned in Police Court and later given into the custody of Inspector T. D. Hambly, of the Children's Aid Society. Her parents intimated the girl was rapidly becoming incorrigible.

A man, who gave his name as George Wilson, of Belleville, was arrested on a charge of vagrancy yesterday after allegedly causing a disturbance at the surgery of Dr. Noble on Pinnacle Street.

The cell block at the police station was filled to capacity last night when three women occupied the women's cell and eleven transients and two inebriates shared the men's block.

Belleville police are holding a bicycle that was found abandoned recently for identification by its owner.

BELIEVED NINE ESKIMOS KILLED

Unexplained Outburst of Violence Occurs on Belcher Islands

Ottawa, April 18 (CP)— Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters said today that fragmentary reports from the north indicated that as many as nine Eskimos died in an unexplained outburst of violence on the Belcher Islands, on Hudson Bay.

Police information was sparse. It confirmed that as at first reported from the north three persons were believed to have been murdered in the Eskimos' quarrel reported to have been over religious matters.

Other information was that investigation is proceeding in respect to other deaths and reports some of the victims had been chased out into the snow during a tribal fight and there died of exposure.

Further investigation would have to be made before the exact number of dead was known, police said. Present reports indicated that the trouble was in violence and expposure was nine.

Turkish Press Says Balkan War Enters Last Stage

Istanbul, Turkey, April 18—(AP)—Plans for evacuation of Turkish Thrace facing Bulgaria and Greece continued today as the press conceded that Yugoslavia is finished and said the Balkan war "has entered its last stage."

"Yugoslavia has ceased to turn to shreds with a bit for Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania as well as the 'axe' and the 'sickle' of the newspaper Tan. "This will free Germany, Europe and Italy from Greece."

It was estimated unofficially that 30,000 persons already have left Istanbul, paying their own way. Authorized refugee evacuation proportion has not begun.

The newspaper Ulus discussing the removal, said: "We hear professors going to cross Istanbul pavements in order to buy furniture and other goods at sacrifice prices. There is no end of such pathos."

Istanbul's only subway, a half-mile tunnel under a hill, was being converted into a huge air raid shelter.

Commanding on the United States promise of help in Yugoslavia, the newspaper Akshan said: "It is sad to think that when help arrives Yugoslavia will be no more. Couldn't America move more quickly in the face of the speed of modern warfare? But, perhaps, the object is to prove that happy-go-lucky hens seem trivial in America."

LAUNCH PROBE INTO MAN'S DEATH

Alleged to Have Suffered a Beating in Beverage Room

Trenton, April 18 (CP)—C. L. Snyder, Deputy Attorney General, said today an investigation has been launched into the death of a man named Gallo, 37, in Hamilton last night, reportedly after he had suffered a beating in a beverage room there Saturday night.

Mr. Snyder said reported to Queen's Park by Crown Attorney Dalton Dean of Wellington, who was instructed to proceed with an investigation along with police at Hamilton and Toronto. C. H. Ede, pathologist, has been sent to Hamilton by provincial authorities.

Mr. Snyder was informed that Gallo had forcibly ejected from a beverage room Saturday night, collapsed on a street Sunday and died last night.

'Glorious Is Word For Greece'

New York, April 18—(CP)—Under the heading: "Hail Greece," the New York World-Telegram today published this editorial:

"How the Battle of Greece will come out, we don't know. But we do know that a little land has written glorious history in both her sacrifice kindles new courage, and her example gives hope for all who love liberty everywhere.

"Perhaps there is room for the discouraged, whose homes are sacked, whose families slumber among the dead and the dying.

"But maybe not. It was their hope that they believed would chose suffering as better than yielding surrender to the conqueror. And thereby they still find honor. Perhaps, for a people cannot be instructive to the world's regard. It must look to the future. Now that the armies of multitudes in the enslaved lands, as in the democracies, look to them.

"Glorious is the word for Greece."

C. N. R. ENGINEER IS ACQUITTED

Charge of Manslaughter Not Upheld by Supreme Court Jury

Port Arthur, April 18 (CP)— An Ontario supreme Court jury late Saturday acquitted Arthur Dove, engineer of Hornepayne, Ont., on a charge of manslaughter and in charge of criminal responsibility for the death of Lawrence Sullivan who died Dec. 23 last when two trains collided.

The jury in a rider to its verdict stated: "we recommend the railroad (Canadian National Railways) institute a system whereby a train dispatcher's orders will be more definitely checked." Mr. Justice J. Keller Macdonald instructed the court to see that the recommendation was delivered to the railway executive.

The Crown contended at the trial that Downey's failure to follow a train order led to the death of Sullivan, a fireman, Downey was employed as engineer of a train which collided head-on with another train, Sullivan died later. While Judge Otter sitting.

Downey testified he had been confused by receipt of a second train order governing the train and said he believed the first one which instructed him to pass the second train at Hillsdale had been cancelled.

Sullivan jumped from the cab of Downey's locomotive and at the time of the collision and was killed by a derailed car.

Windsors On Trip To Palm Beach

Palm Beach, Fla., April 18 (AP)— The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived today at this winter resort, where a palatial villa reportedly was arranged despite the Duke's assertion that the three-day visit was designed for personal business.

They motored here from Miami where a crowd of 2,000 welcomed them from the private car from the steamer Berkshire after an overnight cruise from Nassau.

They were met there by Maj. Gray Phillips, the Duke's comptroller; Alan Scott, Atlanta banker, and Alexander Orr, Jr., Miami, and children.

At the last minute the Windsors changed plans and motored to Miami with a chiropodist and came to Palm Beach after circling through Miami's business district because of the chiropodist. Dr. Harry H. Young, said he had treated the Windsors before, and that there was no urgent business.

The Royal Governor of the Bahamas, Duke's predecessor in office, once, probably tomorrow, with Sir Edward Peacock, a Governor of the Bank of England, and a high financial adviser to the royal family, who has been cited by Nazi radio as a British purchasing commission member.

The principal item on the social program is a Sunday afternoon cricket party arranged for the guests by Mackintosh, a first Grenadier Guards officer and long a friend of the Duke.

The Windsors dinner parties, with the guest list ranging from 16 to 24, have been given at the Wanamaker's manor, with Mrs. James P. Donahue, Mr. and Mrs. Wesson, Governor Holland, Margaret Emerson, Herbert Pulitzer and others as hosts and hostesses.

British And Greek Forces Shorten Line In Northern Greece

Cairo, Egypt, April 18 (AP) — Greek and British forces on the northern front in Greece "are proudly withdrawing to a shorter line of defence," Middle East headquarters announced today.

The communique said that "so far the German attack in this area has been a costly one."

The withdrawal is being made, the communique said, because of increased German reinforcements facing daily—presumably from Yugoslavia.

Glee Club Members At Music Festival

Fifteen members of the Belleville Collegiate Institute Glee Club, under the direction of George N. Mayhew, took part in the annual Ontario Educational Association music festival at the Trinity United church on Wednesday evening. The program was a varied one consisting of, as arranged by the Ontario Educational Association all selections for furtherment of music within the schools of the province.

The B.C.I. Glee Club members took part in the presentation made by the Belleville Choral Society, a mixed choir of 500 men and voices. There was also a male voice chorus of 700 voices presented, while the 100-piece symphony orchestra was composed of advanced student musicians from all points in Ontario. Upwards of 7,000 persons witnessed the pageant.

Plans have been recorded and broadcast over a Canadian hook-up of radio stations. Conductor Mr. Mayhew revealed upon his return to Belleville, he was highly elated that the members of the Collegiate Glee Club made such a splendid contribution to that portion of the concert in which they took part.

SEEDING STARTED IN RIDGE ROAD SECTIONS OF P.E.CO.

Considerable seeding has been done in the Ridge Road sections of Prince Edward County, according to reports from that district. In most cases, seeding is about two weeks late as early as April 1st, on the Ridge Roads.

Ploughing and seeding preparations are also well in hand in sections in Hastings County, while some seeding has been done in the Campbellford, Northumberland and Peterborough counties.

St. Paul's Cathedral Bombed Second Time

London, April 18 (CP)—St. Paul's Cathedral suffered its second bombing during a recent air raid.

One bomb whistled through the towering dome of the cathedral during the raid, pierced the floor of the main auditorium and exploded in the crypt.

Only a comparative pinpoint of a hole was left in the dome but the floor was damaged, a gaping chasm and the crypt under it was blasted or broken stone.

This was the second direct hit on the structure since the war began, the altar having been damaged by one such raid Oct. 10. Capt. Robert Dean, R.N., chaplain of the cathedral, bomb unexploded from the courtyard in September, 1940, and on the night of the blitz of May 10 there was showered with incendiaries, which were extinguished.

It was disclosed that other London landmarks bombed in recent raids included the City Temple, a Congregational church; the Chelsea Old Church, Chelsea Hospital, Chelsea, Royal Hospital which is the headquarters of Chelsea for pensioners of the British Army, and Fire Great War; Christie's noted art auction rooms, and Selfridge's department store.

Doesn't Like Idea Of Sales Tax to Raise New Taxes

Washington, April 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he did not have the faintest idea how $3,000,000,000 in new taxes can be raised, but he indicated he did not like the idea of a sales tax.

Administration officials and Congressional leaders of both parties agreed yesterday on a huge program to raise $3,000,000,000 in new taxes next fiscal year to bring United States government income up to two-thirds of expenditures.

The manner of obtaining the money and the information on sources, the President said, is for the determination by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. Roosevelt also expected to make a public statement on the tax problem, soon but had not decided how or when.

German Minister Named to New Independent Croatia

Berlin, April 18 (AP)—Germany has named a minister of the new independent state of Croatia. The appointment of the minister, whose identity was not disclosed, was taken as an indication that the new Zagreb government would have status similar to the puppet regime in Slovakia.

Anti-Italian Hostility Seen On French Riviera

Rome, April 18 (AP)—A Stefani, Italian propaganda agency, dispatch from Nice, on the French Riviera, reported today anti-Italian hostility had been renewed there.

It admitted hostility was evident in the press and by the radio. The agency said, it "controlled completely by Marshal Petain."

Stefani said Nice was quoted as saying before an anti-Italian demonstration scheduled early in the month: "I give you my word of honor this land will remain always French."

Before Italy's entry into the war Nice was among places included in clamor raised in Italian demonstrations for French territory.)

Stefani asserted Italians of the region were "abused by the police, who hale them."

ROOSEVELT WANTS U. S. TO BE ALERT

Says Public Opinion is Not Adequately Aware of Acuteness of War Situation

Washington, April 18 (AP) President Roosevelt expressed belief that United States public opinion is not adequately aware of the acuteness of the war situation, but that it is becoming increasingly aware.

He made that statement in response to a press conference inquiry whether he had said that he thought Americans could be made increasingly alert through the extension of the Lend-Lend Act emergency measure and through what he called "speeches" by Army and Navy club conversations.

Interviews brought from the President these statements bearing on the defence program and aid to nations battling the axis:

Shipments Authorized to Greece and Yugoslavia has authorized specific shipments of material to Greece and Yugoslavia, but did not know whether any has started on the way from the Pacific.

The shortage of soft coal resulting from a three-week shutdown in the mines has not seriously affected the defence program. The President's hopes great strides will be running again by next Monday.

The army's call for 500,000 civilian airplane spotters capped a series of swift defence moves.

No Evidence Of Sabotage At Lake Shore Mine

Toronto, April 18—(CP) — No evidence of sabotage has been found by Provincial Police investigators in connection with the Lake Shore Mine, Kirkland Lake, April 14, which killed one and injured several, according to a report received by Attorney General Conant from Provincial Police Chief.

Four probable causes for ignition of the explosion are listed in the report. These are: a drop of nitroglycerine in the dynamite; a faulty detonator cap exploding from some cause; a careless person striking a spark and dropping of a defective detonator cap; and the mine itself possibly exploded.

Inspector Wilson observed that persons employed in mines for any length of time get very careless in handling explosives. He appeared that carelessness accounts for the detonator caps being in the magazine with the dynamite, he said.

Leo Murphy, who was killed in the explosion is believed, according to the report, to have been leaning over the dynamite when it exploded.

DEPUTY SHERIFF SUDDENLY STRICKEN

Kingston, Ont., April 18 (CP)— R. Brown, deputy sheriff of Sudbury, was stricken here last night and died after being admitted to hospital. He had come to Kingston, accompanied by Sheriff M. Arthur of Sudbury, to bring a prisoner to the Kingston penitentiary. Sheriff Arthur had started back to Sudbury and did not know that his deputy was seized with a heart attack at the Hotel LaSalle.

Rawdon

Rawdon, April 18. — The Easter meeting of Mount Pleasant Women's Missionary Society was held on April 9 at the home of Mrs. Edgar McKeown. Twelve members and 3 visitors in attendance. The meeting opened with quiet music played by Mrs. Ross Hoard. Hymn 240 was sung and Mrs. McMillan gave the call to worship. The roll call was answered with the key-verse "resurrection." Mrs. Ross Hoard read the Bible lesson and Mrs. Cyrus Sprague led in prayer. Hymn 242 sung on Easter and what it means and Mrs. Ross Hoard read a meditation. The March minutes were read and Mrs. Edgar McKeown, secretary of publicity reported sending out 6 calls at homes and six hospital calls by her committee for three months. Reference was made to the Thank Offering to be taken on the third monthly re the Easter meeting. The president thanked Mrs. Fairbrother for the use of her home and Miss Muriel Sine for arranging the program and assisting the visitors. It is hoped to have a quilting at the hall the last week of May and the dinner money will be used to buy a war savings certificate for the Society. Hymn 240 Easter hymn was sung and the president outlined the highlights of the recent Presbyterial meeting at Trenton and was tendered a vote of thanks for Mesdames Thrasher and Wrightman. Miss G. Summers rendered two Easter solos appropriate readings on Easter were given by Mrs. Arthur Phillips, Miss Eileen Meadows and Mrs. Ernest Sine. Mrs. Edgar McKeown brought the meeting to a close with prayer.

Mrs. MacMullen outlined the life of Rev. Gilbert Matthew, D.D., C.B.E., Apostle of the outposts. In 1911 he set sail from Liverpool to serve on a mission field overseas and in 1914 he was ordained. He served on many charges in Newfoundland and as a direct result several ministers, missionaries and day school teachers have gone out to take a place of leadership in the church. In 1931 he was appointed superintendent of missions and field secretary Christian Literature for Newfoundland conference. During his five brief years in the service his boundless, energy, missionary zeal, indomitable courage and desire for friendship made the Methodist household loved in every cove and inlet along the 3,000 miles coastline of Newfoundland. He travelled in all seasons and in all weathers always striving to preach the gospel. His death came unexpectedly as he was stricken down on Mon., May 1937 while at his duties. Truly he was a servant of God, a soldier tried, ready to face whate'er betide, yea ready to die, as he lived under authority. Mrs. J. E. Becket offered prayer for the missionaries at home and abroad and for the work of Dr. Wilbur Chapman Jackson.

The offering amounted to three dollars and was dedicated. Plans were made to celebrate the 40th anniversary at the church on Wednesday, June 11, with the circuit invited. The meeting closed with word appointed and it is hoped all the ladies will make an effort to attend this event. A silver collection will be taken to be used for the cause of missions. The service closed with a hymn and the National Anthem. The hostess served a delicious lunch by box of clothing and food was packed for Mrs. Rubble and all sang "Happy Birthday" in honor of one of the members who had a birthday.

Mrs. Will Rubble is ill at her home and friends hope she speedily recovers.

Miss Naomi Montgomery, Frankford, spent the Easter week-end with her cousin, Miss Ethel MacMullen.

Miss Perrie Rubble and brother Neil spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Higgs of Oshawa were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Andrews.

The cast of the Mount Pleasant play entitled "A Bedgi-nada Pamplay" are presenting their dramas at Ivanhoe and Burnbrae this week and at Bethel next Campbellford next week.

Mr. Allan Bailey underwent an operation in Belleville Hospital on Monday, April 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sine, Muriel and Doris spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Patrick, Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shaw and Wayne and Master B. Johnson of Ivanhoe were Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gilgannon.

Mrs. Harry Hutcheson, Plainfield, spent Easter and a few days the week with her sister, Mrs. Ross Hoard.

Miss Mabel Sharp, Wellman's, visited her grandmother, Mrs. Emma MacMillan, Springbrook, on Good Friday.

BRITONS ENDURE RAIDS

London has withstood the longest raid and the most savage since the enemy began his all-out raids last August and early reports would indicate heavy casualties besides considerable damage. The ferocity of the attack may be indicated by the number of enemy aircraft taking part, observers mentioning four hundred as participating on Wednesday night.

But the violence of the raid was met by the endurance of the people who are as resolute as ever. Women and children as well as men preserved their self-possession in spite of Hun savagery. It was Hun terrorism against a people but it failed as it has failed before.

Once again London has shown that she can take such a merciless attack which lasted until five thirty in the morning. The people who were heroes to save those who were caught under debris and to put out fires.

Hitler's raid but strengthens the resolve of this great people for it leaves them determined to crush him and his Nazism. It was the same with Belfast the night before, with a merciless raid on the city, whose recruiting offices were reported as crowded the next morning with those who sought to find a place in the forces to fight the Nazis until the Nazis are crushed.

British cities have shown the world how great is the fortitude of the British people who in their love for freedom and in their sense of duty to their country and to the world democracy undergo the most trying experiences populations has ever endured. Courage of the enemy is more than matched by the courage of the British people. They are paying the price of liberty and it is their love of freedom and their readiness to endure all that makes a people admired everywhere in the world of free men. They endure for noble ideals — that is their gift at this time to the world and to their country.

THEY SERVE WELL

When the present war is over there will be one group of citizens to whom Canada will owe gratitude, just as surely as she will owe a debt of gratitude to her armed forces. These citizens are men and women who are devoting their time and energies, day in and day out, to assist in the collection of monies which the country must have in order to carry out its war program.

Without remuneration, and in many cases at a severe sacrifice of their own personal interest, these citizens rally to the cause of the War Savings Certificate, the Canadian War Services Fund and War Loans. The sooner those can be campaigns, when they must start in on another. With the February drive in behalf of War Savings yet to be completed, they switched their activities to the cities for more money for the soldiers' services. Now they have gone back to continue the War Savings job. Next month, they will be preparing to sell War Loan Bonds.

These conscientious Canadians deserve much more than thanks than they actually receive for the work they do. That would help a great deal to offset some of the rude rebuffs they get from some unthinking Canadians who are only being asked to contribute their share in the battle being waged for their protection.

These workers on the home front serve as emphatically as any soldier citizen in the country — their only compensation being the knowledge that they are carrying out a job that has to be done.

The school children of this province have invested almost one million dollars of savings in war certificates, and show that they have realized the importance of savings in the war effort. The inspiration of the sales of investment is one that should be grasped by every citizen, for every one has duties to perform. One of these duties is to save and invest in savings certificates or war loan.

The Fort Erie Times-Review notes that Von Ribbentrop, former champagne salesman, took a vow at the outbreak of the war that he would never again speak a word of English and that when lately he met the Japanese Minister, Matsuoka, in Berlin and as neither could speak the other's tongue, they conversed in the one language that both knew—English!

OURSELVES AND OTHERS...

BY

A TIP TO DRIVERS

Better check up on that driving and start training Dobbin to perform properly on the highway, you boys and gals who depend on a buggy, or any other motorless vehicle for transportation, for according to a Toronto newspaper, commencing July 1st it will be an offence under the Ontario Highway Traffic Act to drive a buggy "without due care and attention, or without due consideration for other persons using the highway." The "careless driving" section of the Act is now applicable to any vehicle.

And a new clause reaches out and gathers in with a gentle but firm touch those Romeos or other persons who indiscriminately park on highways outside of village, town or city limits. For the Act says "no vehicle shall be parked on such a highway unless a clear view of such vehicle and of the highway for at least 400 feet beyond the vehicle may be obtained from a distance of 400 feet from the vehicle in each direction."

And the careless bird who drives off the highway and ruins a tree, shrub, pole, light, sign, and any other property shall forthwith report the damage to a police officer, or constable, or registrar or else.

Those cowl or parking lights that plenty of motorists use when driving along lighted city streets are "out." So are the spotlights, or searchlights, with the exception of police vehicles, ambulances, fire department and public service vehicles.

But here is where the poor motorist gets a break. No longer will he buy old tires for new ones. A new clause in the Act prohibits the rebuilding of any motor vehicle tires, or the sale of any rebuilt tire, unless the fact that it has been rebuilt is clearly embossed upon, or imposed or cut into the outer wall in letters not less than a half-inch high. "Rebuild," the clause states, means "to make or impose a tread or surface on or otherwise alter the surface of an old tire so that it will resemble a new tire, by cutting into or adding rubber to the surface thereof."

And here's a tip for the light-fingered gentry who love to ride bicycles, but let other people pay for them. Better lay off the depredations, for a new clause in the act states that police will be permitted to enter any place where bicycles are stored or dealt in, for purposes of investigation. Dealers in second-hand bicycles are now compelled to keep records and are forbidden to sell if the serial numbers are defaced or removed.

Cities, towns and villages have hitherto been permitted to fix a speed of 15 miles per hour vehicles in parks, instead of the statutory 30-mile limit which applies to other highways in such municipalities. Now the park limit may be anywhere from 15 to 30 miles, at the discretion of the municipality concerned.

On the other hand, the discretion which has hitherto been given to township councils to reduce the speed limit to 30 miles where density of population warrants it, is now to be shared with the provincial cabinet. That is, such portions of highway can be designated by order-in-council.

After which the copy boy comes up with, "Now the highways will be heaven, for there'll be no parking there."

Overheard at the Holstein sale:—Young Holstein bull aside to his mother, "How come that Jersey over there is so snooty?"

"Easily explained, my boy," quoth the elderly Elsie, "she just overheard a city slicker remark that the restaurants here are charging ten cents a glass for milk."

It is said that the biggest item in the Nazi budget is the money paid for espionage. The overheard expenses, we suppose.—Public Opinion.

Magnificent resistance of Britain to Nazi hordes, who had a walkover in other lands, is the best possible proof of the wisdom of hustling fifth columnists off to jail — and some that are only fourth-and-a-half columnists.—Windsor Star.

LET'S PLAY HOOKEY

The green is in the garden and the blue is in the sky,
And deep in the fervor burns
to walk away from care,
To be again the reckless boy
which long ago was I.
Who heard the school bell ringing and played hookey
then and there,

There's bloom in field and meadow and the birds are on the wing,
There's pastish to be landed from a silver bordered stream,
But now it's I am captured, dang-
ling fast on duty's string;
The days of playing hookey long have vanished like a dream.

The fever's burning in me to drop
all the books of care,
To hide them in the woodshed, safe from, loss and out of view,
To scamper off from study—Oh,
I know exactly where—
And give myself the pleasure
And the things I like to do.

But I am grown and settled, or at least supposed to be.
The world has expected
me to put such nonsense
by
And I must hide with frowning, for I'm grown and I'm wise,
How still at heart a hookey-
playing little boy am I.

ROOSEVELT'S TREND AT ALL-TIME HIGH

Surveys during the last six weeks by the American Institute of Public Opinion have shown that President Roosevelt's personal popularity rose in that period to the highest figures ever recorded since the institute tests of popularity.

Ballots-of-confidence completed as Mr. Roosevelt put his signature to the lease-lend bill showed 68 per cent of the voting public supporting him, as compared with 52 per cent in the Roosevelt-Willkie election result four months ago, reports Dr. George Gallup, the institute's director.

The figure also tops the 71 per cent found supporting President Roosevelt at the time of his third inauguration in January.

"The highest previous popularity mark recorded was 69 per cent in February, 1934, at the end of Mr. Roosevelt's first year in the White House.

"In the current survey voters in each of the 48 States were asked: 'Do you approve or disapprove of the approve of Roosevelt as President?' A similar question has been put to cross-sections of the voting population in nearly eighty successive studies in every part.

"The replies of those with opinions were:

Approve	72%
Disapprove	28

Assertion of Criticism of Axis

"The results of the survey are not only a reflection of public confidence in the Chief Executive at a time when foreign affairs have been under sharp controversial fire, but also a strong assertion of anti-Axis critics who have charged that the people of the United States 'no longer believe in the democratic way of life.'

"Attacking Senate passage of the lease-lend bill, Senator Nye and other Axis spokesmen charged this week that the measure had not been passed contrary to the wishes of the American people, and that the 'democratic processes of democracy' had been violated.

"Polls taken in South America added, Monday, that Americans overwhelmingly back President Roosevelt had they known his plans for aiding Britain.

Samplings on Measure

"Samplings of United States public opinion before the lease-lend bill controversy have, of course, shown voters favorable by nearly 2 to 1 in favor of its passage. The latest indication is the following summary of four successive Institute surveys conducted:

Do you think Congress should pass the President's lease-lend bill?

	Yes	No	Undecided
Dec. 1940	54%	38%	8%
Jan. 1941	58	35	7
Feb. 1941	61	32	7
Mar. 1941	68	27	5

Qualified

Answers	15	14	8
Undecided	9	7	9

"Further evidence of the public feelings about aid to Britain came earlier this month when an institute survey found 61 per cent saying they thought Wendell L. Willkie, defeated Republican candidate, who has also supported the lease-lend bill would make a good job if he had been elected.

"In today's study 40 per cent of those who voted for Willkie in November said they now approved the general' of Roosevelt, while 96 per cent of those who supported Mr. Roosevelt on election day."—N.Y Times.

Box Tattles On Train Crew

Railroad switch-engine crews and freight train engineers are going around these days wearing their knitted brows as a reminder to starting at the slightest sound, particularly if the sound is a slow, like a clock's.

Behind the alarms prevention men are one up on them. It used to be that the annual damage to freight by unattended fires was more than $100,000,000. Now it's down to about $10,000,000 and getting smaller. Much of the credit is due to a device up to which the claims man is called an impact register and the switch crews speak very highly of it. It is no more than a portable radio, the register keeps track of the engineer; if he doesn't observe too vigorously or plays crack-the-whip with the train, the device starts his train the new gadget records all the bumps and jolts. It is set up and operates something like a seismograph.

Inquiring into the workings of the device, we were told that it is likely to be rented to locomotive ordinary merchandise and hidden among other freight in a shipment —not in every shipment, but the engineer doesn't know whether it's there.

In the register is a clock that runs for a month, the recording tape and a scales-like device that measures impacts. Ehlers says a switch engine overbumps a car, the heavier the car the more violation are printed on the tape. When the spool is removed, it is an easy matter to determine where the car was at the time of the rough handling. Ehlers says that if the train or yard crew at fault knows the switch crews' signals, and they usually suspect them, an immediate register in with the eggs.—Chicago Daily News.

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Whose Peace?

New York, April 18 — After the great wars, inventing the major nations of men, are fought for peace. They are allowed to determine the conditions under which hundreds of millions of men are to live their peaceful lives once the war is over. Some men merely seek to bring about readjustments of power inside a generally accepted international order. These are wars for adjustment of frontiers, or transferring of colonies. One side wins, and the loser emerges stripped of some of his territory, forced, inevitably, to pay the costs of the war, and somewhat intact, and able in another generation or two to challenge, if it chooses, the power situation again. Such was the Franco-Prussian War of 1870; such was the Great War of 1914.

But there are other wars that change the whole course of history, and epochs and types of men exterminate peoples as peoples, and transform all values. Such a war was Sparta's war against Athens; such a war was Caesar's war against Gaul which laid the foundations for the rise of the Roman Empire, to exercise a dominant role in history for hundreds of years. Such was the war of wars against the Turks, which finally drove the Mohammedan hordes from Europe and established the security of western Christian civilization. And such a war is this one.

The outcome of this war will determine how humanity is going to live for the next century. It will determine whether Germany, or England, or the United States are going to be the dominant power in a world-wide struggle between the inside great nations of men. It is an international war, and it is a civil war.

This war will determine whether the peace of the next epoch is to be based on the principle of equality to power; (b) by improved collective security—the principle of peace and equality for races and nations; (c) by world mastery exercised by one or two organized groups over all the others.

It will also, of course, determine whether the world shall be ruled by fair or socialism. But it will more important determine whether it shall be capitalism, what sort of socialism, or what sort of synthesis between the two.

German socialism—National Socialism—is Prussian "socialism," as it is called in Germany, because it is military socialism. It conceives of the state organized for war and as a secular religious order. It is socialism without freedom.

It involves the total subservience of the individual personality to the state. The compensation to the individual comes through being a member of the master race, one of the Herrenvolk who have therefore able to look down on the lesser breeds without the law. Not only is it "socialism" without the concept of individual freedom, but it is "socialism" without the concept of equality, either as between persons or as between races of men. The same holds true for the Japanese anti-socialism.

The Anglo-Saxon world, and the historic traditions of all the North Atlantic states, as well as Christianity, clash at every point with this concept and practice. Therefore, for us, resistance is inevitable for there are only two choices: Resistance or capitulation. We cannot join the Axis, because we could not accept the thesis without internal revolution of a most disastrous nature, in the face of foreign foes who would exploit it.

It is the realization of the nature of the struggle which makes so many of the wisest of our people, however honestly and sincerely, seem so bitterly frustrated. As Norman Thomas believes this is "just another imperialist war." And other words, he thinks it is a war for the redistribution of territories and colonies. Mr. Taft believes that whatever redistribution of power comes about will not affect the United States.

But Mr. Thomas and Mr. Taft are wrong because their analysis of the war is wrong.

The struggle will affect the United States in the most drastic possible way, and it will affect it fundamentally. It will involve us because a nation of 130,000,000 people, as vital and energetic as this one fundamentally is, will not accept a world-wide challenge to all its traditional values and all its dreams of the future acting out of those values without attempting to influence the final picture. And since the outcome will be determined by force, the United States will use force.

When, how, and under what conditions we first employ our force will have to be decided by the developing situation and the state of our own preparedness. But a war is not determined by our enemies. But no man does his country a service who fails to realize the reality of false security, or minimizes the magnitude of the struggle. Those people are only disintegrating the morale of the nation in advance of a shock for which it is already inadequately prepared, socially, militarily, and psychologically.

There are times in the lives of men and nations when, as the poet Swin of duty, sacrifice the companion of happiness, and even courage —parent of fortitude, endurance, achievement—is the first virtue. There are also times when the ideals of duty, of discipline and obedience must take precedence over all others, and when individual or collective survival must be greater than the will for personal happiness.

In this struggle we shall either make history or pass out of it. No organizations of peoples have a permanent ownership in the first virtue. They collectively live on. They have only a lease which has to be maintained, and peace has to be made. It is an active and positive, not a negative, thing to be alive. There will eventually be peace. The question is what peace, what peace, what world?

Running Back

"What are you turning around for, John?"

"I've just discovered we've come a few hundred and two miles since morning; we'll have to run back for the five-hundred-mile mark and change the city."

English as Spoken

The Boston man, careful of his and other folk's grammar, asked the waiter for a drink.

"Do you want a narrow man's corn?" the waiter asked.

"No," said the man, "I want a comb for a stout man with rubber teeth."

FISHY PHRASES

Many of our most picturesque words and phrases have been first coined by fishes and other denizens of the deep.

A person who excels in some particular line of work is called a crackerjack.

Five hundreds of years an underaged person has been known as a codfish.

An awkward, bungling or reckless person is a blunderer.

A crab is a sour, ill-tempered person.

One who tries to back out after making a promise or bargain is a crawfish.

Unemotional persons are as cold as a clam.

Everybody has known persons who were as slippery as an eel.

Society may be divided into two classes — big shots and small fry.

A man of unusual sig is naturally a whale of a fellow.

An extremely taciturn or reserved person is as silent as an oyster.

Goldfish are notorious for their lack of personality.

Some people drink like a fish.

One easily duped is a sucker.

Persons who blunder around like a fish out of water.

Others fish for compliments.

A person who plans who fish in troubled waters by turning a profit.

An awkward state of affairs is a fine kettle of fish.

An eccentric person is a queer fish.

Still it is not wise to make fish of one and flesh of the other.

You can do, you can find them neither fish, flesh nor good red herring.

It is uncomfortable to be packed in a place like sardines.

We've-do-we-wills sometimes sponge on others.

A fish story is an extravagant or incredible tale.

It seems to be rather unfair to the lady fishes to call a woman who sells fish a fish-wife.

Any organization that maintains a hold on the general public by means of branches is an octopus.

If you don't have stamina you're a jellyfish.

Wise woman—she does this! One week her hours are 7 till 3, the next from 12 till 10 . . . but she doesn't let irregular hours get her down, depressed, "headachy." She knows such symptoms often mean incomplete elimination. So she eats enough bulk in her diet every day to keep the food wastes moving . . . and she gets this "bulk" in a form she enjoys—delicious Kellogg's Bran Flakes.

You, too, should join the happy thousands who have formed this healthful habit. You'll find Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts of Wheat are gently laxative in a natural way. They supply body-building proteins, too. Don't delay! Start the Kellogg's Bran Flakes way tomorrow!

* * *

They're downright GOOD to eat! Add new zest to living with this simple test! For one month, eat a bowlful of crisp, nutty-flavoured Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning. Then see if you don't feel keener, more alert! Order the big golden-yellow package today. In restaurants, ask for the individual package—now triple-wrapped for extra freshness. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

TAKE THESE TWO STEPS TO HEALTH

1. To get well, see your doctor
2. To keep well, watch your habits

Want "a healthy mind in a healthy body?" Then make sure your elimination is complete. Especially if your work is mostly sedentary—it's wise to eat this appetizing, mildly laxative cereal every day. You'll find this a delightful way to get needed extra "bulk" right through the year.

DO AS I DO! AVOID ALL HARSH CATHARTICS. INSTEAD, EVERY MORNING EVERY MONTH EAT DELICIOUS KELLOGG'S BRAN FLAKES!

Purse Of Money Presented To Rev. W. G. Swayne

Mrs. Swayne Also Receives Silver Plates From Women's Organizations

Bonarlaw, Ont., April 11 — A large number of the parishioners and neighbors of Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Swayne gathered in the Sunday School rooms of St. Mark's Church recently and presented them with a floor lamp and a purse of money and later on Robert with a pen and pencil set. An address was read on behalf of the parishioners and neighbors expressing their regret that Canon Swayne and Mrs. Swayne and Robert are soon to leave this community and paid tribute to their faithfulness to their duty during the past eight years and more that they have labored in this parish.

In replying, both the Canon and Mrs. Swayne expressed their sorrow at leaving the kind friends of the community and thanked all for the beautiful gifts. They also begged all to carry on the work with the same loyalty and co-operation that they have shown in the past.

Robert thanked all for the gift and for their friendliness during the past years.

Mr. W. J. Barlow, Peoples' Warden, acted as chairman and the presentation was made by Messrs. Carl Heath and Ronald Brown. Community singing was led by Mr. J. F. Baker after which a lunch was served.

At this gathering also Mrs. Swayne was presented with a silver salad plate by the Springbrook Women's Institute and a silver relish dish by the Ladies' Aid Auxiliary. Mrs. J. F. Baker, president, and Mrs. W. J. Barlow, secretary, made the presentation on behalf of the Women's Institute and Mrs. A. V. Brown, vice-president, and Mrs. M. Fitzgerald, treasurer, on behalf of the W. A. Mrs. Swayne thanked both organizations for their lovely gifts.

The chairman asked Messrs. M. Fitzgerald, Jesse Barlow and Lindsay Mumby for a few remarks. In short but feeling addresses all three expressed their regret that Mr. and Mrs. Swayne and Robert are leaving this community and wished them health and happiness in their new home. The meeting was closed with the National Anthem and all joining hands sang Auld Lang Syne.

Easter Day services were held in St. Mark's Church with splendid attendance at both services. There were slaty-five communicants at the morning service.

Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne conducted both services and delivered appropriate Easter messages. The evening service was also Canon Swayne's farewell as his parishioners of Rawdon Parish as he leaves this week for Maitland, to take charge of Augusta Parish.

He addressed the people to give the same loyal support to his successor as they have given him during the past eight years which he stated have been happy years for him.

The cut flowers on the altar were the gift of the Women's Auxiliary. The anthem "Awake Thou That Sleepest," was rendered by the choir.

Personals

Miss Marjorie Brown has received word that she has won the bag of potatoes in the drawing held by the St. Paul's Church Choir.

Mr. J. Davidson loaded two carloads of livestock here on Tuesday.

Rev. Canon Swayne, Mrs. Swayne and Robert, left on Wednesday of this week for Maitland, where Canon Swayne will take charge of Augusta Parish. Temporarily St. Mark's of Rawdon Parish will be under the care of Rev. L. A. Caldwell of Marmora and St. Thomas, 8th line of Rawdon, under the care of Rev. L. Harding of Stirling.

CHAPTER IX.

The Stern Path of Duty

Deliberately and with great gallantry Lieutenant Rollins was given the toughest navigational chores upon arrival at Aldershot Camp. Assigned to the Divisional Headquarters Staff, he had been rushed immediately upon arrival at a Scottish port to the nearest railway terminal and sent, with a number of other officers, by regular passenger train directly to Aldershot to handle endless detail work associated with the billeting of the vast majority of the British Canadian soldiers due to follow on troop trains.

But Rollins was glad of the 20-hour-a-day job—it helped take his mind off other thoughts that gnawed into his brain at every waking moment. He could not, in his experience on "7 p" had taken the edge off the glance to be expected a the end of the sig-zagsy Atlantic Odyssey. But the enormous meeting new experiences in much the same way as a man whose senses have been numbed all at great trouble in his family circle. The sky had gone out of the whistle drama and his very soul was haunted by a face—Marion Mardon's light in a pair of blue eyes as he glanced fleetingly in Joan's direction that awful night in the O.C.'s cabin.

That he had followed the stern path of duty didn't ease his pain. There are emotions that rise above patriotism and in the softness of those blue eyes—even after his "betrayal"—Greg had read forgiveness. He could have sworn that she had given him a kindly smile, as much as to say that she understood. If only she had risen into a bitter denunciation of him or attempted to lie her way out of the sorry predicament—even in the event of denying enemy activity—he would have felt better....would have easily begun the task of wiping the whole experience off the slate. But as it was, he felt every split-second of that scene, every moment he had spent with the girl, would forever remain with him.

The night before landing had proved many thrills. In the late afternoon, the troops had plainly heard intensive gun fire in the distant southeast and...strangely enough the convoy had immediately veered off an oddly irregular course to the direction of the action. Sounds carry far on the ocean and there was no way of telling just how close the action was.

An hour or so after sunset, the booming noises had ended and the ocean expanse had assumed the mantle of awesome tranquility that comes with night.

In the Officers' Lounge word had got around that this would be the last night at sea and a party of major proportions was underway. The O.C. had discreetly gone to his cabin unusually early and the Orderly Officer apparently forgot all about the regular closing hour.

It was nearly one o'clock when a lonely winking light off the starboard bow made the night young. Outside, the ship remained its same gloomy, blacked-out self but, inside, it was pulsating with life and excitement. That lonely light meant the convoy had actually come within sight of land—most likely Northern Ireland—and the officers and men were obviously in dangerous waters, the thrill of seeing a lighthouse after so many days of sea had dominated all other sensations.

Greg, together with his fellow officers, surged through the inkblack night to the deck. They stood engulfed in wordless elation—straining their eyes into the night as if they begrudged missing a single blink of that light. Men with ribbons of 1914-18 clasped the arms of the men next to them and man after man they offered a wireless toast to a common cause.

On that deck could be heard through silence undisturbed except by the ghostly swishing of rolling waves, a soundless symphony. It was the curiously intriguing music of beckoning adventure, grim and perhaps fatal, but feverishly exciting. Up until the moments, the officers had been drawing away from all they had ever held dear—Canada, home, their loved ones. The winking light was a symbol that tore minds away from that hidden weight of homesickness and focussed them on the future.

It was the light in the Mother Country's window-sill there for sons from afar off land coming to flight once more by her side. But even as he thrilled at it all, Greg Rollins had thought of the girl imprisoned in a cabin somewhere on board that very ship And the fire of battle-lighting adventure had died away, leaving cold ashes. He had turned from the rail and walked quietly to his cabin

Early morning found most of the officers and men up and about to greet the green hills dotted with pretty towns and villages on either side of the River Clyde. Further did hills look greener than did those of Scotland—especially to the Canadians whose native grass had been snow-covered for months.

The troops were singing and bands playing as the liners drifted effortlessly along the narrow surface of the kindly river. As they approached the docks at the end of the day, the escorting Men O' War lined up at the quays and the ship stood on deck at attention, saluting the passing contingent. Planes stirsably between army and navy went by the boards and the soldiers cheered themselves hoarse. It was a superb moment, almost enough for any man's lifetime.

Before "7 P" had pulled alongside her pier, Admiral's Pinnace carrying a red sun-banded officer from the Canadian H.Q. in London came alongside and began gathering officers of the Divisional Headquarters Staff. Before Greg had time to say "So long" to his shipmates, he was whisked away and inside of two hours was in a specially reserved compartment on a fast train speeding through the dawn Scottish night. The railway station had proved a busy place in bustliness—his first actual contact with a blackout on land. He had walked through the dark streets of the Glasgow terminal feeling that he was still outdoors but the dim dome of the heavens was really the darkened roof of the station. Without an array raide he and the other officers certainly wouldn't have found their train.

Sleep was easily wooed in the gently moving L. N. E. carriage and when Rollins awoke, it was broad daylight and the ship steward had brought him a cup of Oxo, tea and some biscuits.

Within another hour, he was debarking at the picturesque town of Aldershot.

Dress In Button-Front Mode

By ANNE ADAMS

The very mainstay of your everyday wardrobe is the button-front dress. It's smart and practical, and simple to sew, too! Pattern 4692 by Anne Adams is an attractive example of this favorite model for all the delightful details: the sweetheart neckline . . . the curved yoke bodice sections gathered so softly at the seams. . . the optional handkerchief pocket . . . and the button-back. Darts at either side waist give perfect fit. This dress looks nice in cotton print with ric-rac trim. But, if you want to be extra-smart, "different", try a plain color with a print contrast for the side-front bodice sections. Then, add a print around the hem in a wide band. Order your pattern today!

Pattern 4692 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 7-8 yards 35 inch fabric and 1 1-4 yards re-cut.

Send TWENTY CENTS (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Mother Insists She Date a Younger Boy

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm a girl of 21 and like a young man of 21 very much. He is best-at, clean-minded and neat. We like the same sports, and our ideas about a lot of things are the same. My parents think he is too old for me and want me to go with only one boy, but I want a variety. This boy friend of 21 bores me to tiddy-ing.

I can't have fun with the young-er boys. They all want to park and neck all evening. I don't like to do that, and neither does this older friend. If I have to go with only one boy, I'd rather choose him than be of 21. Please tell me what to do.

B. A.

If your parents restrict you to only one boy, the young man of 21, who seems to have outgrown the puppy-stage of affection and does not insist on continual "necking" would seem to make a better friend than the youngsters you mention.

You might explain this preference to your mother. If you were my daughter I would not restrict you to one boy friend. Encourage the old adage "There's safety in numbers."

Thinks He Has Aspired Too High

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There's a girl who lives in the same house with me—a nice girl fashioned along lovely lines. I like her before I realized it. She always looked so real among the powder-and-tailor-made. I discovered she is a lawyer with a good firm and has a pretty plum well at her finger-tips.

To know her better I asked her to give me some legal advice which I really needed. When I asked for a bill she said she was glad to help me, but I don't seem to make any headway. I rapped on her sitting-room door to pay a call. She opened it a crack and waited for me to state my errand. When I said I'd like to come in she told me she was busy.

I'm afraid I lifted my eyes too high, particularly as I hear she is engaged to a man in another city, and since doing that little legal favor for me, she is pleasant but distant.

Just Bill

Your case doesn't look very hopeful to me, and you will not be further distressed by this girl's interest in you if you attempt to call on her unbidden and force upon her even the little attentions which you see are not welcome.

You've been told she's engaged. Under the circumstances don't you think it would be wiser for you to seek a new boarding house rather than make yourself miserable by seeing this young lady daily?

Sounds Like a Poor Matrimonial Bet

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm a high school graduate, in a small business of my own and have the whole family car mostly to myself. Whenever I get a boy friend he happens to be without his own car so we generally use mine. Do you think I'm too forward?

I've been going with a boy now for seven months, but we don't seem to get along. We are always arguing. I don't seem able to keep him interested. He drinks heavily, spends all his money and forgets his promises, acts like a fool and otherwise regrets it and wants to come back.

He says he drinks because he has not a home. I encourage him to stay sober, work and save so that sometime we can get a little place and a home either. I board with an aunt. She is very good to him to get married, but am not sure about him. He's the happy-go-lucky type, although I know there are no other girls.

Now I suppose he'll reform if he settles down? I'll depend on you to decide. He's 24 years old.

A. J.

When you see a young man's faults and failings and have stated them in your letter to me, how can you consider him worth reforming? He drinks, wastes his money, you quarrel, and he tells you he does these things because you do. Then you say: Don't you realize that people with backbone, and character-less, would bring these faults into your home?

You must be well and affectionately cared for or the family would not bring their car in the street they do. At 23, you're too young to spoil your life with the idea of a marriage. Try and make something of yourself and your future. Both fates will have a more promising outlook in store for you.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Starting a Correspondence

Dear Mrs. Beeckman.

I have been going with a young man for nearly a year and we have been beginning to think a great deal of each other. He spends a lot of his time at mother and sister and brothers. I have heard so much about them that I am beginning to feel as if I know them already.

He received a made a trip to his home, which is about a thousand miles away, and told me his mother said that I must write to her. I am perfectly willing to do that, but how and I feel that I should, but I do not know what to say.

1.—Should I address her? She's married and has two children. I don't want to be stiff and formal because I do not believe that she is. I can well sense by the fact that I must make a good impression on this young man's family, and the only impression I can get through correspondence.

2.—What is the correct closing to use in this case?

Marie

1.—I am not sure that I agree with all that you say about your writing this letter, but if you feel that you'd like to write it, I'd like to help you. In the first way you shouldn't write you, if she writes at least a couple of letters first. However if you decided to write this letter, you would use her formal address. Your letter would begin your letter something like this:

"Dear Mrs. Adams:

"Bob has told me so many delightful things about you and your children and brothers that I have the happy feeling that I already know you well even though we have never met. What a grand 'public-ity agent' Bob is for his home folks!

"Now he returns from his last visit with you with your mother's very friendly invitation that you would like to have a note from me, and I'm writing it. Please believe that not this is just his interpretation of his own enthusiasm about you. I rather, perhaps you will, as he says, 'take me on faith' and that we are a friendly word in writing".

After this beginning, you would chat about your friend's visit to his family and of his report of their happy times together, of your life in that interesting city of yours, and that you hope to see you and she will meet very soon, and be able to know each other face to face."

2.—Your closing of the letter might be something like this:

Please give my friendly greetings to your mother and brother and sister and the little children of yours. And sometime in your text go Bob to the door that you will have a chance to send me just a little line. I shall be so happy to hear from you and of you.

Very sincerely yours,

Do Not Converse During Program

Dear Mrs. Beeckman.

Will you kindly tell us in your column how very impolite it is for two people at a club house to hold a conversation during the program?

Constant Reader

People who talk while a program is on are kinds a nuisance. They simply don't know better. Nobody has ever worked faithfully to make the performance a success.

Thanking Hostess

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

When I am the hostess of your hostess, what is the proper thing to do? Should I send a note or an-noyable evening at her home?

B.

Say something that indicates that you "have had an enjoyable time" and "thank you". For instance, "Good night, Mary. I have had such a happy time with you all this week."

Mrs. Allen, thank you so much for asking me to come tonight. I have had such a good time"

CANNIFTON Y.P.U.

Good Friday was open night for Canniton Y.P.U. at which members were permitted to bring family or friends to view a very fine selection of lantern slides. These were divided into three groups, pertaining to the days just previous to the Crucifixion, the day of the Crucifixion itself, and more modern pictures of Jerusalem, while Mrs. Rev. Mr. Davis took charge of the slides and explained where necessary. The modern pictures showed scenes of the temples built in commemoration of Christ's death, but more especially dwelt on the Easter Sunday evening service was in charge of the Y.P.U. with the President, Margaret Smallhorn, assisting the Rev. Davis in the worship period. Members of the Y.P.U. augmented the choir, taking part in a "non-choral" dramatization" of periods just before and after the Resurrection, while Mrs. Davis' lovely voice, in verses of "When I survey the Wondrous Cross" added as "curtain" between "scenes". As a fitting end the whole choir sang the beautiful anthem "He Lives!"

St. Louis Cards Get Away Fast In National League Race And May Be 'Dark Horse' of League

Defeat World Champions for Third Straight Time Using Homers as Weapon

DODGERS GO DOWN

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer.

A few weeks ago, when everybody was guessing and accepting baseball's pennant prospects, some of the experts proclaimed that if the St. Louis Cardinals jumped off to a fast start they would run away with the National League race.

Well, the Red Birds are away like a rocket.

They have just won three consecutive games from the World Champion Cincinnati Reds and there is no telling where or when they will stop. It might be today, but it wasn't yesterday.

The two western rivals put on a wild west sideshow with 18 players taking part for each side, and the Cardinals came out by a 7-6 margin.

The superior power of St. Louis was irresistible, as it may be throughout the year, and when the Cardinals came up to the seventh trailing 4-1, they solved the problem simply enough by batting Jurrin' Johnny Mize hit a home run with two on and Ernie Koy another with their bases loaded.

Brooklyn's unpredictable Dodgers, rated right along with the Reds and Cardinals as flag threats, also advanced their third straight victory from the New York Giants 7-5 in a sandlot show of 26 hits and four errors.

Hits Home Run With Bases Loaded

The Philadelphia Phillies plastered a 7-2 count on the Chicago Cubs behind the six-hit hurling of Truett (Rip) Sewell, who could have coasted after Vince Dilligan hit a home run with the bases loaded in the first inning.

The Boston Bees bumped off the Phillies 7-5 with a home run attack that would have made the weakhitters who used to inhabit the Beehive spellbound. Max Butcher hit a homer with one on in the third. Then Debs Garms, in the Bees trailing 5-4, Babe Dahlgren, the ex-Yankee first baseman, came through with one on, and, finally, relief pitcher Wes Ferrell drove out a final homer in the ninth and took credit for the victory.

Al Simmons, former mastoff of the National League, shut out the Chicago White Sox 5-0 for the Cincinnati Indians.

Joe McCarthy shook up his New York Yankee lineup and got a 9-5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics that was cheering mostly because Lefty Gomez went the route for the first time in more than a year.

CAN-AM LEAGUE PLAYS 126 GAMES

Season Will Get Underway With Eight Teams on May 8th

Syracuse, N.Y., April 18 (AP) — The Canadian-American Baseball League approved last night a 126-game 1941 schedule and set July 4 for the circuit's first all-star game.

The schedule, submitted by William B. Dwyer, supervisor of umpires of the International League, provides 63 home and away games for the league's eight member teams with four games played by each.

The league received an alternate schedule providing four road trips which may be adopted later if found more convenient.

The Can-Am season gets under way May 8 with games at Utica, Amsterdam at Gloversville, Three Rivers, Que., at Quebec City and Plattsfield, Mass., at Oneonta. Three Rivers and Quebec City are newcomers to the circuit.

Discussion at last night's meeting centered around proposed player transportation and league administration.

Rev. Harold J. Martin, League President, declared several clubs were considering the possibility of transporting players by airplane.

Father Martin said the Canadian teams are particularly interested in air travel but among obstacles to the proposal were high costs and player objections.

Site of the all-star game is to be decided later.

Starting Field For The Derby May Be Large

New York, April 18—(AP)—If all you hear is true, it's going to be a full house and then some for there on the Downs when "My Old Kentucky Home" calls the horses for the derby May 2.

For, despite the injury to Bold Venture, which left his prospects about as bright as an old cellar and not forgetting the one the next nine days' racing are going to make sharp slices in the lists, there are still two dozen or so of the gallopers in the running to get to the post. At this writing, it looks like the biggest starting field since War Admiral beat 19 others in 1937.

Half of the two dozen, figured by their leaders Dispose, Porter's Cap, Curious Colin and Whirlaway—are just about a dead-eyed cinch to charge out when the starter bolters "Come on."

Of the two dozen still regarded as most likely to succeed in getting the ride to the Downs, the big hand has been dealt to Mate Barrow Stable, for no other horses besides the Texas-owned colt have a chance. Dispose, as possibilities. If Dispose can't do it, the miracle man of 1935 (remember Bold Venture?) might possibly pull one out of the hat from among Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention, rated as Equipoise's best son; Arnold Hanger's Harvard Square, who has been working first rate at Belmont; Bold Venture's boy, Iliabo, stablemate of Dispose in Richard Kleinberg's barn, or the River Edge Farm's Shirriff Culkin, who gets a Calumet Farm workout, to show how he fits into the picture, if at all.

TORONTO LEAFS LOSE OPENER TO ORIOLES BY 4-2

Home Runs by Flair and Howell in Baltimore Bandbox Turn Tide

NEWARK WINS

(By The Associated Press)

Mayor Frank Hague holds a new minor league record for selling tickets today, as the opening of the International Baseball League's opening day as Jersey City—but there was a lot of difference between buying a ticket and seeing the ball game.

A genius at such things, Mayor Frank sold 61,040 pasteboards to yesterday's Giants-Rochester inaugurating the loop's 34th annual season. However, only about 34,000 were able to crowd their way into Roosevelt Stadium to see the Wings whip the Giants 3-2. The old mark was 50,326, which Mayor Hague posted a year ago.

A total of 28,192 fans attended the other three parks to see Newark Bears turn back Montreal's Royals; Toronto's Orioles trim Toronto Leafs, 4-2, and the Buffalo Bisons revamp the Syracuse Chiefs 11-1.

Carl Doyle, sent down to Rochester by St. Louis Cardinals, settled down after a shaky first inning and subdued the Little Giants. His mates got to Bobby Coombs to the tune of six runs in the fourth. Then, with two out in the sixth, first baseman Harry Davis tripled to right center and scored the winning run on Dain Clay's slow roller.

Jersey Newcomer Helps

A two-run homer by Frankie Kelleher in the seventh was the margin of victory for Newark. Pinch Hitter Ray Hayworth in Hank Borowy's place, for his first check for eight frames, but lost the touch in the ninth and drove in three runs on a single and double. Catcher Herman Franks released to Royals only yesterday by Brooklyn Dodgers, was the batting star, counting a homer and two doubles.

Home runs by Al Flair and Dixie Howell gave Baltimore Orioles a Stromme the edge over Vallie Eaves in a tight pitching duel at Toronto. Stromme turned in a four-hit effort, while Eaves yielded seven hits to the Birds.

Buffalo ruined the Chief's opener, 11-1, behind the pitching of Tom Dellaneve and Ed Heusser, while Ken Richardson tossed a six-hitter. Bob Patrick led Bisons' assault with four safeties

Saskatoon Quakers Have Edge In Power For Final Contest

Winnipeg, April 18 (CP)—Saskatoon Quakers are at last strength for the deciding game of their best-of-seven Western Junior hockey championship series here tonight and, in a series such as this, manower could easily be the deciding factor.

The teams, tied at three games each, arrived last night from Saskatoon where Quakers deadlocked the series with a 10-3 victory Wednesday.

Coach Russ McQuarrie of Saskatoon reported the club in good shape for the all-important battle. Harold Taylor, captain and star defenceman who has been troubled with a bronchial ailment, and Winger Tony Lesuick, who had been slowed by a bad knee, are both fit for action.

Rangers will have three injured players, defenceman Bill Mosienko and forwards Hub Macey and Lou Marshall, none of whom saw action Wednesday. Coach Baldy Northcott said there was a possibility Mortimer might see action tonight but the others will be on the bench definitely.

The series winner will leave Saturday for Toronto where the best-of-five national final with Montreal Royals opens Monday.

Crests Presented To Ki-Y Champions

Crests and hockey sticks were presented to the champion and second placed teams in the Bellville Ki-Y Hockey League during an entertainment put on by the participants and held at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Light refreshments and awards were made.

The members of the champion team were given their crests presented with sweater crests, while the boys composing the roster of the second place clubs in both the Bantam and Midget series were given hockey sticks by the heads of the Ki-Y Leagues.

Secretary Lewis announced that team application forms for the Ki-Y softball league would be available next week for Bantams (under 12 years); Midgets (under 15 years) and Juveniles (under 18 years). Clubs or team managers desirous of playing softball in the Ki-Y series were cautioned that a few minor changes may be made in the playing rules and they are requested to call at the Y.M.C.A. for registration forms and playing regulations.

The personnel of the two championship clubs were:

Bantam Champions — Hawks — Capt. Allan Vickers, Robert Dell, Jack Hogan, Jack Dawson, Jim Greer, Floyd Young, Gerald Moore, Bob Ashley, Dick Siegel, Doug Clapper, Clarence Lewis, (Teddy) Thrasher.

TENNIS SECTION OF SKATING CLUB TO BE STIMULATED

Quinte Skating and Tennis Club Hold Their Annual Meeting

DIRECTORS NAMED

Moving in a direction to endeavour stimulating interest in tennis among members of their organization, the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club held its annual meeting when elections of officers in the club rooms of the association last evening. President Doug Bews being in the chair.

"The skating section of our club has been a marked success and it might say a credit to the officers, members and Belleville as a whole. However, I would urge at this time that increased interest be directed towards the tennis activities of the club, which I am sorry to say, was not exactly a success last year, despite the fact our club won the district tennis championship," the president then remarked while closing his second term of office.

Secretary-Treasurer B. C. Sisler presented his reports, which showed the club enjoyed a profit of something like $600, obtained from the skating activities only, the tennis section has a deficit of $179, from 1940," pointed out Mr. Sisler, and added that the skating section showed a balance of $778.78 in club activities and a balance of $346.02 from their annual winter carnival. That latter was an interim report, however. The Quinte Skating Club voted the sum of $23 to the British War Victims' Fund and announced that this sum would be augmented with a further contribution to be raised with a social function to be held in conjunction with their annual open ice of the tennis courts.

The directors elected last night, from which body the officers will be later selected, were as follows: Doug Bews, C. C. Sisler, Geo. Wishart, Wm. Colby, Dick Phillips, Dr. Wm. Leslie, Mrs. Ross Pringle, Thos. Burnette and Gordon Barclay.

Mr. Wishart was named chairman of the tennis committee which includes Mrs. Barclay, Tom Burnette, Wm. Colby, Chas. Nicklin, Dick Phillips, Mrs. Dick Carter, Miss Muriel Wardner and Miss Ruth Bews.

Secretary Sisler announced there are 126 members enrolled in the Quinte Skating Club last season, but only 79 members played tennis.

ORDER SERVED ON VAN MUNGO

Complainant Charges That Dodger Pitcher Beat Him Up in Havana

New York, April 18 (AP)— Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn Dodgers pitcher, was served with an action for damages in the sum of $25,000 personal damage suit brought by Prudencio Collado Carrera, professional dancer, who charged that the ball player assaulted him in the Nacional Hotel in Havana last March 10.

Carrero claimed that Mungo beat him after he found him in bed with the pitcher in the room of a hostess.

The dancer said he had been unable to dance and had been estranged from his wife since the episode. The couple danced professionally at Granada and Gallistas.

The arrest order was served on Mungo at Ebbets Field by Kings County Sheriff James V. Mangano. Dodgers' officials posted $500 bond and Mungo was given 20 days to answer the charges.

CALLING 'EM Between the Lines

with Ken J. Colling

If you would take a tip from Norman Smith, credited by fellow pros. as the best putter in golf, then you can cut your three-foot putt before trying to hop out from thirty feet. Smith always practices on the short one first.

"Practice starting a tournament round," he said, "I usually drop several balls, three or four from the green to the cup and try to stroke them in from all directions. When I feel I have the proper touch, I may drop back to feel or test the green.

"The closer you are to the cup, naturally, the less is the margin for error. When you putt from three feet it is usually your accuracy that sends the ball into the cup. Farther back, your touch may enter in—such as the roll or the grain of the green.

"But you can't expect to sink a long one unless you stroke the ball properly and practice on short putts given you that solid foundation."

Smith considers putting the most important single factor in golf.

"If you haven't putting well it is likely to undermine your confidence in the rest of your game," he said. "That is why I would rather putt well consistently than occasionally a some of the time and poorly on other occasions."

Do you remember when Baltimore Orioles' pitcher Carl Hubbell to the showers with a three-run homer in the last inning of a game between Orioles and Toronto Maple Leafs? Well, that pitcher? Hubbell left the Leafs for New York Giants of the National League this year, later, developing into one of the game's greatest pitchers.

Manager Bill Shiff of the Seattle Indians plans to lean heavily on the good right arm of Sylvester Johnson, the veteran pitcher this year. Johnson put in a grand total of 19 campaigns in the majors and thinks he can serve both as a relief pitcher and a regular starter with the Indians. "One thing I know about Shiff, I'm not to worry about Johnson being drafted," (by) is 40 years old.

It was officially announced today that Bill Hunter, former well-known athletic director at Albert College for the past few years, has been granted leave of absence to accept a position with the Y.M.C.A. in Montreal, and go overseas almost immediately. Hunter, it is said, may have come to know Pete since he came to Belleville, and has been well and a safe return to Canada. We know personally that Mr. Hunter has been considering this move for some time, but was advised to keep quiet about it until actually needed in this field, as he would be engaged in a most important sport. At the same time, we understand Andy Reekie, now connected with the "Y" War Service at Picton and Toronto, is handling the same position as Mr. Hunter at Picton, will also visit Belleville in the same line of work. The War Service work of the "Y" in organizing sports for our Canadian troops is exceedingly important and we wish success such men as Mr. Beach and Mr. Reekie to keep in touch with sport-loving troops.

See where Corbo's A.C. are trying a new softball wrinkle this year, the club playing both Harold Bardon and Gerald Barrage as Bardon and Gerald Barrage as co-managers. The 1941 edition of the Corby's squad will introduce the, however, as an entirely different club from last night's Reliance softball meeting "Speedy" St. Louis and Company apparently keeping their tongues in their cheek. Well, ya can't blame a guy for trying.

SPORT SPICE—As expected, the Toronto Maple Leafs dropped the International League opener, as did Montreal, the other Canadian entry. Floyd Stromme's one-hit hurling was just too good for the Baltimore-led Orioles. Even before the Montreal Cup finals will open in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens next until Thursday, when they play in Montreal with the remainder of the series slated for the Forum. The Allan Cup finals open Saturday and with hockey play-offs now in full swing at the major league standings, the sport fans are girding themselves for a real good anything. There won't be so much of Conny Smythe's George Selkirk following Wednesday's game, however, as a new packaier arrived at the local port this week and immediately obtained employment along the shores of the beautiful Bay of Quinte. . . . Which reminds us little news was available from last night's Reliance softball meeting "Speedy" St. Louis and Company apparently keeping their tongues in their cheek. Well, ya can't blame a guy for trying.

No mention of a Kingston entry was made by President Eddie O'Meara of the Eastern Ontario Baseball League, when he spoke of the re-signing of a sudden loop recently. Limestone City diamond moguls have long cast eager eyes towards a possible season down in the Ottawa Valley baseball realm, but for some unknown reason the "valley boys" seem to desire no part of Kingston nor its baseball facilities. The Eastern Association is seeking to have an understanding with the more recently established Canadian-American Association struggles along within its own small orbit, however, with no thoughts of affiliation with either or no expansion in so-sure the continuance of the game in the outlying centres.

Hungarian Consular Staff Will Leave For Budapest

Montreal, April 18.—(CP)—Joseph Szentgyorgy, acting Hungarian consul, announced that consular members of the consular staff have received orders from the Hungarian Government to proceed to Budapest.

Dr. Charles Winkler, the consul general, is in hospital and will remain here, until recovered. The staff will go to Hungary via United States, Japan and Russia.

The Swedish consulate in Montreal is expected to look after Hungarian affairs.

Canada broke off diplomatic relations with Hungary more than a week ago following similar action by Great Britain.

HENDERSON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Elizabeth Henderson, who passed away four years ago today.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember her who once was here.
And who though silent is just as dear.
—Sadly missed by Family.

Rome Communique

Rome, April 18—(AP)—The Italian High Command claimed today that Italian troops have completed occupation of the Yugoslav coast with their arrival at Dubrovnik in columns coming from the north and south.

On the Albanian front, the daily war communique said, Italian forces recaptured Premet, Argirocastro and Porto Palermo.

(Premet fell to the Greek forces last Dec. 4 and they took the important town of Argirocastro four days later. The two towns are in southern Albania about ten miles from the Greek-Albanian border. Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia, is about 75 miles up the coast from the northern border of Albania.)

Screws to be inserted in places where they are to remain permanently should have been invented with two heads, the top one being cut off after insertion, leaving the lower one, which has no slot, flush with the surface.

Butter Prices Turn Firmer

Toronto, April 19—Butter prices took a turn for the better on the Toronto open produce market yesterday when the light supplies available at the previous day's quotations were cleared up. Prices were firmer in the afternoon.

Disappearance of selling pressure and steady demand from buyers relative to the current requirements sent prices fractionally higher on the butter market. This was the first upturn in weeks. Early business in No. 1 grade Ontario creamery solids went through at 30½c a pound, but the small offerings at that level were cleared up and buyers were forced to pay 30¾c. Most choice lots changed hands near the close of the market without making a count.

Buying for storage purposes strengthened the egg market. Good clearances of the fair volume of fresh receipts in the morning left supplies light in the afternoon and prices to shipper on the three grades of graded eggs went 1c per cent a dozen. The retail section maintained former levels.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, April 18 — Produce market prices here as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 30½c; first grade solids, jobbing price, 30½c to 31c.

Eggs: Graded shipments in used fibre cases, sold at A-large 20c; A-medium, 18c; A-pullets, 19c; B-large, 16c; C grade, 13c. Receipts, 1,227 cases.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, April 18 (CP)—Dressed weight were down 10 cents at Brantford and 25 cents at Kitchener and prices were unchanged at all other bacon-hog markets reporting this morning.

Liveweight: Brantford $16.75 plus transportation, Chatham $18.85, Leaside $18.15 delivered, Peterborough $18.75 plus transportation, Simcoe $18.25 plus transportation, Kitchener $19.00 plus transportation.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, April 18—(CP)—Prices held firm on Toronto Exchange this afternoon. Trading volume just about touched bottom with only 60,000 shares traded.

A few soft spots developed in industrials. Many Par issues entered 1-2 to 23 and Senior Oils and Steels were off.

Base Metal and Western Oils remained unchanged for a loss of 3-4 cent for Noranda to $3. In Golds narrow losses prevailed. Wright-Hargreaves, East Malartic, Kerr-Addison, Preston, MacLeod-Cockshutt and Pickle Crow.

WALL STREET

New York, April 18 —(AP)— The stock market showed little resistance fairly well today in the face of what generally considered bearish.

While declines of fractions to a point or so were in the majority near the fourth hour, scattered plus signs were in evidence and numerous issues were unchanged.

Glowing reports on the earnings outlook for sharply higher taxes remained in the background as speculative handicaps, brokers suggested.

Chrysler, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel and Consolidated Edison touched new 1941 lows, inclined to a wait and see mood. Telephone, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Du Pont and Westinghouse.

FRACTURES SKULL IN HEAVY FALL

George Mason, Mechanic at Stirling, Falls in Garage While Alone

Stirling —(Special)— Found in an unconscious condition on the floor of his garage, George Mason, popular Stirling auto mechanic, was rushed to hospital suffering from a fractured skull. Apparently he tripped and fell while at work late Thursday evening and being alone in the garage, lay there unseen. He regained consciousness and was taken to his home, Dr. R. A. Carleton was called and after he had dressed him failed an ambulance was called and he was taken to hospital where an X-ray examination revealed the fracture high on the right side of the head.

As he was alone in the garage at the time of the accident the manner in which it took place cannot be definitely ascertained. According to those who were present when he was found, he had been busy attempting to catch up on some belated repair work on a car, he being alone home at the evening meal, and he caught his toe and fell, striking his head on the cement floor.

Early this afternoon Dr. Geo. H. Gould visited Mr. Mason but remained unconscious and has had a fairly good chance for recovery. Latest reports indicate that the case following the injured man's

Savage Attack On London Part Of Nazi Strategy

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON)

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Two motives can be assigned for the savage attack by German air attack on London:

Prevention must be a belief in Berlin that British morale, the will of the people to fight on, has touched a new all-time low due to events in the Balkans and the Near East. The Nazis hope, perhaps, that the air attack will shatter British spirit completely.

There has been no word from Berlin that the attack is a reprisal although Britons do not attempt to minimize the grim price paid there in blood and destruction. The Nazis, it is said, have long had the raids speaks of unshaken British morale and that the people are doubtedly is buoyed by British naval interventions in the African east, which have been a most apparent disaster there into victory.

Britain's navy has been core through many nights of aerial terror—the sinking ships, the terrible blow that London suffered in the destruction of wird agency on agony. The war news from Greece and from Africa was also bad. It has slightened only by word of British fleet actions.

Prime Minister Churchill has told Parliament that shipping losses in the world war are not serious only if 1942 replacements were lacking. He looked to a new Dunkirk and building a miracle to supply them then.

Confidence in the Admiralty's decision to give out official figures twice weekly instead of on a daily basis rather than weekly has an encouraging effect. For example, it tends to leave Berlin claims of sinkings of British warships officially until mid-May.

The reason for the change was to let the British fleet statistics better and avert either undue optimism or pessimism. Sometimes it is more than possible, however, that Berlin may have given it a hint of wavering British morale.

This has directly given another motive for the fury of th- London attack. It was obviously designed to convince the British public that two-front war had not diverted Britain's might, to convince the Eas‡ to lessen the forge of the grim war and to active Britons in evasion threat.

The attack was hammered all night by an estimated 400 Nazi bombers in precisely the time when the heaviest German air concentration was being made against Crete, North Africa and over the Sicilian Straits. The blow of an entire Axis convoy, which was designed to demonstrate German air preponderance anew and to lift active Italian participation.

A stabbing British sea blow at the Axis North African attack army partly answered Berlin. Coupled with the roaring of British naval guns to support the Salum-Tobruk stand of the British troops, destruction of an entire Axis convoy, Africa bound, may prove a turning point in the war. It could lead to an Axis disaster in Africa, ending that threat to the Suez Canal, whatever happens in Greece.

Resistant were Youngstown Sheet, General Electric, Union Carbide and Westinghouse.

General inactivity prevailed among the Canadian issues. Canadian Pacific and Lake Shore Mines and, among bonds, Canada 4s reacted unchanged.

U.S. Automotive Industry To Curtail Car Production 20 P.C. In 1942

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The United States automobile industry agreed today to cut its production next year 20 per cent in order to increase its output of armaments.

William S. Knudsen, director of the Office of Production Management announced the decision after a three-sentence statement. The action was taken, he said, because it will result in a limitation to about 3,000,000 cars for civilian use, trucks for the production in the model beginning Aug. 1.

Knudsen said he met with representatives of the industry "to consider the growing defense production job that faces us" and they accepted the reduction "willingly."

Questions of the agreement's effect on prices were raised and officials of the Office of Price Control and Civilian Supply have been given to prices, cost and profit reductions.

It was learned that price officials will there would be no immediate reductions in prices to the extent that they are in those car models which will be left into the defence program. In this quarter of the industry it was likely any action would be taken immediately looking toward attempted control of automobile prices.

Knudsen said, "in order to make available new manufacturing facilities and management for the defense job being made ready rapidly."

Latest available figure show that automobile production in 1939 totalled 3,722,718 units, of which 2,978,164 were passenger cars and 727,520 were trucks.

Output for 1941 has been estimated at 5,500,000 and a 20 per cent reduction of that figure would bring the total down to next year at 4,160,000. Knudsen said that the reduction would amount to "approximately 1,000,000 units."

The automobile industry is the country's largest consumer of steel, rubber, plate glass, nickel and lead. Prospective savings for the defense program are indicated by the fact that the industry used 40 per cent of all strip steel produced in the United States, 30 per cent of all steel bars, 44 per cent of all malleable iron, and 55 per cent of all alloy steel.

At the meeting held in Knudsen's office were representatives of the Automobile Manufacturers' Association and the Ford Motor Company.

PRICES ARE GOOD AT HOLSTEIN SALE

$230 for Four-Year-Old Heifer Consigned by Morris Huff Brings High Price of Sale

"Prices are exceedingly good here today, there have been more cattle sold over the $100 mark and every dollar mark than experienced in this district in many years and I might add that the quality of cattle offered for sale is good and deserved to be rewarded as it was today," H. M. Holtby, field manager of the Canadian Holstein Breeders' Association at the 31st annual Belleville and District Holstein-Friesian Breeders' Club held at the old Driving Park, Belleville, on Thursday. Twenty-nine accredited cattle lead Holsteins were offered and sold from the tiered seat of the cattle paraded at the time of the auction sale which started at 1 o'clock.

The highest price paid went to the estate of Morris Huff, Moorefield, for Sun Plus Netherland, a four-year-old cow that had previously been awarded first prize at both Belleville and Picton Fairs in 1940. The purchaser was Irvin Orr of Canborough and the price set at $230, after some spirited bidding. The top price paid for a female aged Holstein cow was $320.00. This was the highest price annual of outstanding style and quality Holsteins ever sold in the show was purchased by Bert Buck, of Foxboro.

Other top prices included $185 for Marge Rag Apple Pabst Mercy sold by Harold Bird of Picton; $185, paid for Annie Sarah Mildmay Segis Pabst, by Ernest Dietrich of Brighton; $185 given for Wellie Colantha Segis, sired again of Roxe and Dodds of Picton; Agnes Francis Zan Segis from Alvin Wilson of Napanee brought $150; Mr. G. B. Hall, Belleville, paid $145 for Lady and $145 each. The second prize bull, Wallace Kornkyke Waldorf, owned by Parks of Belleville brought $75, while the third prize bull in the show, Sir Ormsby Hillcrest Bob, owned by Wm. Scott and Son, Sir of Stella, sold for $70.

The prize bull adjudged at the show, Sir Colantha Segis Pabst, came from the estate of Donald Longwell, Lonsdale, and was recently judged the grand champion at the Stirling Black and White Holstein-Friesian Show. The show champion bull was born Jan. 16, 1939.

Other winners in the bull-judging contest, in order of placement, were animals owned by Archibald Boyle, Stirling; Wm. Scott and Son, Stella, Ont.; Earl Weese and Sons, Carrying Place; Wm. The show and sale was under the direction of the officers of the Belleville and District Holstein-Friesian Breeders' Club, who are as follows: Murray Reynolds, President; Ross Dodds, Vice-President; Brian Dodds, Sales Manager and with L. A. Thompson, of Toronto, conducting the auction.

GREEKS MOVE

Eye-witness accounts of the battle of Kleisura Pass, where German soldiers, supported by divebombers, were locked in combat unreasonably at the Hellenic defences with great loss of life.

One report said that Nazi losses in the Greek invasion at 50,000 men.

The spokesman did not designate where the Nazi dive-bombers were firing but the Greeks were known to be in action in the Kalabaka region and around Kozani. The Germans had made inroads from Grevena, 25 miles north of Kalabaka, but on important railhead, and 40 miles north of Trikkala, another key defence line.

Disclose Loss of Kleisura

The Greek High Command at the same time disclosed the loss of Kleisura Pass, a key defensive, indicating that Greek soldiers, many of whom have been in action for nearly six months, were falling back to a wide plain where Kalabaka lay, very won in violent mountain battles last winter.

The plain Olympus, British and Imperial troops have hurled back repeated waves of Italian infantry for six days, reports reaching Athens said. Nazi troops, the reports have added, to prevent the German smash from rolling from outflank of the British from behind.

The Athena radio said last night that the Greeks had driven north of Katerina, in the Olympus arena, and thrown back Germans in heavy losses.

Mount Olympus, fabled home of the ancient gods of Greece, resounds all day and all night to the shock of artillery duels, which roar over its battles of 20 to 40 to dump shells.

A British tank officer asserted that Greek troops, one source asserted, had "got the better of the Germans wherever they met on equal terms."

In North Africa, this source said, the Australian troops in the Tobruk Africa has stopped and for the first time the Axis forces have adopted "a defensive attitude" around Tobruk, Eastern Libya, and Salum, in Western Egypt.

THE WAR TODAY

By GUY ROHADES

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The situation of the Allies in Greece has reached a crisis parallel with the collapse of Yugoslavia as a military factor and the consequent release of the German armies to be thrown against the Anglo-Greek defenders.

The Nazis appeared to be meeting no success in their drive on the British Imperial forces. One British officer told a correspondent that though Hitler's troops outnumbered those of his forces, the British were vastly superior.

This officer reported British mechanized troops had driven off a single tank by gunfire while British fire had penetrated Nazi tanks as if they were made of butter.

Yugoslavia's defeat appeared attributable to two main causes—inferior equipment and the racial division which sent the Croats into the enemy's camp as a promise of independence. The Serbs fought with heroism and desperation, but their resistance could not make up for their adversaries.

How much the Croats were softened by the German fifth column was difficult to gauge immediately, although the reports from Zagreb of the change of front was accomplished in a bloodless and been received with some extent at least.

The North African situation appeared from a brief London dispatch to have been stabilized and the Axis forces were said to have adopted a "defensive attitude" around Tobruk, Bardia, Sollum, Western Egypt.

The significance of this was not immediately apparent, but these causes suggested themselves.

The Australian and Indian forces, like the Italians in the last Libyan campaign, may have advanced their lines too far and too hurriedly, so that they could be cracked from the rear by aircraft.

The losses they suffered in encounters with British rear-guard delaying troops and naval forces may have weakened them so far for offensive action with reinforcements against augmented British forces.

The destruction of their supply convoy of 8 ships in the Mediterranean may have left them insufficiently equipped and supplied for further ambitious projects.

NAZIS DISREGARD LOSSES IN ORDER TO BREAK LINE

Column After Column Being Hurled Against Allied Defences

BODIES PILED HIGH

Editors Note: — Edward Kennedy, for six years an Associated Press correspondent in Germany and Africa, went to Greece when the British Expeditionary Force moved in, just before the German invasion. He based in North Africa almost a year before that covering the British-Italian fighting in Egypt and Libya.

With British forces on the Greek front, April 18 (AP)—German columns are smashing southward at the Greek and British defence line have suffered heavy losses in men and tanks and are placing the number of their dead in the Greek invasion at 50,000.

Throughout the day, they have piled high, Hitler's High Command continues to send seemingly inexhaustible divisions of powerfully armed troops into the battle area. Column after column of German troops, supported by dive-bombers, have been hurled against the Greek British defence lines.

The attacks are serious but not hopeless, military authorities say.

Fell in the Pass

Two German night raiders were reported destroyed, bringing to 66 the total British defences have destroyed since the war began.

Slow clouds interfered with light bombing attacks on the defence line against the German capital and the first since April 9.

That raid which resulted in destruction of the Greek national park and damage to the Prussian state library and other buildings in the city centre, was the first described as the heaviest to date there.

"Yesterday our men were relieved to receive supplies of ammunition, food as well as our own," a worker said. "We've made friends with the Greeks, from which our men crawled and shouted, but there has been no time for anyone."

Trapped Nine Hours.

A woman rescued after being trapped for nine hours in a ruined shelter where three others were still trapped said: "We never thought we would get out alive. Through the long hours of waiting I comforted those with me by singing songs and other tips with orange juice. I could hear the bombers over us."

Emergency services have been taxed to the limit to provide for the homeless. About 170 feeding centres are operating today, serving cups of tea, soup and hot meals cooked in these centres deprived of gas turned out did field kitchens in the proximity.

Fleets of buses including 500 extra vehicles, mobilized while the attack was at its peak, have been used to move the unemployed rail services, avoiding damaged streets where the civil defence workers are busy dealing with the havoc. A great fleet of lorries has been

Eight buses converted into big ambulances completed the list. A response with country base hospital numerous casualties who had been taken to the Canadian Red Cross northwest London hospital which has been taken over by the Canadian nurses tended and bandaged the wounded in secrecy by the light of Hurricane lamps.

Churchill Tours District.

Prime Minister Churchill and Mrs. Churchill toured battered west end areas today, dressed in siren suits and they clapped and shouted: "Are we downhearted?" "No!"

Waving his stick at the wreckage, the prime minister told auxiliary fire service men: "You must be all feeling a pretty good job here too."

Mr. Churchill and Mrs. Morrison inspected the civil defence services and visited a number of public institutions personnel that new British bomb had been used in the raid on Berlin last night.

The Chislehurst Caves in Kent received an influx of Londoners, mostly of them pushing perambulators with their belongings piled on top, who already filled and it is impossible to shelter anybody else. It was feared that if more people arrived the sanitary arrangements would be inadequate and would expose them to their homes in the blackout.

RIVER LEVELS LOWEST IN DECADE

Water levels of the Moira River are said to be lower at present than in any corresponding period for a decade. Lack of rain during the early heavy Spring rains is said to be responsible in the major part, with the more or less rapid disappearance of late Winter snows also being a contributing factor.

In some parts of the river, the bottom is visible and small boys have no difficulty in wading in the lower stretches, apparently anxious to get a close look at the fish which may be inclined to make a trip upstream.

PORTSMOUTH PORT

Houses were wrecked in many sections of the city, trapping residents under debris.

At the height of the attack the raiders, in the light of their own flares, dived from 1,000 feet and empty their bomb racks, but a determined anti-aircraft and machine barrage forced some of them out to sea, where they were attacked by British fighter planes.

Besides the tons of bombs dropped on the city, fires also showered the surrounding countryside.

Bombs Rain Down

The Royal Air Force delivered a swift answer last night in the heaviest attack on London since the 24 hours before, striking at the heart of the German air force aimed new blows at southern, eastern and northeastern England.

Early reports indicated the assault on the German capital, apparently undertaken on short notice by way of reprisal, could not compare with Wednesday night's raid on London, but it was a stiff one, it was said.

"It will remind the Germans that R.A.F. still is able to reach Berlin."

The main target of the German Air Force last night was Portsmouth, south coast naval base. Hospitals were crowded with victims of the heaviest air raid alarms between midnight and dawn, but no deaths in the capital.

Berlin Tries To Minimize Raid.

Berlin, April 18 (AP)—

Eight planes were lost in the forty-seventeen raids.

Targets in the heart of the German capital were attacked in the city's account said, adding that "fires immediately broke out."

The "attack was beaten home," it added, "and many bursts were seen across the city centre but no damage was certainly done."

Other attacks were made on Rotterdam in the Nazi-occupied Netherlands, the German industrial city of Mannheim and a number of other places in northwest Germany.

Berlin reported that the attack out yesterday on Cherbourg, France and Boulogne, coastal cities opposite against German shipping with one wrecks of small vessels, one tank and another blown up in port.

New Bomber Used

Mr. Morrison said the "superbomb" dropped on Berlin last night were the first of this kind used against the Nazi capital.

The new type of bomb, were seen to burst in the centre of the city and the explosion shook the Sterling bomber was in action in the raid.

"Unlike the Nazis," he said, "we make no hysterical noises about new weapons. We just use them. They will be carried out. Berlin was heavily attacked last night.

"Let Hitler understand that we have as many more things in store as he has to bomb London."

Berlin, April 18 (AP)—Stronger Prime Minister Churchill's force than ever before used against Berlin was directed by the Nazis in the centre of the German capital last night, the high command said.

Nazi sources said the Prussian State Library, already undergoing service since the first British raid on the night of April 9, again was damaged, together with "residential buildings" and "about ten apartment houses" were damaged, the high command said, seeking to minimize casualties.

Detailing the warning which the German air force made the night before last, the high command declared:

"Despite the warning which the German air force made the night before last, the enemy's terroristic attack on London, stronger than ever before, was directed by Air Minister anti-aircraft barrage."

Said the daily communique, adding that 17 enemy planes succeeded in pushing through the fire belt to the city's centre."

EVERY MEAL ENDED IN MISERY

But His Indigestion Was Relieved by Kruschen

The treatment which put this man right must surely be worth trying in every case of indigestion. Read what he says:—

"Two years ago I suffered very much from indigestion, loss of appetite and a most severe pain in my back. Food soured in my stomach. I felt most miserable after meals, and had no desire or appetite for them. A friend advised me to try Kruschen Salts. I did so, and I am most happy to testify that after a short time I felt a wonderful relief. I continued taking Kruschen till I felt myself quite better and a new man. I feel as light-hearted as I did twenty years ago."—Mr. J.H.

Work Of The O.V.C. Outlined To Laymen's Assoc. At Marmora

Marmora, (Special) — Fourteen members of the Trenton District of the Ontario Volunteer Constabulary visited St. Paul's Laymen's Association at their regular meeting in the Parish Hall on Wednesday evening. After the meeting which was opened with prayer by Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell, the President R. G. Winters extended a hearty welcome to the visitors and introduced Wm. Cowper manager to introduce Major E. R. Willing. The latter gave an interesting address on the reasons for the formation of the O.V.C. and outlined briefly the duties and relations. As an ex-member of the R.A.F. he was able to draw a sharp contrast between the speed and efficiency exhibited in the last Great War instancing the story that Canada is not so far removed from the scenes of the conflict in this war as some would imagine. The O.V.C. is willing and ready to be considered but also the Major stressed in which case the serviceability of the O.V.C. could be impaired. He said it would be possible to form a car unit of the Constabulary for use in Marmora as a result of their visit. Also contributing to the enlightenment of the audience were members of the Constabulary, Capt. Richardson in command of the Belleville Company, Lieut. C. J. Dougherty and Sergt. Major F. Wigmore. Thanks of the visitors to the association for the arrangements made for the meeting and of the association to the visitors for their speeches concluded an interesting evening.

Under the auspices of Group 1 of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild a euchre party was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday evening. Eight tables were in play. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. NAZI ATTACKS FAIL

Athens, April 19 —(AP) —Greece wrestled today with a cabinet crisis caused by the unexpected death of Premier Alexandros Koryzis while her army, aided by British and Imperial forces, fought fiercely to stem a great German offensive.

Greek spokesmen admitted that the outlook was far from bright, though dispatches from the front last night said the Allied defenders were holding their own.

There were reports that King George II was planning formation of a military government to meet the crisis precipitated by the death of the Premier, who succeeded the late Gen. John Metaxas following the latter's death last Jan. 29.

27,337 Tons Shipping Reported Lost In Week Ending Apr. 18

(By The Canadian Press)

Neutral sources reported the sinking of four British merchant ships aggregating 27,337 tons in the week ended April 18. These included the 10,917-ton Northern Prince reported sunk in the Atlantic.

Another loss to Britain reported during the week was the 1,061 ton French liner Commissaire Ramel, which was under charter to the British Admiralty.

Loss of two small Swedish ships, the Kexholm of 3,181 tons and the Ligaria of 1,751 tons, was also reported.

The British Admiralty announced during the week that henceforth lists of official sinkings of shipping losses will be issued monthly, instead of weekly as heretofore, the first report will be made available towards the middle of May and will cover the month of April.

MEETING PLACE NOT ANNOUNCED

Premier King and President to Discuss Important Questions

(By J. F. Sanderson)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, April 19.—(CP) — President Roosevelt said at a Press Conference today that he expected to meet somewhere next week with Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Mr. Roosevelt did not say when the meeting would take place.

Previously it had been reported they would meet either here or at Warm Springs, Ga., next Monday. The President said they had not taken up anything important over the tea cups Wednesday, shortly after Mr. King arrived here from Ottawa. He could not say what they expected to discuss at their next meeting. There had been no discussion, he said in answer to a question of opening Halifax Harbor to United States warships more easily by removing it from the combat zone.

Thursday, Mr. King left here to spend a few days at Virginia Beach, Va. Before leaving he conferred with Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, State Secretary Cordell Hull and Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador.

AERIAL ACTIVITY AT MINIMUM

Britons, Generally, Enjoyed Night of Undisturbed Rest

London, April 19 —(CP)— Official reports of little enemy air activity over Britain last night and early today and a generally quiet night enjoyed a night of undisturbed rest.

The Air Ministry and Ministry of Home Security said that apart from slight activity over southwest England in the north of Scotland "there has been nothing to report during the night."

No casualties were reported and the damage was slight.

Lack Of Collaboration With Allies Blamed For Yugoslav Collapse

Athens, Greece, April 18 (AP) — Premier Dusan Simovic of Yugoslavia today blamed his country's German entry in Croatia and the lack of "prior collaboration with the Allies" for the speedy defeat of the Yugoslav armies.

His military analysis of the war released by the Yugoslav legation, the first Simovic has made of the government in exile, expressed determination to go on fighting at the side of our Allies until final victory."

Quarter-Million Women in Britain To Register For Labor in War Factories

London, April 19 (CP)—A quarter-million women of 20 and 21 are expected to register today in Britain's first conscription of feminine labor for war industries.

When Labor Minister Ernest Bevin announced the plan to draft women March 16, he declared the registration call was to be heeded equally by the drawing room and the laundry room.

The only exemptions will be for women already serving with the nursing service, full-time air raid precautions and civil defense volunteers and students at universities, technical and professional schools.

Two or three weeks will be required for classification of today's registrants before the Minister of Labor begins summoning those who will best fit into the nation's humming industrial machine.

Military Regime To Replace Goy't Of Late Premier Korizis, Who Died Suddenly

KOTZIAS NOT WANTED

Athens, Greece, April 19 —(AP)—King George was reported today to be planning a military government to succeed that of the late Premier Alexandros Korizis, who died yesterday.

Efforts of Kostas Kotzias, former military governor of Athens, to form a government were said to have failed.

King George earlier had assumed wartime control of the government as head of the Council of Ministers, but entrusted to Kotzias the task of forming a new cabinet.

UNITED STATES TO MEET URGENT BRITISH NEEDS

New Major Expansion of Aircraft Industry Under Consideration

MAKE MORE BOMBERS

Washington, April 19—(AP)— A new major expansion of the United States' aircraft industry to meet an urgent British need for heavy bombers was reported reliably today to be under consideration by officials in charge of the lease-lend program.

Three of four additional plants to turn out long-range bombers—the backbone of aerial striking power—are described authoritatively as projected.

An initial move toward increasing the output of such planes was made earlier in the week when the war department announced a $24,275,000 contract to the Glenn L. Martin Company of Baltimore for construction of additional facilities principally for production of heavy bombers.

The proposed new plants would be in addition to four already under construction in the middle west which were designed to turn out 3,600 bombers annually from parts prefabricated in automobile factories.

Military experts long have contended that Britain has a pressing need for heavy bombers to enable her airmen to reach distant land targets as well as to combat German attacks on shipping far at sea.

William Knudsen, defence production chief, told Congress recently that with 5,000 such planes in use "we could fix things up over there."

Suggested Camp Break Engineered to Coincide With Hitler's Birthday

OTTAWA, April 19 (CP)—The capture of "several" of 28 German prisoners of war who escaped from a Northwestern Ontario internment camp during the night was announced today by a spokesman of the Secretary of State Department.

DECLINED TO GIVE NUMBER

The official declined to give the exact number recaptured at this time but he was permitted to add that some were back in camp and others, overtaken in the dense bush about the camp, were being returned to the enclosure.

He gave official confirmation to the fact that the number who broke away from their guards during the night was 28.

This was the first word from the Northwestern Ontario camp. Latest report was that there was 30, but he said it had been established the total was 28.

This figure brought the number of attempts to break away from internment authorities in Canada to 61.

CONTINUE ATTACK ON ALLIED LINE CAUSING CONCERN

No Let Up of Reckless Troop Assaults and Dive Bomber Attacks by Nazis

UNEQUAL STRUGGLE

By HAROLD FAIR
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, April 19 (CP)—The unending mass of men, arms and planes the Germans are able to throw recklessly against the stubbornly retaining Allied line in Greece is causing increasing concern over the outcome of the campaign.

This tremendous pressure, maintained by steady reinforcements, is forcing the Allies to withdraw to a shorter line. Faced with superior forces, they are battling savagely and gallantly, but the sheer weight of the enemy is overpowering.

When the Allies meet the Nazis on equal terms they generally triumph, but then the Germans throw more power into the battle than they to-eel—and this has been heavy.

The most worrying factor is the continual dive bombing due to Nazi air superiority. The German force permits the Germans to maintain a virtual 24-hour attack in which they blast shipping at night—like other mountain tops, and even creeks.

Incidentally, informed sources speculating on the Allies' ability to withstand the Nazi onslaught suggested the Imperials may seek to prevent further losses by concentrating on the more important Libyan campaign, the prize, of which is Suez, lifeline to the east.

Britain is fighting in Greece because she was morally bound to aid a gallant ally, but it is suggested that in the Empire's main struggle her interest lies in assuring the safety of Suez. As long as German reclaimed forces are on the Egyptian border and bombers on Libyan airfields, the Suez Canal is jeopardized.

Rome Communique

Rome, April 19—(AP)—The Italian High Command claimed today that two large tankers were sunk with torpedo attacks and one was hit with bombs in an attack by Italian fliers on a beatifully escorted convoy in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Confirmation from Allied sources is not available.

In North Africa, the daily war bulletin said, patrol clashes were reported east of the Egyptian village of Salum, and Axis planes bombed British positions at Tobruk, 80 miles west of the Egyptian-Libyan border.

"In Yugoslavia," it added, "our troops are continuing a movement to complete the occupation of Dalmation territory." An army command with the Italian forces and other generals were claimed as prisoners.

G.M.C. ANNOUNCES NO NEW MODELS OF CARS FOR 1943

Expected That Other Makers Will Announce Similar Decision

TO HELP DEFENCE

By DAVID B. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor.

Detroit, April 19 (AP)—General Motors' announcement that it is making no plans for new models passenger cars in 1943 is expected in automotive circles here to be followed shortly by similar decision by the remainder of the motor car industry.

In announcing his company's decision yesterday in New York, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., General Motors Board Chairman, said the action had been determined upon so that all possible acceleration might be given to the United States defence program.

All other companies manufacturing motor vehicles have pledged their fullest effort to the defence materials production program and a decision to forego 1943 model changes has been regarded among automotive leaders as the key industry as an "obvious eventuality."

While Mr. Sloan made no definite statement yet of their 1943 model plans, observers see in the Sloan announcement left little doubt of their plans for 1943.

"Defence is necessary," said a Ford spokesman, "has been of the opinion that Ford will have new models for 1943. As far as the Ford Company is concerned, the defence program comes first and we have no plans."

Chrysler's attitude was expressed by W. P. Keller, its President.

"We have been busy with defence work that we have not had a chance to think about 1943 models," he said. "We have not got our 1942 models out yet."

Sloan said that General Motors' estimates of 1942 model plans would reduce the pressure on machine tools and plants. He said the corporation spends from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 on an "average model" year.

"This involves tooling, almost entirely," he said, "approximately 75 per cent of this capacity could be diverted to defence purposes. In terms of production, there would be involved approximately 15,000,000 man hours."

STORMY WEATHER HOLDS OFFENSIVE TO A MINIMUM

Whole Buildings Tossed Into Air By New Bomb Used In Berlin Raid

DOTTED WITH FIRES

London, April 19—(CP)—The Air Ministry today announced no overnight offensive action by the Royal Air Force, leading to belief that stormy weather over the continent held aircraft on the ground.

The apparent cessation of activity followed a night in which Berlin received its heaviest raid of the war, a raid in which more numerous and heavier types of bombers carried the new "super" bomb which has been observed in raids on other German-held centres to inflict enormous damage, sometimes tossing whole buildings into the air.

R.A.F. pilots returning yesterday told their 1,200 mile round trip to Berlin told of seeing the German capital dotted with fires. They said that they had difficulty in observing the extent of the damage their bombs inflicted, for visibility was poor.

The pilots and their crews suffered intensely from cold and were frequently at times by ice which formed on the wings and propellers of their craft.

Eight aircraft were lost in the raids while two German fighter craft which attempted to intercept the raiders were known to have been shot down.

BRITISH TROOPS ARRIVE IN BASRA TO OPEN LINES

New Iraq Administration Giving Full Aid to Commanding Officer

TO PROTECT OIL

London, April 19 (CP)—Strong British and Imperial forces have arrived in Basra to "open up lines of communication through Iraq," it was officially announced here today.

"The new government of Iraq, the new Iraq administration, true to the initial assurances given by Rashid Ali when he came into power recently are affording full facilities" and have contacted from here to Peterboro and to Madoc. His business was wholesale as well as retail and his service there were engaged some eighteen to twenty clerks.

Residents Advised To Use Any Force To Capture Escaped German Prisoners

Toronto, April 19 (CP).—Col. H. E. Stethem, director of internment operations, said today that residents of the Lake Superior bush country where 28 German prisoners have escaped from an internment camp, should "use any force necessary" to capture the men.

"The women are all non-commissioned men of the German air force, mostly crews of planes that were attr..."

brought down raiding London," he said. "Since they came from the east, I feel they will head back for the east, and I strongly advise residents of the country around Chapleau and White River to be on the watch.

"They should, if they spot any of these men, use any force necessary to hold them until military aid can

Three Hit Near Heligoland And Other Pair Near Norwegian Coast

London, April 19 —(CP) —Four Axis merchant ships and an escort vessel either were set afire or left sinking yesterday, the Air Ministry announced today in a communique which said eight British planes were missing from the day's operations over the North Sea.

Two of the enemy vessels destroyed were travelling in convoy near Heligoland. Together with an escorting vessel, they were set on fire "so seriously as to be a total loss."

The other pair were "hit and left sinking" off the Norwegian coast.

Three Travelling In Convoy With Escorting Vessel

REV. A. L. GEEN

Rev. A. L. Geen, Noted Churchman, Dies Early Today

Immediate Confirmation From Allied Sources Not Available

Berlin, April 19 (AP)—The German High Command claimed today the capture of Larisa, 40 miles south of Mount Olympus, Eastern anchor of the Greek-British defence line.

Larisa, smashed by a recent earthquake and by bombings, is an important junction on the main rail line leading from Salonika to Athens.

(Immediate confirmation from Allied sources was not available. The German claim, if borne out, would mean the Allies have completed their withdrawal from the line running west from Mount Olympus to take up a shorter front farther south.)

The Nazis claimed that British forces were "pushed out of strongly fortified mountain positions after a stubborn fight" and declared that the Nazi troops were "keeping at the heels of the British despite desperate efforts to stem the pursuit by blasting bridges and mountain roads."

They acknowledge that the German forces are encountering "extraordinary difficulties."

GERMANS CLAIM LARISA CAPTURED

The City of Belleville mourns today the loss of one of its oldest citizens in the person of the Rev. A. L. Geen, who died early this Saturday morning at his residence, Moodie Cottage, 114 Bridge Street West.

The late Rev. Albert Lott Geen was, indeed, Belleville's "Grand Old Man" and in his passing a link with the early days of this city has been removed. He was born in Belleville on July 22nd, 1840, being thus in his 101st year. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James S. Geen and all his life was passed in the city of his birth.

At the age of twenty-two years, in the year 1871, he purchased the drug business then conducted by Mr. J. C. Holden, which was then located at the corner of Front and Bridge Streets, on Victoria Avenue.) The business was established in the year 1825 and Mr. Geen was associated with Mr. Holden from the year 1861 until he purchased the business in the year 1871. He was an excellent business man and his integrity in all dealings was undermined in the city and throughout large district which this city has served before the railways were constructed from here to Peterboro and to Madoc. His business was wholesale as well as retail and his service there were engaged some eighteen to twenty clerks.

Honored By Druggists

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

MUSKRAT SEASON CLOSES ON MONDAY

Game Warden Herbert McCabe of this city has received word from the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries that the muskrat season in Hastings County would close next Monday, April 21.

The rat season has been below the average this year according to Mr. McCabe, although prices have been much higher than usual, with bids in some cases reaching as high as $2.40 a skin. The low water in rivers, lakes and streams caused the shortage of rats with the rodents going far afield in search of food.

A bad season one year usually promises a good one the next season is the opinion of many local trappers. Extra breeding is the result of more rat escaping the traps the previous season is responsible for this it is explained.

NURSING SISTERS HURT IN ACCIDENT

Two nursing sisters employed at the R.C.A.F. base at Trenton, were admitted to the Belleville General Hospital early after five o'clock Saturday morning following injuries received in a motor accident near Picton. The names of the nursing sisters were given as Miss Alberta Lement and Miss Miss Sleeth both residing in Trenton. Miss Lemont sustained a fractured arm and scalp wounds, while Miss Sleeth escaped with bruises when the automobile in which they were riding struck a soft shoulder in the road, resulting in the motor car turning over into the ditch. Other occupants escaped unscathed, Motorcycle Patrolman J. St. Hatch reported after investigation.

WINDOW OF PARKED CAR SHATTERED

A rather strange and unique accident occurred on Victoria Ave. early Saturday morning when the window of a parked automobile was broken. Mr. Basil Ainsworth of Bloomfield parked his motor car on Victoria Ave. for a few moments Saturday morning and upon his return he was surprised to find a car door window shattered, while inside the vehicle was found the hub cap of another car, P. C. Intelligencer.

Arnott investigated the matter and was of the opinion the hub cap must have fallen from the car of a passing car and bounced in some unaccountable manner and struck the closed window of Mr. Ainsworth's car shattering it.

Mr. Geen early saw the necessity of the merchants of Belleville meeting together and discussing matters relative to the retailing of merchandise and he was the main mover in having a branch of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada established here. He was the oldest Past President of the latter organization.

Enters the Service of the Church

Mr. Geen from his youth was a devout member of the Church of England, and was an energetic worker in church organizations. He served in the Sunday Schools and at an early age he was made a lay reader. He was a great student of theology and of the doctrines and history of the Church of England. He served so well and was of such great assistance to the clergy in the diocese by conducting services for them when necessary that His Grace Archbishop Lewis, the first Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario acting with the authority given under Canon 38, of the Provincial Synod, made him a Perpetual Deacon on June 7th, 1925, to serve in the sacred ministry of the Church. In the filling of this office the Rev. A. L. Geen discharged the duties with zeal. He was an excellent preacher and in many parts of the diocese he assisted the incumbents and filled in their vacancies, and where there were no incumbents the services of the church were held and the members who greatly appreciated the ministrations of Mr. Geen in giving them spiritual care. He travelled with him and buried many miles on Sunday to hold services in various parishes.

Tendered Banquet

Several years ago in recognition of his great services to the Church in the Diocese, the Synod presented him with an address and a beautiful violet stole. On the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the ministry of the Church he was tendered a banquet in the Christ Church Parish Hall by the Church of England people in Belleville at which many citizens were present, including representatives of the local Ministerial Association.

Mr. Geen was a good man—He visited the sick and assisted and the services which he provided for the inmates of the Hastings County Home and the "Old Folks" Home were much appreciated.

Celebrated Golden Wedding in 1964

In the year 1874, Mr. Geen married Sara Ann Dorothy Perrier, daughter of James D. Perrier, LL.D. Mrs. Geen for some years was professor of languages in the University of Toronto. They celebrated their golden wedding on September 8th., 1924. Since marriage Mr. and Mrs. Geen lived in Moodie Cottage, Mrs. Geen died in 1934.

Mr. Geen was President of the Belleville Branch of the Bible Society for many years.

Honored by Mohawk Indians

Some years ago the Mohawk Tribe of Indians, of Tyendinaga, honored him as the tribe and gave him the name of Chief Sho-je-neh. He was also honored by the Six Nations and given the name of Ka-Ja-Ga-Oh.

Fraternal Associations

Mr. Geen took a prominent part in fraternal organizations. In the Orange Order he was Honorary Past Grand Master of Grand Lodge Ontario East, Past Grand Chaplain Grand Master Grand Lodge of Ontario East Royal Arch Knight Grand Regent of the Royal Arcanum; Past Master of the Women's member of Eureka Lodge, A.F. & A.M., 213, and also the Sons of England.

Surviving him are three sons, Col. E. A. Geen, M.P.P., of Toronto; Mr. Reginald Geen, Oshawa; one daughter, Mrs. C. G. Steele, Toronto; two grandsons, Allan Geen, student at University of Toronto; John Geen; two granddaughters, Miss Mary Geen and Miss Phyllis Geen.

The late Rev. Albert Lott Geen was a good citizen—He served well his church, his city and his country and he will be remembered with affection for a long time to come by those near to him and by the many to whom he was a friend. "To live in hearts we leave behind, Is not to die."

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Proposed Federation Of Agriculture Movement Discussed

Laying the foundation for what may ultimately result in the confederation of agriculturists throughout Hastings County, to link up with the National Federation of Agriculture movement county officials, government representatives and local agriculturists interested in the movement convened at Shire Hall in Belleville Monday evening where a round-table discussion on the movement ensued.

Warden W. J. Davis of Hastings County acted as Chairman for the evening while Seldon Honan of Corbyville acted as Secretary. Several speakers, including S. L. Joss, Secretary - Treasurer of Cheese Producers' Association of Ontario, Dr. H. Welsh, M.P.P. of Roslin and Grant Logan of Foxboro, explained the subject with the evening's program culminating in a round table discussion in which many of the delegates took part.

Interest of the farmers in the proposed federation of agriculture has been heightened throughout the winter months as the result of a series of radio broadcasts which were broadcast over CBL every Tuesday evening and which were sponsored by the Federation of Agriculture. Those broadcasts were last night's meeting were Grant Logan of Foxboro, Seldon Honan of Corbyville, Sam Nicholson of Wallbridge and Jack Pontieri of Eldney.

The outcome of the meeting was a decision to hold a second meeting here at which all farmers of the county will be invited. This meeting will be held co-incidentally with the regular County Council and it is expected a good representation of the county agriculturists will be present. Mr. Herb Hammell, Dominion President of the Federation of Agriculture was suggested as the speaker for the occasion. He is also one of the honorary officials of the Provincial organization.

YARDMAN SUSTAINS FRACTURED SKULL

Jack Harvey, 25-year-old night yardman at the Belleville Canadian National Railways, is under treatment for head lacerations and a fractured skull as the result of his duties as a yardman early Saturday morning. The injured man was taken to the Belleville General Hospital where Dr. Van Camelbeke is in charge. His condition was reported as quite favorable at noon today.

Railway officials revealed no details as to the cause of the accident, but it was suggested the injuries were received when he fell off a box car, while in the pursuit of his duties.

POLICE BLOTTER

When his view was allegedly blocked by a parked truck, an automobile driven by H. S. Cartner, of Winchester, Ont., collided with another motor car driven by Simon Kerr, Turnbull St., at the intersection of Pinnacle and Bridge Sts. early today.

P. C. Wright investigated and was told Cartner was proceeding north on Pinnacle St. and failed to see the car approaching from the west. Considerable damage resulted to the fenders and bumpers of the vehicles.

Ten transients and one inebriate shared the cell block at the police station last night, while the lone celebrant was remanded until Monday on a charge of intoxication.

ALFRED CALCUTT IS NOW RETIRED

C.N.R. Engineer Entered Service In December, 1899

Alfred (Alf.) Calcutt, 30 Chatham St., joined the fraternity of retired railroaders on the Railway Employees on April 1th, after nearly 42 years of continued service with the old Grand Trunk and Canadian National Railways.

Alf, as he was commonly known among his fellow-employees, entered the service in December, 1899 as a locomotive fireman with the old Grand Trunk Railway, when it was necessary to stoke all locomotives with coal.

After short years Mr. Calcutt was classed as an engineer and has been employed steadily ever since. For the past eleven years he has been making passenger runs on the crack C.N.R. passenger trains and was considered one of the best locomotive engineers in the Belleville district at the throttle of his supercharger. His many friends wish him long life and good health for the future.

Police Dog Runs Wild On Main Duck Island

Point Traverse April 18—Rover, a four-year-old police dog that disappeared from the home of Mr. Desmond Grenville, Wainfleet Island, early last January, and was carried by a drifting ice floe out into Lake Ontario and cast on the Main Duck island to begin a shortlived nefarious career, will not return to its home.

Rover, running at large over the large island, became an untamed and dangerous animal, turning killer. Four wild deer on the island were attacked and destroyed by the dog.

A "safari" comprising five men reached the Main Duck Wednesday afternoon to track down the animal and return it to its owner. Rev. Father Beck, but upon arrival was informed that the dog had been destroyed by one of the residents there. The dog was identified by Mr. Earl Wylie, caretaker at the Oblate School, who said that it was the first time known that the dog had left home of any distance and had been gentle and kind to children.

Place Busy

The C. G. B. Grenville has placed the combined gas and bell buoy on the Ashley Shoal off the Main Duck.

Mr. Wm. Thompson Cape Vincent, N.Y., has arrived at the Main Duck to commence the fishing season.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur LaBarr, Niagara Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Church, Milford, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bongard.

Dr. J. B. McLaurin To Give Illustrated Talk On Bolivia

MURDER SAILS A TROOPSHIP

By A. W. O'Brien

Army transport autos were waiting and they were soon rolling their first glimpse of the Parade Ground of an Empire. Through typically English lanes, bordered by well kept green hedges, the autos zoomed past quaint little villages, endless parade grounds level as a billiard table, pretty streams and dense wooded areas. Occasionally they would down along the left side of the road while passing lines of marching troops or motorized convoys.

Greg remembered that back home he had heard of a speaker compare the size of Montreal with that of Aldershot—Montreal, 18,000 acres, and Aldershot, 30,000 acres. And, too, that speaker had dwelt on the fact that upon these parade grounds where Canadian feet now marched, Roman armies marched to war, and now rulns somewhere in the Aldershot area marked the spot where King Alfred had built fortifications a thousand years before.

But that was all the time he had for romantically historical reflections. A few minutes after arriving at Vine Barracks—Br Divisional H.Q.—Rollins and his companions were started to work. In fact, for twenty-four hours the men of a desk without even leaving for meals.

Now, long days after arriving, the hectic preliminary work had been completed. Headquarters Companies of the various units would now take over and Rollins found himself reading a notification from his O.C. that would ordinarily have brought a cheer to his lips. He had been granted his forty-eight hours' leave effective immediately instead of having to wait for the expected ten days.

With a grim smile, he fingered the brisk army note. A look-see at London would have been a new high for him if . . . if . . . he shook his head. But, what the hell —he'd see enough of Aldershot presently without mooning around during his leave.

When he reached Aldershot town, the last of the troop trains had arrived. An Ottawa bunch was raising a great rumpus and chalking nasty things on the station walls about Adolf as Greg bought a London paper at the newsstand.

Seated in his compartment a few minutes later, London bound, Greg read with interest the British United Press delayed report of the landing or "another contingent from Canada—this time a complete division —at an untamed Scottish port."

Another headline caught his eye: "Nazis Blitzed in Convoy Attack." Under it a heading read: "U-Boat Traps Backfires with Heavy Losses."

"It was announced today by the Admiralty that a major assault on the convoy's escort was repulsed with heavy losses suffered by the Nazis. At least five U-boats were destroyed", the account stated, "and 12 enemy bombers and fighters downed in one of the fiercest engagements of short duration seen in the war to date.

"The Admiralty admitted that the force and coordination of the enemy attack would indicate that a trap had been set for the convoy but that the Navy had no intention of allowing any more Jervis Bay tragedies'. No indication was given of the size of the British escort or of the whereabouts of the attack, but it was stated that some of the planes shot down carried R.A.F. markings which is alleged to have been the reason for the sinking of a liner some weeks ago. It would appear, therefore, that the R.A.F. have devised a signal system that has checkmated the latest Hitlerian device.

"Outside of one fighter which failed to return from the engagement, the only loss suffered by the British forces was some damage to a destroyer and the sinking of a sister ship, the Loch Lomond. The gallant skipper, whose name has not yet been ascertained as this edition went to press found himself near a U-boat that had apparently been driven to the surface by depth charges.

"Instead of turning away from the U-boat and allowing nearby warships to attack, the Loch Lomond turned her bow directly at the Nazi, approached full speed ahead. A British destroyer was forced to hold its fire in fear of hitting the trawler while the U-Boat opened gire fire on the Loch Lomond. It was point blank range and the trawler was severely hit several times, sinking before achieving its evident purpose to ram the U-Boat which was later captured by the destroyer. No survivors are reported of the Loch Lomond which now takes its place among the storied . . .

Rollins smiled sadly to himself. He was recalling the ruddy-faced Scot who had stood on the bridge and waved merrily as he passed the troopships back in the Canadian port while the men rang the sonic screeched by a destroyer named on the bow.

It was evening when Cree landed in Waterloo Station. It too was blacked out and he stood for a long time watching the busy procession of men and women—most of them in uniform—coming or going nobody knew where. There were no air raid sirens sounding but a railway attendant told him "not to be too surprised" if, that night's young yet!"

For the first time, the Lieutenant found himself in something of a quandry. Where would he go? After all, it wasn't like brightly lighted St. Catherine Street in Montreal or Times Square in New York where one could smooch around and "meet" someone else to go or something to on. London was cloaked in its nightly shadows and there was nothing to be seen by pedestrians, in fact, walking along the streets where lights would likely prove tiresome and worrisome to a forerunner.

Rollins got into a cab and went directly to the Hotel Russell on Russell Square. After he had checked in, he asked the door porter if he knew of some interesting place to eat." The porter, a round-faced chap with a lot of Yorkshire accent and humor, suggested a small, neat place at Simpson's might be the best bet.

Greg gingerly felt his way down the slope outside the hotel and was guided by the doorman to a waiting cab.

"To Simpson's, driver, and there's no hurry....." he settled down in the darkness then leaned forward again, tapping the glass, "Could you drive me, driver, to a restaurant on Greek Street in the Soho—it's called the Wilhelmina, I think."

In the gloom of the cab, Greg's face was lined with a winning smile. This would have been a glorious night if he had been on his way to a meeting with Joan. He mentally pictured the scene and even imagined how she would look, what they would talk about and.... he shook his head. This was tearing open wounds that had cut deeply into his very being. He knew the last place he should go was the "Welcome Small" but in his bitter loneliness he had to go there—just once.

For fully fifteen minutes the little taxi twisted and turned through the night, Rollins remarking to himself that the grey-haired driver must have cat's eyes. At irregular intervals, two-pecker busses roared by and melted again into the darkness. There were few, if any, autos other than taxis as far as he could see. Astonishingly few, too, were evidences that he could perceive or bit's damage.

Finally, his cab drew up beside a curb.

"That will be two bob, and tuppence for my tin," the driver said over his shoulder. "Just walk straight ahead and feel for the door."

Rollins eventually found the door knob. The door opened up. He pushed aside the curtain and stood blinking in the quaint little place decades of London tourists have known.

A chubby little Frenchman in impeccable formal attire greeted him:

"Bon soir, monsieur—I am Pierre ....." then looking over Greg's shoulder, "You are alone, oui?"

The officer smiled.

"Oui, I am alone."

"This way, monsieur." Pierre turned toward the evidently nearly dining room, then stopped abruptly. "You are not by any chance, Lieutenant Rollins, non?"

Greg halted in surprise.

"Yes, I am Lieutenant Rollins, but how in the world ....."

Pierre's face fairly beamed—he waved excitedly toward a table in the corner and Greg's heart stood still—it was a dream. It must be ..... a cerbl dream that ..... but, no, she was actually standing at him and beckoning to the other chair. ... it was Joan Davaar!

As if in a daze, Rollins approached. Automatically, he removed his cap, tucked his swagger his left arm and bowed. Still automatically, he sat in the chair as Pierre placed it under him.

She was smartly attired in civilian clothes—a bottle green travel suit topped by a sailor Breton. Her face was flushed with pleasure.

"Good evening, Greg, aren't you glad to see me....?"

Rollins finally found his tongue. Impulsively he reached out his hands and clasped hers.

"Of course, I am, Joan—I'm so glad I couldn't say what a what ....."

She laughed happily.

"I knew you would say that, you are a very lovable person, Greg. I phoned out to Aldershot, this evening There was only one place I could There was only one place I could hope to meet you, and I've been right. I doubled—but you remembered."

Greg's face was flushed but he still held her hands in his across the table.

"Forget it, Joan—you must have escaped and you are in danger. what can we ....."

She laughed again, gently removing one hand.

"Just a minute, Sir Galahad I'm obeying the Colonel's orders in showing you this paper but I'm a woman, too, and I'm afraid, rather in the wha....." she opened a folded letter from her purse.

Greg's eyes widened as he read. It bore the letterhead of the British Intelligence and was signed by one of the most famous names in England.

The letter was addressed to "Agent R-72 Joan Connaught" and contained warm personal congratulations for "your most commendable counter-espionage work in connection with Troopship Connor MX."

Mixed joy and bewilderment clouded on Greg's face.

"But, Joan, what....."

"Not so loud," she warned in a low tone. "There are many things I can tell you, and I know they will remain a secret....." he nodded. "I heard Colonel Bond to go into detail so I'll be brief."

"I was planted in the German Embassy at Ottawa through devious channels fifteen months before the outbreak of war and shortly before you sailed, drew another assignment, to play the role of the nurse you met on board ... on "T 9." Evidently the Intelligence had information as to which ship the Nazi agent was on, or had counter espionage agent on each troopship—that I don't know. The matron, a Winnipeg woman, had to be took in except my official credentials as a nurse on "T 9."

"The first night on deck—the night I had to lie about smoking—remember?" he grinned, "I knew I was on the right track because I saw the flashes, evidently to some other agent on land, but the party managed to slip away before I could cover the distance from the afterward end of 'A deck.' Anyway you popped up and I had to make an excuse so that an alarm wouldn't be spread and the agent go into a shell.

"I kept watching the light flashes from the baltle cruiser in order to keep in touch with what was going on. I knew the code and was on guard lest the cruser see the nightly searchlight business and warn our D.C.....

Rollins interrupted:

"But how that agent must have been....."

Joan made a motion for him to lower his voice.

"Yes, it was Jake Silver, Poor Tess found out first."

"That explains," murmured Rollins, "why he was so curious about you—he must have seen you approaching that night on deck, put two and two together when he saw you studying the cruiser signals and was on the watch for any secret discussions between us, just in case I was with you....."

"Check. And, the night I caught him red-handed there was no shoiter lup to shoot him when he tried to go for his gun. I had just taken the flashlight from his hand when you came up from the rear. I couldn't reveal my identity to you but did so privately to the Colonel after you left. It was on my suggestion that the quarantine was employed. We had to cover up in order to let one of our men take Silver's place on shore until the seat of the Nazi ring is found in England. His job had evidently been to flash regularly each night at the same time from a high deck to guide any prowling U-boat (Rollins thought, perhaps, and, if he got through, to speed information of the convoy's escort). Our trains, how many, etc. It was a remote chance but the Nazis had some idea of the course we might be taking. The flashes the night before we sailed were undoubtedly to inform an agent on land that the ship was getting on steam....."

"That's the grandest news I've ever heard—now how about you?"

"Not so good Greg—I'm leaving on the midnight train. They've found another job for me—in the Balkans this time...." She searched Greg's troubled face.

"But they can't, Joan dear," he said in a hoarse whisper, "I've only found you again, not so soon ....."

"It's no use, Greg," she injected tenderly, "this is war and I must go."

Rollins had already shown he could act when action was necessary.

"Then what would normally take months must be done in two hours ....." he spoke in measured tones, "will you marry me tonight —now?"

There was no hesitation on the girl's part. She nodded.

Rollins jumped to his feet and picked her up from her chair. His arms crushed her to him and their lips met in the ecstasy of a first kiss. The "Welcome Small" drifted away and in its place they stood in a romantic heaven all their own.....Unheeded outside the sirens were wailing an "Alert."

Pierre was tapping their shoulders, his face reflecting supreme embarrassment.

"Monsieur, madame.... plie, you are in the 'Welcome Small'....."

He turned as a pair of bombers swept thunderously the little restaurant. Pierre, being a discerning head-waiter quick to appreciate the moods of his customer, shrugged his shoulders in a gesture of tremendous helplessness:

"C'est la guerre!"

THE END.

HEROIC EPIC STRUGGLE IN GREECE AGAINST HUNS

There is being written in Greece one of the greatest stories of heroism in all history by the British and Greeks in their resistance to the Hun hordes who last week started their thrust through the Balkans. The enemy is being made to pay a high price for his lust for conquest and violence and it is estimated that fifty thousand Germans have already been slain in the Greek invasion which Hitler forced on the Balkans because Yugoslavia, who had "found her soul," refused to become the tool of Hitler and his conspiracy of Huns and would not betray the Greeks.

Though details are not complete, the British Empire knows that the British force is performing deeds of heroism which will live in history and the Greeks are doing what proves them the descendants of the men who threw back another invader nearly twenty-five centuries ago when Leonidas and his 300 men held the Pass of Thermopylae against the vast armies of the Persian king in 480 B.C. The Greece of old that saved the world so long ago is the battleground against the twentieth century tyrant. So is the terrain that provides the mountains against which the Hun must fight as well as against the heroic Greek and British armies. The terrain was one which served Greece in ancient days and the defenders are taking very advantage of the topography of the country.

LORD STAMP

War as the Hun wages it has struck down many lives in Britain. In the last raid on London, that of Wednesday night, among the notables who were killed were Lord and Lady Stamp, who died in the ruins of their home. Lord Stamp's death is a loss which Britain and the Empire feels very keenly because of his invaluable services to the State. He was one of the outstanding men of the time. Lady Stamp was a leader in religious and philanthropic work and was the president of the National Free Church Women's Council.

Canada has good reason to remember Lord Stamp as a great economist, a master of economic problems, who could apply his knowledge. He had a comprehensive mind and was able to discern the essential at point in an issue as he did with the grain problem which he investigated for Canada. In two weeks' time he had his report ready after he had heard from the points a large number of persons. Canadian universities have honored him.

Lord Stamp at the time of his death was adviser to the British Government.

Middle-aged readers will recall that he was financial adviser to Right Honorable David Lloyd George when the latter was Prime Minister of the United Kingdom.

Lord Stamp was a rare combination of the theoretical and the practical in economics.

Lord Stamp was of a deeply religious nature and one of the finest type of Christian men who thoroughly believed in the Christian ideals and carried them out in his life.

He and Lady Stamp, who have been a great help to the world, are among those many others who have been lost to humanity through the rise of Hitler and Nazism in Germany. Retribution awaits the German and Italian dictators and tyrants who have plotted against mankind and freedom and who would set up a reign of repression and slavery against justice and humanity if he could.

This is the story of two great lives cut short through the savagery of the Hun who has made deliberate attacks upon the people in the mad notion that in this way the people can be conquered.

In the midst of this tragedy the feeling is one of great pride that the people of Britain would rather die than yield to the brute force and the barbarous spirit of the Nazis. The resolution, the willingness to serve the cause of liberty shown by the British people is the marvel of the world.

Firmness of purpose is one of the most necessary sinews of character and one of the best instruments of success. Without it genius wastes its efforts in a maze of inconsistencies.—Chesterfield.

OURSELVES AND OTHERS

(News Item: Some Belleville restaurants now charge ten cents per glass for milk.)

In pastures green, the haughty cows,
Disdain the common grass,
Since word got spread among the herds,
That milk's ten cents a glass.

And Ferdinands for miles around,
With hauteur, view their stock,
And gently murmur, "Listen girls
No longer in a crock
Of butter will your foamy milk
Be turned, because today
Your milk is up to ten a glass.
Our slogan, 'Eat more hay.'"

And babies, calves, lambs and shoals,
And others of that ilk,
Are wearing faces long because
They're drinking rationed milk.
Young boulevardiers and ladies gay
Arrayed in fur and silk
Disdain that "Pommery '83"
And celebrate on milk.

Soon restaurants and inns and such
Will shout in classic word
"Why drink the rest, we've got the best Direct from our own herd."

If you Canadian gals think you have a job to do get an earful of what an English girl working on a farm calls a part of a day's work. Here 'tis, written by one of them:

The calves were clamoring for their breakfast. I have ten on hand at the moment, all under a weaning stage, where they have to be taught to drink from the pail. At first the pail means nothing to them and they nuzzle one or even send me flying head over heels. Then they suck furiously at the finger a half-submerge in the warm milk and gruel. After a day or two they need only the tip of a finger at their lips, and within a week they are greedily drinking without any help, tails wagging furiously as the warm drink disappears.

Then the usual round of littering, foddering the cows, putting out their tea ration, bulk and concentrates, clearing up the cow lodge, feeding the hens.

And so at last to the real job of the day. At present we are laboriously engaged in draining a nasty two-acre bit with almost no fall in it, so that every spit has to be considered carefully to get the most out of it. The boss and the foreman are doing the digging. My job is to put in the tiles, and then bush up with hedge trimmings to within nine inches of the top, and finally throw back the sodden clay heaped on the edge.

Today I have been throwing in clay all day, yard after heavy back-breaking yard of it, almost every forkful having to be dragged off the fork with my boot, and then prodded off my boot with the fork! For the first day or two one's mind rebels at the apparently insensate monotonous drudgery of it, and then it becomes almost second nature, and one just goes on and on, sticking the fork in, levering and prising, jerking and shaking, scraping and kicking and stamping, and plodding on.

I used to think, as many town-dwelling country lovers have thought, that farm work was so gloriously various. Six weeks of much-carting gave me a sort of idea I might be mistaken. Now I know that, bar the occasionally exciting odd jobs, hardly any farm work is done in a day: most of it just goes on and on.

These thoughts and others have been running round my mind as I plodded and plodded all day, with just the half-hour break for beaver and the hour for dinner. I stick to my townee habits of evening dinner, as I have no time to cook as well as eat, and at 5 o'clock I merely heat some stock and drop an egg in at the last minute, or fry up some cold potatoes or rice or lentils. At last it was 4 o'clock, and I unstuck my fork for the last time, and went up to the farm to milk, and feed my calves again, and do all the other routine stockyard jobs which take an hour and a half at the end of every day.

As I went home the yellow-hammer had ceased to lament about his cheese, but prinked silently before me along the hedgerow.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

APRIL 19th, 1921.

The Civic Holiday this year will be celebrated on Monday, August 1st.

A local option campaign is now in sight; the vote upon the Provincial Referendum yesterday with regards to the importation of liquor resulted in a majority against importation of close to 13,000. The majority in Belleville against importation was 774. The number of votes cast was 3,542—the vote stood, 2,608 "Yes"—2135 "No."

Mr. J. B. Burrows spent yesterday in Kingston.

Mr. D. G. Ryrie, Foster Avenue, is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. Harry L. Walker of Warkworth are spending a few days in town.

30 YEARS AGO

APRIL 19th, 1911.

Mr. John W. Cairns, Sidney Township, was driving along the Canniffton Road near the Lazier paper mills yesterday afternoon and behind the buggy he was leading a horse, which balked and in doing so pulled Mr. Cairns from the buggy. While he was engaged with the baby horse an automobile came along and frightened the horse attached to the buggy which ran away and a short distance down the road the horse and buggy went over the embankment and fell a distance of 20 feet. The stream here is rapid and the horse and buggy were carried out of sight. It was not until the outfits reached that part of the river behind No. 1 Fire Hall that it stopped. The horse was found dead and the buggy badly wrecked. The horse was a valuable one and Mr. Cairn's loss is considerable.

40 YEARS AGO

APRIL 19th, 1901.

Mrs. S. Eustace is spending a few days in Toronto on business in connection with her millinery store.

Mr. A. H. Wallbridge of Vancouver, B.C., an old Belleville boy, is here on a visit with friends.

Mr. F. E. O'Flynn, barrister, and Mr. E. Guss Porter, jeweler, are in Picton today on legal business.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hunt are expected home shortly from California where they spent the winter.

There is much building activity in the village of Tamworth at the present time.

The rolling mills property and plant will be sold by public auction on the afternoon of April 23rd.

50 YEARS AGO

APRIL 19th, 1891.

The property of the Congregational Church situated on Hotel Street, in this city, has been sold to the reformed Episcopal Church. The organ, carpets, and other furnishings have been donated to former members of the Congregational Church, who are now connected with the Reformed Episcopal Church and they in turn will donate them to the latter body. The church will therefore be taken over gratuitously furnished, a number of historical relics will be carefully preserved by several of the oldest members of the Congregational Church, now being disbanded here, and the proceeds will be handed over to the Canada Congregational Missionary Society.

CONT RAST

The blossom time is drawing near,
The June is full of peach and plum
And all the fruits of oil the year
To field and orchard soon will come
When joy and pride will light the eye
Of every grateful passer-by.

All undisturbed the trees will stand
And brave the winds and driving rain,
Safe from some madman's grim command
To strew the place with death and pain

And Here as of old the vernal spring
Shall start and close with blossoming

But where are cherished hatreds long
And brotherhood has ceased to be
Spring comes — though not with song
And festival of vine and tree,
But with the frightful cannon's breath
And soldiers on the march to death.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Stewart Says—

By CHARLES F. STEWART

Washington—Quite a few of the big industrialists, with plants adapted to the production of supplies essential to the U.S. nationally defensive program and to aid-to-democracies purposes aren't a bit averse to having their factories taken over and managed by the government during the present emergency period.

It's a suggestion which, coming from such quarters, is quite refreshing. Director William S. Knudsen, for instance, has indicated that Uncle Sam will pay fair rentals for the facilities thereby had. If he "commandeers" them, as the expression is. And advocates of the idea say that application only on a rental basis; they don't propose outright confiscation. The industrialists aren't altogether indisposed to take Uncle Samuel up on it.

Washington's simply swarming with their representatives and the gesture of their principals today. They don't say for publication that they'll welcome anything their plants governmentally commandeered, but it's easy to predict 'em whispering it to one another.

The idea is this:

The government, in letting its contracts, is driving a steadily-increasing load of taxes according to the industrial spokesmen's account, at any rate.

They're afraid it may get tightlipped, yet, too, with all the guess there is about enormous emergency profits and excess congress just starting air investigation of production bottlenecks, strikes and other alleged causes for delay. Public popularity blamed for a considerable share in the difficulties, with management becoming in for a sizable proportion of the opprobrium.

Now, the industrialists' version is that they're not due to make any more money in the wealth of the bargains they've concluded thus far, and structure to operate it. We're lucky to break even.

Which is the last moment's writing.

What worries the industrial folk more especially, however, is the prospect, foreseen by them, that their costs of operation will increase very rapidly and formidably. This is expected to bring demands for higher wages, as hinted at by the current pitch for increases by some of the strikers' employers is that they can't stand it in the face of their existing contracts. Besides, they think (or profess to think) that a big bulge in the prices of their raw materials is imminent.

It But something else is also considered, which they're dismally gambling on, they think, will be met shortly will be losing financially like fury.

Ahead of a big Atlantic shipbuilding company was in Washington the other day, conferring with Director Bill Knudsen's Office of Production Management. I'll not quote him by name, but he told me:

"We can't agree to the government's shipbuilding terms except at deeper rates. It's a matter of risk. Yet we've got to agree to 'em, or else Uncle Sam won't build ships. And we hope is that we'll get so much repair work to do that we'll be kept up to the limit of our capacity. We can charge only reck-knable profits on repair work, but there's a little more margin on that than there is on new construction. The danger is that repairs won't fully occupy us to the limit of our capacity, under government regulation. That'll ruin us!"

How It Would Work

But if a plant's government-commandeered, then—

Then its ownership will get its rental from Uncle Sam on the basis. At worst, it won't be running at a loss. And from the standpoint of all the strike headaches. Or, if his workers do strike on him, he can consent to, or whatever rate of pay he dictates. A private enterprise can't do that. It's between the upper and the nether millstones. But the government, as the "real industrialists" case for 'em. I'm no authority on the subject, of course, myself. For whatever it may be worth, I'm merely reporting what I hear from 'em in a reportorial listener at their keyhole.

Anyhow, the government doesn't seem to frighten 'em much by talking about commandeering industrial plants—at a reasonable rental rate.

The Smile

One cold Christmas Day long ago, when little ragged newsboys were to be seen pushing business in the streets, I bought a paper from one sad-looking little boy.

"Aren't you very cold?" she asked sympathetically.

"Yes, ma'am," he replied, "before you smiled!"

Good Investment?

"Brown talks in riddles. What's this 'fifty per cent preferred' he's always talking about?"

"Oh, that's what he calls his better half, Ma Brown, since he started dabbling in investments."

"But, my dear sir, I can't prescribe whiskey for you unless I am convinced from your symptoms that you need it."

"What symptoms would you suggest, doctor?"

Something Wrong

The small daughter was watching her mother making up her face, no doubt wondering what it was all about. When it came to the time for the application of the lipstick the small girl could contain herself no longer.

"What do you put all that on your face for, Mummie?" she asked.

"Mummie puts it on to make her look pretty," came the reply.

"Then why doesn't it?" asked the small girl innocently.

Trailer Travel

By ARTHUR JONES

Winter Garden, in Central Florida, April 16.—As neighbors in Trailer City, all this winter, we have had a Canadian, Robert D. McDonald, and his charming wife Claire. His mother was the daughter of the late Captain D. D. Murphy, one of the early settlers of Trenton, and we might add a very prominent family, old citizens of Trenton along with many in Belleville, will remember quite well this fine old family, early settlers in Trenton. The Murphy girls were at the top of the list as "lookers" also as leaders in the social set.

Big Bob McDonald was born in Quebec City, his father having married one of the Murphy girls. While a young man in his teens he entered the well known Drygoods firm of Greenshields Ltd. of Montreal working the first six months without pay. Owing to his size and strength, six feet three, he was assigned to the carpet and oilcloth department where he slugged around heavy rolls of carpet and the like. While in Montreal he rowed with the famed Grand Trunk rowing club.

Changing his occupation after some time he entered the service of an American advertising firm with head office in St. Paul, Minn. Bob's cleverness and aptitude soon became apparent to them and he endorsed and the firm took him over to St. Paul, placing him in a much higher paid position.

As a young man he made many visits to see his aunts in Trenton. Twelve O'Clock Point was his happy hunting ground. But little did he know that as a companion a cousin, the late George Pelletier. We knew George Pelletier quite well.

Sleigh ride parties to the dances at the old Quinte Hotel were in vogue while in the "gay nineties" were gala events. When Bob went to the dances the hotel caught fire. We understand it was from defective flues. Bob McDonald when returning to the fiercely burning building and grabbing a couple of the ladies of his party from a second story window before they could escape from death when he fell through the floor which had burned from the bottom.

Bob saved himself from falling in the roaring flames by nimbly beneath him by stretching out his arms. His arms extended, he began a downward strong enough, not having burned enough by gravity then to draw his body to safety.

Highlight of Trenton Visits

Bob McDonald had the honor of representing Trenton on the first Canadian Contingent sent to the War in South Africa. When returning he was detained at Cape Town awaiting ferry, sent ashore for some time. While in Cape Town Cecil Rhodes, the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Edmund Walker were also kept there safely.

On the outbreak of the Great War, where he fought valiantly and was severely wounded he was presented wit his gold medal and an illuminated address.

Big Bob McDonald later joined the great store of Marshall Field in Chicago, Illinois, where he married a fine American girl, Miss Claire Dudley from one of the best families. The tie that binds comes in time and Claire Dudley's mother was born at Belle Ewart, Ontario, while her father was born in St. Hyacinthe, Que. Claire Dudley was one of the courses an American citizen. Along with her charming husband wife, a very attractive girl, they enjoyed trailer life for the past five years, roaming at will. They visit relations at New Westminster, B.C.

Sheet Comment

From Montreal comes the disgusting report that household cats are being taken in that area for use in training racing grey hounds. Dog owners pay 25 cents for each cat they let. These are taken to a large vacant space where they are turned loose. The hounds then chase and run after them. Of course they are soon overtaken by the fleet dogs and promptly killed.

At the dog-racing track a mechanical rabbit is used. Bunny is allowed to run for a certain distance before the race is started. "Rusty" then is set in motion by the starting lever. The dogs come out of the boxes with a great leap, then make chase this phoney rabbit makes the dogs run around the track. Coursing with this bait as a switch in the hands of an official increases the speed at will. When the finishing line is crossed "Rusty" quietly disappears the dogs are caught by the handlers, the race is over.

Rabbits are greatly against treating household pets in such cruel and inhumane manner as mentioned above.

Better Vegetable Prices

Everglades farmers are being cheered by better prices for their crops of cabbage, beans, pepper and squash. Cabbage jumped to $60 a field ton, beans per price $4.50 a hamper, peppers $3.25 up, yellow squash $17.00 a hamper and celery and lettuce $3.00 a crate.

Sweet corn is also greener was reported to have made a single shipment of beans grossing $10,000.00.

Deep South Refreshing Salad

Here is a recipe for a deep South beautiful salad in which most the ingredients are easily procured in Belleville.

Bring spring to your table with a crisp, refreshing salad that tempts the laggard appetites. This one, an unusual blend of bananas and cabbage, will do just that.

Use ripe bananas, slice or dice them and measure one cup. Sprinkle two teaspoons of lemon juice over the fruit. Add two cups of shredded cabbage, one-half cup of finely chopped green peppers and two teaspoons of salt.

Mix together one-fourth cup of mayonnaise and two teaspoons of prepared mustard. Add the dressing to the fruit and vegetables and toss thoroughly but lightly. Serve in crisp lettuce cups.

SKIMBLE SKAMBLE STUFF

When an army or naval officer wear citizen's dress he is said to be "in mufti."

Mufti in the sense of plain clothes as distinguished from uniform or professional garb came to us by way of the British army in India.

The term is from Arabic "Mufti," the name given in the East to expounders of Moslem law.

The conventional attire of the Moslem priest is a long dressing gown, smoking-cap and slippers.

"Is it ever come to you why a well-known insect pest is known as the flea in the English name for an immature or green apple.

The codling moth gets its name from the fact that its larva or worm lives in apples.

Likewise "codling" is an old English name for an unripe pod of peas.

When Olivia in Shakespeare's "Twelfth-Night" asks about the age of Cesario, Maivolio replies:

"Not yet old enough for a man, nor young enough for a boy; as a squash is before 'tis a peascod, or a codling when 'tis almost an apple."

A law providing either for a divorce or exemption from liability for remarriage on the ground of an unexplained absence of a husband or wife for a certain number of years is called an Enoch Arden law.

This name was suggested by the title and the name of the hero of a long narrative poem written by Alfred Lord Tennyson and published in 1864.

A sailor named Enoch Arden is shipwrecked on a desert island and remains there years later to find his wife happily remarried, whereupon the disappointed hero conceals his identity and dies of a broken heart.

The present New York Enoch Arden law provides that a marriage may be annulled if either party has been absent for five successive years and is known not to be alive.

It is said that DCharles Darwin ordered his coffin made in his lifetime so as to give employment during a slack season to the carpenter who made boxes and cases for his natural history collection.

Public Utilities Commission Tells Council $18,500 Repairs Urgently Needed At Gas Plant

Members of Two Bodies Discuss Question Without Arriving at Decision

LENGTHY SESSION

Following a two-hour discussion on the Belleville Gas Plant, between members of the Commission composed of Chairman M. P. Duff, Commissioners Reid and Mayor G. E. Thompson and the Manager of the Utilities, O. H. Scott and the City Council, considerable information was brought to light but no definite decision was arrived at. The Commission in their wisdom refused to make any recommendation to the City Council, simply submitting the facts of the Gas Plant and answering any questions that might be asked of any member of the Council. At the conclusion of the meeting a vote of thanks was moved by Aldermen Allin and Clarke for the courteous attitude of the Commission in coming to the council and this was forwarded to the Commission by the Mayor, who is also a member of the Utilities.

Report Presented

At the outset of the meeting Mr. Duff presented a lengthy report to the council, stating that report on the basis of discussion rested. Before reading the report, addressed to the council, Mr. Duff told the members of council that the commission had no authority to raise money to repair the Gas Plant and that the commission had been warding any recommendation but he hoped the council that a decision would have to be in the very near future. The plant was badly in need of having the retorts relined. The report was then read by Chairman of Utilities and was as follows:

April 18th, 1941.

His Worship Mayor Thompson, and Aldermen of the City of Belleville, City Hall, Belleville, Ontario.

Gentlemen:

A year ago the Commission requested you to provide funds for the relining of the retorts. These funds were not forthcoming and we have to advise that unless the funds are provided the plant may have to be closed down.

The interior of the retort bench is in a very bad condition and may fail at any time. The retorts first started gas making on September 3rd, 1926, and have been in continuous operation for 11½ years. The manufacturers advise that the normal life of a retort is 5 years. At the present time the retorts are inefficient and routine operations cannot be carried out because of the chance that if done, the retorts may not be brought into service again.

If the retorts fail, the water gas set could be placed in operation but the cost of making gas would be considerably increased and it could be operated for a period of approximately three months when it would have to be closed down for renewal of linings and there is not sufficient storage to supply the customers while the linings are replaced.

It is estimated that the cost of relining the retorts and making repairs incidental thereto will be $8,000.

Unaccounted for gas

The average unaccounted for gas for the years 1937-1940 is 24.3 per cent. This is a very high percentage. The standard should be 15 per cent. The causes of loss may be classified under four headings.

(a) Shrinkage

(b) Loss between plant and customer

(c) Slow meters

(d) Broken gas

The loss from shrinkage is unavoidable and is due to differences in temperature and pressure between the plant and the point of use.

The loss between the plant and the customer is dependent on the physical condition of the mains and services and we think that is where a larger percentage of our loss occurs. The underground system was started in 1864 about 87 years ago and has been added to from time to time. It is evident from the fact we find when we uncover the pipes that the system is in bad condition. Pipes are eaten through, fittings are loose due to the pipes having rusted away, services are filled with scale and pipes have worn so thin that the least pressure punctures them.

It is difficult to estimate what it would cost to put the distribution system in a satisfactory condition when the losses would be less than 15 per cent but it is fair to say that the cost would run into the tens of thousands of dollars.

Another loss is caused by slow meters. The general tendency of a gas meter is to run slow and the meter manufacturer who has been repairing our meters reports that the meters are in a very bad condition. Of the meters which have been sent in during the past four years for repairs, approximately 50 per cent have been scrapped and had the financial position of the utility been good, a larger percentage would have been discarded when we change a customer's old meter for a new one the consumption invariably goes up. It is necessary to purchase new meters at an estimated cost of $5000.

We are of the opinion that a considerable quantity of the gas is being stolen and in spite of careful checking and investigation we have been unable to locate many cases. It would appear that whenever a customer changes a stove the plumber should be disconnected at the main, as frequently the gas that has already been so disconnected but to the stove is being stolen. This estimate would cost $5000.

It will be seen, therefore, that to operate the plant operating, $18,500 is needed in addition to the main retorts that are relined.

The obligation of providing the funds to operate the plant is our desire to discuss the matter with you and your decision will be final. Your decision as to what should be done.

Signed on behalf of the Commission,

Chairman.

Asked for Independent Report

In opening the discussion Ald. Rollins asked if an independent report on the Gas Plant was to be given and if so, how it had been received and Mr. Duff as spokesman for the commission stated that the report had been received and was available to the members if required. After a short discussion on the advisability of having the report read, it was unanimously agreed that the report should be handed and read and Mr. Scott was given the task of reading the voluminous report. At the conclusion of same Ald. Armstrong asked Mr. Duff if the commission had arrived at an unanimous decision and if so to do with the Gas Plant as regards the best interests of the City. "You have been elected by the people and entrusted with the responsibility and you should be able to tell the council what is the best procedure."

Mr. Duff: "The Commission has not arrived at any unanimous decision but I can give you my private opinion at anytime."

Ald. Allin: "How long will the storage last if the water gas set is used?"

Mr. Duff: "Two days. It would take about three days to reline the water set for use again."

Ald. Clarke: "The commission was elected by the people and the people elected us last year to lease the gas plant with the Public Utilities and I don't think it is quite fair to come to the Council to ask them to make a decision as to the advisability of spending the people's money on the gas plant."

Ald. Price: "If the $18,500 is given to make the repairs spoken of in the report to the Commission, more money would have to be given for the mains."

Mr. Duff: "Even with the repairs mentioned in the report the loss would not be stopped because of the leaky mains."

Ald. Clarke: "If the money is provided what would it do for production?"

Still Have Loss in Claim

Mr. Duff: "You would still have a loss of 20 per cent from the plant to the consumer because of the leaky condition of the mains."

Ald. Butler: "In this special report that was submitted did the writer make any recommendations?"

Mr. Duff: "He is a salesman."

Ald. Butler: "If the money was spent do you feel the Commission would urge more sale of gas?"

Ald. Wotten: "Even if the money was provided the plant would still be losing money?"

Mr. Duff: "Yes."

Ald. Wotten: "What is the chance of selling more?"

Mr. Duff: "Not much."

Ald. Wotten: "What was the profit last year?"

Mr. Duff: "A little better than $250."

Ald. Jeffery: "Is it not possible to take the rebate to the water and electric users and use the money to make the necessary repairs to the gas plant?"

Cannot Transfer Money

Commissioner Reid: "The Commission are not allowed to transfer money from one utility to another in fact we cannot borrow from one to help the other without the Ontario statutes."

Mayor Thompson: "We cannot do that", when he answered a protest again by Ald Jeffery along the same line.

Ald. Armstrong: "How much does it cost to reline the water set every time it needs these repairs?"

Mr. Duff: "About $250."

Alderman Clapp: "What is the comparison between the consumers of 1937 with that of 1940?"

Mr. Duff: "In 1937 we had 1090 consumers and in 1940 we had 782. I might say right here that cheap electricity has been the cause of much of the drop aided by the agitation to create cheap fuel. The chased Agale ranges.

Ald. Clapp: "There only thing I can see in the report is salesmanship. Why don't you go out and find out and tried to sell gas in an energetic way the results might have been different."

Alderman Asks Question

Ald. Marshall: "If the Commission any recommendation to make to this Council."

Mr. Duff: "None, we are simply laying the facts before you for your consideration."

Mr. Reid: "Someone has asked why the $90,000 was paid for. The Ontario Shore Gas Company, Limited, was organized to show that the gas plant owned the back of the property and that the price this was paid out of the amount secured and other assets the company had at that time. Ever since the gas plant has had gas there, who has been getting the revenue from the plant was going to close, it will still think the hydro-electric is going to close or not. I think the big investment in universal star has grown up from the humble acquisition of Charlie Chaplin Girls" to the charming young lady seen most recently in "Sporting Page".

Producer Chooses Vehicle

Producer Darrell Zanuck, maker of all the successes starring Deanna Durbin, has provided the star with her most mature vehicle, combined with the most grown-up song and standing supporting cast to date.

Franchot Tone, Walter Brennan, Robert Benchley, Helen Broderick, Ann Gillis, Anne Elizabeth Gladden and Mischa Auer and Bryant are headliners in the supporting cast. William Seiter, who directed Deanna in her seventh hit, "It's a Date," also was director of the new film.

The story presents Deanna as a typical small-town movie girl, who tires of being one—so she escapes from Hollywood and Benchley with a young New Yorker, played by Tone. Then complications ensue, the subject of a town scandal which is quelled when Miss Durbin returns" to Tone is announced. Then Tone reappears, to complicate a situation further, and Benchley finally before the story reaches its surprising finish.

Benchley appears as Deanna's father, Miss Broderick as Deanna's principal, and the Misses Gillis and Gwynne are Deanna's sisters. Leon Leonardi, Hollywood bandleader, makes a new team as town postman and housekeeper for Deanna's family.

Benchley, School Principal

Deanna sings five numbers, including Stephen Foster's "Old Folks at Home" and four new songs: "Perhaps," "Love At Last," "Beneath the Lights of Home" and "Sweethearts Can Be An England." This patriotic number is a special hit and the gesture of goodwill toward the Empire.

The screen play of "Nice Girl?" was based on an original story by Phyllis Duganne. Joe Valentine was the photographer.

To complete this excellent feature a colored cartoon will be shown as well as "Master of the Sea" featuring the British Navy.

AT THE BELLE

"ROAD TO ZANZIBAR"

Pull on the seven-league boots, bare your funny bones, movie-goers, for you're in for another gag and globe-trot journey when Paramount's merry-making cavort of comedy and melody alights today at the Belle Theatre.

Showing you the sights and sounds on your journey will be those three happy-go-lucky guides, Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour, who know how to make geography lessons so enjoyable. Remember the highway of hilarity they paved for us in "Road to Singapore"?

Movie-chair tourists will be glad to know that this new African junket is under the careful supervision of a man who has already shown numerous times that he knows how to plan itineraries that lead through romantic, exciting and song-filled country. This, of course, would be Victor Schertzinger, the man who directed Bing, Bob and Dorothy on the first cinematic journey, "Road to Singapore", and who happens to be fortunately Swana Director for "Road to Zanzibar".

Exchanging the nautical clothes they wore in "Road to Singapore" for safari outfits suiting their roles in "Road to Zanzibar", Bing and Bob are seen as a couple of carnival and pitch men in Africa—the idea being, perhaps, that Bing pitches 'em and Bob catches. It's all carnival stuff—until they meet up with a tribe of man-eating cannibals, whereupon it becomes carnivorous rivalry as each tries to outwit the other. Dorothy, Bing and Bob learn that Dotty is going there to see her "sick sister". In the jungle, where Bing and Bob learn that Dotty's "father" is really a "mother" and that Dotty's every bit as big a man as any other he-dough, they leave the safari, preferring to take their chances against lions and tigers than stay with heart-busting Dotty.

Up to the time they left her, both boys had fallen for Dotty's line of feminine wiles, sorts of tricks on each other to win her favor, but called a truce when off went Dotty, while Dotty was playing them suckers.

"Sick Sister", "Jungle Jingles, Quiet Please", the Bell latest Word News events, and Walter Lantz Bear cartoon-drawing scrren novelty completes the program.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Grand Ole Opry"

What could be better, and what salt is to stew, is what the Weaver Brothers and Elvira are to hillbilly entertainment! "Grand Ole Opry" which opens next at the McCarthy theatre, fully lives up to all the expectations created by the name. A landmark in radio history and McCarthy patrons can be sure production is in keeping—presentation packed with entertainment.

The four hour radio program, which has made Nashville, Tennessee the production of "Hillbilly" capital of the United States, was picked up and moved to Hollywood during the production of "Grand Ole Opry" and the result is a happy combine of the best hill-billy talent vaudeville and radio, with a sprinkling of movie starlets for good measure.

The Weaver Brothers and Elvira are seen with known favorites of rural and backwoods drama that have lured the nation's radio fans to say, they outdo themselves in this their newest and best film to date. Frank Darien, as the "Cheiro," the hick town cop, is as hilariously funny as anything we've seen on the silver screen in recent months. Lionel Royce, who "put the villain in toolin' law abidin' brother is a real sensation.

Numerous radio acts imported direct from the Grand Ole Opry, station WSM in Nashville, round out the production and give it true Grand Ole Opry flavor. Among them are the "Solemn Ole Judge" Dean Hay; the sweet and beloved "Uncle Dave" Macon, his son Dorris, Rachel Veach, Roy Acuff and his Smokey Mountain Boys, and many more.

Lois Ranson and John Hartly carry out the young love interest, and Henry Fonker supplies villainy de-luxe—with the aid of Allan Lane and Perin Taylor.

As a companion feature attraction the second in the new "Ellery Queen" detective stories brought to the screen Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery" featuring Ralph Bellamy as Ellery Queen and Margaret Lindsay as Nikki Porter, with an excellent supporting cast. Eduardo Grapewin, Anna May Wong and Ricardo Cortez make the best week's show at the McCarthy theatre, one should be on every entertainment on a charge of illegal possession of an offensive weapon, after the show was over. Question Of Playgrounds Subject For Discussion At Monthly Meeting Of Board

Advisability of Liability Insurance Forms Basis for the Discussion

OTHER BUSINESS

The question of the future maintenance of the two Belleville municipal playgrounds, as subsidized by the Board of Education and under control of that body, brought considerable controversy at last night's monthly meeting of the board pending polling probably on the matter of issuing debentures, which have been assumed by the board in years past. All members present, including Chairman H. B. Pelterly and the principals of all Belleville schools, felt that the need of playgrounds was accepted, but in the matter of liabilities and the running condition of one building at the East Belleville playgrounds property the Board of Education could not be confronted the advisability of continuance.

Carl Crosby, chairman of Queen Alexandra School, questioned as to why the parents of children in the city should not assist in the supervision and conducting of the city playgrounds. "This board cannot stand the full responsibility of the juries, as can be seen when one insurance company refused to issue one with the assistance of the parents we should be able to get it," he declared. "I've harassed the playgrounds and thereby make them a place of civic pride and recreation," suggested Mr. Crosby.

Responsibility Assumed.

"The chief reason the board took over the playgrounds was because others refused to assume responsibility, and I feel they can be operated without too much responsibility," declared Mr. Fish.

Cushing.

"Personally I visited the two local playgrounds practically every day for the past two years and they are doing a splendid work. Actually the board has not always been responsible for claims already paid," asserted Chairman Pelterly.

"As it now stands in the two playgrounds have been our greatest liability pertaining to insurance," stated P. C. McGuire.

"Yes, it has been our greatest," replied J. A. Wallbridge, secretary of the board.

He would suggest we ask the opinion of the school principals on this question," referred Mr. Fish, and Mr. Pelterly said that principal in the city gave his personal views and that was the reason he necessitated continuance of supervised playgrounds in Belleville, Chairman Named.

To conclude the question a playground committee composing the Messrs. Crosby, Geen and McGuire was appointed to draw up a report later. An application for the position of playground supervisor by Cushing.

C. Cunningham, of the Ontario School for the Deaf, was received and placed on file.

Under the matter of school management the question of a bicycle track to be erected to take care of the bicycles of the students at the Collegiate was left in abeyance until the new parking space at the south end of the collegiate grounds is completed.

"Since the war emergency classes have started there is no space for the parking of bicycles within the building and the continued parking of bicycles outside has caused destruction of shrubbery on the grounds," was included in a report tendered by Principal MacLaurin.

The attendance in the night school for the month of March was 272, an average attendance of 79 per cent.

The Belleville Hospital Board was granted the use of the Collegiate auditorium for graduation on May 15, while the Belleville Fire Department was also granted the use of the auditorium for April 21 at which time a show will be presented in aid of the British Fire Fighters Fund. Accounts Referred.

"We have no liability insurance for our school boys," prompted Mr. C. Sider, as he reminded the board that the schools resumed their public school activities on Monday. After discussion it was decided to accept the lowest tender as of Monday, April 21st.

The report of the school attendance officer, F. D. Wiggins, was received and showed that 195 visits had been made to private hotels, 59 to schools and two attendances to theatres during the month. Summoned to the Provincial Boys' Training School, Mr. Wiggins reported, the lad being incorrigible, according to the court.

Requests from Principal P. C. MacLaurin for stainless railing repairs and a copy of the publication, also a copy of the publication, "Blood, Sweat and Tears", written by Prime Minister Winston Churchill were both adopted, while the war emergency training class was given the privilege to utilize the south section of the board room as an office and to use of the Collegiate Gesteiner, providing a qualified person operated the machine. But the room shall not be used to interfere with school work, nor the operation of the board's activities.

Chairman H. B. Pelterly was named as the local delegate to attend the annual meeting of the Associated High Schools Board in Toronto.

Community Concert At Cannifton Aids War Victims' Fund

The Cannifton Community Concert was held Friday evening, April 18th, in aid of the War Victims' Fund. Mrs. Mitts and Mr. Hickey were at the door collecting the money. The ushers were seated at the door prize tickets, Mr. Robson acted as chairman with Mr. Mitts as assistant. Mr. Hickey as master of ceremonies.

"The King" was sung. Mr. Robson spoke of the cause of the work being done and the concert started. Mrs. Osbourne led in community singing followed by the Donavon children dancing. Boy Scouts. Play, "One Good Turn Deserves Another" directed by Dorothy Osborne. Mrs. Davis, solo. Pianist, Mrs. H. Farnham. Mr. Bruce Hills also accordian. Trio Boys, "Instrumental". Wagner's pupils. Mr. Hickey, violin. Mrs. Thrasher solo. Mr. Tweedy, Mr. Mills, Mr. Collett, singing contest. Mr. Collett claiming the honours.

Prizes had been sold on an electric lamp, donated by Miss B. Jones of Belleville, the winner being Mrs. Williams. The winner of War Saving Certificate was Mrs. Tweedy and Mr. Mills the bought door stop. Donations from Mr. Bert Farnham, Tamworth, plant donated by H. Pound. Mr. Loveless table centre donated by Mr. Hickey. Mrs. Tweedy and Mrs. Archibald were winners of the door prizes. Mr. Mills and Mr. Collett. The success of the evening's entertainment was largely due to Mr. Duncan and the accompanyists, artists and the community in the district to have sent the sum of $81 to The Telegram British War Relief Fund.

The artists were entertained at the home of Mrs. Mitts where supper lunch was served and "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung, as ending a very successful evening.

Deanna Durbin Becomes Bride Of Vaughn Paul

Hollywood, April 19 (AP)—Deanna Durbin, radiant in an ivory Duchess satin gown, murmured a scarcely audible "I do" and became the bride of 29-year-old Vaughn Paul last night.

Several thousand fans of the 19-year-old movie songstress milled about outside the Wilshire Methodist Episcopal Church while inside 900 guests witnessed Hollywood's first big church wedding in nearly four years.

After a reception in Beverly Wilshire Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Paul left by automobile for a wedding trip. Their destination was their secret. They will return in a month to resume film work.

Among name guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyer, Edgar Bergen, Eddie Cantor, Marlene Dietrich, Melvyn Douglas, Kay Francis, Margaret Sullavan, Adolph Menjou, Basil Rathbone, Franchot Tone, Richard Arlen, Walter Brennan, Andy Devine, Judy Garland, Jon Hall, Hugh Herbert, Gene Pallette, Ray Milland, Irene Rich and Gail Patrick.

Only one executive, Producer Harry Rapf, was present from M-G-M, which paid Miss Durbin five years ago as having no starring future.

SPRING FESTIVAL IS CONCLUDED

All Artists and Workers Thanked for Their Co-operation by Monsignor Nicholson

The fourth annual Spring Festival of St. Michael's parish was brought to a successful conclusion last evening after three evenings of splendid entertainment which attracted a large representation of citizens of Belleville.

Games were in progress during the earlier part of the evening and there was eager competition for the many prizes awarded the winners. At eight o'clock the program proper commenced was presented, arranged by Mr. Alan Meagher, chairman of the stage shows, who acted as master of ceremonies during the evening. The smooth rhythm of Gordon Brown and his dance band opened the program in an inviting manner. Mr. Ted Wagner, Buddy Cavanagh and Jim Mumby played fine banjo and guitar duets.

Hugh, Monsignor Nicholson's handsome dog, was the centre of attraction in his appearance on the stage accompanied by Carl Hamm's famous dog trainer. Hugo performed a series of tricks that brought the Wonder Dog again amazed the admiring audience with his keen intelligence. Marketing, Jumping through blazing hoops, reacting to "build" from building materials and untying his bound master.

Miss Hazel Hall, gifted young singer, was a guest artist and her very lovely voice was heard to great pleasing. Her numbers were well received by an appreciative audience.

Versatile Entertainers.

Sgt. Dick Wilson, R.C.A.F. Trenton, proved himself an adept and versatile entertainer with his playing of tons of Hollywood personalities, his "Sugar Blues" number which was enthusiastically received. His assistment was not an instrumental selection but was done with his voice alone, his fancy skating exhibition without the skates, his banter and dance with the R.C.A.F. "Dutch" Verkerk, Fernie, B.C.; a talented modern ceptionist and Miss Betty Lou Donovan with her work of years of acting. It was the first time before we can gather the people again so many of our never people gathered in the district."

In another city in England in- dwelling a bomb made a hole in the roof and set fire to the books and papers. Firemen and wardens extinguished the flames and fortunately no much damage was dropped within distance. The people are shaken but carrying on. Many have left the district. The minister and his home are safe.

Thanksgiving During Service

Of another church in one of most heavily bombed cities is a sad story. The bishop Primus says: "On the last blitz they were holding a missionary service in the church when the attack came. Many people went into their homes round the church. Some went into a shelter near the church and in that place alone five of our parishioners were killed. Altogether thirty of the congregation were killed, their houses destroyed or set ablaze. The attack was repeated the night after and the task of distributing relief began. The church was entirely demolished, but the minister was safe and he worked among the people for three days and nights without sleep. They managed to salvage the communion plate and some other valuables from the ruins of the church. I have now got him posted to another parish. He is in a blitz city. It is all very sad but the spirit of the people is simply splendid. I could tell you much more, were you here."

The bishop told of another church damaged but usable. Though many of the people have been evacuated to safer places, the work is being carried on. Fortunately there were only several churches and expressed the hope that the buildings may be saved.

In Evacuation Areas

He refers to work being carried on with their congregations with their cases in the evacuation area. In the churches mentioned above they have fallen near but the churches have not been actually hit. He has a diocesan child in the district "which has suffered much but the spirit of the people is terribly hard for the ministers; congregations have saved their work at a standstill; young men going to the colours and whole families departed to safer areas; many of them will not return to their homes. The church contacts being loosed, the future is difficult to foresee."

"We Are Going to Win"

Bishop Primus closes his letter with these words: "The larger destruction has been in industrial and shopping districts where the people have suffered greatly; many historic churches ruined and so on but sad, sad tale goes. But the people are loyalty Itself. It is very revealing how they endure and how they encourage them. We are going to win through and are getting ready for what may be ahead. We pray God that the tribulation may soon be over and that His will be done in us and through us. This will will of course be done in Heaven one could say much more. Restricted travel makes it very difficult to get further necessary committees, synods, etc. Again I assure you of our people and myself and confident of the ultimate issue. We are all in the spirit of fellowship and your help. England clasps your hands across the sea and bids you be of good cheer for our victory will be yours also. God bless you all."

Picton and District

Picton, April 19—The Church of St. Mary Magdalene was filled to capacity overflowing when the male choir of Christ Church, Belleville, presented the oratorio, "The Holy Child" directed by G. N. Maybee, organist and choir master, the choir of fifty voices, assisted by the full orchestra, condition of this composition of Sir Sydney Nicholson. Especially pleasing were the numbers by the boy soloists, these being Jack Gilmour, Picton, and Malcolm Bruce Wood. The male soloists were Mr. Simpson, Mr. Theobald and T. Hyland. Choruses were sung in fine harmony while the boys' solos were of great sweetness and range. As part of the presentation, part of the choir moved slowly through the aisles, symbolizing the journey of life. The Rev. Wright of Christ Church read the portions of scripture appropriate to the singing and expressed appreciation for the inspiring performance. The offering of $46 goes to the British War Victims' Fund. The soloists were entertained at luncheon before returning home.

The Ladies' Aid of Royal Air Force Officers of the Royal Air Force Training School and Gunnery School were hosts at a delightful tea on Wednesday Friday night. All ranks and their friends were guests numbering eight hundred. The I.O.D.E catered for refreshments.

The Busy Bees of the church of St. Mary Magdalene entertained parents and friends at a concert in the school in the Parish hall. Friday afternoon, April 18th and several short plays, pageants and songs were given and refreshments served.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, April 20

SUNDAY'S influence is not a particularly promising one, since it holds portent of sudden and disrupting visitations difficult to anticipate. Some disturbance of the nature of an upheaval, speaking up or predicting a change in the usual routine. This may mean unexpected inroads on the finances, or the unusual entry of funds or perhaps involve litigation. Shun haste and any sort of excess.

Those whose birthday it is should prepare for a rather successful and prosperous year, with promotion, honors, preferments in both business and private life. Curious situations and intrigues may lure to loss, litigation or dangers, but the judgment being sane may avert such peculiar entanglements. Public and community associations are encouraged.

Gripping in its details is the story told by Bishop F. Vaughan, Bishop Primus of the Free Church of England, otherwise known as the Reformed Episcopal Church of the faith and formulas of the churches of God Land under the air raids by the enemy. The Bishop Primus in a letter written from the home in England to the Rev. D. R. Chatreau, rector of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church, Belleville, thanks his congregation for their contribution towards the relief of the churches in England and gives a true picture of the churches and their congregations under their trials.

The Bishop says: "I give you some of the tragedies and experiences of our people during recent air attack. As denominations go, we have so far fared lightly, but it is all very sad but the spirit of the people is simply splendid. I could tell you much more, were you here."

He told of another church damaged but usable. Though many of the people have been evacuated to safer places, the work is being carried on. Fortunately there were only several churches and expressed the hope that the buildings may be saved.

Ruth Draper Will Offer Varied Program Of Character Sketches

Probably the most unusual attraction in Broadway over the holiday period was the co-starring of Ruth Draper and Paul Draper at the Booth Theatre, where they appeared for several weeks before going on their recent road tour, which included Philadelphia, Boston and Washington.

Paul Draper has appeared in many Broadway shows, and often in their best night spots, but his aunt, Ruth Draper, has travelled around the globe alone—with great success, it might be added, and she is again presenting the entire evening's entertainment by herself on her present Canadian tour.

Searching for just the right word to describe the art of Ruth Draper, critics have hit upon the French word, "diseuse"—whose meaning is "an artist in talking". This word, which has been in use in France for more than five hundred years (varying a little in meaning from time to time), is well synonymous with our "Monologuist" and "Entertainer". Many English word, "monologist". Many people, who are not so well informed on the exact, (or complete), meaning of "monologist", have felt that it is a dreary word that was much too limited to give any real idea of Miss Draper's genius. As a matter of fact, the word has stood.

Stel May left this week to join the Royal Canadian Navy. For some time he is sailor on the Great Lakes, holding Captain's papers. He has returned to a fewer standing in order to enter the navy.

Sgt. Carman Welbanks who has been with "C" Company, Second Battalion, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment—left this week for Kingston. He is widely known as a hockey star.

United States Army Draft Hits Washington Senators, Tigers Taking Keystone Men

Hank Greenberg Declared A-1 and Will be Inducted in U.S. Army Around May 7th

GIANTS GOING STRONG

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The United States army draft is striking its might and the meek of baseball exactly alike.

A selective service board in Detroit ended the confusion surrounding the status of big Hank Greenberg yesterday, and knocked the Tigers out of the American League pennant picture, by classifying him definitely 1-A and announcing he would be inducted into the army about May 7.

Another draft board -disclosed yesterday Cecil Travis, star shortstop of Washington Senators, had been classified 1-A and probably would be called next month at about the time third baseman Buddy Lewis of the same team is to be inducted. Earlier this week outfielder Joe Marty of the Phillies had been informed he is to be summoned and the same team already has given up Hugh Mulcahy.

The importance of these blows to the respective clubs can not be overestimated. Washington Senators already are in the American League cellar and the loss of the only two really big leaguers Infielders they have means that the club may be hopelessly crippled.

Means Change in Position
